My Grandmother

This book is dedicated to my grandmother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz (1867-1900) who left this earth at an early unexpected age in life. Many people have the opportunity of knowing their grandparents and sometimes, even great-grandparents. That was not my experience. All of my grandparents died prior to my birth. Elizabeth died thirty-six years before I was born. It is interesting to me that my father, Parley Peter Kunz (1894-1983), was only six when his mother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz, died. My mother, Hilda Stoor (1900-1985), was only four months old when her mother, Johanna Stoor, died in 1900. Fortunately, both of my parents were raised by their fathers and wonderful stepmothers, for which I am very grateful.

Elizabeth Boss was born August 14, 1867 in Guendlischwand, Bern, Switzerland to Marianna Gertsch Boss (1836-1885) and Johannes Boss (1831-1912).

Elizabeth's father, Johannes Boss, was baptized into The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints December 19, 1875, when she was eight years old. Whether she knew of his baptism or not is not known.

Elizabeth was the sixth child in a family of twelve children. When she was thirteen years old, her younger sister, Rosette (1874-1880) died. Rosette was six years old. Elizabeth's life was certainly not easy in Switzerland, but perhaps that was not unusual for those times.

Elizabeth and most of her family members were taught the gospel of Jesus Christ by missionaries from The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Perhaps some were taught by Swiss members of the Church who lived in the same area of the Alps. Elizabeth was baptized and confirmed by John Kunz III, a missionary. John He later married Elizabeth. Elizabeth was the first of Johannes and Marianne Boss' children to be baptized and confirmed a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. That baptism took place in Switzerland on December 6, 1885, when she was eighteen years of age. At that time of year the water was very cold, as the water was a river flowing from the glaciers of the Alps.

She left Switzerland to go to America in 1887, to be "with the Saints in Zion."

After the baptism of Elizabeth Boss in Switzerland, she emigrated to Zion in the United States of America. She came with a group of Saints on the ship Wisconsin, leaving Liverpool, England on August 27, 1887. She arrived in Salt Lake City on September 15, 1887. Her emigration was stressful for her family. As Elizabeth was ready to leave, she went into the house to bid her three older brothers, Johannes [II], Christian, and Friedrich, goodbye. Christian, who was twenty-six years old, turned his back on her, according to Christian's son, Ernst, and said, "Just go now." That must have been a terrible experience for both of them. It was an experience that has been related in Christian's family for decades.

Elizabeth Boss went to Bern, Idaho. She came to be in Zion. Zion was the gathering place for the members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She lived in the home of William Kunz, John Kunz III's younger brother, until 1888. The Bern Ward records show she was a member there. She was married to John Kunz III in the Logan Temple on December 19, 1888. John Kunz III was 44 years old and Elizabeth was 21 years old. Elizabeth Boss became John Kunz III's sixth and last wife in the practice of plural marriage.

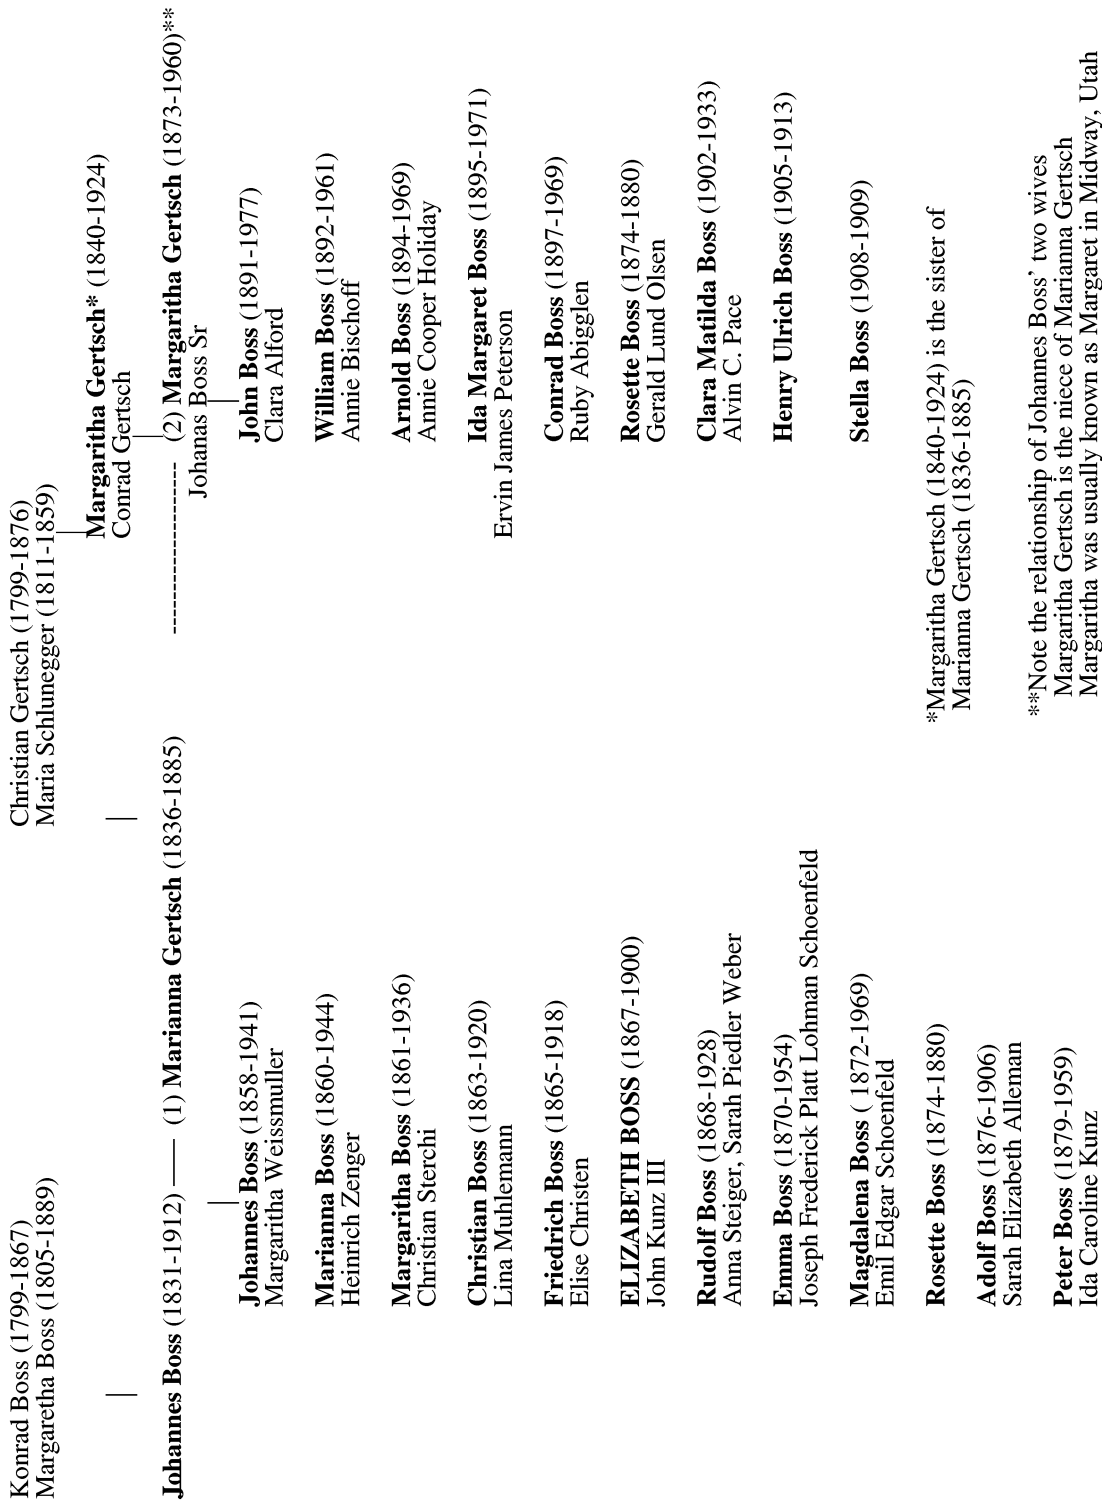

Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III had six children: Agnes Ruth Kunz Dansie (1890-1967), Julia Esther Kunz Schmid (1893-1919), Parley Peter Kunz (1894-1983), Hedwig Hazel Kunz Smith (1896-1956), Lucy Mae Kunz Hansen (1898-1957) and Lydia Kunz (1900-1900). All of the children except Lydia grew to adulthood and had wonderful families. Lydia died at birth and was buried in the same casket with Elizabeth, her mother, in the newly established cemetery in Bern, Idaho.

There is very little information about Elizabeth Boss Kunz that I could find. I wish I knew more about my dear Grandmother. I trust that someday, according to our beliefs about the gospel of Jesus Christ, I will see her after my death, and will then understand much more than I do now. Almost all that is known about Elizabeth Boss comes from histories of her parents, brothers and sisters and her children and that gives me glimpses into what her life must have been like. Elizabeth's life was filled with hardships and trials, but in the end she was blessed with a large and noble family, a crown, not of jewels that time would corrupt, but with a crown of glory and honor that will extend into the eternities.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

I want to thank my parents who taught me that family is important. They instilled in me the desire and motivation to know my family and to help preserve this wonderful heritage that we share with our children and our children's children.

I thank my wife, Joyce Sheffield Kunz, for her ideas, provoking spirit, encouragement, assistance, and support to the end. Early on, Joyce planted the idea in my mind that something needed to be written about Elizabeth Boss, my Grandmother. Not only did she plant the idea for this book, but she also continued to remind me until I really got into it. Since then, she has supported me endlessly. She has spent time in the Family History Center libraries, cemeteries etc., and stood with me as we experienced firsthand some significant events in Switzerland. I owe much of the outcome of this book to Joyce.

I am also indebted to our children, Jay Phillip Kunz, Jenifer Kunz, Jody Kunz Roberts, Johnathan Kenneth Kunz, and Jana Kunz Porter and their spouses Rebecca Neuman Kunz, Bryan Jeffery Roberts, Amy Rich Kunz and Glen Terris Porter for encouragement on this book. They have also given me support and assisted with critical observations and proof reading.

I am very grateful to family members who have departed from the earth, who took the time in their stay here in mortality to record important information. This includes the recording of birth, marriage, emigration and death of many people. I am especially indebted to the late Minerva Boss Jessee, niece of Elizabeth Boss, who persisted to obtain a short history from many of her aunts and uncles and others. May her memory always bring a feeling of thanksgiving from those who find this book inspiring.

I also acknowledge my wonderful grandmother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz, who filled the measure of her creation. It is my hope that each of us, as family members, will honor her life and her name by our personal commitment to live an honorable life, in harmony with the gospel of Jesus Christ, of which she had a testimony and lived.

Introduction: Our Family

Chapter 1 - Introduction

We were born of goodly parents, whom we love and respect for providing us with a body, with nourishment and training, and with our very identity. The family is important to the preservation of civilization. It is largely within the family that the values of society are preserved. The preeminence of the family has long been recognized. The Reverend Albert Bitzium (1797-1854), an educated Swiss person of some renown, contemporary with our ancestors, who wrote under the pseudonym of Jeremias Gotthelf, wrote:

Be not misled by the idle words of unfortunate fools. Neither the state, nor the school, nor anything else but the home is the basis of life. Rulers do not really govern the land; teachers do not really give life its form. This is done by fathers and mothers in the home. Public life in a nation is not the most important, but instead, the home is the root of everything; as the root is, so will the plant be formed.

(Source: Translation of a Prayer Day sermon from Jeremias Gotthelf, Geld und Geist, in Samtliche Werke in 24 Banden in Verbindung mit der Familie Bitzium, ed. By Rudolf Hunziker. Hans Bloesch and C. A. Loosli, VII (Muenchen & Bern: Eugen Rentsch Verlag, 1911, 366, as quoted in Paul Anthon Nielson's Swiss Genealogical Research: An Introductory Guide. Virginia Beach/Norfolk: Donning, 1979.)

Prophets of God, in these times, have affirmed the same message to our family and to all of the world.

All human beings—male and female—are created in the image of God. Each is a beloved spirit son or daughter of heavenly parents, and, as such, each has a divine nature and destiny. Gender is an essential characteristic of individual premortal, mortal, and eternal identity and purpose.

In the premortal realm, spirit sons and daughters knew and worshiped God as their Eternal Father and accepted His plan by which His children could obtain a physical body and gain earthly experience to progress toward perfection and ultimately realize his or her divine destiny as an heir of eternal life.

Husband and wife have a solemn responsibility to love and care for each other and for their children. “Children are an heritage of the Lord” (Psalms 127:3). Parents have a sacred duty to rear their children in love and righteousness, to provide for their physical and spiritual needs, to teach them to love and serve one another, to observe the commandments of God and to be law-abiding citizens wherever they live. Husband and wives—mothers and fathers—will be held accountable before God for the discharge of these obligations.

The family is ordained of God.

(From: The Family: A Proclamation to the World The First Presidency and Council of the Twelve Apostles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints)

Certainly each of us has a concept of family that is important to us, but it may be quite different from other family members' concepts. Each of us has some sense of what our heritage is, but that may also differ from the knowledge held by other family members. Some of us may know most of our cousins and beyond, but others may know few extended family members. For some of you there may be a happy surprise as you find people you have known for years are also your relatives. If you start with a surname, and follow the family for six generations, you find that the names multiply. In the sixth generation less than one half of one percent of the people will have the same surname as the name started with in the first generation.

Thus, in the first generation, if a family's children are, half girls and half boys, the girls would probably marry and end up with different names. As the boys marry and have children, it may be assumed that half of them would be girls, who would then obtain a different name at marriage. Primarily for this reason, extended family members become "lost" to us, as their last names are not especially familiar to us. My desire is that this book may help to maintain our extended family unit, so that there will not be a diminution of this important family identity.

Perhaps because of our traditional naming custom in the United States, coupled with the general patriarchal influence in families, there is a tendency to look more toward the father's family. After writing the book on the Kunz family, I was determined to do something for my mother's side of the family, the Stoors. That resulted in the book, Johannes Emanuelsson Sidback Stoor, Johanna Majasdotter Gastgivars, Marie Vinberg Isaksson Family: Ancestors and Descendants, by Phillip Ray Kunz, published in 2000.

As a young boy, I was able to occasionally attend a Boss reunion. I would visit with Uncle Peter Boss and Aunt Ida. I had little knowledge about the Boss family, however. My Grandmother, Elizabeth Boss, died in 1900, when my own father, Parley Peter Kunz, was only six years of age. He was essentially raised by his father, John Kunz III and one of John's other five wives, who had no children of her own – Louise Weibel Kunz. Nevertheless, I could have interviewed some of the brothers and sisters of my Grandmother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz, had I known about them and if I had known how important that might have been. Each year seems to eliminate a part of our family history, unless it gets recorded in some permanent manner.

Since my youth, I have been to Switzerland several times and have seen villages, homes, baptismal sites and, more importantly, met relatives of Elizabeth Boss who stayed in Switzerland. All of this has helped me to have a better understanding of our family. Perhaps this is part of what Malachi had in mind.

5. Behold I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord:

6. And he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.

Malachi 4:5-6

Switzerland: Land of our Mothers and Fathers

Switzerland

Switzerland is a small, landlocked country in the heart of Europe. It has a strategic location at the crossroads of central Europe with many passes through the mountains. In area, Switzerland is just less than 16,000 square miles, or a bit less than twice the size of the state of New Jersey. The country is divided into three general areas: The Swiss Alps, the Plateau, which includes much of the farmland and the largest cities, and the Jura Mountains, along the Western borders and into France.

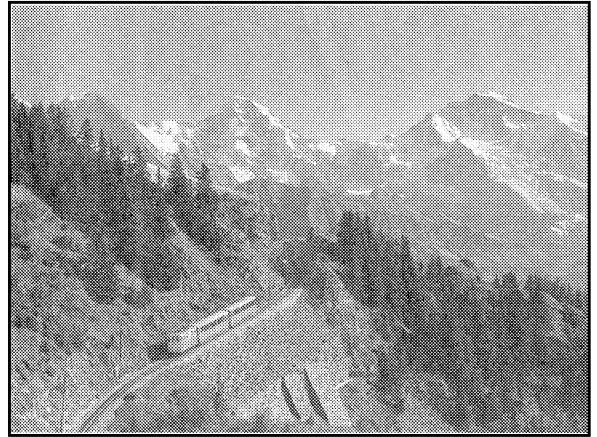

Map of Switzerland

About twenty percent of the Alps are in Switzerland, with over 100 peaks near 13,000 feet above sea level or higher. The highest peak is Dufourspitze of Monte Rosa (over 15,000 feet above sea level). Some of the other well-known peaks are the Matterhorn, Jungfrau, Monch, and Eiger. These are all tourist destinations today and bring delight to those who see them, as they must have done for our ancestors too. Many of the mountains are accessed with cogwheel trains, other trains, buses, roadways and aerial lifts. The Swiss are wonderful engineers and were able to be on the cutting edge of various transportation devices such as the tunnels and cogwheel trains.

Eiger, Monch and Jungfrau Peaks

Train descending from Eiger, Monch and Jungfrau Peaks

The Rhine and Rhone rivers flow from Switzerland into the North Sea and the Mediterranean Sea respectively. Lakes are plentiful in Switzerland, ranging from the largest, Lake Geneva, to many small lakes in the mountains. Some of these lakes have dams and are used to drive water turbines for power plants. The high altitude has produced several glaciers, including the Grindelwald Glacier, which President Frederick William Schoenfeld, who served as Mission President of the Swiss German Mission from 1884 to 1888, referred to in his account of the baptism of three women, including two Boss sisters. He wrote, "I baptized them three women in a stream which comes from the Grindelwald glacier and was so cold as Glacier ice and the Stream so wild, that Br Kunz had to jump in and assist me to keep me and the women from drowning ." This event is also reported in the missionary journal of Elder John Kunz III.

There are many hiking trails, small narrow roadways and other means of traveling in the country.

The Swiss have a long tradition of freedom and have generally maintained a position of neutrality in terms of world politics. All able-bodied men receive military training when they are twenty years old and can be called into the service until they are 50 years old.

The Swiss speak German, French or Italian. Many people from other countries now live in Switzerland. Most Swiss speak Schwyzerdutsch (Swiss-German), but all three languages are used in the Government.

Home in the Simmental

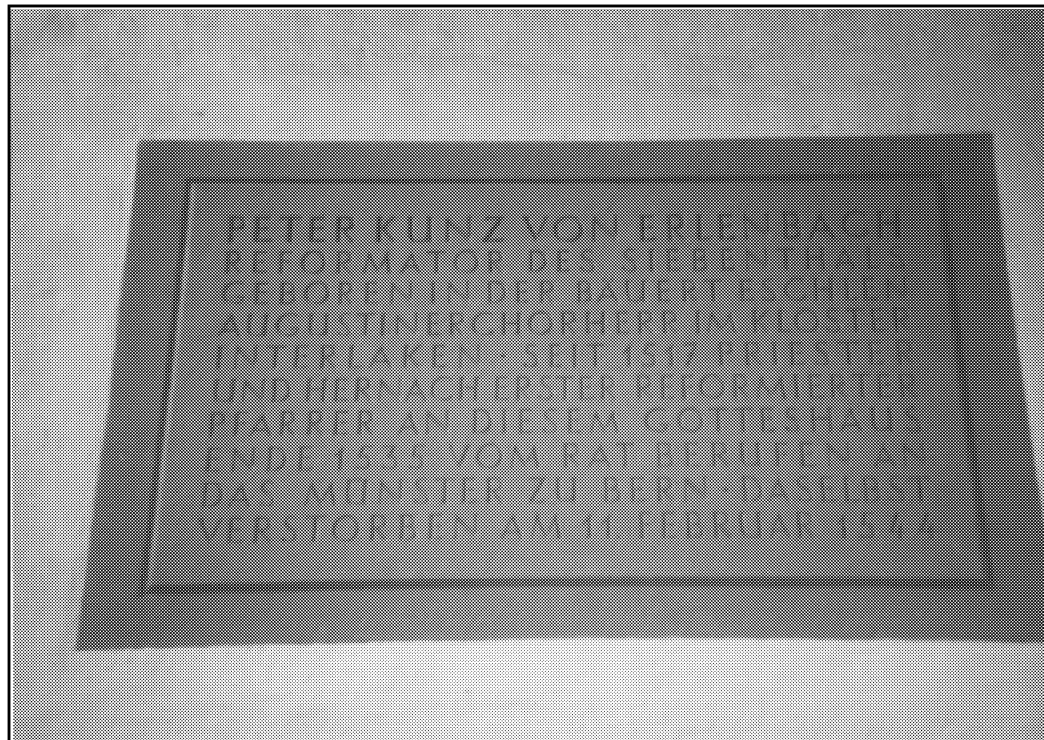

Lauterbrunnen water falls and town

The Protestant Reformation had a major role in Switzerland as Calvinism spread into France and other countries in the 1500's. The other major branch of the Protestants was the Lutherans. Today, about half of the Swiss are Roman Catholic, and less than half are Protestant. The Reverend Peter Kunz served as the last Roman Catholic priest and the first Protestant pastor in Simmental. He was at the church in Erlenbach, Switzerland, where significant paintings have been preserved on the walls of the church.

While Switzerland has had "freedom of religion," that freedom has not always pertained to members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The Swiss have a high standard of living. In recent years, Switzerland has been among the very highest per capita gross national product in the world. They are prosperous and industrious.

Peter Kunz was important to the Reformation

The Boss family came from the Interlaken region of Switzerland. The city of Interlaken is adjacent to the Brienz Lake, and near Lake Thun. Going south from Interlaken and up into the Alps, one passes Wilderswil, Gsteigwiler, Guendlischwand, Zweilutschinen, Lauterbrunnen, Wengen, and further to the east, Grindelwald. All of these towns have historic interest to our family. As a backdrop to these areas, one can see the beautiful Jungfrau, Monch, and Eiger mountain peaks of the Alps.

West of Interlaken one passes Lake Thun and the city of Thun and then goes up into the region where the historic towns for the Boss and Kunz families and other families related to them are found nestled in the Alps. Here we find the cities of Wimmis, Diemtigen, Erlenbach and smaller areas like Tschuepis and Schwand.

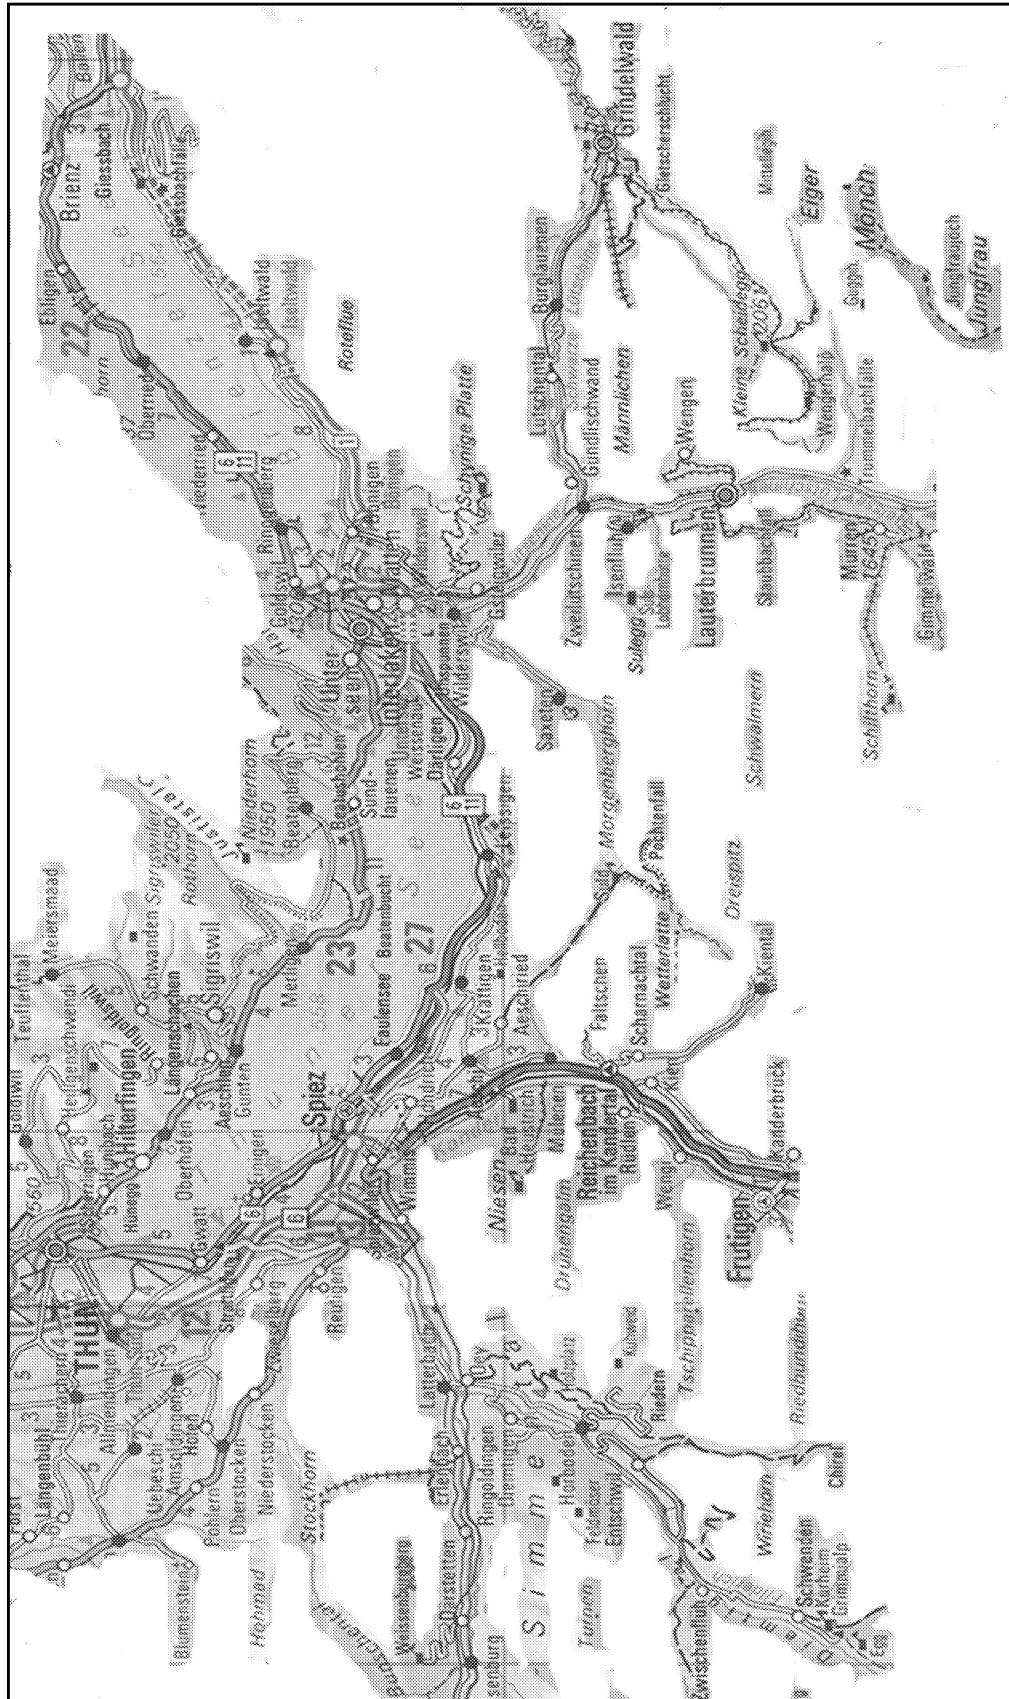

Church at Erlenbach where Peter Kunz presided

The missionary journals of Frederick William Schoenfeld, Emil Schoenfeld, John Kunz III and others, document the missionary activity, priesthood blessings, including long walks in bad weather, stripping in the woods to remove the fleas, escapes from angry mobs, midnight baptisms to escape persecution and many other experiences. These two areas of Switzerland, where the Boss and Kunz families lived, nearly adjacent to one another, are the very beginnings of our roots. Historically these areas are rich in the spirit of the “Gathering,” or the Saints going to Mountain America. The “Gathering” now has a somewhat broader meaning.

Members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints suffered much persecution in the early days of the Church. Baptisms were often held at night to help stave off some of the persecution. At the funeral in 1960 for Margaret [Margaretha] Gertsch Boss, the second wife of Johannes Boss, Bishop Alma Huber said:

You know, if we should go out into the world and every time you would walk down the street somebody would poke their finger at you and say, “There goes a Mormon,” hate you and despise you and do everything they could to make it hard for you, think how much harder it would be for us. These are the conditions and circumstances she lived under over in the “Old Country,” and I know that the Gertsch Family owe part of their coming here to her, because she was one of the first to accept the gospel over there of her brothers and sisters and was also the first to migrate here. They emigrated here to Utah and it was not long after the rest of the family came here. In talking to Uncle Conrad (Coonie) he said that one of the reasons they left, Brother Boss knew that he was an old man and maybe under his condition he might not have come as soon as he did. Maybe he never would have come, but he said the persecution was so great that the only solution they could see to be relieved of it was to emigrate. Think of that! When the persecution is so great that you have to leave your native land, that you have to leave your home as an old man...[about 60 years of age] to come this country because he knew that God had spoken from the Heavens and that the only true church was here; and so he could be associated with God’s people. (From talk given by Bishop Alma Huber in Midway, Utah at the funeral for Margaret Gertsch Boss, 1960)

Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch Family Group Sheet - # 3

Johannes Boss

Johannes Boss, the father of Elizabeth Boss, was born November 2, 1831 at Guendlishwand, Switzerland, a son of Konrad Boss and Margaritha Gertsch. He married Marianna Gertsch November 20, 1857. They were the parents of twelve children, eight of whom emigrated to America. Johannes' first wife, Marianna, died in Switzerland August 22, 1885. Johannes then married Margaritha Gertsch on April 28, 1891. She was a niece of the first wife, Marianna. Johannes was an architect and a contractor. They came to America in May 1891, and became the parents of nine children. Johannes was the father of a total of 21 children.

The following history was written of Johannes Boss in a letter by his grandson, Hans Boss III, from Zwiwiltschinnen, Bern, Switzerland. The letter, containing the history, was sent to Ida Kunz Boss, wife of Peter Boss, who was the youngest son of Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch, August 29, 1960:

I was barely six years of age in 1891 when grandfather emigrated to America. I therefore don't know very much about him. He was very friendly to us children and quite generous. He was a hard-working, well-known carpenter, which is evidenced by the various schools and hotels he built. He was also a farmer. He worked very hard to support his large family. All of his children grew to be honorable people, both here in Switzerland and in America.

When he and his young bride emigrated to America early in the year 1891, three of his sons remained here in Switzerland. They were Johannes (my father), Uncle Christian and Uncle Friedrich. These three brothers purchased grandfather's home and lot. I also remember that these three brothers tried to persuade grandfather to leave his two young sons, Adolf and Peter, here. He couldn't however, bring himself to do it, and today we have seen that it was for the best.

[Hans Boss III]

Arnold Boss, [the third son of Johannes and his second wife, Margaritha] remembered and wrote the following about his father, Johannes Boss:

Johannes was a farmer, and after his marriage to Marianna Gertsch, he started to do carpenter work. He developed his talents until he became a contractor and architect of renown in the Berner Oberland in Switzerland. He built many beautiful homes, greatly admired by tourists who passed through the mountains from year to year.

He also built several costly hotels, and during their erection he employed hundreds of men. He handled huge sums of money, which he said must have run into several hundred thousand dollars. [That amount of money was very significant in those times] During all the years of his building career, he was never found to misappropriate any funds. His honesty and integrity were never questioned. He managed his employees without labor difficulties, and they always respected him.

It was the custom in the Alps that whenever a public building of any kind was completed, a great celebration was held in honor of the event, and the builder or architect was the honored guest. He related that at these exercises he had to occupy a seat with other dignitaries, which placed him before the people. Since he was modest in disposition and a man of very little show, he said it was more a source of embarrassment to him than of pleasure.

He remembered that at one time a beautiful hotel had just been completed and a banquet was being held in celebration. Wine was served to the guests, and cigars were being passed. He had never in his life smoked and declined to accept a cigar offered to him. His friends labored with him to accept just once and smoke with them on this occasion for friendship's sake, so he finally yielded. Someone lit his cigar while he was engaged in conversation with another, and not paying attention, [he, Johannes] put the cigar into his mouth backwards, burning his mouth severely. In surprise and anger he threw it on the floor, and several people near him laughed. He said that was the first and last cigar he ever took. That was his only experience with tobacco.

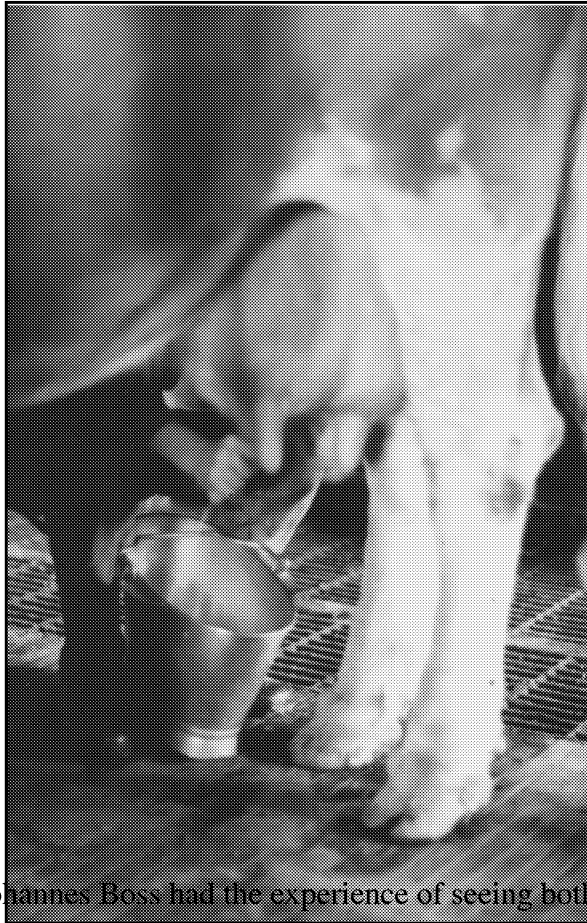

Johannes Boss was very influential in the town of Guendlishwand. His counsel was often sought because of his reputation throughout the alpine country. His ability as a community benefactor was recognized as he proceeded in the building profession. He was chosen as mayor of Guendlishwand and held that public office with distinction until 1888. [There were four Boss mayors in a row in Guendlishwand: Konrad, Johannes, Johannes' son, Johannes and his son Hans.] He was a man beloved by all in his community. His word was better than a bond, and his ability and integrity were never questioned. He was also President of the School Commission for several years. He was a member of the Lutheran Church. He soon lost his influence and prestige in his community, when he embraced Mormonism, however.

He was a mathematician and could handle figures with lightening speed. He never used a pencil to figure with, but used his head. He was at home in the higher forms of mathematics and could tell almost to a fraction of a foot how much lumber was necessary to construct a certain size of building. His materials were never short when construction started or when construction was completed. He had a photographic mind and always carried a mental picture of the work that lay before him.

His farming was confined to small acreage, both in Switzerland and in America. He owned some choice cows and always attempted to grow sufficient food upon his land to sustain his family and his animals. He was a lover of healthy and beautiful animals, and they were always provided with comfortable quarters.

Johannes Boss suffered with prostate gland problems for some time before his death on 12 March, 1912 in Midway, Utah. His son, Arnold, remembered seeing him sit in a chair by the window in the kitchen of his Midway home, which his father built. He would read with one eye closed because it [his eye] had given him trouble. Arnold also sat in a place by the stove and read. One day his father commented to him after he had watched him read for a while: "Son, see that you get into the habit of reading. If you will always read throughout you life, you will amount to something."

[Arnold Boss as he remembered his father]

Johannes Boss had the experience of seeing both his parents buried in Switzerland before coming to America. He inherited their home after their death. He heard the gospel of Jesus Christ, accepted it and was baptized and became a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints December 19, 1875 by Elder Henry Eyring. Elder Eyring confirmed him the same day. Most of the journals of Henry Eyring are "missing," but, a short comment on his Swiss missionary labors have been published in a brief biography:

1872-1874 The latter part of July 1872 we took a trip to Salt Lake City and August 12th of that year I married Deseret Fawcett.....

August 1st 1874 while at Kanab on business connected with the Canaan Co-operative Stock Co. I received a telegram from Prest B Young, desiring me to take a mission to Switzerland.....

1874 I spent about one week in Coburg, then made my way to Berne, the head-quarters of the Swiss mission. I stayed a short time at Berne laboring some little in the vicinity of that place, then in the month of November went to Ravensburgh in Wuerttemberg stopping at the house of Bro Eisenmann who was President of a little Branch organized at that place.

1874-1875 .....After laboring thus nearly unsuccessfully in Germany I returned to Berne and went to work on the translating of the Book of Doctrine & Covenants.

I succeeded in accomplishing the publication of that valuable treasure, also published a pamphlet on the first principles of the gospel, a new edition of the Hymn Book and performed the Labor necessary for editing the “Stern”.

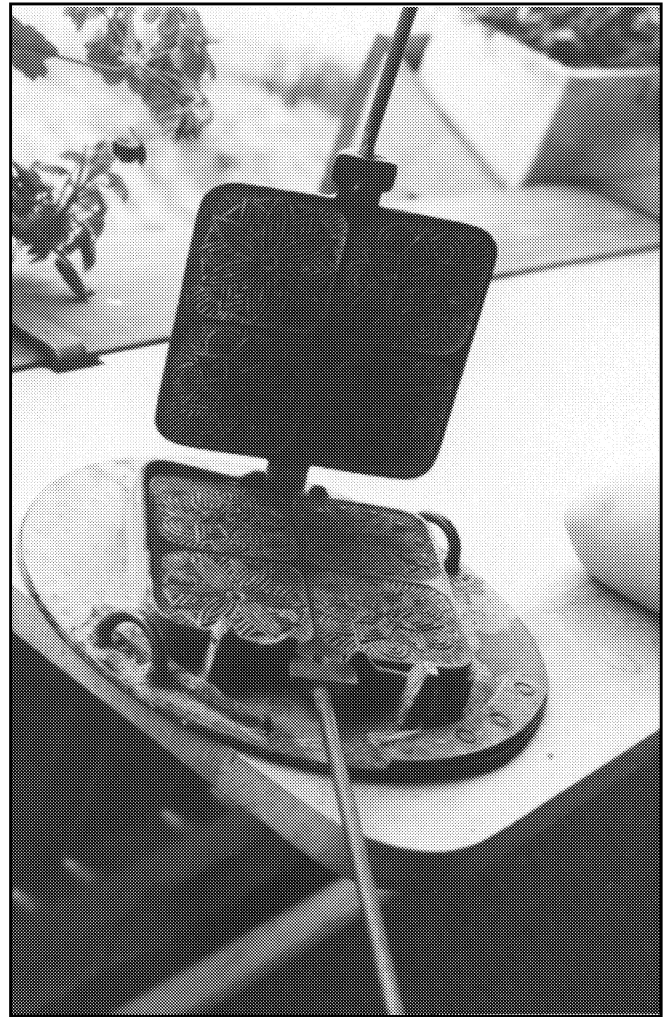

1875 My time was thus well employed at Berne during most of the year 1875 and part of 1876. [His time was “well employed” for the Boss family in that he baptized Johannes Boss 19 December 1875]

Preston Nibley, in his book, Stalwarts of Mormonism (Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Company, 1954, pp 32-33,) wrote of Henry Eyring:

Henry Eyring, a native of Germany, and a convert to the Church in his youth, was a pioneer of southern Utah and the Mormon colonies in Mexico.

....His parents died while he was yet a youth and Henry, “animated with the hope for a better and brighter future,” emigrated to America in 1853, when he was eighteen years of age.

As he was not able to find work in New York City, Henry journeyed west to Missouri....Then an event took place which changed the course of his life – out of curiosity he attended a meeting of Latter-day Saints living in St. Louis. He became interested in their doctrines and on March 11, 1855, two days after his twentieth birthday, he was baptized. [Preston Nibley]

Henry Eyring then went on a mission among the Cherokee Indians for four years and then emigrated to Utah in the fall of 1860. He married Mary Bommeli, whom he met while crossing the plains. He then moved to St. George and worked on the Tabernacle as a stone-cutter. In 1874, he was called to a mission to Germany and Switzerland.

Henry Eyring was the father of the late Dr. Carl Eyring of Brigham Young University. A grandson, Dr. Henry Eyring of the University of Utah, has gained international renown in the scientific world, and fathered Elder Henry Eyring, currently a member of the Quorum of Twelve Apostles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Elder Eyring brought about a great change in the lives of the Boss Family. Nevertheless, Johannes was almost an outcast in his town for joining the Church, according to his daughter, Rose Boss Olsen who indicated that “He told me how he had to sneak the LDS missionaries into his home to give them food or a nights lodging.”

MARIANNA GERTSCH

Marianna Gertsch was born April 10, 1836, the daughter of Christian Gertsch and Maria Schlunegger. She married Johannes Boss on November 20, 1857, when she was twenty-one years old at the church at Gesteig Bei Interlaken, Bern, Switzerland. Marianna had twelve children, six boys and six girls. All the children lived to maturity with the exception of Rosette, who died in Switzerland when she was just six years old.

Marianna's daughter wrote that her mother [Marianna Gertsch] went to school in a little one-room school house, which was heated with a coal stove. She started school when she was six years of age and they taught them to read and write, music and arithmetic, also sewing which she learned to do exceptionally well. This school had six grades in the one room. At Christmas time they always had a large Christmas tree, which they went and cut out in the mountains, all the students helped to trim it with hand made decorations, it was lighted with tallow candles. They also had a big program, which was a combined affair with the school and the church participating. She belonged to the Lutheran Church at that time. One of her school teachers, that she remembered for being so very strict, was Mr. Mulimann.

Marianna Gertsch Boss

Marianna died August 22, 1885 after a long illness, leaving seven unmarried children, the youngest, Peter, was only six years of age.

Arnold Boss, son of Johannes Boss and his second wife Margaritha, writes the following of Marianna: [It should be noted that Marianna died prior to Arnold's birth, however he must have obtained some information from his father, Johannes, who was Marianna's husband for so many years.]

Marianna Gertsch, the first wife of Johannes Boss, was a native of the Berner Oberland in Switzerland. Details of her girlhood home life are lacking, as well as that of her people. The testimony given of her character comes from her children. It was with the help of this noble woman that Johannes Boss, succeeded so well in the profession of building.

Marianna Gertsch Boss

She was a woman of sterling qualities. Nature had endowed her with a strong body, for her to raise the large family, which she did, and to assume the responsibilities of the home, their farm, and the management of the children in the absence of the father when away in his line of business, shows sterling worth. It is said, "she was the first to arise in the morning and last one to bed." Her hands were never idle, and the children when in their teens, and even before, were never allowed to waste their time. She was seen in the home, in the field, cutting hay and carrying it for the animals. She could be seen with a child on her back, and knitting as she was walking to and fro to the fields. Her house was the center of her family affections. Her children were pressed to her breast and her teaching left its impress upon all who were grown sufficiently before sickness overtook her and death claimed her. One of her sons said, "If ever a mother earned a crown and right to a glory in the celestial world, it was my mother." She died shortly after hearing the gospel message, but was never baptized. [Arnold Boss]

It is not clear if her confinement for illness was the reason for her not having been baptized or if she just did not want to accept the gospel. The fact that she was administered to by the Mormon missionaries may support the idea that the illness may have been the reason she was not baptized. The journal of President Frederick William Schoenfeld, President of the Swiss German Mission, reports the administration as follows:

President Frederick William Schoenfeld

Wed July 8 '85 Went to Guendlishwand. We were expected.

July 11 baptized three women there and there are soon three more ready to receive the gospel. One member there is the justice of the Peace, always kept it secreted, that he was a member. Now his wife is very sick and called for us. We went and preached to her, and she desired the laying of hands, which we administered and enpressed it upon her, if the receiver and to give honer to the Lord and accept the Gospel. I baptized them three women in a stream which comes from the Grindelwald glacier and was so cold as Glacier ice and the Stream so wild, that Br Kunz had to jump in and assist me to keep me and the women from drowning. We were occupied with baptizing and confirming and taken Genealogies until ½ 1 a.m., July 9. [Mission Manuscript History]

Frederick William Schoenfeld Headstone in the Salt Lake City Cemetery

Elder John Kunz III, who was serving a mission in that same area, participated in the events described above by President Schoenfeld, and recorded the day's activity in his missionary journal:

July 8. 1885 ...then we walked to Guendlishwand and found 3 persons ready for Baptism and so President Schoenfeld baptized them in the Lutschinen he came pretty near being drowned there for the Swift Stream would have taken him in I could not have held him, we felt like thanking the Lord for all his Mercy towards us.....July 9. We administered in the evening of the 8 to the Sick Wife of Brother Boss and on the 9 we administered to two Sick Children. [John Kunz III Missionary Journal]

July 8. Left Oberried and walked to Interlaken and visited family Wyss and done a good work in that family were very well treated and blessed them we administered to a Sick Child there and then we walked to Gindlischwand and found 3 Persons ready for Baptism and so President Schoenfeld baptised them in the Lutschinen he came pretty near being drowned there for the Swift Stream would have taken him if I could not have held him, we felt like thanking the Lord for all his mercy towards us, and we could see how miraculously he works through his holy Spirit.

July 9. We administered in the evening of the 8 to the Sick Wife of Brother Boss and on the 9. we administered to two Sick Children walked back to Interlaken and as being a little weary and tired we rested on a Bench and considered some things pertaining to the Swiss Mission. We again found ourselves feeling happy in the house of family Wyss and partook of their kindness in a good many ways.

«Von Gündlischwand nach Uebersee»

Kürzlich referierte alt Sekundarlehrer Viktor Boss aus Grindelwald über das Thema «Von Gündlischwand nach Uebersee». Der gutbesuchte Vortrag, der im oberen Saal im neuen Schulhaus Gündlischwand gehalten wurde, war bereits der zweite in der vom Gemeinderat Gündlischwand veranstalteten Serie «Allergattig us dr Gündlischwand-Gschicht».

Die Bereitschaft zur Auswanderung war gewachsen durch die ansteigende Suche nach einer sicheren Existenz — wie Grossrat Boss meinte, nicht nur nach materieller, sondern auch nach religiöser Art. Schon beim geplanten Kirchenbau auf dem Posthubel hat man bei den Einwohnern der Gemeinden Lüttschental, Isenfluh und Gündlischwand ein grösseres Bedürfnis kirchlich-geistiger Natur deutlich gespürt. Als aus dieser erhofften Bedeutung nichts wurde und bei immer wiederkehrenden Epidemien, bei denen auch nicht genügend ärztliche Hilfe zur Hand war, haben nach Meinung des Referenten die Gündlischwander etwas Befriedigenderes gesucht.

Gerade in diesem Augenblick ist ein Mormonenmissionar nach Gündlischwand gekommen. Schon seit 1854 hatten sich einige Dorfeinwohner der Mormonenbewegung angeschlossen. Ihren Erfolg begründete der Gündlischwander Dorthistoriker Boss damit, dass sie eine Botschaft mit einer besonderen Verheissung gebracht haben. Und offenbar haben wenigstens einige mehrere Gündlischwander diese Botschaft der Hoffnung als die Antwort zu ihrer Verzweiflung gefunden.

Doch waren nicht alle Familienangehörigen immer damit zufrieden oder einverstanden. Am Beispiel der Familie Boss wurde dies besonders deutlich. Der Urgrossvater Johannes Boss-Gertsch (1831—1912), der im Dorf als Gemeindepräsident und auch als Zimmermeister tätig war, schloss sich der neuen «Lehre» mit acht seiner Kinder an. Die Mutter und eine Tochter starben in Gündlischwand. Die drei ältesten Söhne waren aber dagegen und blieben bei der Landeskirche. Seit 1886 wanderten nach und nach die Kinder einzeln nach Utha aus. 1881 übersiedelte dann der Familienvater mit seiner neuen Frau und den zwei jüngsten Söhnen ebenfalls in das Schweizerdorf Midway (Utha). Einer der Höhepunkte des Vortrags waren die Ausschnitte der Briefe des Greises an seine Kinder und Enkel im Berner Oberland. Besonders «herzig» war die Art und Weise, wie der alte Grossvater sich ausgedrückt hat und wie er sich bemühte, seine in der Schweiz zurückgebliebene Familie nicht zu beleidigen, als er mit seinem Missionsgeist von seinem Leben in der neuen Welt berichtete. Besonders auffallend war, wie der Zimmermeister von seinem neuen Haus dort «drinnen» erzählte und nach diversen Verwandten und Bekannten «draussen» im Oberland fragte. Der Auswanderer Boss lernte nie englisch und fühlte sich trotzdem anscheinend glücklich in seiner neuen Heimat, wo auch viele andere Berner waren wie die Abegglen, Amacher, Brawand, Bühler, Gertsch, Lauener, Michel, Mühlmann, Probst, Stoller, Trauffer und Wyss.

Grossrat Boss berichtete von seinem Besuch bei verschiedenen Verwandten, nicht nur in Utah, sondern auch in Kalifornien und Colorado. Es gibt offenbar zahlreiche Gündlischwander auch in den USA! Der Abend, den der Referent so schön zu gestalten wusste, auch mit einigen Dias, wird nicht so bald von den Gündlischwandern und dem an diesem Abend anwesenden Publikum vergessen werden. Man hofft nur, dass die

Viktor Boss gave a lecture about his great grandparents - Johannes and Marianna Gertsch Boss, and the report was written in a Swiss newspaper following Viktor's visit to America

TRANSLATION of an article which appeared in the "Oberlaendisches Volksblatt," published in Interlaken, Switzerland, Friday/Saturday, 7/8 March 1980, Number 47, page 4:

" Overseas from Guendlischwand"

Retired secondary school teacher Viktor Boss from Grindelwald gave a very interesting lecture in the Guendlischwand school. It was already the second lecture in the series "An Overview of Guendlischwand's History." He touched first on the political struggles between the so-called Blacks (conservatives) and Whites (radicals), and their effects on the local population. He further mentioned the plans to build a church on the Posthubel and the need for a closer relationship between the church officials and the lay membership.

Under the subject of "Overseas from Guendlischwand" Legislator Boss told of the over-population in the village and the resulting willingness to emigrate — even to the Mormons in Utah! The Swiss settlement Midway (in the state of Utah, where Mormon headquarters are located) could almost have been named New Guendlischwand. The first person to join the movement (in 1854) was Elisabeth Galli, granddaughter of the former Guendlischwand schoolmaster Johannes Galli (1747-1800). Shortly thereafter, several members of the following families also joined: Abegglen, Amacher, Boss, Brawand, Buehler, Gertsch, Lauener, Michel, Muehleemann, Stoller, Trauffer, Wyss and Zwald. But there were also other Bernese in Midway, for example, the Probst's of Langnau, which recently was the cause of a visit of the Swiss Ambassador in America, Raymond A. Probst, who has just been named as a new member on the staff of Federal Minister Aubert, to "his" relatives in Midway.

Only part of the Johannes Boss family emigrated. The mother and a daughter died in Guendlischwand. The three eldest sons did not join the movement. As of 1886 the other members of the family started to emigrate until 1891 when Father Boss and his second wife, along with the two youngest sons of his deceased wife, moved to Midway. Johannes Boss (1831-1912), who was mayor in Guendlischwand and also a master carpenter, first settled on the little farm of Widow Abegglen. Later he resumed his building profession.

There were also good and bad times in America. A report was heard of the silver fever in Park City, where the Midway farmers took their fresh produce to be sold.

When the silver mines were closed, Park City developed into a Ghost Town, similar to the many other Ghost Towns which can be seen in Nevada. Only in recent years have sports fans, particularly skiers, brought new vitality into this beautiful area of the Rocky Mountains.

Viktor Boss told how his great-grandfather had looked forward to the visit of his eldest son. However, because of the continually increasing building activity "over there" (as Emigrant Boss chose to express himself) in the Bernese Oberland, the visit had to be postponed and afterwards it was too late. Legislator Boss' father also planned a visit to Midway, but it, too, never came to fruition.

The attentive audience heard not only of the impressions of Utah, but also of New York and California. After the lecture some slides were shown and at the close of the evening those who attended joined together for coffee. Inasmuch as this lecture series has been of great interest to the residents of Guendlischwand and their friends, it is hoped that it can be continued.

Wengen, Switzerland where Marianna Gertsch was born

Peter Boss, Marianna's youngest son, reported to his daughter, Minerva Boss Jessee:

One day when I was six years old I was working in the field with some of my brothers and sisters when word came that my mother was dead. I can't remember much only that Mother's health had been poor for some time before her death, which, was caused by tuberculosis of the spine. I remember walking in the funeral procession to the cemetery and after the coffin was lowered I shall never forget the feeling of horror that came over me as they rolled the heavy stones onto the coffin as they covered the grave.

Mother was always very kind to me. She was quite stout and had dark hair and brown eyes. We had strict discipline in our home. After mother's death my sisters took care of

Johannes Boss II and Margaritha Weissmuller

Johannes Boss was the oldest brother of Elizabeth Boss Kunz. [I will refer to him hereafter as Johannes Boss II, to avoid confusion with his father, Johannes Boss] He was the first child born to Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch Boss. His parents were married just over eleven months when he was born. Johannes Boss II was born October 26, 1858. Two daughters, Marianna and Margaritha were then born in 1860 and 1861, respectively. The next two children were boys: Christian and Friedrich, born in 1863 and 1865.

These three oldest boys, Johannes II, Christian, and Friedrich must have worked very hard growing up. They helped on the farm and later worked with their father in construction, as they built hotels and homes.

Johannes Boss II married Margaritha Weissmuller on December 10, 1881 in Guendlischwand, Switzerland. He was thirty-three years old when his father, Johannes, and his new wife, Margaretha, emigrated to the United States in 1891. He had been married for ten years and had four children at the time of his father's emigration, and his wife was pregnant with their fifth child. I am sure that it was difficult for Johannes II to see his father and that new young bride and his two youngest brothers leave for another country to their "Zion." His younger sister, Elizabeth, had already emigrated as had others of his sisters. He must have thought that he would never see them again, which happened as contact from then on was only by letters.

Johannes Boss II and his brothers, Christian and Fredrich, remained in Switzerland and continued farming and building.

Johannes Boss II and Margaritha Weissmuller Family Group Sheet # 2

In 1976 my wife, Joyce, and I went to Switzerland for a professional meeting. Paul Nielson [a grandson of John Kunz III, and Margaret Lauener] had arranged for us to meet descendants from each of these three sons of Johannes and Marianna Boss who remained in Switzerland as the rest of the family emigrated to America to "Zion" in Utah. Zion was the gathering place for the members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

We drove to Interlaken to Gsteig Bei Interlaken. Elizabeth Boss was christened at the beautiful church there on September 1, 1867. Johannes, her father, married Marianna Gertsch at that same church November 20, 1857. Following her death, he married Margaretha Gertsch at that church.

The Boss family lived in Guendlischwand, and it was about an hour and a half walk from their home to the church. They walked to church each Sunday. They were required to attend the Luthern church services.

Elizabeth Boss was baptized and confirmed a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints near Oberstocken, [Teissebach] Several of her brothers and sisters were baptized in the Black Luetschine River or the White Luetschine River or where they come together, just across the bridge from the Boss home, built by Konrad Boss, Elizabeth's grandfather. Margaret Laeuner, my Aunt Lula Kunz Nielson's mother and Paul Nielson's grandmother, lived in a home down the street from Elizabeth's home and was baptized where the two rivers join. Another house has been built in the same place where Margaret Laeuner lived. She testified of that when she, along with other Mormons, was taken to court. The testimony is in part in the Foreign Relation Papers of 1896.

On that trip we met Viktor Boss and his brother, Hans, [great grandsons of Johannes Boss]. We met Viktor, and his wife Elizabeth, on other occasions in Switzerland and in Utah, when they came for a visit. We only met Hans the one time as he came out on the street to shake hands with us. He is an architect in Interlaken. How wonderful it was to meet some of my grandmother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz's brother's family.

Viktor wrote about the family, visited relatives in America and he said that he wanted himself and us to be "bridge builders" between family members in the two countries. It is important that members of this great extended family are united.

Elizabeth and Viktor Boss - he is a great-grandson of Johannes Boss II and Margaritha Weissmuller

Viktor Boss in Utah at Family Reunion. He is a teacher in Switzerland, and a member of the Swiss Senate and a great grandson of Johannes Boss,

Marianna Boss Heinrich Zenger

[Sister of Elizabeth Boss]

Child and Spouse:

Heinrich Zenger      -      Lena Matilda Burgener

Elizabeth Boss Kunz' oldest sister was Marianna Boss. She was born August 24, 1860. She married Heinrich Zenger December 10, 1881. She died November 27, 1944.

A brief family history of Marianna Boss Zenger was written by her grandson Ray H. Zenger, in March, 1961:

Marianna Boss was born August 24, 1860, to Johannes Boss Sr. and Marianna Gertsch, in Guendlischwand, Kanton Bern, Switzerland. She was the eldest daughter and the second child of the family of twelve children. There were six boys and six girls in her family, namely: Johannes II, Marianna, Margaritha, Christian, Frederick, Elizabeth, Rudolf, Emma, Magdalena, Rosette, Adolf, and Peter listed according to age.

Johannes Boss was an architect and building contractor and he built many houses and business structures in Switzerland prior to his joining The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and emigrating to Utah.

Marianna attended school in her youth and assisted her mother in rearing her younger brothers and sisters. At the age of 21 years, Marianna met Heinrich Zenger, age 40, of Habkern, Switzerland and they were married in Interlaken on 10 December 1881.

Marianna Boss

They made their home in a small mountain village, located on the hillside, above Interlaken overlooking the beautiful city. Heinrich Zenger was a farmer and cheese maker. He worked for a large cheese manufacturing company making a living for himself and his young wife. Marianna assisted her husband with his farm and cows and goats. She would milk the cows and goats and see that the hogs got the scraps [from] around the house.

The milk had to be carried to the house or cheese factory in large wooden containers strapped on their backs. The hay was harvested by hand and when dry placed in large nets and carried to the barn and left there to be stored for the winter months.

Besides helping her husband on the farm she would take wool from the sheep and the flax from the field, wash it, and spin and weave it into cloth from which she made all the cloth in household needs. Heinrich had a nice new house built for them which contained, under the same roof, the barn loft for the cattle during the winter. During the summer months cows and goats were taken to the Alpine Range and herded there all summer long. They made the cheese and dairy products on the range. These ranges were leased from the government for the summer feed. On October 1, 1882, their first and only son was born in their new home. It happened in Canton Bern, Switzerland they gave him the same name as his father, but after they emigrated to Utah he was called Henry, and will be known by this name. [Ray H. Zenger]

Heinrich, Heinrich (Henry), their son, and Marianna Boss Zenger

The journal entry of John Kunz III for December 6, 1885, the day he baptized Elizabeth Boss stated, "...there was present Bro. Gottliebe Berger and His Brother Samuel a representative of the Swiss Press not a Member of the Church then, as also Sister Schwendimann and the Sister to the Lady who was Baptized Marrianna Zenger from Halkern at 11 p.m. we all departed from family Bergers. I stayed there again. Dec. 7. Neiderstocken. Rainy Weather. Accompanied those two Ladies again to Thun and encouraged them so that even Mrs. Zenger envited me to Her Home the next time I would go that way even her Husband not knowing anything good from our Doctrines." Continuing from Ray Zenger:

In the summer of 1885, missionaries of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints contacted the family. Two missionaries from Midway Utah, John Ulrich Probst and Emil Kohler were among those who taught them the gospel of Jesus Christ. For two years they visited the family and were treated like members of the family. Nothing was too good for the servants of God. On 27 May 1887, Marianna was baptized and confirmed by Elder Frederick Theurer. (Ray H. Zenger)

At the funeral of Marianna Boss Zenger, in November of 1944 John Ulrich Probst, one of the missionaries mentioned above had this to say about the families in Switzerland and Marianna

Boss in particular:

I became acquainted with the Zenger family in the early summer of 1885 when I went on my mission to Europe...I then had the addresses of some of the Saints from some of the saints here who had relatives in the Berner Oberland,...and we visited the Zenger family and that is the first time I got acquainted with them, and I can say that they treated us royally, as they did all the Elders. ..and also I had the addresses for the Boss family who lived in Guendlishwand, and the Gertsch family....Sister Zenger has filled the Mission of her creation in its fullness. [John Ulrich Probst speaking at funeral of Marianna Boss Zenger]

Elder Gottlieb Buehler, who was also a missionary there at that time said this at Marianna's funeral in 1944:

I left [for the mission] in the Fall of 1895, being as I was called into the Swiss Mission and into that part of the Branch where they lived, I visited them frequently and got quite well acquainted with brother and sister Zenger. Sister Zenger had embraced the gospel many years before her husband embraced the Gospel. However, he held back with the belief that he would wait until his son Henry got big enough to go with him to be baptized, and when that time came they were prepared to be baptized. I baptized brother Zenger and brother Henry, who is here with us....She was one of those well versed in the Gospel and its books, far better than the Ministers, and she used to quote with many of them, and even Ministers when they went to her place to turn her away from Mormonism. Ministers would go away many times saying: "You know the scriptures better than I do." She had embraced the Gospel of Jesus Christ and was not afraid to bear her testimony before anyone.

I remember holding meetings at one time in old Switzerland. We had a room about fifteen feet square and there we held meetings and partook of the sacrament. This good sister left her home in the morning walked two hours and a half to a station in Interlaken. She lived high up in the mountains and on one mountain side and there was a trail to their home, and she would leave there, about three hours walk to the train, then rode on that train and then walked another three fourths of a mile to come to our meeting and partake of the sacrament and mingle with the saints. [Gottlieb Buehler]

Continuing from Ray H. Zenger, Marianna's grandson:

After her baptism there was a lot of persecution from the local Protestant church and former friends and neighbors. But this didn't hinder her participation with the other members of the Church. The pastor of her former church came to see her several times and tried to persuade her to come back to his flock, but she withstood him and many times quoted scripture better than he could. In 1889, Henry started school and he had to walk several miles to school, which were taking 20 minutes to get there. After school he would stop at the country store and buy bread and supplies for his parents and carry them home along with his school-books. His first teacher was the pastor's wife in that village. He [the pastor] visited now and then with his mother to get her to come back to his congregation.

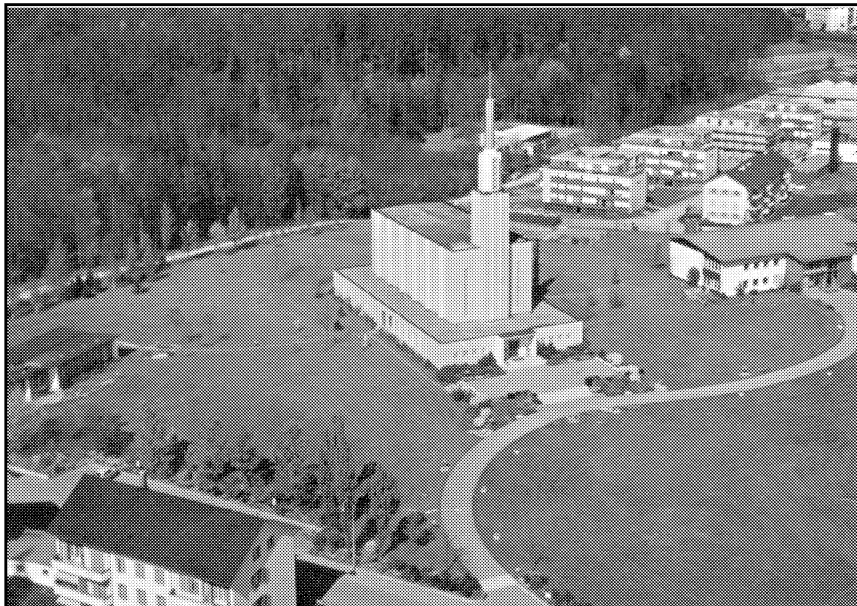

In spite of all the persecution, Marianna continued to attend the LDS Church and encouraged her husband and family to accept the gospel of Jesus Christ. One Sunday morning, Easter morning on 17 April 1891, while Henry was just nine years old, he was in his uncle's house playing with his cousins. They were climbing around on the shingles of the house, when he fell about eight feet to the ground, and broke his leg by his knee. He was carried into his uncle's house and placed on the couch, where he remained until his uncle returned from the Easter church services. His uncle carried him home to his parents who were very much shocked at what happened.

It was impossible to get a doctor to make a call on Easter Sunday, so Henry had to remain with his leg unset until sometime the next day. His mother had been a member of the LDS church for about four years and had great faith in healing effect on the consecrated olive oil. There were no elders available that night, so she took the oil and rubbed it on his leg where it was broken and covered it with a warm cloth. This was done for about 24 hours before the doctor arrived. The faith and prayers of his parents, especially his mother, continued to ask the Lord to heal his leg so that he would not have any defect there from in his later life. When the doctor arrived he was greatly surprised that the leg was not swollen at all. This was very unusual for a break. Within two weeks when the doctor called the second time he put the leg in the cast for another two weeks but then it was removed. After that, Henry had to use crutches until he was strong enough to walk without them. His mother attributed the complete recovery to the help of the Lord. Through their faith in prayers, Henry continued his schooling and completed seven years.

Winter Sleigh Ride in Switzerland

On May 12, 1897, Heinrich and his son, Henry, were baptized and confirmed members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints by Gottlieb Buehler and John Gilder. Following their baptism, they received a desire to emigrate to Utah to be with the other members of the Boss family who had emigrated to Utah a few years before. They sold their home and other property and packed their belongings for the trip to Utah.

It was June 10, 1897, when they left Switzerland with Elder John Ulrich Probst and Elder Emil Kohler from Midway Utah. They [the Elders] were released from their mission, and were asked to take charge of the group of emigrants. They crossed through Germany, Holland, and England and sailed from the seaport of Glasgow, Scotland. The name of the ship was The City of Rome, a new ship, about 700 feet long and 85 feet wide. The voyage took eight days. They were about two days out of New York Harbor, when the cargo hold of the ship took fire. This caused a great deal of excitement aboard the ship, but after a great deal of work the fire was brought under control by the time they docked in the New York Harbor. After clearing customs in New York, they crossed the continent to Park City, Utah by train. At Park City they were met by friends from Midway, Utah with teams and wagons and drivers. They arrived in their new home of Midway, Utah on July 3, 1897. It was a Saturday evening.

They [the Zenger family] moved in with Johannes Boss, Marianna's father and family, who were then living with a friend Marianna Boykins, until their new house was completed. Inside that same year, the Johannes Boss family moved into their new house. They then left for the Zenger home and lived with Marianna Boykins, with the agreement that she would live with them the remainder of her life.

Heinrich purchased the team of horses, harnesses, wagons and a cow to help them on the small farm and provide the necessary food for his family. The hay was cut by hand for many years and hauled home by the horses and wagons. Each fall, firewood was cut in the nearby hills and hauled inside for winter fuel. When Henry was about 19 years of age the property was deeded over to him with the understanding that he would take care of his parents for the remainder of their lives.

On May 6, 1899, the Melchizedek Priesthood was conferred upon Heinrich and he was ordained an Elder by Bishop John Watkins. Marianna Boss Zenger was sealed to her husband Heinrich Zenger on May 17th 1899, in the Salt Lake Temple. Their son Henry, was also sealed to his parents the same day. On July 1, 1901, the Aaronic Priesthood was conferred upon Henry and he was ordained a Deacon by Bishop John Watkins. They continued as a family to be active in the church, and live according to its teachings. In October 1903, Henry was ordained a Teacher, in the Aaronic Priesthood, by Bishop Jacob Probst.

The German-speaking immigrants from Switzerland, [who lived in Midway, Utah] held their church meetings in the old German [language] until they learned to speak the English language.

Chapter 5 - Marianna Boss and Heinrich Zenger

On February 11, 1906, Henry was advanced and ordained a Priest by Bishop Jacob Probst. His father, Heinrich, was ordained a High Priest on July 21, 1907, by Apostle George F. Richards. That fall the Melchizedek Priesthood was conferred upon Henry and he was ordained an Elder by Bishop Jacob Probst on November 3, 1907. Three days later he married Lena Matilda Burgener in the Salt Lake Temple on November 6, 1907.

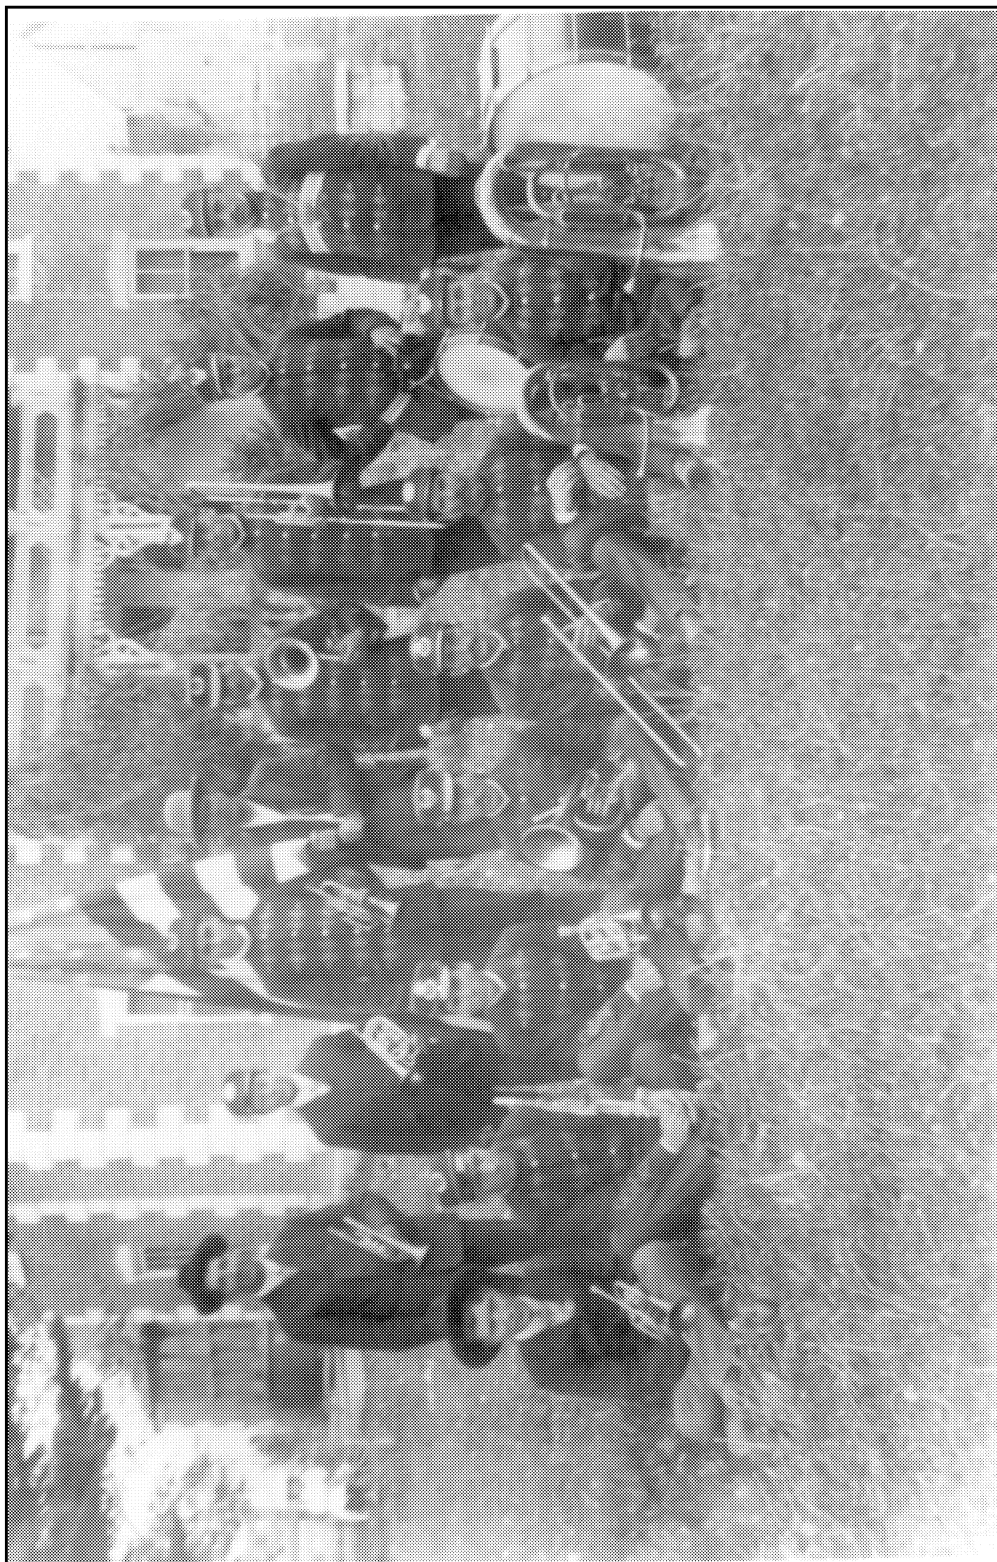

During the preceding period Heinrich continued to help with the farm work to obtain a meager living. Henry would work away from home during the summer months to earn cash for further needs. In the winter, Henry attended school in Midway, Utah, where he learned the English language and other subjects. At the time of his marriage she [Lena] his wife, was attending the Brigham Young University of Provo Utah part-time.

After school, Henry and Lena made their home with his parents. Henry and Lena took care of his parents the remaining days in their lives. Heinrich died of natural causes on 24 May 1916 and was buried in the Midway Cemetery. Marianna continued in mortality for 28 years. [After Heinrich's death] During that time she provided for her family by planting a garden each year to obtain what food she needed for her sustenance. She wove rugs and sold them for cash needed to provide for her own needs.

This continued throughout her life until she was too weak to do any more.

Margaritha Boss and Christian Sterchi

Elizabeth Boss's second older sister, Margaritha Boss was born to Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch November 19, 1861, in Guendlichswand, Bern, Switzerland. She married Christian Sterchi November 10, 1882. Christian was born August 26, 1852, in Isenfluh, Bern, Switzerland. His parents were Johannes Christian Sterchi and Margaritha Ammeter.

They had five children. Marianna, was born May 27 1884 in Isenfluh. She married John Mischler. Marianna died Jan 21, 1968. The second child was Margaritha (in America she was called Margaret) was born June 7, 1885. She did not marry and died May 24, 1972 at Crystal Lake Nursing Home in Minneapolis. She had shingles and intestinal flu. She is buried in Arpin, Wisconsin. Friedrich was born Sept 10, 1886 and died June 14, 1887. The fourth child was also name Friedrich. He was born Dec 20, 1888. He did not marry and died on Sept 5th 1960. The fifth child was Lina or Lena, born April 22, 1892. She married Harry Landry and then Peter Dawn. Peter Dawn died Nov 22, 1967, at Portland, Oregon and was buried in Minneapolis, Minnesota, next to Lina, who died February 5, 1963.

Agnes Kunz Dansie, niece of Margaritha, obtained the following history. It was probably written by one of Margaritha's sisters, with some comments from Agnes Kunz Dansie:

Christian Sterchi and wife Margaritha Boss lived at Isenfluh, Bern, Switzerland.

Christian was a Cooper by trade and he made wooden tubs and pails and so on. He had two plots of land on which he had a garden and raised geese, goats and cows. He made his own butter and cheese.

The family would walk to Interlaken to market each year in the spring and fall. The market was a big open trading place. Christian played the accordion and mouth-organ and when they went to dances the music was played on these two instruments. The whole family participated in the farm work by raking the hay with the wooden rake and carrying it on their backs in nets made of twine.

Aunt Margaret [Margaritha] was a tailor in Switzerland. Her father gave her a sewing machine when she was married. She knit stockings, mittens and also made quilts and torcion lace. John Sterchi, a brother to Christian, owned the hotel in the Alps and Aunt Margaret and her two daughters, Margaret and Mary, would take the lace to the resort and sell it to the tourists. Another pastime the daughters enjoyed was going to Zweilutschinen for bread and while they were there to visit Uncle John Boss [Johannes Boss II] and his wife who would fix them a lunch consisting of rice pudding with prunes and milk. Their diet was mostly cheese and potatoes.

When Margaret [Boss] Sterchi was a [young] girl, a group of young people went high into the Alps for a social and dance. One of fellows got too near a ledge that was nearby and fell several hundred feet to his death. This put a damper on the fun. Young Mary said when she went to school in Switzerland a mouse was running around the floor and all the children laughed. The teacher who happened to be her father's brother's wife gave them a beating. On Saturday, they had sewing school and they were taught to knit and make lace. Aunt Margaret's Sister, Marianne Boss Zenger, weaved cloth for skirts and dresses. They lived on the steep hill not far from Sterchi's.

Christian Sterchi barn and silo in Arpin, Wisconsin

One day the Sterchi family, minus their Father Christian, went to see Marianne and she got a man to carry Lena (who was a baby) up the hill, and young Margaret walked behind. She was very worried for fear the man would drop her baby sister. On another occasion Margaret went to the woods to pick blueberries and blackberries. On the way she passed an artist painting. The artist asked her if she could draw her picture and Margaret consented. The lady sat her on a stump and drew a sketch of her. Margaret had on a red and white calico blouse that she really liked.

This Sterchi family, Christian, Margaret and their children, belonged to the Lutheran Church which was the church almost everyone belonged to. In June 1897 the family emigrated to America and on the voyage almost everyone got seasick except for Fred and Lena. Lena said the only thing she knew about her mother was that she carried a coffee grinder which they had in Switzerland all the way to America in her arms. They settled in Midway, Utah on a 20 acre farm and had cows and raised alfalfa. Grandfather John Boss helped Christian Sterchi build a cellar. Christian didn't like irrigating as he had a neighbor by the name of Ernsberger, who stole his water. Due to this he moved to Arpin, Wisconsin where he bought a farm of 80 acres and had from 14 to 16 milk cows. John Sterchi, Christian's brother, built a house and barn with a silo in Arpin. Lightning struck the barn and burned it down. Christian had rheumatism but worked and milked cows. He died of a heart attack in February, 1925. His wife Margaret had bronchitis and had a coughing spell for a week. Fred, their son, called the doctor and gave her a pill and she never woke up. [Agnes Kunz Dansie, niece of Margaritha]

It has been said, contrary to what was presented earlier in this chapter, that the Sterchi family went from Switzerland directly to Wisconsin and that they never did join The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The baptism records of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints indicate that Margaritha was baptized August 10, 1890. Christen Sterchi was baptized April 12, 1891. Both were baptized by Conrad Abegglen. She was baptized in Gundlischwand and he was baptized in the Lake Thun.

Chapter 7 - Christian Boss and Lina Muehlemann

Christian Boss, Elizabeth Boss's older brother, was born August 8, 1863, in Guendlischwand, Bern, Switzerland. His parents were Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. He married Lina Muehlemann on March 24, 1888. They had five children: Ida, Emma, Ernst, Walter and Hermann. He was a farmer.

Christian Boss and Lina Muehlemann

While in Switzerland in 1976, my wife, Joyce, and I went to visit with Ernst Boss, a son of Christian and Lina Muehlemann. Here are some notes that we took at that time. Ernst's father, Christian, did not want his first son to be called "Little Christian" or whatever, so they called him Ernst.

Ernst said that his father, Christian had rheumatism in his hands and had to sell the farm when Ernst was little because he was unable to continue milking the cows. His hands pretty much became paralyzed and, of course that was prior to the introduction of milking machines. Christian died April 12, 1920, of Apoplexy in Lengwil, Switzerland.

At the time we visited with Ernst and his wife, Millie, he was eighty years old. His legs had been bad for two and a half years, but his head was still good and sharp. He indicated that his legs tend to collapse when he tried to stand, so he lays in a hospital bed in their home.

Ernst was department leader and the head of the Swiss Farmers Union for over fifty years. The Union was a cattle breeding association. He had an old engraving or certificate, which was lettered by Konrad Boss, father of Johannes Boss, grandfather of Ernst, and my great great grandfather.

Konrad Boss, father of Johannes Boss made this when he was about 20 years old. Doctor Jay Phillip Kunz, Professor of Languages at Mississippi State University translated Konrad Boss' statements as follows: "No person has ever completed his education. Nobody can suppose, if he wants to become a useful man, that he is already skilled enough, but he must always seek diligently to maintain and to increase his knowledge. Konrad Boss 1820.

In German: Kein Mensch hat je in seinem Leben ausgelehret. Es darf keiner sich einbilden wenn er ein brauchbarer Mann werden will, dass er geschickt genug sey, sondern muss alle zeit durch Fleiss seine Kenntnisse Zu erhalten, und zu vermehren suchen. Conrad Boss im 1820 Jahr."

Chapter 7 - Christian Boss and Lina Muehleemann

Ernst divorced his wife, Mary (Marie), after 25 years of married life and married Millie (Emilie), his secretary. Mary moved around the corner from him and Ernst said that she had forgiven him because of her deep religious beliefs.

[Ernst called my wife, Joyce, a police woman because she takes so many notes - which are now of great value after some twenty-seven years as I write this book]

The story of the earlier parting of my Grandmother, Elizabeth Boss and his father, Christian was still a dark family story for him. When Elizabeth was ready to emigrate she went into the house to tell her brothers goodbye. Christian turned his back on her and said, "Get out of my life, or just go now." Many letters were sent in the years afterward that were not opened by Christian.

When we were ready to leave their home, Ernst insisted on standing on his legs to hug us goodbye. Now, in our presence, Christian's son, Ernst, wanted to make up for the previous disgust and bitterness of his father, and give us a proper goodbye. He seemed to be very close and tender in feeling, and as we were to leave there were tears in his eyes and ours.

Ernst seemed to be quite well off, with what appeared to be a strong middle-class home. His older sister died in Germany in 1975. Her name was Ida and her daughter by the same name, Ida, lived near St. Louis. [Ida and Fred Leonhart from Columbia, Missouri, who have since died, but left sons living in Columbia]

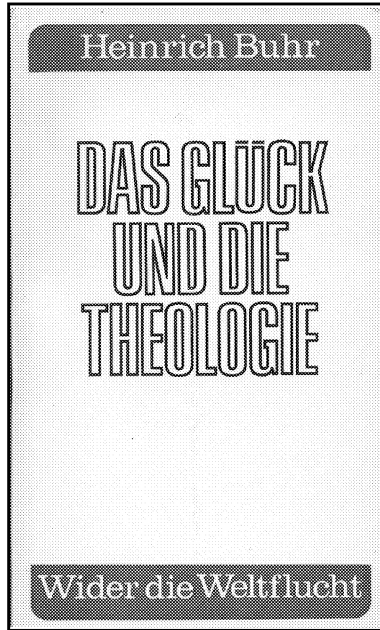

In addition to their daughter, Ida Buhr, the daughter of Christian and Lina, had three sons: one died in the war in Russia or else is locked up in Russia - they don't know which, one died in a ski accident and the other one lives in Tuebingen, Germany, where he is a Lutheran minister and apparently well up in the ministry and well thought of. The fifth child of Christian and Lina died in infancy. He was a boy named Hermann. One of the brothers, Walter, had polio. He died at the age of 23. It started in his legs and when it got to his hips he said, "I hope that it will continue to go very fast." In two or three days he was dead. His name was Walter, and he died in 1923.

Ernst's sister, Emma, married Karl Meier. They had three daughters. One died - her name was Martha. One lives in St. Gallen, Switzerland. Her name is Heidi. One's name is Elizabeth and she lives in Crmatingen, Switzerland.

Friedrich Boss and Elise Christen

Elizabeth Boss' brother, Friedrich, was born in Gundlischwand, Switzerland October 5, 1865, the fifth child of Johannes and Marianna Gertsch Boss. He was Christened on October 22, 1865 in the beautiful Gstig bei Interlaken church. His mother, Marianna Gertsch Boss was twenty-nine years old when he was born. He helped his mother and father on the farm. Friedrich was twenty years old when his mother, Marianna died. I'm sure it was a sad time for him when their dear mother passed away. He married Elise Christen on December 14, 1890. They had six children. Friedrich died June 19, 1918, at age 53.

These three older sons of Johannes [II] and Marianna Gertsch Boss, Johannes, Christian and Friedrich, were bitter when the rest of the family converted to Mormonism and emigrated. That bitterness persisted for many years and in some sense for the lifetime of the family. The source of the feelings may not be entirely known to us now, but seemed to have its origin in Mormonism and polygamy. It was said that the three boys thought their father, Johannes, had sold his daughters, their beautiful sisters to polygamy. Then there was their father's, Johannes Boss age 60, marriage to a very young wife, Margaritha Gertsch age 18, who was already several months pregnant. Both of these factors may have contributed to the bitterness they felt. That bitterness was strong for many years but did not persist forever as evidenced by the letter from Johannes [II] to his younger brother, Rudolph, presented in Chapter 16 in this book.

There is no evidence that any of the family had been aware of the baptism of their father, Johannes Boss, in December 19, 1875. It may be that he did not share the gospel with them because of his situation in that he was a man of some stature in that part of the Alps and

6. And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people,

7. Saying with a loud voice, Fear God, and give glory to him; for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters.

position in the community and in his business, thinking that it would put his office in jeopardy. Or, it may have been that the persecution was so intense at that time that he wanted to spare his family until things settled down a little with the Church. It is also possible that these older boys did know of his conversion to Mormonism and were hostile toward his membership because of the general ill feeling towards Mormons in Switzerland.

I received some histories written by Johannes Boss children or grandchildren, that indicated that he was a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and that his baptism took place after that of his children. Such a baptism could have taken place later, as part of the effort to solidify the members with a new commitment, but it was not his first baptism. In the history of her mother, Elizabeth Boss, Agnes Kunz Dansie, the eldest daughter of Elizabeth, writes "Mother was the first to join. She was baptized Dec. 3, 1885. Her Father was baptized Dec. 26, 1885."

Following our visit to Ernst [Christian's son,] in 1976 we went to White Zurich, which is considered the "Gold Coast" of Switzerland. There are a lot of grape fields and many of the people have small country gardens. We went to see Bertha and Elise, daughters of Friedrich Boss and Elise Christen.

Friedrich was the youngest of the three sons of Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch Boss, who stayed in Switzerland. He was 26 years old when his father, Johannes and his new young bride, Margaretha Gertsch and his two younger brothers, Adolf and Peter, emigrated to the United States of America. Even though he had just married I'm sure it took a chunk out of his heart to see his father and brothers leave, probably not to be seen again in this life.

Bertha was out on the road waiting for us, although it was cold and wet. It was hard to tell how long she had been out there waiting. It was a couple of blocks from where she lived. Elise was looking out the window and also waited for us to arrive from Ernst's.

They had a meal prepared for us with Swiss cheese, meat sandwiches, rose-hip tea and some cake they had made especially for us. They also gave us some photos of themselves. They were apparently quite well off, having a well furnished home with wood inlaid tables and so on. The table was beautiful, as were the sofa and piano.

Elise Boss was the oldest living child of Friedrich and Elise Christen. She was born January 12, 1894. She was so sweet and kind to us. She was eighty-two years old when we met her. Berthal, born May 11, 1899 was seventy-seven years old when we met her.

They said that they also were taught of the hard family feelings between those who stayed in Switzerland and those who left for America. These three brothers couldn't understand why their sisters who were young, pretty girls would leave because of a fifty-three year old man, John Kunz III, to go to America. It should be noted, however, that he was not the only missionary involved in their teaching about the gospel, nor was there any hint of marriage at that early time. Even while Elder John Kunz III was serving his mission in Switzerland, he was hanged in effigy by persons in the Guendlishwand area. Some of the hard feeling against him may have resulted from his remarkable success as a missionary. He baptized many people and, because of his position in the Mission Office, arranged for the emigration of many of the Swiss converts. The bitterness may have escalated when the marriage of Elizabeth Boss to John Kunz III took place in Utah in 1888]

They said that Hans [Johannes II], who was the oldest, got the construction business from his father and the others were left out and had to leave and do something else.

After our visit with Bertha and Elise, we went to see Emma, who we found at the window waving to us. Emma married Reinhart Eichenberger. She was then widowed for forty-five years. Emma had a girl two weeks old when her husband died and a son who was two and a half years old. Emma's son's name was Rolf Eichenberger. Her forty-five year old daughter, Ruth and her husband, Rolf came out to meet us and they also fed us some delicious juice and goodies. They were so kind and loving toward us.

We had wonderful visits with these families. It seemed that they knew of the early bitterness and wanted to offset it with kindness. We certainly felt the love and kindness they offered and our feelings toward them was of love.

Each of us has a wonderful heritage, including a name that represents sacrifice and much effort on the part of our ancestors. We owe them much and must carry on the great tradition that they have started. It will certainly be a blessing for us to see them again as we leave this phase of our eternal progression.

John Kunz III and Elizabeth Boss Family Group Sheet - # 2

Elizabeth Boss, my grandmother, for whom I have written this book, was born August 14, 1867

Gsteig Bei Interlaken - Church for Boss family

in the beautiful town of Guendlishwand, surrounded by the majestic Alps of Switzerland. She was the sixth child and the third daughter born to Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. The family grew larger, with twelve children, one of whom died as a six year old child.

Church where Elizabeth Boss was Christened - Gsteig Bei Interlaken

Elizabeth was christened in the church at Gsteig bei Interlaken on September 1, 1867. The walk to the church took the family about an hour and a half.

Elizabeth Boss was called Lizzie by many of her family and friends. She died May 13, 1900, some thirty-six years before I was born, but I think I know a lot about her as a result of writing this book. I hope to hug her one day and just call her “Grandmother.” I am thankful for her and for her life and her testimony of the Gospel of Jesus Christ and for her membership in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Agnes Kunz Dansie, the oldest daughter of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III wrote a short history of her mother as follows:

My Mother Elizabeth Boss Kunz was born the 14 Aug. 1867, at Guendlishwand, Bern, Switzerland. She was the sixth child of Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. Their home was a two story frame house, situated in a narrow valley, surrounded by high rugged mountains which were snow-capped the year around, and a beautiful river flowed through the valley.

The school house was surrounded by mountains in the apine valley, three subjects were considered very important for girls, sewing, knitting, and music. Her mother [Marianna Gertsch] died when she was eighteen years of age. Her father was an architect and contractor, and the older brothers worked with him, my mother being the eldest daughter at home took care of the house when she was sixteen years old for about two years while her mother was sick, with the help of her sister, Emma.

It was during this time that they became acquainted with the Mormon Latter Day Saint missionaries. Freidrich William Schoenfeld was President of the Mission. They began to investigate the Gospel. Mother [Elizabeth] was the first to join. She was baptized 6 Dec. 1885. Her Father, Johannes Boss, was baptized 19 Dec. 1875. Elizabeth was baptized at night because of so much persecution. Marianna Gertsch Boss, according to her granddaughter, Agnes Kunz Dansie, died before she was baptized due to her ill health. She died 22 August 1885. [Her temple work was done 17 December 1888] Mother [Elizabeth] was 18 years old when her mother, Marianna, died and with the help of her sister, Aunt Emma, took over the family for two years until coming to America.

Baptism of Elizabeth Boss as recorded in mission journal of Elder John Kunz III

John Kunz III's journal, shown here, indicates that Elizabeth Boss and Marianna Zenger came from Guendlichswand to Thun and were met there by Elder Kunz. They went to Allmendingen to a meeting and then to Oberstocken, where Elizabeth was baptized late that night. The church records show that she was baptized in the creek called "Feissebach," which flows from the Alps and goes through the little hamlet of Oberstocken.

Given that the day was the 6th of December, the cold water and the darkness of the night demonstrated the faith and testimony of this wonderful woman, Elizabeth Boss.

After Elizabeth's baptism, she remained faithful in Switzerland and in the United States of America. President Frederick William Schoenfeld notes the attendance of two of the Boss sisters at a meeting in Switzerland some distance away from their home as follows:

Sunday, March 21 1886 Stocken, We had two sisters coming from Guendlishwand which is a long ways to come. They were two sisters Boss and one of them had stayed in Almendengen. Them three had started at three in the morning. Started per Steamer from Daligen to Thun. [Frederick W. Schoenfeld journal]

And in other notations:

Sunday May 8 1887 Bern [with Brother Theurer] Found there one of our faithful sisters from Guendlishwand Elizabeth Boss [writes of meeting and flowers and then] at noon Br Theurer and [Brother] Boss arrived and we had dinner,...Br Theurer and Boss going valley up, and I chose a path upon the mountainside.

We had visitors from Guendlishwand Sister Emma Boss [Elizabeth's sister]. Had a good Sunday School. [Frederick W. Schoenfeld journal]

the efforts I could to become a Sheltering Place

A page from the missionary journal of John Kunz III which indicates how much some of the local people disliked the Mormons - Elder Kunz was hanged in effigy in this village.

She was taught the gospel by the missionaries and perhaps also by Swiss members of the Church who had already joined the Church and who lived in that area of the Alps. Her sister, Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld, indicated this type of contact with an “old man by the name of Weissmiller.” She said:

The greatest joy came to them when LDS missionaries called at their home bringing to them glad tidings of great joy. They welcomed them and invited them to explain the gospel to them. But this presented a problem, insomuch that they had to use great wisdom because of the prejudice that existed in respect to Mormonism. Persecution could result if anyone was found investigating the gospel. Mother told how they used to meet in secret at the home of an old man by the name of Weissmiller, who was a convert to the church. And there in the home they had the gospel explained to them by the missionaries. As they continued to receive these teachings one by one the members of the family began to see the light and were converted and were baptized, the father being the first to join. [He had actually joined a number of years prior to this – 1875] Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld

Being called to a mission and the subsequent missionary work was not always easy. John Kunz III, who baptized Elizabeth Boss, had his share of heart breaking experiences:

John Kunz III was called to return to his native land to fill a mission. He left his home on 24 October 1884, to travel to the mission field. Of that departure, in which he left his three living wives and four living children, John Kunz III wrote:

On the 24 Day of October 1884 in the Morning Six O'clock I took leave of my Dear Beloved ones at home, they accompanied me so far as my fathers house, and it seemed to me a trial which I was not able to bear but I faced it with Determination and I shall never forget my last look on to their beloved faces, it was most to hard but for the Sake of the Gospel of Jesus Christ I was willing to do it, and to face still more, but I also felt, that it was a trial for my family also. [John Kunz III Missionary Journal]

The call to serve and the subsequent service was given at great sacrifice by him and certainly by his wives and children; however, it was not without great blessings as well. His mission was successful in the conversion and baptism of many people, in supporting and strengthening the members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Switzerland and in assisting in the emigration of many of the saints. Of such service, Paul Nielson, his grandson wrote:

As we reflect upon this sacred occasion, let us remember the sacrifices made by these noble forebears. They listened to the gospel message and embraced it, thereby bringing upon themselves much persecution from relatives and friends; they followed the spirit of the gathering and left their beautiful native land to come to a foreign country and start a new life among strangers, thereby giving us a portion of our American heritage; they kept the commandments of God and made the gospel a part of their daily lives, thereby laying a foundation on which we may build our faith and increase our devotion.

I think of my dear grandmother, Elizabeth Boss, as she emigrated to America as a twenty year-old. She left behind her family, friends, and homeland to be a part of the new faith she had embraced. Her actions were not without considerable cost and my heart is full as I think of her unselfishness for me.

Continuing the writing of Paul Nielson:

A portion of the address given by John Kunz III on December 22, 1884, during the closing session of a missionary conference held in Berne, Switzerland, has been recorded in the Church publication for the German-speaking members, Der Stern (vol. 17, no. 3, 1 February 1885): (Translated by Paul Anthon Nielson)

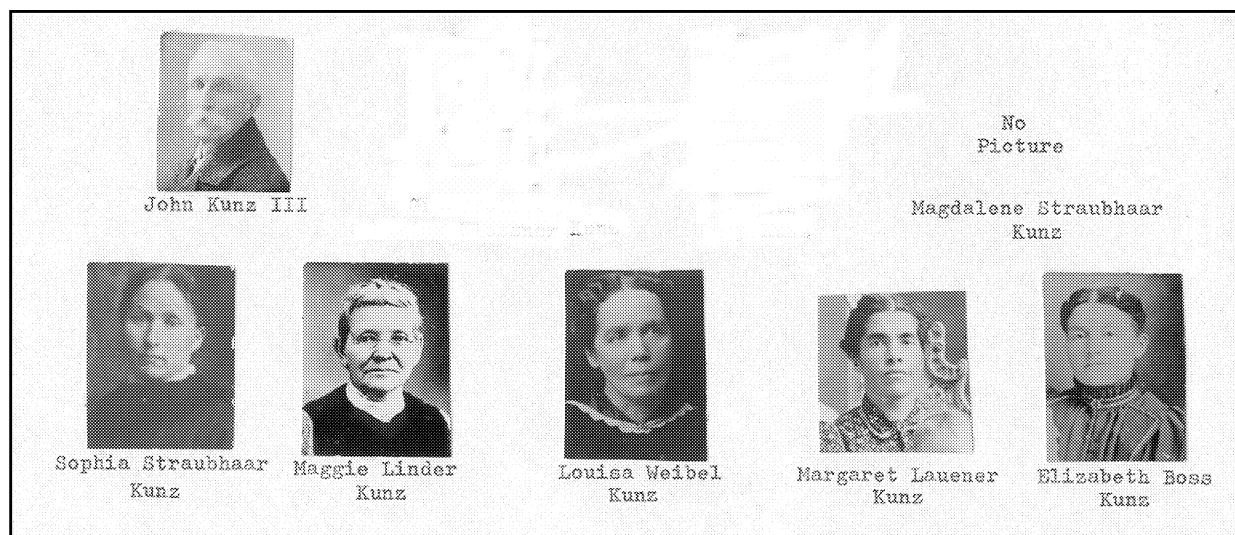

We have met here together at this conference where God has poured out His spirit in rich abundance upon us. It is necessary that we assemble from time to time to receive new strength and encouragement in the gospel. If we consider the small number of Saints in comparison to the large majority of mankind, we come to the conclusion that this gathering is very necessary, in order that we might receive the strength to swim against the mainstream of the world. I testify in the name of Jesus that God has again raised prophets to whom He has given power and authority to bind on earth., which bindings shall also stand in heaven. The world calls us fanatics, as though we were mere dreamers in our thoughts and in our faith. We desire to teach the world in order that they might see these things and learn of them. I would like to admonish you investigators to ask God for a testimony about His work, for it is impossible to receive a testimony of the truth but from Him. Everyone who has received such a witness should warn his neighbor. Let us not tire in this endeavor, and not weaken if we cannot emigrate as speedily as we would like to. [John Kunz III, as translated by Paul Anthon Nielson]

After the baptism of Elizabeth Boss in Switzerland December 6, 1885, she emigrated to Zion in 1887.. As Elizabeth was ready to leave, she went into the house to bid her brothers, Johannes, Christian and Friedrich, goodbye. According to Ernst Boss, the son of Christian, who was Elizabeth's brother, the emigration was stressful for the family. At the time of our visit to Switzerland in 1976, Ernst was eighty years of age and bed-ridden from a rather long illness. We visited a little with Ernst and his wife, Millie. As we were about to leave, he indicated that he wanted help to stand up by the side of his hospital type bed. He said, "When your grandmother left for America she went into the house to tell my father, Christian, goodbye. He turned his back on her and said, 'Get out of my life or just go now.'" That story has remained in our family all of these years and I want to hug you and tell you that such feelings must not persist in our families here and in America." With that he gave both Joyce and me wonderful hugs. He had tears in his eyes and we had tears in our eyes as well. It was a nice feeling and all barriers went down. Ernst told us that when letters came to Christian from his sister, the letters were thrown into the fireplace unopened and unread.

Elizabeth Boss emigrated in 1887 and went to Bern, Idaho, to what is now called "Lower Bern." Elizabeth lived in the home of William Kunz and his wives, Eliza Eschler and Mary Ann Roberts. William Kunz was the younger brother of John III.

Elizabeth Boss married John Kunz III in the Logan Temple on December 19, 1888. John's first wife, Magdalena died leaving her children without a mother. John married Magdalena's sister, Sophia, who helped him raise Magdalena's children. He subsequently married four more times, Elizabeth Boss becoming his sixth wife. The practice of plural marriage was officially stopped by the Church through the issuance of the "Manifesto" in 1890 by President Wilford Woodruff. Four of these wives gave birth to twenty-four children. The other two wives who did not have children assisted in raising the other wives' children. After the Manifesto stopping plural marriage, much persecution still came to the fathers because of their unwillingness to abandon their wives and children. The persecution obviously affected the wives and the children as well.

As our early family members were taught the Gospel of Jesus Christ they came to know that baptism was an essential part of the Gospel Plan. As Nicodemus was taught by the Lord in the Holy Bible:

5. Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. John 3:5

And as taught in The Book of Mormon, which they read and loved:

And he commanded all men that they must repent, and be baptized in his name, having perfect faith in the Holy One of Israel, or they cannot be saved in the kingdom of God.
2 Nephi 9:23

[illegible]

Elizabeth Boss is number 49 on this baptism record of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. It indicates her name, birthdate and place and her baptism and confirmation as a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, both ordinances having been performed by John Kunz [III].

Guendlischwand, Switzerland – the home village of the Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch Family. Elizabeth Boss and all of her brothers and sisters were born and raised here.

Agnes Kunz Dansie continues:

Mother emigrated to Zion about the 11 May, 1886 [The records show that she emigrated in August, 1887 on the ship Wisconsin. She was Customs passenger # 472], she bade farewell to her Fatherland and started for Utah. There were missionaries and Saints in the Company. They traveled from Hull to Liverpool by train. At Liverpool they boarded the Steamship for New York. The emigrants joined in singing and dancing on the deck of the ship, many of them suffered with seasickness. They were on the ship ten days, and were sure happy when they sighted land. They came by train to Utah. [Agnes Kunz Dansie Book of Remembrance]

Accounts of the trip indicate that Elizabeth Boss sailed on the ship Wisconsin, departing August 27, 1887 and arriving in New York City September 8, 1887, with E. Bentley, the ship's Master, and J. Hart, the Company Leader.<sup>1</sup>

A letter from John I. Hart - September 7, 1887, to President George Teasdale gives more history of the voyage as follows:

President George Teasdale:

Dear Brother, - - We are pleased once more to have the opportunity to write a few lines to you to inform you how we are all getting along. After leaving Queenstown, all that day and the next was quite pleasant, but on the 30th ultimo, it became a little rough, which lasted about three days. Many of the Saints suffered somewhat with seasickness. On Thursday evening, the 1st instant, a very interesting affair happened; President Hart was invited into the smoking room of the first cabin by a number of gentlemen to give them an account of the principles of the gospel, which he accepted. the saloon was crowded to hear him; he was asked many questions, which he answered to their entire satisfaction. The captain of the vessel came in two or three times during the meeting, at one time he testified before all that were present that the Saints were the best passengers he had to take across the ocean; the most quiet and orderly people he had to do with. He said he had the pleasure of taking a good many companies of Saints over. Of course anyone speaking a good word for the poor, despised "Mormons", must be accused of being one of them,

THE FIFTH COMPANY.- The S. S. Wisconsin, which sailed from Liverpool on Saturday last, Aug. 27th carried over 400 of our people en route to the gathering places of the Saints. There were from the British Isles, 197 from Scandinavia and Norway, 21 from Switzerland and Germany, and from Palestine, also 17 returning missionaries. [MS, 49:35 (Aug. 1887), p. 558]

Sat. 27. [Aug. 1887] - The steamship Wisconsin sailed from Liverpool, England, with over four hundred Saints, in charge of John I. Hart. The company arrived in New York Aug. 27th and in Salt Lake City Sept. 15th. [CC, p. 151]

In Liverpool the emigrants went on board the steamship 'Wisconsin,' together with emigrating saints and returning elders from the British Isles (about 400 souls in all), in charge of Elder John I. Hart, a returning elder. The company, after a safe voyage across the Atlantic Ocean, arrived in New York, August 27th. Thence the journey was continued to Salt Lake City, Utah.... [HSM, pp. 303-04] which was the case in this instance, but the captain told them he was no “Mormon”, in fact he didn’t know that he was anything, all he wanted to say was to speak the truth of the people, no matter to him what their religion was.

In the meeting there was present one infidel and one Jewish Rabi; the latter tried to condemn plural marriage, but President Hart proved to all present that the learned rabbi had not studied the laws of Moses nor his Jewish Bible. After the meeting was over, the entire company gave President Hart a hearty, unanimous vote of thanks.

At about 3 p.m. on the 3rd instant, we encountered a severe storm, which lasted several hours. One lady (not belonging to our company) fell and broke her leg.

About half past two o’clock on Sunday morning, we had a new passenger come on board; Brother James Cotton’s wife, Emily, of the Ashton Branch, Liverpool District, was delivered of a fine boy, both mother and baby are doing first-rate, of course the father is doing as well as can be expected under the existing circumstances.

We are pleased to say that the Saints have been able to attend to morning and evening prayers regularly every day; we held two meetings on Sunday, the 4th instant. The speakers were very much blest with the good Spirit of the Lord, and all that were present seemed to enjoy the same blessing. We are happy to state that the Saints, as a general thing, are feeling well.

On the morning of the 6th instant our little stranger was blessed, President Hart being mouth, it was named Edward Wisconsin Cotton.....We arrived at Sandy Hook at about 3:30 p.m. on the 7th instant; got into dock at New York at 5:30 p.m. met our friend and brother, Elder Hart, the Church Emigration Agent, and several other friends from home. We leave New York tomorrow at 3 p.m.

So far our journey has been a prosperous one; the Saints having got along the best kind and feel splendidly. We return to the Lord our grateful thanks for his preserving care over us during our voyage across the mighty deep, and pray that we may be blest with a safe and speedy journey across the continent to our destination.

With kind regards to yourself and all at “42” [42 Islington was the address of the British Mission in Liverpool] we remain your brethren in the gospel of peace,

F. Theurer, counselor,
C. J. Thomas, secretary [p. 622]

The 3,238-ton Wisconsin brought 33 companies of Saints to America. Each company carried from 7 to 976 Saints.

The ship, Wisconsin, brought many Saints to America, including Elizabeth Boss

Maritime History of Mormon Migration. Salt Lake City: University of Utah Press, 1983.]

Agnes Kunz continues her mother's history:

Learning the English language was quite an ordeal because they only knew the Swiss language, they always spoke it in their home.

In fact, Elizabeth's father, Johannes Boss, never did learn to speak the English language, although he could understand much of it. The introduction into the new culture was not always easy. Conrad Gertsch, brother of Johannes's second wife, Margaritha Gertsch, reported that:

Adjusting to America was often difficult. Schoolmates would tease me because of my peculiar dress and talk, and often beat me. One day John Morton told me I must fight for my rights and suggested that I fight if anyone bothered me again. That settled it, I laid several out flat, and I was teased no more. [Conrad Gertsch at funeral of Johannes Boss' second wife, Margaritha Gertsch Boss]

Elizabeth lived in their first home which was a two story log home, in Pegram, Idaho. Later she and her children moved back to Bern. She went to Williamsburg, Idaho each summer to help make cheese and then returned to Bern in the winter. For several years Elizabeth and her children went to Williamsburg. She was a hard worker.

Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III had six children: Agnes Ruth, born July 23, 1890, Julia Esther, born January 20, 1893, Parley Peter, born October 28, 1894, Hedwig Hazel, born September 29, 1896, Lucy May, born November 13, 1898 and Lydia, born May 13, 1900. All but Lydia grew to adulthood and had wonderful families. Lydia died at birth and was buried with her mother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz, who died at that same time on May 13, 1900. Both were buried in the same casket in the cemetery in Bern, Idaho.

Recent photo of upper dairy in Williamsburg. The Kunz family had upper, middle and lower dairies which were operated by different members of the family. The upper dairy was John Kunz III's dairy and the one where Elizabeth Boss Kunz helped milk the cows and make the cheese.

Cattle on Lane's Creek at Williamsburg

In the spring John Kunz III would begin in the south end of Bear Lake valley and pick up cows from people along the way and take them to Williamsburg to his dairy, where they were milked in the summer and returned, along with some cheese, to their owners for the winter season. At that time, John Kunz III, who was Bishop in the Bern, Idaho Ward, developed a relationship with President Joseph F. Smith in which President Smith bought several cows [I have in my mind that it was either nine or eleven as my father, Parley Kunz told me] which he placed in Bishop Kunz's care. Each fall cheese was shipped to President Smith, but his cows remained in Bern. My father, Parley, had seen either this letter from President Smith to his father John Kunz III, or another one written to the Kunz brothers [probably Parley and Abel] at the termination of the agreement with President Joseph F. Smith. The letter has been lost for many years and the exact content was questionable.

After intensive inquiries at the Church Office Building of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in Salt Lake City, Utah over a period of some twenty years. My persistence finally paid off. To a recent inquiry, I received the following letter from Ronald G. Watt, Archivist, Sr. in the Church Archives:

Enclosed with the letter was the following typed copy of the letter:

September 24, 1915

Upper dairy and cheese drying house

Bishop John Kunz
Bern, Idaho

My Dear Bishop:

Your most welcome favor bearing date of Williamsburg, Idaho, September 9th, reached me September 11th, also lading of cheese at Soda Springs.

About a week later the cheese came in very good shape, some of the boxes a little broken but the cheese looking well. I scarcely know how to express my appreciation of your kindness or the extent of my gratitude to you and kind Providence for such a blessing as my crop of cheese is to me and my family.

Each season we look forward with the liveliest interest to the coming of our harvest of cheese which seems to be relished by my numerous family better than any other class of cheese which the market affords; we almost always run short toward the latter end and are obliged to supplement our supply by such cheese as we can buy at the store which is always, according to our liking inferior to that which we get from you.

Wishing you continued prosperity and the choice blessings of the Lord in your Bishopric, I am,

Gratefully yours,

/s/ Joseph F. Smith

While knowing what the letter said was wonderful, I wanted a copy of the letter with a signature if possible, so with some trepidation I returned to the Archives in the Family and Church History Department and got a copy. The process of copying the letters in those days was to press a very thin piece of paper against the actual letter for which a mirror image was preserved. The results are shown here:

About a week later the cheese came in very good shape, some of the boxes a little broken, but the cheese looking well. I scarcely know how to express my appreciation of your kindness or the extent of my gratitude to you and kind Providence for such a blessing as my crop of cheese is to me and my family..

Each season we look forward with the liveliest interest to the coming of our harvest of cheese which seems to be relished by my numerous family better than any other class of cheese which the market affords; we almost always run short toward the latter end and are obliged to supplement our supply by such cheese as we can buy at the store which is always, according to our liking inferior to that which we get from you.

Wishing you continued prosperity and the choicest blessings of the Lord in your Bishopric, I am,

Gratefully yours,
Joseph F. Smith

Letter from President Joseph F. Smith to Bishop John Kunz III regarding cheese shipment
September 24, 1915

There are somewhat different statements reporting the death of Elizabeth and her infant daughter, Lydia. As noted above, Agnes Kunz Dansie, her oldest child who was just short of ten years of age at the time of her mother's death writes: "... the baby Lydia died soon after birth, and was buried with Mother (who died in childbirth) in the same casket on the 13 May, 1900 in the Bern, Idaho Cemetery." Thus, Agnes believed that the baby was born live but then died within a very short time. This statement is supported by a letter from John Boss to his daughter, and later translated for Agnes and one of her sisters, by Elizabeth's sister, Emma Boss Schoenfeld.

On the other hand, the journal of John U. Stucki, a native of Switzerland, joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, emigrated to Paris, Idaho. He returned to Switzerland as Mission President two different times, and was a stake leader in the Bear Lake Stake. He eventually served as the Stake Patriarch. He kept a very interesting journal over the years, including the following:

Monday-May 14

This morning Bro. Bienz returned from Bern he brought the sad news of the death of Lizzie [Elizabeth] Boss Kunz, wife of Bp. John Kunz [III], it seems she was ailing for some time & gave birth to a still born child. Worked at the Office all day.

Tuesday-May 15

My wife Margaret & I went to Bern to attend the funeral of Sister Lizzie Boss Kunz, Meeting was held at 2 P.M. Jacob Straubhaas, David Kunz [brother of John who went to Switzerland as a missionary at the same time as John, but returned a little before John], & myself being the speakers. By request I also dedicated the Grave. At the Cemetery in conversation Bp. John Kunz told me that Dr. Hoover offered to deliver wife some time ago she having been sickly for some time, however the Bp. thought it was against nature. The Dr. was present when Sister Kunz died and said, she would have stood a better chance a month ago. I replied that I thought her work was finished and it would not have made a difference. This brought to his mind a vision he had in Berlin while on his Mission in 1885. [John Kunz III spent most of his mission in Switzerland, but the latter part he served in Germany – mostly in the Berlin area.] He had baptized his wife Lizzie [Elizabeth Boss] and another Sister of hers, Emma Boss, in Canton Bern and soon after he was sent to Germany. In the vision it was shown him that he would marry Lizzie, then he saw a number of very nice children around him, she being the Mother. After that he saw her running away with a new born baby in her Arms in her night clothing and after that he saw Amasa Rich pass by riding a dark colored horse. He had not thought any more about this vision until after his wife died. He thought her running away meant that she was running away because of persecution, but there she lay dead, her new born baby in her arms, and as stepped out of doors, there he saw Amasa Rich riding past on the very horse he saw in his Vision. This seemed to be a great comfort to him as he realized that it was according to the Will of God that his wife should die. [John U. Stucki Journal]

A letter, which Agnes apparently had, but for which the whereabouts are not now known, was written in German by John Kunz III probably to Johannes Boss September 2, 1900, in regards to Mother's [Elizabeth Boss] trouble at the time of her death. Emma Schoenfeld interpreted it to Agnes and Hazel February 11, 1954 in Orem, Utah. Hazel wrote of this translation:

She (Mother) was to have her baby in May. About February she started to hemorrhage a few days at a time, and then quit a few days. The doctor advised to take the baby then, but Mother wouldn't consent. So she kept on in this condition until labor started. Father got the best doctor he knew of. They had the baby. It came feet first and lived only about five minutes. Mother seemed to be coming along alright at first and started to whisper to them but being very weak. It appeared she might be alright but soon took a sinking spell and started to hemorrhage so badly, before the doctor could do anything. He having stepped to a neighbor for a call. She died about 2 hours later. The doctor said he had only lost 3 or 4 cases like her in all his practice of 2000 cases. Father felt they had done their best. He wrote in the letter what a wonderful wife and mother she had been to him and her children. [Hazel Kunz Smith]

The other five children were strong and healthy as Elizabeth was able to nurse them all. John Kunz III asked Aunt Louise [Louise Weibel, his 4th wife] to take care of them. She had no children of her own. The children all attest to her wonderful care and concern for them throughout her life. At the time Louise Weibel Kunz began to take care of these five children Agnes was almost 10 year old, Julia was 7, Parley was 6, Hazel was 4 and Lucy was 2 years old.

Continuing with the history Aunt Agnes wrote about her mother, Elizabeth Boss:

The general health of mother was good, her eyes were brown her hair was auburn (dark) her height five foot one inch, her weight was 125 lbs. and her chest measured 36 inches. She lived with Uncle William Kunz and family, when she first came here. Later she was married to my Father, John Kunz [III], who was a brother to William. They were married the 19 Dec. 1888, in the Logan LDS Temple in plural marriage. She was especially interested in rearing her family, and in the gospel, for which she gave up her home and loved ones in Switzerland. She was the mother of six children, Agnes Ruth, Julia Esther, Parley Peter, Hedwig Hazel, Lucy May and Lydia, the baby Lydia died soon after birth, and was buried with Mother (who died in childbirth) in the same casket on the 15th of May, 1900 in the Bern, Idaho Cemetery. Previous to her death in May, 1899 she was sealed to her parents along with her brothers and sisters [in the] Salt Lake Temple. Her father Johannes Boss was born 2 Nov. 1831. He died 15 Mar. 1912 at Midway Utah, her mother Marianna Gertsch was born 10 Apr. 1836 and died 22 Aug. 1885 at Guendlischwand, Bern, Switzerland.

Mother was known for her sweet disposition, and among her associates was a peace-maker, she would injure no ones feelings as she would sooner be wronged than hurt someone else. She was a beautiful alto singer and used her sweet voice to brighten many lives among those who she loved. Her life was an example for her numerous posterity to emulate. It seems the last sickness, that so unexpectedly took her life was of a serious nature before good medical help was available. One year previous to her death she was sealed to her parents, along with her brothers and sisters in the Salt Lake

Temple.

Each spring and fall she, along with her children, would travel to Williamsburg and back helping to make cheese and milk cows. Some of the winters were spent in Pegrarn, Idaho where they fed their cattle.

Seems the last sickness that so unexpectedly took her life was of a serious nature. The doctor had advised to take her baby about 2 or 3 months before it was due for the safety of the mother's life, but she would not consent, hoping all would be well. When the baby came the doctor thought all would be OK but mother suddenly took a sinking spell and was gone before he could do anything for her.

[Agnes Kunz Dansie's history of her mother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz]

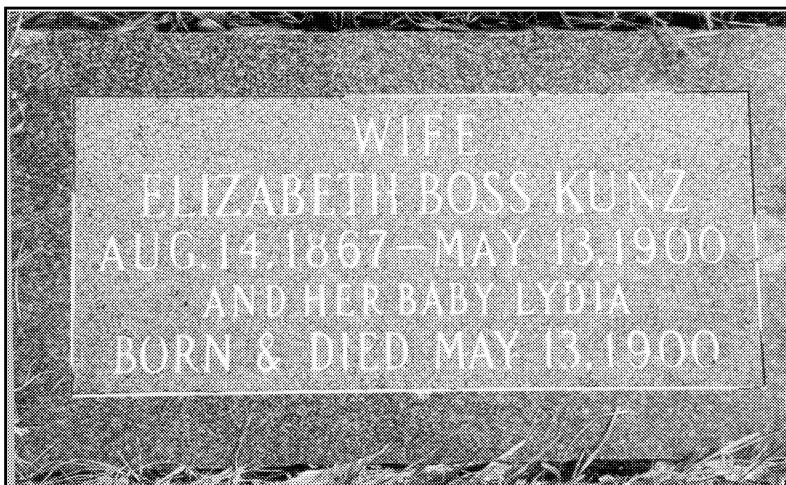

I am thankful for my grandmother, Elizabeth Boss Kunz, and for all she did to make it possible for me to be a member of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and for giving me my father, Parley Peter Kunz. Like both of them, I also know that The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is the restored church through the Prophet, Joseph Smith.

It is my firm belief that our grandparents would have each of their family members gain that same strong testimony and live in such a manner that our lives would reflect that testimony. May each of us bring honor to them by the lives we live.

While alive Elizabeth assisted with the family obligations and with the dairy business as well. The dairy was also an important part of the early life for Elizabeth and John's children. They milked, fed the calves and helped make the cheese. This operation was reported by the late Mavin Sparks from Montpelier, Idaho and is included here with the kind permission of Mrs. Melva Thurber Sparks. A full account of the dairy operation in Williamsburg, Idaho appears in Appendix A. Appendix B reports the dairy operation in Bern, Idaho, and is used with the kind permission of Reed Lynn Kunz.

Agnes Kunz and Alma Dansie Family Group Sheet - # 3

Agnes Kunz was the oldest child of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III. She was born July 23, 1890 in Bern, Bear Lake County, Idaho. She had to assume much of the responsibility for the little family upon the death of her mother. My memory of Aunt Agnes is one of a content, hard working, loving woman. She was a wonderful cook, judged by my memory as a young boy.

As a new married man, my wife Joyce and I visited with her and found her deep into genealogy. She was concerned about the ancestors and their salvation. She had a firm testimony that the “temple work” had to be taken care of for all of them.

Aunt Agnes was married to Alma Haleman “Hale” Dansie June 23, 1909. She had a large, wonderful family and she was proud of her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Agnes Kunz Dansie Written by her sister Lucy Kunz Hansen.

Agnes was born at [Bear Hollow] Bern, Idaho in a two roomed log house with an attic above. A ladder was used on the outside of the house to climb up. Here my sister and I had a bedroom. The rest of the room was used for a storeroom. There was a cellar under the house that was used for potatoes and other vegetables. West of the house a lovely spring of water came out of the side hill. This was piped for our drinking water, a small garden and a few trees.

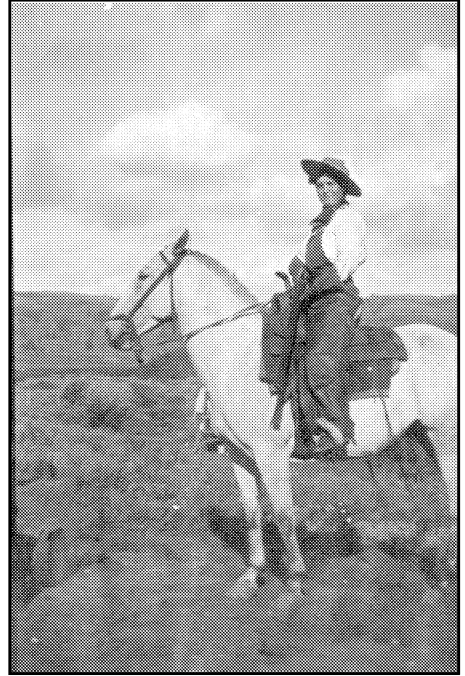

She started school when she was six years of age. The schoolhouse was a one room log house with plank benches. She finished her 8th grade education at Fielding Academy at Paris, Idaho. Agnes said:

The best Christmas I remember was at Pegram, Idaho, the last Christmas before my mother [Elizabeth] died [December, 1899.] My sister Julia and I received a set of dishes and we did have a wonderful time. My mother's health was very poor that winter. I helped her with the washing and housework. I was nine years old.

Agnes Kunz on her horse

The next spring we moved to Bern. On May 13, 1900 my mother died after giving birth to a daughter who died the same day. This was the greatest shock of my life. I did not think I could ever smile again.

Along with my parents, brothers and sisters. I spent three months of the year at our ranch at Williamsburg milking cows and making cheese. When I was fifteen I made the cheese, which meant to work on Sundays as well as week days. We had good times horseback riding and hiking between our tasks. Sometimes we held a dance for the July 4th and 24th celebrations. It was at one of these I met my husband. We [Alma Haleman Dansie "Hale"] were married and moved to Herriman, Utah where we have made our home. [Lucy Kunz Hansen's history of her sister, Agnes, including some written by Agnes Kunz Dansie]

Agnes' son Bob [Oren Robert Dansie] said that when they moved into their old rock house in Herriman, it had been built with lime mortar. Eventually the mortar deteriorated so that mice and snakes could enter through the cracks. Agnes and Hale made cement mortar and put it into the joints, "which soon made a house a home." They worked with the sheep the first few years and then changed into dairy business and farming.

Bob wrote:

Chapter 10 - Agnes Ruth Kunz and Alma Haleman Dansie

They sold the milk to the miners who worked in the mines at Lark, Butterfield and Bingham Canyon. Later they went into the chicken business along with the farming.

My sister, Ruth told me that Dad and Mom [Hale and Agnes] would once or twice a summer go to Salt Air or Lagoon for entertainment in the old Model T Ford. Then they went to the canyon for a few days outing before school would start in the fall, generally after Labor Day. Their first few years together, their mode of transportation was horse and buggy or wagon and later the "Model T". [Bob Dansie]

Aunt Lucy Kunz Hansen continues her history of her sister:

Agnes worked in all the organizations in the Ward, Relief Society, Sunday School and served as Primary President. Later in life she helped beautify the church by planting

Alma Haleman Dansie

She had an active group of young people doing genealogy work and making books of remembrance. She loved doing service in the church. She was always encouraging her children to be active in their assignments and church activities. She helped sponsor church dances and activities that had to be funded by their efforts and hard work. People from all over the valley would come to the dances and were enjoyed by all.

When friends and relatives would come she could put on a meal that was fit for a king; You would think it was Christmas or Thanksgiving. She could cook chicken that would melt in your mouth. She would can all kinds of fruits and vegetables and put them in the cellar for winter use. Many people who talk about her today say she was a hard worker. Even though there was lots of hard work to do, there was time to play and have fun together. Most of the time it was with family and it was always fun to have the cousins come and join in the fun.

She loved her sisters [Julia, Hazel and Lucy] and brother [Parley] very much and tried to visit them as often as possible. It was always a special event to go to Bern for the Kunz Family reunion and renew our love for each other. We miss those close associations we had since she died, and she is deeply missed. [Lucy Kunz Hansen's history of her sister, Agnes]

Agnes' daughter, Melba, wrote of her mother as follows:

Many of my early memories were associated with our activities in our church. I remember for years mother was President of the Primary in our ward. Many long and enjoyable hours she spent in this service. My mother has been a wonderful homemaker. She is a gifted seamstress and made all our own clothes as well as quilts, rugs, and innumerable crocheted and knitted articles. Her ability of cooking is unsurpassed according to the hundreds of people who have eaten at her table. She has canned thousands of quarts of fruits, vegetables and meats for our winter's use. She seemed to have a talent for keeping our family of nine children in peace and harmony. She cared for us during many illnesses and with the Lord's blessings we were restored to good health. Not only did she take care of the family but she has been a real helpmate of my father, Hale Dansie. She helped with gardening, milking, when we operated a dairy to supply Lark Utah with fresh milk daily, has raised thousands of chickens and cared for them, building coops etc to help Father make a living.

Our family has been united because of our parents. Many are the stories I could tell of small trips we took together in our touring Ford.

The expressions I remember she using are, "If at first you don't succeed try, try again." and "What is worth doing at all is worth doing well." She taught us to be honest, trustworthy and dependable. All of these ideas she used in achieving her goals. She was always interested in improving our home and also community life. She is loved respected and honored by all who know her.

It sounds as though she has had a very busy life both at home and in her church, and in the community where she has lived since her marriage. Before Mother's marriage Aunt Lucy said,

She was a comfort to us children [her brother and sisters] at home, helping mother Louisa, [Aunt Louise Webel] caring for us, making our school dresses and our "Sunday dresses." as we called our better dresses. We never realized how she suffered over the loss of her mother as we were too young to understand. She bore her burden quietly and never complained. Her life has not been easy, but she has taken the sweet and the bitter and has taught her children to be ideal Latter-day Saints. She has set a good example for them to follow and she gave them a noble heritage. Her greatest desire is to have her children actively engaged in what she feels is the most valuable possession in life - the gospel of Jesus Christ. She has spent many hours in genealogical and temple work and she is very desirous that all her children take an active part in this work.

Her home has been a place where anyone could go and feel refreshed both with her wonderful food and also with love and encouragement. No one ever left her home blue and discouraged for you could feel that your worries were hers also and your heart was light after a visit with her. [Melba Dansie Stoffers]

See with new eyes

Addressing the opening session of BYU Women's Conference May 1, Bonnie D. Parkin, Relief Society general president, declared: "My hope today is that we will begin to see welfare with new eyes; that we will better understand what the Lord's storehouse is — that we each have something to contribute; that we will realize that self-reliance is not just about having enough for yourself, but about having enough to share with others."

Sister Parkin likened the Bishop's Storehouse, where "there is enough and to spare," to "what the Lord has placed in each of us. It is one woman making a difference for another. It is one sister offering to listen or talk with a sister who may be lonely. It is a sister developing a close friendship with the sister she visit teaches. It is you and me with our strengths, our skills and our talents blessing the life of another."

Speaking of cultivating in children a legacy of self-reliance and service, Sister Parkin said: "We must teach our children to work. . . . Work builds confidence, self-reliance and provides skills to serve others."

She urged parents to teach their children to live within their means and stay out of debt. She also encouraged them to teach children to serve others. She recalled a Christmas Eve in her youth when her mother let her and her brothers take of their own meager means and provide Christmas to a needy family. "She understood that our service did not have to be perfect. It only needed to come from our hearts."

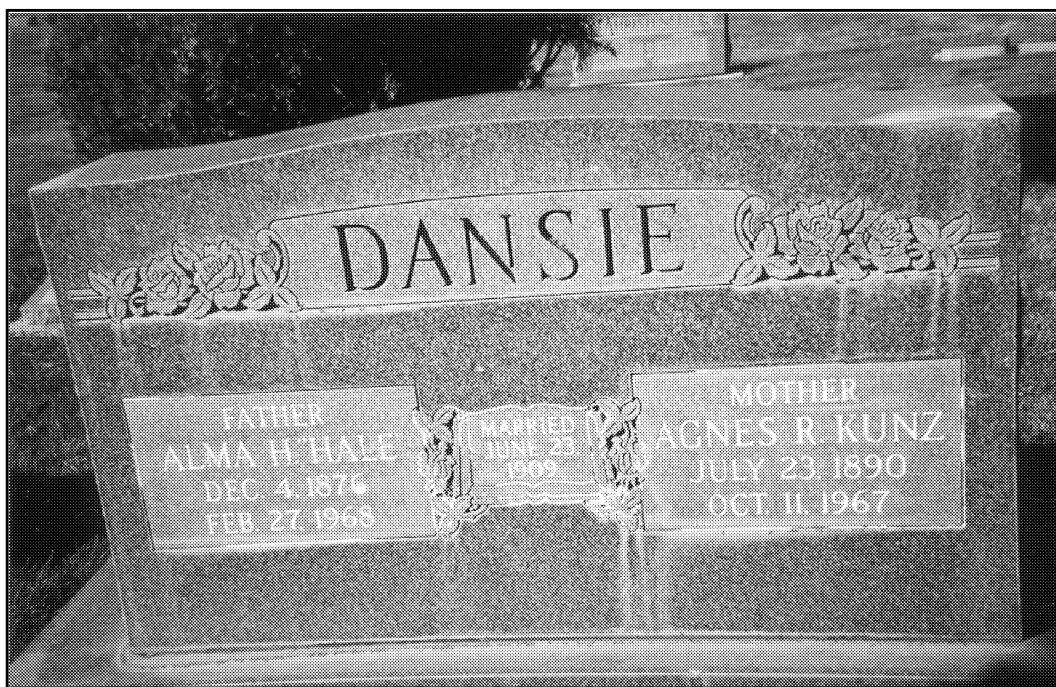

Bonnie Dansie Parkin's message at the Women's Conference at Brigham Young University in 2003. Bonnie is the daughter of Jesse and Ruth Dansie and the Granddaughter of Agnes and Hale Dansie. She is the Relief Society President of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Julia Kunz Schmid was the second child of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III. She was born January 20, 1893 in Bern, Idaho. Her mother, Elizabeth died when Julia was only seven years of age. She grew up and married August Schmid November 11, 1911. They had four children, only one of them lived to adulthood. She died in 1919. That was the year my own parents, Parley and Hilda Stoor Kunz got married. I look forward to meeting her for I know that she must have been a wonderful person. I do remember Uncle August and I always liked to be around him as a boy.

Life Story of My Mother Julia Esther Kunz Schmid

Written By - Verona Emma Schmid Hayes, Her Eldest Daughter

My mother, Julia Esther Kunz Schmid, was the daughter of John Kunz III and Elizabeth Boss Kunz. She was born 20 Jan 1893, in Bern, Bear Lake Co. Idaho, the second child of this couple. Her older sister was Agnes Ruth, then Julia Esther, followed by Parley Peter, Hedwig Hazel, and Lucy May. A baby, Lydia was born and died at the time of the death of their mother, 13 May 1900. This left this little family of four girls and one boy without their mother. Their father, being a polygamist, and having five other wives, was able to provide a home for them. One of his wives, Louisa Weibel Kunz, had no children of her own, therefore she took this family of children into her home to raise them as her own. She was a good mother to them and they loved and respected her. My mother, Julia, was seven years of age at the time of her mother's death. This must have meant great changes for these children even though they were well cared for. They always were very close as a family, but so were all the children of Grand-father Kunz. He had great ability in maintaining love respect among all of his children and they for him. They inter-mingled and stayed in all of the homes of Grandfather's wives', feeling welcome and belonging.

My mother Julia, her sisters – Agnes, Hazel, and Lucy, and brother, Parley grew up happily together with their new mother. Julia grew up participating in church and school. Her father was Bishop of the Bern ward for twenty-six years, and having a devout testimony, he taught this faith and appreciation of Julia developed this love of the gospel early in her life.

She attended school first in an old school in the north part of Bern near her Uncle Chris Kunz's home. Later a school was built east and north of Bern in the vicinity of the hill leading to the old Buehler and Bienz homes. Later this school was moved up into the site of Bern and used for a school and church. Her teachers, but I do not know in what order were; John T. Rigby, Howard H. Broomhead, Joseph P. Patterson, the latter two from Bloomington. Ira Osmond and Mr. Wingate. Here Julia completed her elementary schooling, enjoying friendships and all the attended subjects with their learning experiences. She was friendly and had the ability to make friends and be genuinely cheerful and pleasant. I have had many people tell me of these qualities she possessed. She was a good sport, and enjoyed fun and light frivolity. Thus she spent her winters along with helping at home with house-work and chores.

During the summers her father and some of the family would move to Williamsburg, Caribou Co. Idaho, some forty-five miles north of Bern, where they would trail cattle and spend the summer milking cows and making cheese. This they did for many years. Her father [John Kunz III] and grandfather [John Kunz II] had brought the knowledge of cheese-making from their native Switzerland. This trip, spring and fall, would require three days each way, and took much preparation beforehand, packing clothing, and bedding and food supplies for their needs, plus handing "grub-box" foods to prepare over the camp-fire at noon stops, and when camping on the trail at night. The cattle would be gathered from throughout the Bear Lake Valley from people desiring to have cows and calves sent along with them, there-by earning for them cheese for the coming winter. Julia's father was very exacting and honest with people in his dealing, and always had a large herd to trail to Williamsburg. His family all knew their work and jobs required of them to try to help make this laborous trek more comfortable. Many times in the spring they would encounter snowdrifts in Georgetown Canyon or perhaps rain throughout their trip, which was made in wagons and the men on horse-back driving cattle. Again in the fall perhaps they would have bad weather at times, depending how late the spring or how early the fall storms began.

Julia, Hazel, and Lucy remained close as sisters and were part of this experience along with older and younger brothers and sisters. Her older half-brothers Johnny and William J., also had dairies in the same vicinity, at Williamsburg although a few miles apart. Johnny being at the "Lower" dairy, William J. at the "Middle" dairy, and their father John Kunz III at the "Upper" dairy, near the area of the "Tin-Cup" road to Freedom, Wyoming.

Julia Esther Kunz loved to ride horses in Williamsburg, Idaho, at the Dairy August 29, 1911

Julia loved to ride horses, and was capable of her share of herding cattle if need be. She enjoyed the out-of-doors, and milked her share of the cows. She was known to milk twenty cows night and morning. Toward the end of one milking as was always done, the calf was turned out to help finish the stripping of milk for the cow. Seems the calf got too energetic and Julia tapped him on the head, not realizing she had used quite so much strength. Seemingly she had hit a very vital spot and the calf dropped, never to rise again. This to her dismay was a terrible thing, and she regretted doing it, for she knew the calf would have to be paid for.

During the summer months the young people had many enjoyable hours together. Relatives from Bern and surrounding areas would gather to spend holidays, and at other times just for the joy of socializing. The sisters and cousins loved to be together, and always found many common interests to visit about.

Julia's half-brother Johnny, son of John Kunz III and Magdalena, had married Mary

Julia and August Schmid cabin in 1979

Schmid, and William J. married her sister Anna Schmid, thereby Julia became acquainted with the entire Schmid family, who lived at Slug Creek, Caribou, Idaho. The Kunz's made a habit of camping one night at the Schmid ranch spring and fall on their trip through to Williamsburg, and back to Bern. This gave the two brothers, and their wives and children the opportunity to renew family acquaintance and that special love they had for each other. This visit always brought great joy to all concerned, with meals together. Also Grandma Schmid and Aunt Emma Thornton always had cookies and goodies to tuck in the pockets of the grand-children as they left to go the remaining miles to Williamsburg. It was through these visits that Julia became acquainted with August Schmid, the youngest son of Karl and Anna Schmid. He, in turn, visited his sisters at Williamsburg and also at Bern and upon these occasions became better acquainted with Julia. These chance meetings over a period of several years brought about "planned" occasions to meet to attend dances and socials etc. The bond of friendship grew into love for each other.

The summer of 1911 Julia and August met a number of times and as a result had made their plans to be married in the fall after the Kunz's had moved back to Bern from their summer at Williamsburg. As I have stated preciously there was a bond of love between all of the children of John Kunz III. His wife Margaret bore him his youngest and last child, a daughter named Lula, and my mother Julia loved that little girl. On 29 October 1911, Julia and August, and Sylvia and Louis Kunz boarded the train in Montpelier to travel to Logan, Utah, to be married. They had to change trains at McCammon, Idaho, then again had a long wait to change trains in Cache, Junction, Utah, finally reaching Logan, Utah. The two couples were married on 1 Nov, 1911 in the Logan Temple by Pres. William Budge. They stayed the night they were married and the night before with Julia's father's sister, Aunt Caddie Shivers [Rosina Katharina Kunz Chivers (1848-1931) married to Lawrence Balmer, then to James Hunt Chivers, who died September 30, 1904]. They returned home on the 2nd of Nov. and then on to Slug Creek where they made their home. Julia didn't hesitate or question having to live in the wintery world of Slug Creek. She agreed to this and she and her husband helped care for his father Karl August Schmid. By this time August's mother, Anna Landert Schmid, had passed away the previous 4 July, 1911 Julia was kind and good to her father-in-law. He loved and appreciated what she did for him. In keeping the house for him and his sons. As had always been the custom the Slug Creek ranch was a stop-over for many people going through the valley, so she no doubt had many hungry people to prepare meals for and help make them comfortable.

She and her husband had a very good relationship for as a nephew of my father August told me on several occasions, John Schmid said, "I stayed at Grandfather's ranch in the summer a lot and I observed that Uncle August and Aunt Julia had a very special marriage. They were truly one in their feelings and in their understanding, and their love." I appreciated learning this of my parents. I feel that no one could wish for more.

They still went when possible once in a while to Williamsburg to spend time with Julia's family and attend socials that the young people had, such as dances. Julia loved to dance, and she and August spent enjoyable evenings together with family and friends dancing. He many times helped provide some of the music by playing his harmonica. At home on Slug Creek they had an old Edison phonograph that played cylinder records. They had many records and spent long winter evenings listening to music and also played some sociable card games to pass away time.

The summer time was plenty busy, with irrigating the wild hay, then cutting and stacking the hay to provide feed for their cattle for the following winter. In off moments, August would find time to take his fishing pole and go down along Slug Creek and catch some trout for a good meal, or take his gun and bring home some sagehens for a delicious wild chicken fry. They didn't abuse this privilege, nor did they ever waste the wild meat.

During 1912 Julia learned that she was going to become a mother. As her time drew near, it being winter at the ranch, they felt she should be brought to Bern to her father's ranch to await the arrival of her baby. She left the ranch about the middle of Jan, 1913 and shortly after departure Grandfather Schmid took seriously ill and passed away 25 Jan, 1913 Julia was very sad at having to leave him and then to learn of his passing, for she truly had given of herself to care for him. On 7 Feb, 1913 after many hours of difficult labor and delivery, my mother Julia, was told that she had a baby girl (none other than myself). I caused my mother much anguish before I saw fit to make my appearance into this world. I only wish I could have told her, "Thank you Mother". However this privilege was never mine for I didn't have the maturity while she lived to recognize what she had done.

She remained in Bern until the latter part of April, 1913, because baby Verona developed pneumonia at six weeks of age and had a very difficult time to recover from this illness. The baby had been very small at birth, weighing only 4 1/2 lbs. with her clothes on. She was named and blessed very soon after birth due to being so frail. She was named Verona Emma Schmid, for a dear friend of the family Verona Smith, and for her father's sister Aunt Emma. By the later part of April it was thought that the baby was strong enough to be moved, and was taken out to the Slug Creek ranch. Julia was glad to again return to the ranch, though things were different when she returned, due to the passing away of Grandfather Schmid, and his no longer being with them. The summer brought haying and cooking for men who worked or came to the ranch. Julia found plenty to do with having a baby to care for that added to her duties.

The summer (April) of 1914 saw uncle Robert Schmid leave for his mission to the Swiss German mission. Then came the decision to sell the ranch on Slug Creek. The ranch was sold in August, 1914 and following this, my father and mother moved to a home they bought in Georgetown, just north of my father's sister's home, that belonged to Emma and William J. Thornton.

August and Julia enjoyed being in Georgetown, and especially living next door to his sister and brother-in law, Emma and Will Thornton. It was here that Julia's second child was born, a son named Carl John [Schmid] for both of his grandfathers, He was born 17 Jan 1915. He was a welcome addition to their family, and he was loved and enjoyed by the other three members of the family, his father, mother and sister Verona.

However, a sudden illness befell him, and it was pronounced as the dreaded pneumonia. There were no Antibiotics or medications at that time to combat this illness, so this lovable baby son, Carl, was only permitted to remain with them fourteen months and passed away 22 Mar 1916. This was a great sadness to this little family, but their faith came to their aid, and the Lord did give them comfort. August took his wife Julia and their little daughter Verona and went to Salt Lake City the 1st part of April, to attend L.D.S. General Conference over the April 6th sessions. Julia was also able to visit her older sister Agnes Dansie and her husband, Hale. She didn't get this opportunity too often. They all enjoyed their trip, but I'm sure the sadness was still with them on their return to their home.

In the spring, 19 April, 1917, Julia's third child was born in their home in Georgetown A baby girl, who was named Lanor. She was a very healthy plump baby, quite a contrast to the first girl, Verona who was tiny, and weak. In May they again moved to Williamsburg to work for the summer. It was on this move that Verona came down with diphtheria. She was very ill for several weeks. Her mother Julia watched over her with tender care, as well as taking care of baby sister, Lanor. All others escaped the disease through care and the Doctor giving shots of anti-toxin. August and Julia fumigated the little one room home after the disease, as was the custom in those days after a disease such as diphtheria.

August Schmid and Julia Esther Kunz Family Group Sheet

During the summer months they moved to Williamsburg, where they helped milk cows for grandfather Kunz [John Kunz III] at the dairy. My father, August was also "proving up" on his homestead, located on Lanes Creek, between the Upper and Middle Dairy. Part of the time they spent there in their little one room log home, raising a garden and living a life of contentment, though not luxurious. They were happy in the association and working relationship they had with those they loved. In the fall they returned to Georgetown to relax somewhat from the long working hours of the summer. It was here in this home in Georgetown that my faint memories of my mother were first made. How she prepared play dinners for me, and how Edna Mae and Ray McCammon came over to eat them with me. She was cheerful and happy and always good natured. I remember her singing, the song, "Good-bye to the Step-stone." It seemed she sang lovely even made me cry, as the song was sad. However, I've been told since I'm older that she had difficulty carrying a tune. Jokingly one day my father said to her, "Brownie, (this was his endearing name for her), don't you worry, some day when I go to town I'll buy you a little red bucket with a lid on it for you to carry your tune in." She took this all good naturedly and laughed along with him. Her sense of humor was truly great.

Robert Schmid came home from his mission, was called to be the Bishop of the Bern ward. He not being married at this time, felt it was not right for to be living alone. Therefore his brother August and wife Julia sold their home in Georgetown, and they and brother Robert bought a home from Seth Kunz in Bern. Here Julia kept house and home for her family and her brother-in-law Robert. She was greatly appreciated by him for doing this. She kept a good home for all of her family. At different times such as when Ward Conference was held, and Pres. Edward C. Rich came to her home for dinner, he expressed his appreciation and made comment on her pleasing personality, also on the meals she served.

During this time I have another memory of my mother, Julia. I enjoyed playing with my cousin, Drucilla Kunz, who lived next door. We had some pet kittens up at their barn. One afternoon I had been playing with her and it came about supper time. I heard my mother call for me but I didn't answer as I wanted to still play. Finally as it became dusk, I decided to go home. As I walked in the door my mother was standing by the table at the south dining room window, and was cleaning the lamp chimney preparatory to lighting the lamp. As I walked in she asked me if I'd sooner stay over at Aunt Sylvia's. I don't recall that I answered, but she wasn't cross. She just found a little bleached sugar sack, and put a sweater of mine in it, tied it at the top, then handed it to me, and placed me out on the porch. She said I could go over to stay with Drucilla and closed the door. I thought I had been put out of my home. I was terribly sad and hurt. I'm sure if she had scolded or spanked me it wouldn't have been as effective as what she did. That lesson has stayed with me all my life.

In the summer of 1918 Julia knew she was going to have her fourth child. She wasn't well. She had considerable trouble with her heart and difficulty breathing at times. On occasion she found it necessary to go outside to get her breath. Also, small as I was, I recall seeing her eat charcoal. She must have been lacking in something such as calcium or potassium. The Dr. gave her large tablets, that as I recall were dark brown to take. I've thought of this over the years and how today they probably would have known what she needed and more to do for her in her condition. In Jan. 1919 she had to be put in the hospital. Her condition seemed to become worse as her time progressed. At this time also the "Flu" epidemic that had followed World War I was very prevalent, and she took this dread disease, which complicated her already bad heart condition. The early part of February she was moved from the hospital in Montpelier, to the home of Aunt Eliza

Schmid, August's sister-in-law, who lived in Montpelier. It was thought that this would save some expense and she would still be near the Doctor and he could see her daily. Her baby was born 28 Feb. 1919. The baby was a boy and was blessed and named, Carlyle Schmid. He was very frail, and also had a difficult time. He just seemed to not be able to make it on his own and passed away after 10 days on 10 March 1919.

At this point I am introducing excerpts from the day by day diary of Uncle Robert Schmid, to further give the "at the time account" of her last few days of life. Also, I want to show her, sweet acceptance of that which was happening to her. Her maturity of thinking and faith seemed beyond that of a twenty-six year old.

Sunday March 9, 1919. Sister Julia nor August rested very well during the night. It's now 5:a.m. Julia is nervous, August feverish. Dear Julia realized that her end is near. It seems she cannot stay with us. We committed her into the hands of God, let him deal with her as he sees fit. Today she thanked me for all I had done for her. I told her I was so glad to be with her, and near at this time. Her legs are swollen very much, to a high tension, and breathing is laborious for her. Parley and Abel came in this afternoon. They got Walt Stooks to do the feeding for them. The baby had several convulsions today. Parley and I administered to Julia this evening. Dear Rhoda came down with the flu today. No apparent temperature. The Doctor wanted her to go to the hospital, Lizzie and I prevailed on her not to be taken there. Will Thornton is better tonight. It is now 12:p.m.

Monday March 10, 1919. I arose at 4:A.M. Johnny made his usual early call. He and the boys are staying at the Burgoyne Hotel. Dear Julia is gradually sinking this morning, she remarked to me what a nice thought to have and to know that we would all soon meet again. It nearly broke my heart to listen to her in this way, whom we love so well and cling to; however it is a glorious conception and a comfort to all of us, and to her to be so worthy of the grandest and best of all blessings. August and Rhoda are feeling fairly well this morning. The baby has had many convulsions during the night. In all of Julia's sufferings she never complains or murmurs, is ever appreciative of all we do for her, thanking all for any little kind act. One feels so good at her side, such a peaceful influence. All that loving hands can do is being done for her and all the rest. Parley and Abel report 3 1/2 feet of snow at Gray's Lake, and stock are doing fine. Johnny, Jake, Parley, and Abel, and John H. came up very often today. A change took place with Julia, she breaths easier and could lie down. We very often prop her up or hold her up. Annie and others of our folks came over today. Myrtle came to stay with us to help out. The baby had a convulsion about 9:25 A.M. I administered to it when it passed away in peace under my hands. Rhoda is better today, also August. He is reconciled to the terrible oncoming blow or shock. Pres. Rich paid Julia a splendid tribute of praise at the store in the presence of sister Annie. Dear Julia is resting a little easier. It is now past midnight. She says very little. It is hard to see the dear sweet life passing away, when according to man's selfish judgement she ought to stay with us. We feel to say God's will be done.

Tuesday March 11, 1919

I got up at 6: a.m. found Julia rather a little better, beyond the Doctor's or nurses expectations. August and Rhoda feel much better. August got up and came over to see dear Julia this morning, which made her feel so good. She expressed a desire to stay with us, if it was God's will, she said. She took it bravely this Morning when Lucy told her that the baby died. The Doctor called in this morning, said she was better than yesterday. The Doctor came in tonight and seeing Julia's unrest ordered the nurse to give her a Hy-po, which gave her a few hours rest and sleep. I went to bed at 11 p.m. August and Rhoda feel much better.

Wednesday March 12, 1919

I arose found Julia slowly sinking. Lucy is up with me. August is doing fairly well under these trying conditions. At about 7:A.M. Julia began to sink more rapidly. We had August come to her side once more. She told us that she was going to die, for us not to weep or mourn too much for her. She bore a beautiful testimony concerning the truth of the work. She admonished August to be faithful and true to the work of God and bring their children up right. It was almost more than we could stand. After he left she told us to tell August for her that he should not weep and mourn and grieve too much over her, when she was dead and gone. That they would soon meet again if they were Faithful. She spoke so nice to every one, so appreciative and loving and kind. I thanked her for what she had done for me, and told her that she had been a dear true friend to me since the day she graced our home. She answered, "No more than what you've been to me. Besides", she said, "I promised as much to your Father before He died." I assured her that she had faithfully kept her promise. We felt such a sweet, peaceful influence at her bedside all the time, the same as if she were well and happy in health as she used to be. I went down to the Burgoyne Hotel and woke Johnny and Parley. We thought her time was limited, but she seemed to rally again. She knew us all and spoke very cheerfully. She assured us that she could soon find her heavenly rest and sleep. The nurse gave her another Hypo this afternoon. Rhoda must stay in bed yet today. It is quite against her will, for she is better and full of life. The nurse and Lucy both felt quite ill today. Parley and Abel had supper with us. The Doctor told Abel he had appendicitis and must guard against it. Johnny brought a quarter of beef over for us.

Thursday March 13, 1919

Julia is slowly sinking. August and Rhoda are both up today, and feeling better. Had a letter from Bro. Rigby with a check for $10.00 tithing and Fast Offering. I wrote to Bro. Rigby to Deltha Bowles, LaVina and to Lizzie. Myrtle and I are sitting up with Julia tonight. Word came that Bro. John Bee's wife died today leaving seven children, also Ira Payne died both of Georgetown.

Friday March 14, 1919

Dear Julia is on the gradual decline. I had a letter from LaVina. today We fumigated in part today. Johnny, Parley and Abel are with us tonight. Little Lanor has canker at home. Dear Hazel is taking care of her and Verona.

Saturday March 15, 1919

I went up to the Tabernacle to get Apostle David O. McKay and the Stake Presidency to come and administer to dear Julia and commit her into the hand's of the Lord. Today is our Quarterly Conference in our new Tabernacle. It is also August's birthday and a sad day it is to him and for all of us, for Julia is rapidly sinking. The brethren administered to her and she began to rest easier, and passed away without a struggle at 4: p.m. surrounded by loving friends and relatives. [Robert Schmid journals]

A Poem of James Whitcomb Riley

No matter then how all is mixed
In our near-sighted eyes
All things is for the best and fixed
Out straight in Paradise.

Then take things as God sends them here
And if we live or die
Be more and more contenteder
Without a asking why."

God Keep Watch

Go thou thy way and I go mine
Apart, yet not afar;
Only a thin veil hands between
The pathway's where we are.

And God keep watch 'tween thee and me
This is my prayer;
He looks thy way, He looketh mine
And keeps us near.

I sigh sometimes to see thy face,
But since this may not be.
I'll leave thee to the care of Him
Who cares for thee and me.

The foregoing gave a much better narration of my mother's last few days with us, than I could have ever written for I was only six years old, and could not even be with my mother those last days. My recollections were only that our mother was very ill, and that she couldn't be with us. We were being cared for at our home in Bern by our mother's sister, Aunt Hazel Kunz Smith. After baby Carlyle died, they brought him to Bern. He was kept in a cool room, for they were sure it would only be a short time until our mother would go also. Therefore this is my last and very vivid memory of my mother lying in the casket with baby Carlyle on her arm. It remained a shocking sadness to me for many years. As time does though, it eases all pain, and our understanding helps us cope better and adjust to life's lessons. Two year-old Lanor and myself six years old, had a very loving father, who did all in his power to supply the additional love we needed. Aunts and relatives helped also. Then on May 1, 1919 our father brought us to live with his sister and her husband in Georgetown, Idaho. "Auntie" as we called Aunt Emma, and Uncle Will Thornton along with our father made up our family from that time on.

I shall be eternally grateful to that dear mother who gave me life, and all that it affords. [Verona Schmid Hayes]

My Mother

She gave her Life to bring; them here,
Those spirits from above;
Into the valley of death four times
No thought of self- just love.

With kind and gentle manner,
She befriended all she knew
The golden rule she followed,
She bore witness that it's true.

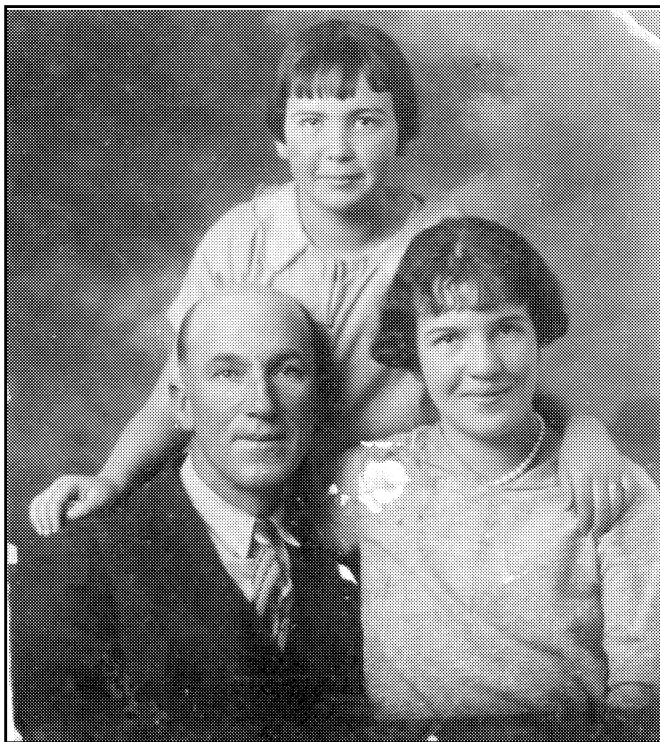

In her short life she exemplified
The teachings of His way,
With faith and courage always
She bore witness her last day.

I'm proud I am your daughter
I only hope sincerely I can
In some small way be like her
By adding my bit to the plan.

Parley Kunz and Hilda Stoor Family Group Sheet - # 3

Chapter 12 - Parley Peter Kunz and Hilda Irene Stoor

Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III's only son was Parley Peter Kunz. Parley was born October 28, 1894 in Bern, Bear Lake County, Idaho. Parley lived in the same home in which he was born, until he died October 17, 1983. He died in the hospital in Montpelier, Idaho following a stroke. He was 88.

Parley was a farmer and rancher all of his life raising cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, milkcows and horses.

When Parley was almost 25 years of age he married Hilda Irene Stoor May 23, 1919, in the Salt Lake Temple. They were married over sixty-three years before he died. Raising their thirteen children was not an easy task during the depression and in the following years.

When Parley was ordained a Bishop in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints he was promised that as long as he lived the "word of wisdom" in his home, he and his wife would live to see all of their children grow to adulthood. That promise was fulfilled as the first three children of the family to die were Geniel, age 67, Owen, age 60, and Fern, age 80.

Parley Peter Kunz (written by Lucy Kunz Hansen, his sister)

Parley grew up at Bern, Idaho in a prayerful home that taught him that the gospel was his most valued possession. He attended school at Bern and graduated in May, 1913. He spent his winters at Bern attending school and helping his father, John Kunz III, on the farm, milking cows, hauling hay and doing the chores before and after school. In the summer time he went to the dairy at Williamsburg, Idaho with his mother Elizabeth, and following her death with his step-mother, Louise Weibel Kunz. Parley helped milk cows and make cheese. He liked to hunt sage hens and pheasants and many a good meal was enjoyed from the lovely meat he brought in.

One time when he was a very small boy, Father [John Kunz III] sent him to drive some rams to Slug Creek where Bro and Sister Schmid lived. (They were the parents of Aunt Annie, Aunt Mary, Uncle Rob and Uncle August Schmid.) On the way the rams ran away clear across the valley. He followed them but could not head them in the right direction. Night came on he saw a cabin and the sheep bedded around the cabin. He unsaddled his horse and tied it up and prepared to stay for the night.

He went inside the cabin and lay on his blanket. In the meantime Father and Mother and the family drove with teams to Slug Creek and when we arrived Parley was nowhere to be seen and no one had seen him. It was dark, coyotes were howling everywhere. All the cowboys on the ranch took lanterns, mounted their horses and joined Father in the hunt. Mother and we children were left praying at home. In the wee hours of the morning they found Parley who had awakened and soon he and the rams were safe at the ranch with Bro and Sister Schmid serving him a steaming hot breakfast. Everyone's prayers were answered.

Parley had many experiences at the dairy. One time he took the cows to the pasture. He came back fast and told Father there was a bear down there. Sure enough a few minutes later a huge mother bear and two cubs were seen running toward the mountains. The men on horses took after them but all for nothing. The bears could run faster.

It was Parley's job to go and tell the sheep men to stay off our pasture for our cows. One time a Mexican pulled a gun out and told him to go home. He did - fast.

After father [John Kunz III] died, Parley sold his land at Williamsburg and made his home in Bern, where he now lives. He is the father of 13 children and he and Hilda Stoor Kunz have done a splendid job raising their wonderful family. They are all living and are respected in the different places where they live.

Parley has fulfilled every call made of him by the authorities placed over him and has lived a good exemplary life for his family to follow.

He has worked in all the organizations in the Bern Ward and was Bishop of that ward for nine years. He was set apart as Bishop on July 13, 1930 with David Buhler and John S. Kunz as counselors and Robert H. Kunz as clerk and was released on Dec 17, 1939 when Orlando Kunz was sustained as Bishop with Able Kunz and Edwin Alleman as counselors with Walter Buhler as Clerk. We hope his life will be long and pleasant among his family. [Lucy Kunz Hansen]

The second child of Parley and Hilda, LaRue Kunz Spencer wrote of her father:

Father was humble and ever grateful for our mother whom he dearly loved. I never heard him speak an unkind word to her. He tried to give her everything she wanted if it was within his power to do so.

He was a wonderful example to his children - prayerful, cheerful, honest, fun loving etc.

I have shared many personal experiences with my father. Our business experience was the Kit Kat. I remember that beer was served in the Kit Kat before we bought it. One of the first decisions father and I made was to not sell beer in the Kit Kat. He remarked that he would rather go broke than cause harm to one person by selling beer to him. He gave me comfort and wise council during my loss of loved ones. He had faith when I needed help and comfort with my children. I felt his strength and love.

He was humble when he was called to be Bishop of the Bern Ward. He accepted this responsibility and we were all very proud of him. I especially remember the big desk moved into our small living room and our instructions not to touch anything on the desk. I also remember the fright I felt when the casket straps were brought to our home and put in the hall closet. I didn't dare open the closet door.

We were all proud when our mother and father were called to go on a 6 month mission, to Alabama, later in their lives for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He offered to pay for a young missionary to go for 2 years instead. We were so proud when they decided to go. They were at our home the night before they got on the plane and he jokingly said, "I wish they would hi-jack our plane back to Bern."

I remember my first dance in the old gym in Bern. He just smiled when I stepped on his toes.

We all have happy memories of Rook Games, marbles and wooden tops he carved from empty spools. He played to win and most of the time he did win.

I remember his tenderness when he carried little frozen lambs or calves in and put them on the oven door to thaw.

One of his favorite sayings was, "There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us it doesn't behoove any of us to talk about the rest of us."

I remember when Geniel was worried about the world coming to an end. She said she was not going to buy another sack of flour. He smiled and said, "If I were you I would buy that sack of flour. I'm sure you will be able to use it."

He gave me encouragement when I had decided not to go to Switzerland with Mom and my sisters and Aunt Lillian. He told me I would be sorry if I didn't go. It was a chance of a lifetime. How grateful I am for his kind advice to me and that I followed it.

When I think of him I remember the dimples in his cheeks when he smiled and the times he had us pull his pretty curly hair when it thinned thinking it would grow. He had a little work purse with the few little washers in it and maybe a coin or to. I remember the heat lamp and the oil we put on his shoulder when it hurt him. I remember his blue overalls and how he hated Mom to wash them. I remember the way he sawed wood, and of being sent to bed without supper when we were naughty or making me stand in the corner when I misbehaved.

I especially remember the operation he had in Ogden for a hernia. The Dr. didn't dare put him out and later when the Dr. came into his room and asked how he was doing father said, "Doctor, I wouldn't castrate an animal the way you took care of me." He asked Mother if we heard him when he hollered out in pain. We felt so bad.

He would get seasick in a car and heights would make him sick. One time when two of his sisters came to visit we all decided to go to the county fair in Montpelier. His sisters finally coaxed him to go on the Ferris wheel. He got deathly ill and after the operator finally stopped it, he laid on the ground and was very sick to his stomach. I remembered several men walking by him and one of them said, "Just look at that old drunk." We all went home immediately and his sisters were very sad they had insisted that he ride the Ferris Wheel.

I remember Robert H. Kunz saying our father was the most nearly perfect man he had even known. How proud I was.

He would never let us talk about other people's faults. He would always say, "Well, I will have to take their part since they are not here to defend themselves." [LaRue Kunz Spencer]

Carol Kunz Howell, his fourth daughter, wrote that her father was a man of integrity. She said:

His word was his bond. He was honest as a man could be. When we had our family prayers, we had to show respect and have both knees on the floor. More than once he had to tell me to put my foot down and kneel.

Whenever we had a problem with teacher, friend etc, the "other person was always right." He taught us not to complain about things, to help our neighbors, to respect our mother. He never spoke a cross word to her that I heard. He encouraged Mother to go on trips with family and friends. He preferred to take care of the home rather than go on trips.

Father loved to play Rook and have a social evening with friends. He dressed up for Halloween parties in the Ward. You could always tell him by the way he cocked his neck to one side.

He cared for us as he wrapped us up in blankets and took us to school in the Rook

Sleigh<sup>1</sup> when there was a blizzard. His home was always open to visitors and there was always something to eat. [Carol Kunz Howell]

Parley and Hilda Kunz on a horse at home in Bern, Idaho

LaVaun Kunz Hansen, the fifth child and fifth daughter wrote:

My Father could say as Nephi of old, I was born of goodly parents. We as his children can say the same of him. He was the only son in a family with five sisters. Mother on the other hand was the only daughter in a family with five brothers. Each of them later had half-brothers and half-sisters whom they loved very much.

Love was always shown to any of them in need whether it be illness or in death of a loved one. It was always so special for them to spend time with brothers and sisters, go on trips together, play games, or to share each others sorrows. Father always had compassion for others and considered them his brothers. He was always so caring of others and so kind. Being friendly to others was a special virtue of his. When he and Mother took a trip with LaVarr & LaVaun he was conversing with a person while LaVarr was putting gas in the car. He asked Father if he knew the man. He said, "No, I didn't but I do now." So many times LaVarr has said that Father was the most perfect man he has ever known. Father was always willing to give a person advice when he was asked for it. He was so kind and gave such wise counsel. Nobody could go wrong if they followed the advice he gave. Father really frowned on any of the family getting into "get rich schemes." He said they were wrong and could cause one to lose a home or the family to go hungry. He always told parents to never brag to a child of the things they won or the child would think it was all right for them to gamble as well.

Father loved animals and treated them kindly. One time he needed the help of Mother, LaRue, and me to help with the birth of a calf. As soon as it was born, he said to us "Now go to the house," Later when the calf was killed, LaRue and LaVaun got some of the meat. He always gave to people more than he received from them. He was so honest all his life. He was always so faithful in paying his tithes and offerings. He always said that his children were the "Gold in his Lap." Each child was loved the same. Discipline was given with love when needed. Never could we say that we didn't deserve our punishments or that we were abused.

Our Father always got carsick so easily. So many times we have seen him lie prostrate on the ground and be so deathly sick. He always rode in the front seat of a car when he could. Many members of his family also got carsick easy as well. Father was a wonderful Bishop. He always had such charity and love for the members of the ward. He accepted each of his callings and served faithfully. He was always punctual and attended all of his meetings. He respected those in authority above him and wanted us children to know and love them also. After stake conferences he would take us up to meet the General Authorities who had come for the conference.

Father disliked arguments. When we did so, he would make us kiss and make up. Mother told of a little spat they had once. She went down to the little place where the wheat was stored and waited there for a long time, thinking he would soon come to get her. When he didn't come, she went up to the house and he had gone to Mutual (MIA). Father always respected Mother, loved her so much, was always proud of her, and treated her like the "Queen" she was.

Chapter 12 - Parley Peter Kunz and Hilda Irene Stoor

Very few of us children knew any of our grandparents. How blessed our children are to have known and loved our Father and Mother – their grandparents. They loved each of their grandchildren so much and were interested in them and their activities. They were always so proud of their calls to be Missionaries, honors of being Eagle Scouts, or other events of their lives. Father always helped financially when he could to further the spread of the Gospel. Father said he didn't want us to spend $2,000 on a tombstone for him as he didn't want to be notarized; he said spending a lot of money for things like that is like throwing money to the dogs. All I want is just a little marker that says ---"Here lies Parley". He said it would be better to send a boy on a mission with that money. The mission of Father and Mother to Alabama was the highlight of their lives.

Father always took time to share special articles he had read with the family. He was always reading. Grandchildren were always excited for him to play games with them and to show them games he had played as a child. Many were pleased to receive a top that he had carved from empty wooden spoons.

Father really gave a wonderful example of how to treat our Mother. He loved her so much. I have never heard him speak ill of another. He always found something good to say. He was so proud of his heritage and shared stories with us. He was a wonderful Father and we loved him and Mother so much.

Missionary Experiences of Parley and Hilda:

President Montain Kunz, the Stake President of the Montpelier, Idaho Stake, wouldn't take no for an answer of their going on a mission. President Kunz said, "You think about it for a week and pray about it." They agreed to answer the call and went to the Alabama Mission. It was such a great experience they said they should have stayed longer by three or four months. They had many good friends in Alabama by the time their mission was completed. When they went into the office President Hartman Rector Jr. showed them a map. There was a little community of 170 with maybe a "half dozen taking part." Mother got the Relief Society and the Primary going again, and Father the Sunday School and MIA. [Father always attended MIA in the Bern Ward until the Church abandoned the program].

Father tells of a lady who was to be baptized. She had her hair fixed up high on her head. Father was invited to baptize her. This little town was kind of out in the sticks. There wasn't much water in the place for the baptism and below the little bit of water was kind of quicksandy stuff. He baptized her once and was told he would have to do it over, as her hair was dry. He did it a second time and again they said he didn't get her hair under the water. The third time was all right. Father said he was embarrassed. All she would have had to do was to push her pompadour down a little bit. He then baptized her husband. He also baptized a girl in another little town. There was an older man who said Father converted him and another man baptized him. He was a bigger man and the Branch President thought he was too big for Father to handle. Father told the Branch President he would help pay for a load or two of gravel to put in there so you won't have to stand in quick sand to baptize. The closest baptismal font was over 30 miles away from the branch location. He said there were a lot of rattlesnakes in that country.

When asked how he enjoyed the plane ride, Father said he enjoyed it but there was one thing he didn't like. When asked what that was he said "I didn't like the tobacco smoke second hand.” It was really foggy when they got there so the plane couldn't go on further. They were put up in a motel in Atlanta which the airlines paid for and the next day the Branch President came for them in a car. Father said President Hartmon Rector, his Mission President, was the only General Authority who was a convert to the church at that time. He was a great fellow.

It was quite an experience for them to stay in the home of the district President for a week. President Carter and his wife had little children. She was a wonderful lady and treated Father and Mother so kindly. She had to cook for a lot of missionaries and her husband was so good to wait on them too. Father said "We had a good experience in six months." The people were so kind and would always give them something, a bottle of jam, a chicken or melons. Liquor was the worst problem. Many times a woman would come to the door and tell the folks that her husband wasn't in shape for them to come in. So much of their money was spent on liquor. He said he didn't know how much good he and Mother did for the people there but they had an experience that they had never had before. There were only about 6 people active when they got to Highland Home. Later they had about 150 coming out. At first there was only one deacon so Father had to help with the Sacrament.

Father said they could almost relive it by telling about the mission. They went tracting and visiting the people. They were always treated so kindly. Mother got sick, they wondered if it was appendicitis. Thought she would need to go into Montgomery, Alabama, which was about 30 miles away to see a specialist and maybe have an operation. She knew she couldn't do that. Father couldn't drive the car. The Branch President came and gave her a blessing. She didn't need the surgery.

They had a problem with their car. Mother didn't notice that a hose had come off and they nearly burned it up. Father said they had to pay almost $400 to have it repaired. Father said, "Let me tell you something, while we were in the mission field we would receive five or ten dollars or twenty from our family and Mother would put them up in the overhead of the trailer. When we left we had more money than when we went down there." We were getting money every day.

They were really blessed. At first the devil really tried them. They didn't have a place to stay. It took almost a week to find a place to stay. They got discouraged and almost wished that they were home. A couple had a new wonderful trailer, she was the President of the Relief Society. They moved the trailer down near the church for our parents to use. They said we could use it for a week until we found a place. Soon a month had gone by. The folks paid for the use and Father had Mother give ten or more dollars each month. Ended up using it for the entire six months they were there. [LaVaun Kunz Hansen]

Memories of my Father by Dale, the oldest son and sixth child:

My father was an honest man in all his dealings with everyone. He was a very kind compassionate man. He never mistreated anyone. He didn't need a written contract, just a handshake. His word was as good as gold. He always had kind words to say about anyone even when someone else would bring up bad things that a person had done. I never heard him say any unkind thing about Mother.

Chapter 12 - Parley Peter Kunz and Hilda Irene Stoor

Sometimes on a cold, snowy day Father would give us a ride to school with the horses and sleigh.

Father taught me, as well as all his children, to work from the time I was able to do anything. He let me start milking cows when I was five years old. The first time that I remember milking was in what was later to become the tool shed. It just seemed a natural thing right from the beginning to be responsible for doing chores. He always had something for us to do. Before school we had cows to milk and feed, stable to clean, pigs to feed, chickens to feed, sheep to feed, etc. Then it was time for breakfast and get ready for school. After school there was a rerun with most of the same chores to do again. Thank you, Father, for teaching us to work.

I remember Father out in the field walking along behind the harrow while doing his farming. I was happy when I was old enough to do the same. Just thinking about all the footsteps walking back and forth in the field makes me tired now.

When sheep shearing time came it was fun for me to get in the big wooolsacks and stomp the wool to be able to get more in. I think the sacks weighed about 500 lbs when they were full. The worst time was after when I had to pick up all the tags after the shearing was done. The tags were the pieces of wool with the caked on sheep manure. I don't remember what was done with them after they were put in a special sack.

Father seemed to be the specialist in Bern when it came time to castrate pigs, calves, etc. All the neighbors would call on him. I remember when docking (cutting off the lambs' tails) and castrating the lambs. He had to do it with his teeth and his lips would always be bloody when he was finished. I don't think I could ever do that.

Father always had a good horse to ride. He always talked about his horse "Gar". I guess that was his favorite horse, but that was before my time. He made sure that the horses we had to ride were safe for children to ride. Many times he let the neighbor kids borrow a horse to ride.

Father made sure we were disciplined when we did anything bad. I remember how he would send me out to the lilac bush to get a switch he could use on me. I presume he used it on me a time or two but now that I look back to that time I don't remember of him using it on me. I'm sure I was spanked a few times also but I don't remember these time either so I guess he didn't do it too hard. Once in a while he would send us to bed without supper as discipline but I think he knew that Mother would always slip us something so we wouldn't go hungry.

I remember when we were in the hayfield in Wyoming how Father was always out working hard. I never heard him get after any of the hired men when they weren't doing their best. He was always kind and helpful to them. He always made sure that we did a good job in whatever we were doing. He and Uncle Able Kunz contracted to put up hay for many years in Cokeville, Wyoming for Ted Olsen and Bill Buckley. He took off one summer for a couple of weeks to take Mother back to the Mayo Clinic for a stomach operation, an Ulcer I think, as they cut away part of her stomach.

Father took us to pick huckleberries and chokecherries a few times. It was always fun to go as a family. Of course there were so many of us that we weren't all able to go at the same time. I remember the times that I was able to go with him when he would load up the car with cheese to sell. We went to different places in the Soda Springs area, Grace, etc. We had the best cheese (made in Bern from our milk as well as milk from the neighbors) in the country. I remember him taking me with him when he and Mother went to visit his sisters in Salt Lake [Hazel and George Smith], Riverton [Agnes and Hale Dansie] and Lewiston [Lucy and Lloyd Hansen]. These were all special times for me. Sometimes these were times when they went to General Conference.

Father was the bishop of the Bern Ward for many years. He was also on the school board for school district 13. During the depression he would take his team and wagon for the WPA [one of the public works programs established by the federal government] and worked on the roads for a dollar a day. He also worked at a place in Montpelier.

I remember one cold winter night when Father and Mother wrapped us up in blankets and took us with them to Montpelier where they were going to a dance. It was cold because we went with the team and sleigh. We stayed at Uncle George's home while they went dancing. The return ride home was also very cold. [Dale Kunz]

Naomi Kunz, 7th child and 6th daughter of Parley and Hilda writes:

It is with humility and love that I write a few words about my Father Parley Peter Kunz. It has been said that "words are inadequate to honor great deeds; that great deeds could be honored only with great deeds." It would be my desire that somehow, somehow, something that I may do, for good in my life, would "Honor" my Father, in a way He should be honored.

My Father possessed the same great qualities as did the Prophet Joseph Smith, whom I love. Leadership, Charity, Courage, Faith, Friendship, Honesty, Kindness, Patience, Obedience, Prayer, Service, Missionary Work, Physical Appearance, Testimony, Work, Love, and many others. Each of these could be elaborated on. One that comes now to me is Temple Work. How faithful He and Mother were to attend the Temple regularly. What examples they were to us. It wouldn't have been an easy decision to leave their family of small children and responsibilities and chores, and in all kinds of weather to travel the canyon to attend the Logan Temple.

I'm sure there were many Spirits there to meet him when he left this life, because of his labors. In my eyes, my father was a perfect man. One day I asked him if there was ever anything in his life that he had to repent of. I couldn't imagine anything. I'd never seen anything that would warrant repentance. He smiled at me and said, "Oh, Naomi, I'm not perfect." To me he was. Can I just add about his physical appearance? My Father always stood straight and sat straight. He wasn't really tall, but He stood tall. His countenance reflected his life. He was pure and clean. He was always quick to smile and extend a handshake. I was blessed with Good Parents. [Naomi Kunz]

Paul Kunz, the 8th child and second son of Parley and Hilda, wrote of his father:

A Father's Day Tribute

Father, Parley P. Kunz, never uttered a cross word to his wife, Hilda, my mother, that I ever heard. Our father always made all of us respect our mother.

As he worked with his brother, Able Kunz, for 35-45 years and I never heard a bad word between them. He told me a story about when he sold a bunch of cattle to a man up South in the valley. The man offered him a certain amount of money for the cattle. Father accepted and was going to help him drive them home. About half way to Ovid, Idaho the man rode around the bunch of cattle and said, "I won't buy these cattle." Father replied, "You are small potatoes," and returned home with the cattle.

There was never a hint of the man's name; I guess he wanted to keep the name between them. I never heard the buyer's name.

He never mistreated an animal and he drove horses most of his life and had animals to the end of his life. I liked to work with my father. As long as he was there we got along in all of our dealings. If he had a chance to top the scales in the other person's direction he would do so.

He was the most tolerant person I have ever known. His word was as good as his bond. He use to send us to the woodshed to find a stick if we did wrong, but I don't ever remember his using them severely. I don't remember ever getting a spanking that I didn't deserve. I am proud to say he was MY father. [Paul R. Kunz]

Father by Eva Kunz Johnson, 11th child and youngest daughter of Parley and Hilda Kunz:

I have so many special thoughts and memories of our father but these come to mind right now:

Our father was loving: I will always cherish the memory of his reading the "Uncle Arthur's Bedtime Stories" to Richard and me when we were little. We would sit on his lap, and after he finished, he would have us kneel by his knees and have us say our prayers then would give us a kiss and have us go kiss our mother goodnight as well. How secure I felt and I am so thankful for his love and the time he took to show it in this way even though he always worked so hard and must have been worn out much of the time!

OUR FATHER WAS A DIPLOMAT: When Phillip and I were in grade school we were having an argument as to which one of us had the best penmanship. I was sure our father could tell right away that I had the best writing and ran right over to him to get his confirmation of that fact! I was rather disappointed when he said that our ability to write was both the same! Since that time, I have come to realize he had to say what he did...he just didn't want to hurt Phillip's feelings!

OUR FATHER WAS HONEST: Many years ago when I was still living at home, I remember that he had an overdraft notice from the bank and how much he hated that! He "got after" mom a little bit and let her know he didn't want that to happen again! I remember Uncle George saying of him..."Now there's a man you'll have to watch or he'll cheat himself"! I know for a fact that is true...he wouldn't have taken advantage of another person for the world.

OUR FATHER WAS THRIFTY AND YET A GOOD PROVIDER: I was admonished many times to pick up a needle or pin or penny or nail or washer or whatever else might be on the floor! He always said that if I couldn't make one, I should pick it up! Because I was "pleasingly plump" (as father called it) most of my life, I am living proof that I had plenty of good, nourishing food to eat and never went to bed hungry unless I had "misbehaved"!

OUR FATHER WAS NOT A MATERIAL MAN: I don't remember who told father that he could have had quite a sizeable bank account if he wouldn't have had so many kids! His reply was: "What are you talking about? I have 13 bank accounts!"

FATHER'S FAMILY ALWAYS CAME FIRST: I never knew him to take much time to have a vacation, to hunt or fish or do things just for himself. I think his rest and relaxation came at the Rook table! He loved the game and would almost always come out the winner! Rook was something he could enjoy at home and still be with his family and I'm thankful he had this time to relax and unwind!

OUR FATHER WAS A GENTLEMAN: I remember how he always opened the door of the house or the car and held it for mother. He always spoke to her with respect and to everyone else he talked to. A "person's name was always safe with him"! If anyone had anything derogatory to say about a person, he would always bring up something positive about the person!

OUR FATHER LIVED HIS RELIGION: I never saw father read anything other than the scriptures, good books or the newspaper. He lived and practiced what he believed. He was the first one in line to help another person in need and gave when he didn't have much to give. He always paid his tithing and I believe that is why we always had plenty of what we needed to survive and be happy. Many times, he would call Aunt Myrtle and others who didn't drive, to see if they wanted a ride to town or to have him pickup something for them.

HE EXEMPLIFIED HIS PRIESTHOOD: I will always cherish the special "Father's Blessing" he gave me when we returned from our trip to Switzerland. I carry a copy of it with me in my purse and read it occasionally...especially when I am discouraged or have doubts about myself.

OUR FATHER WAS GRACIOUS: He always welcomed us into his home with a smile and a good visit...he was interested in our welfare and shared his wisdom and advice with us when asked to do so.

FATHER DIDN'T LIKE "TRASH": If we were to leave our comic books or "True Romance" magazines in sight, he would stick them in the wood stove in a hurry. The only place they might be safe for a while would be under our mattress!

OUR FATHER AND MOTHER LEFT US A GREAT LEGACY: We have been greatly blessed with so much and should be proud and do our best to exemplify their teachings and great examples! [Eva Kunz Johnson]

Richard R. Kunz, the 12th child and 5th son of Parley and Hilda Kunz remembered how he had caught his hand in a pulley, while his father and older brothers were putting up hay in the barn on their farm. He eventually had to have part of the fingers amputated. His parents were kind and showed him favor during that difficult time. They taught him to spell and loved to match him with high school students, whom he could easily beat in the match – as a five year old!

Richard wrote:

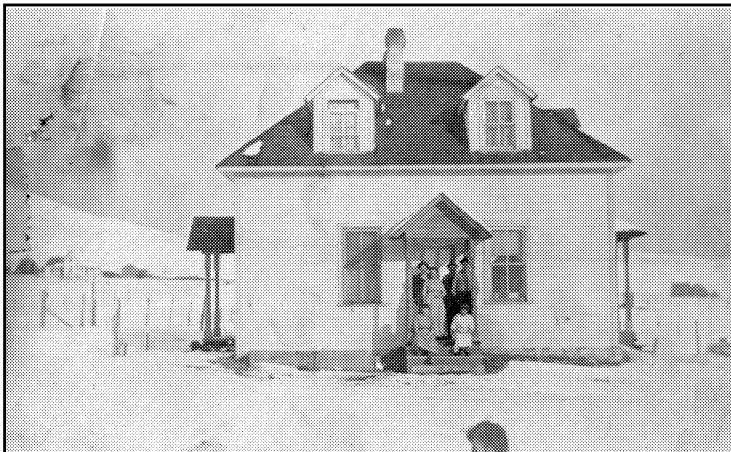

The Church and its principles were an integral part of family life as long as I can remember. Any faults and failings I picked up along life's path can only be attributed to myself. I was taught right from wrong and shown by example the things I should do.

While many people often commented on how smart I was, there were some areas that comes to mind that someone forgot to teach me. One such area comes to mind was graphically brought to light of all places in Seminary. My sister, Eva, and I took many of the same classes in high school. During one of our daily discussions, our teacher was discussing some of the differences between the Jewish people and the Gentiles. He mentioned that Jewish people had been circumcised while the Gentiles had not been. I raised my hand and asked very innocently, "What is circumcision?" The teacher merely told me that he would talk with me afterwards. I do not remember whether we ever had the discussion, but I do know that Eva was very embarrassed. [Richard Kunz]

Things I Remember about My Dad by Arthur S. Kunz, thirteenth and 6th son of Parley and Hilda Kunz.

When I was about 5, we were out in front of the house working on a car that had a flat tire. Father had the car jacked up and while pulling off the tire, the car fell off the jack smashing both his hands between the fender and the tire. Lucky for him Uncle Abel happened to stop right then and helped him get loose. I remember it hurt his hands pretty bad.

Kunz family home prior to "adding on." I, Phillip, was born in 1936 and I do not remember the porch on the left side of the home

I remember going down to the fields with him (sometimes Irvin Galloway my brother-in-law, would go, to feed the cattle in the winter when it was cold. He would make a hole in the loose hay for me to lay in so I would stay warm. The horses would be white around the nose. It was very cold.

There were a few times I would get into trouble and he would send me out to get a willow so he could give me a licking for some dumb thing I had done. After a few times I got smart and would get a dry willow so it would break easy. Then he would pull my pants down and use his bare hand and that would hurt. I really never looked down on him for the lickings I would get because I would always have it coming.

One fall I was down by the house on the Rich Place [a ranch between Bern and Montpelier, where William Boss (in Chapter 24) also worked a long time ago] plowing and I lost my wallet. I guess I had a little money in it. Anyhow, I told father about it. This was on a Saturday afternoon. He told me Monday morning he would get on the horse and go find it for me. I didn't think it was possible because I was plowing on a 20 to 30 acre piece. Anyway, the next Monday he went down and about two hours here he came with my wallet.

Another time I came home kind of late, or should say early in the morning. Anyway about 30 minutes after I got home he called for me to help with the chores. After about the third call I could tell he was upset so I got up and went downstairs when he was waiting for me. He had to be a good father for all the trouble we were to him while we were growing up. I loved him dearly and wouldn't trade him for anything. He was the best there was.

One thing he taught me was a man is no better than his word. I have always tried to use this all of my life. [Arthur S. Kunz]

I, Phillip, the 10th child and 4th son, of Parley and Hilda Kunz, remember an occasion when Joyce and I were in Kaysville, Utah, where she was from. Joyce's mother asked us to get something for her in a local clothing store. The clerk, with the last name of Tingey, and I began to talk while I waited for Joyce to make her purchases. She said that she knew my father very well. It was wonderful to hear her say, "He is the most perfect man I have ever met." It was my opinion that Mrs Tingey "hit the nail on the head."

One evening, as Father and I were milking the cows in the barn, I was working on a talk for competition in an Idaho statewide speech contest in the Future Farmers of America. After I had gone through the talk a couple of times, Father reminded me that what talent I had came from the Lord and that I should not let it "go to my head," but that I ought to be thankful for the many blessings that were mine. That advice has always been very helpful to me.

Several times in my life, when I was at significant decision points, I asked my father to give me a blessing. He was always willing to do that and I felt of his authority to give such blessings. He was close to the Spirit of the Lord. His testimony of the gospel was firm and his support of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints was unwavering. Even as a grown man, with no official calling in the Mutual Improvement Association, he seldom missed a meeting. He wanted to show support and perhaps keep an eye on his MIA aged children.

My father, Parley Peter Kunz, is my hero and I strive to develop characteristics that he seemed to master so well.

He made me feel the trust he had in me as he sent me to collect money from a man who had owed him for quite a long time. As a boy just out of high school, that act helped me to grow and mature. He always told our five children, Jay, Jenifer, Jody, Johnathan and Jana to obey their parents and they would be happy. I love him for that too.

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

Hedwig Hazel Kunz was the daughter of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III. She was born September 29, 1896 in Bern, Idaho. In a letter addressed to Hedwig Hazel Kunz's sister, Agnes Kunz Dansie, the name Hedwig was used for her name. That was the name that was used for some time when she was young, however from the time I remembered her we called her Aunt Hazel and that seems to be the name she generally went by in the latter part of her life.

Hazel married George Stephen Smith on May 8, 1918 in the Salt Lake Temple. They were the parents of four children: Ray George, Joseph Theron, Norma and Dale John. All four of them married and had children.

Hazel Kunz Smith: a history by Lucy Kunz Hansen, her sister:

Hazel grew up at Bern, Idaho in a home that taught the most valued possessions in life, the gospel of Jesus Christ. She was taught faith in God and that a testimony of the gospel was worth more than anything she could acquire in life.

She attended school at Bern, Idaho and graduated in May, 1913. She performed her church duties faithfully and well, during her childhood and youth, later holding many responsible positions. Her church record as she listed it is as follows: 1st Coun. YWMIA Bern Idaho, 1st Coun. Primary Bern Idaho, BeeHive Teacher Herriman Utah, Trail Builder Teacher, Sec and Coun in Hilcrest Ward Grant Stake Primary, Sec in Genealogical Committee also Sec to write to all Service Men and send Miniature Church section to them from Eldredge Ward for World War II. Two boys were killed and she presented the Mother and Widow their Star (Grant Stake), in charge of Sealings to the Temple for Springview and Spring Glen Wards from 1945 and still serving (1953) Relief Society Teacher for 25 of her 35 years of married life, Organized the Stephen Smith Family Organization July 12, 1947 and have had a family reunion each year since. Temple Committee and Researcher for the Smith Family Organization.

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

All during these years she has worked untiringly as a mother and housekeeper and has done a splendid job at both. Everyone loves to go to her home where she reigns as a queen. Her children have a rich heritage and along with her husband they have reared a wonderful family. They are all actively working in church and doing a fine work in the different places where they live. The world needs more faithful people like them.

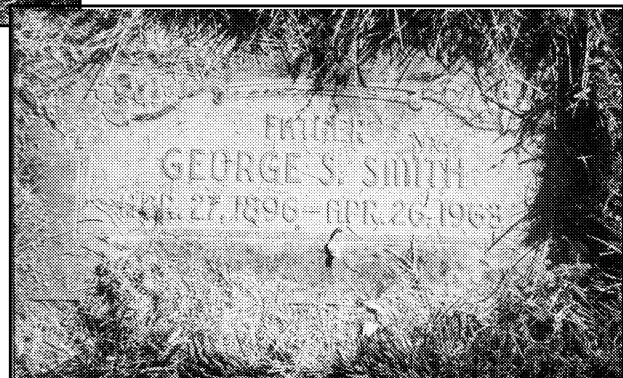

Hazel and George have taught by example the value of hard work, have built their own home and though they feel they have been a long time doing it, they have shown what can be accomplished with proper management and applying themselves. I admire them very much.

Life has not been easy. They have had more sickness than they deserved but through it all they have been very patient and uncomplainingly carried on.... They have been active in genealogical work for many years and so their heart is in their work and they pray for the way to be opened so they can get more names of their ancestors so their family can carry on the work as they have done.

Hazel passed away very peacefully on Apr 30, 1956. Her reward will be great in heaven, her family all came to see her before the end came and she left a feeling of love with each one. Her many relatives and friends came to honor her at the last rites. Her funeral was a very lovely service. All spoke of the love and esteem they felt for her. She lived the gospel of Jesus Christ and with our Father in Heaven we can say, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, Enter into the joy of our Lord." (Lucy Kunz Hansen)

Hazel and George's children wrote of their mother:

Introduction

Very few lines about our mother have survived, even though she provided the redeeming ordinances for thousands of her extended family.

As we considered Mother's accomplishments, it wasn't hard to decide that her living children should do something about it. We pooled our memories and found some interesting events in Mother's life that are worth recording for her posterity.

Memories of My Mother, Hedwig Hazel Kunz Smith by Ray George Smith (Eldest son)

Mother was born in Bern, Bear Lake County, Idaho near the larger town of Montpelier. She was born to John Kunz III and Elizabeth Boss Kunz on the 29th day of September 1896. Both of her parents were born in Switzerland and immigrated to the United States after joining the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Mother was the fourth child of six in her immediate family of five daughters and one son. Agnes Ruth Kunz Dansie (husband Arthur Haleman), Julia Esther Kunz Schmid (husband August), who died quite young - at age 26. A son, Parley Peter Kunz (wife Hilda Irene Stoor), Hedwig Hazel Kunz Smith (husband George Stephen), Lucy May Kunz Hansen (husband Lloyd Herbert), and Lydia Kunz who died with her mother in child birth. (Mother was the 15th child of her father, resulting from his call to take plural wives as the Church was practicing polygamy at the time. Grandfather Kunz was the father of 25 children born to four of his six wives. Only 14 children lived to the age of 18 or older, one dying at age eighteen.) Mother's own baby sister [Lydia] died with her mother the day she was born. Medicine was quite primitive in those days, resulting in a high rate of infant mortality. Two of Grandfather's wives did not bear him any children.

I remember Mother mentioning to me more than once that she had half brothers and sisters old enough to be her parents.

Mother was quite short in stature, barely measuring 5 feet tall. She had blue eyes and long blonde ringlets, according to her childhood pictures. She attended school in Bern, Idaho, the place of her birth. She finished the eighth grade with high marks according to her graduation certificate that I have seen.

Pioneering days were hard and all the children were assigned chores, most of it pertaining to the operation of the dairy herd of over 200 cows and the making of cheese. The home ranch was in Bern, while the summer ranch was located in Williamsburg in the mountain valley above Soda Springs, Idaho, over 50 miles away.

When school was out for the year and the weather had moderated, the migration of cows and people would begin. It would be at a time when the Blackfoot River was swollen from the spring runoff which made the crossing without the help of any bridges pretty exciting and fearful. Mother told me the children would climb to the highest part of the white-topped buggies while the horses had to swim part of the way to pull the buggies across. She said the cowboys had to be swimming their horses across while roping the younger calves and pulling them along to keep them from being swept downstream. It must have been a very traumatic experience for Mother because she told me the story many times.

As Mother became a teenager she became quite adept at milking cows. She said she had 10 to 20 cows to milk twice a day. Apparently she was really good and fast, because when I was a teenager and spent my 15th and 16th summers working for Mother's brother, Parley. He told me of the time one of the salesmen who frequently came to sell them supplies used in cheese making, offered a five-pound box of chocolates to any of their brothers who could beat her in a milking contest. Uncle Parley said Mother won the candy.

The summer time environment was so peaceful and beautiful, Mother told me. There were mornings when the deer and elk were right in the door yard of the summer log cabins when they were getting up to do the morning chores. There were trout in the streams and sage hens and ducks, all which helped to feed the hungry community. One happening on a sad note, was after they returned to the summer range one year, they discovered some burrows had succeeded in opening one of the doors to the cabin, probably to get out of the weather, and the door had closed, trapping the burrows inside where they all died. The evidence of their struggle to stay alive was that most of the cupboards and chairs and tables had been eaten by them, before they died.

Hazel Kunz Smith

The home ranch at Bern was just as beautiful in winter as in summer in the mountains. The altitude there is over 5900 feet, making it a natural for deep snow. Although skiing equipment wasn't nearly as sophisticated as it is now, they made their own and enjoyed skiing down the large hills behind the house over top of fences and into their yard. The weather prevented having a garden, so their meals were not nearly so balanced as our nutrition-oriented meals are today. They took their wheat to the flour mill and exchanged it for flour. They obtained their meat from the animals they raised for that purpose and game animals that were native to their area. The rest of the food came from the store. Such delicacies as oranges were enjoyed at Christmas time, if they were fortunate to get a truck through the deep snow.

One summer while taking care of the milking chores, an event happened that was to affect all her future years. A visitor came to her community. Actually there were two visitors, a man and his teenage son. They had heard of the famous cheese that was made in those high valleys. They also knew that where there was cheese, there would likely be large herd of sheep, which they had trailed from Grantsville, Utah. Mother remembered the younger one as a handsome, black haired, blue eyed, and rather shy young man. He didn't say much but apparently observed a lot. The results were that the people with the sheep ran out of supplies of butter, cheese and milk quite regularly and made frequent trips to the ranch. The summer ended too soon, with the hope it might continue next year. Some letters were exchanged and winter finally ended as the excitement began to build for another summer as did visits by the people from Utah.

The young man had an excellent voice and brought along his mandolin. He made quite an impression not only on Mother, but her father as well. Another summer sped by and another winter came and went. That summer followed the pattern of the past but with one exception - Mother became engaged to George Stephen Smith. I don't know just what the arrangement was, but our Dad sought to obtain work with the Kunz family, so he could be nearby Mother and protect his interests. They were married in the Salt Lake Temple on 8 May 1918. I was born some 19 months later at Bern in the old family home. Sometime later, we moved to Grantsville, Utah where our father attempted to farm. He bought a beautiful matched-team of sorrel horses with flaxen manes and tails. I don't know the extent of his farming operation or even if it got "off the ground". His beautiful team was pastured nearby and would come running up to him each morning and night when he brought them oats. One morning he found them near the oat pans, dead from poisoning. There had been a fellow trying very hard to buy the team from Dad. As Dad needed them for farming, he wasn't about to sell his team. Dad always suspected this man to be the culprit, but lacked any evidence that was conclusive.

Not too long after that, my brother, Theron, was born in Grantsville, Utah. I remember the home we lived in was across the road from Dad's mother, Rachel Anderson Smith. It was great to have the opportunity to visit her. She was always patient with me and Theron as we grew older. One incident that I was told by her, I remember quite well. Mother was out in the yard hanging out her freshly washed clothes. Grandmother was in the swing when Theron started crying quite loudly and rubbing his eye. Mother called rather loudly to me, "Ray did you stick your eye in Theron's finger?" I promptly said no. Mother repeated the question even louder. Grandmother called to Mother, asking, "Hazel, do you know what you just said?" I guess they had a good laugh over it and I was happy, too.

We moved to Herriman, Utah where Dad worked for various men, including Uncle Hale Dansie, Bishop Frank Crane, and the Bodells. He also worked in the mines in Lark and Bingham. While in Herriman, both my sister Norma and youngest brother Dale John were born. I believe Mother's ill health started soon after Dale's birth. I know she had several abdominal operations and one involving a miscarriage. The doctor even joked about the possibility of putting a zipper in her abdominal wall, but to Mother, I'm sure it was no joke.

Dad obtained work from Uncle Hale Dansie's brother, George Dansie. As his farming operations were in Riverton, we made another move. That was a happy time for me. I'm sure my Dad and Mother, both knowing the value of work, blessed me with the enjoyment that comes from accomplishment, through concentrated effort. I was six years old then. I was given as much responsibility as I could handle. I was assigned the young cows with the smaller teats, because my hands, being small, it was easier for me to do it. Mother's old milking skills came in handy as we were responsible for the milking of the Dansie herd. When I say early morning, it was early enough in the morning before school that I could still go back home, clean up, and walk a mile to my first-grade class and not be late. All three of us, Mother, Dad and I followed that routine. As the oldest of the four children, I was fortunate to be the one allowed to experiment as much as a child could do. The year before our move to Riverton and the Dansie employment, I would turn 6 years old in November, too late to get into the first grade that year. Mother was not going to let me get behind others in school, so she obtained the services of a first-grade teacher to teach me phonics and some reading. I have always been grateful to Mother for this act, as it taught me to enjoy reading, which enjoyment is of great value to me, even to this present time.

This period in Mother's life was quite stressful. Just before Christmas and for several weeks after, I brought home all the childhood diseases common in those days. First it was measles, the red kind. Then came chicken pox and shortly after returning to school after New Years I caught the German measles. In those days, the health people came around and confirmed that if we had the disease, they would then place a large quarantine sign on your front door, indicating you had the specific disease and that outsiders were to stay away to control and spreading of the disease. That meant Mother was almost a prisoner in her own home for most of the winter months that year.

George Dansie passed away shortly after school was out, and as his boys took over the farm, Dad was again out of work and we moved back to Herriman, I think to be closer to Uncle Hale and Aunt Agnes Dansie, as Dad had obtained work for a Mr. White who had land out of state. That meant Mother would be alone with us four kids, so I'm sure Dad wanted her to be near her sister. Mother continued to have health problems, even then. I finished the second grade there and was baptized in the Herriman ward baptismal font by Horace Seal, one of the men in the ward. Mother went with me, as Dad was absent from the family. Dad's job didn't last long and before I started the third grade, we moved to Salt Lake City, to 1706 So. 11th East.

The reason for the move to the city was Dad and Mother decided to test their skills at cooking and leased a small café next door to Fleishman's Drug Store. The drug store had a soda fountain for tasty treats but when Mother and Dad opened the café, the people, and especially the students at Westminster College, a couple of blocks away, just about abandoned the drug store and spent their time and money at the café, where the folks encouraged socializing and friendly relations.

Mother and Dad had leased the café with the option to buy it, if they made a success of that venture. The owners, an old German couple, didn't realize they had legally made a commitment to the folks, and sold the café to Fleishman, without even informing them. The first the folks knew of it, the drugstore owner offered them a job to work for him and keep right on operating the café, only for him. I guess they were pretty upset about it, although it meant another move. We moved to 10th East and I finished third grade at Roosevelt School on 33rd South and 9th East. Dad had taken a job with the Royal Laundry and was doing real well. He worked hard at it and as most of his salary was a commission on how much business he generated, he did well.

We moved to a brand new brick home with five rooms, and a full unfinished basement with a coal furnace. Mother was delighted. They would finally be in a home of their own. It was on 1/4 acre lot so there was room for a cow and chickens, etc. It was out in a more sparsely populated area at that time, so there was no restrictions on farm animals. Dad built a large chicken coop and began raising young chickens with large coke fired brooders. Of course Mother did the majority of the work while Dad was at work with his laundry business. They seemed to be doing quite well, when all at once the economy went to pieces and we found ourselves in a major depression. The laundry patrons quit sending their laundry out as more and more men lost their employment as businesses went broke. The chicken business began to lose money as eggs sold for 1 cent each. Mom and Dad were determined to tough it out, or at least give it all they had. They soon found that the $35.00 a month house payment was more than they could pay. They had bought the house originally for $4,850 with a $500 down payment. But now with the disastrous economic situation, the house could not even be sold for half that amount. When Dad contacted the owners of the homes that had been built, they said for him to stay and even if he couldn't make monthly payments, to pay what he could, when he could. They, too, were facing bankruptcy. I'm not sure how long we lived there under those conditions, but we had a cow, some lambs and chickens. We seemed to keep from starving. I know I sold newspapers and magazines. Bread and milk were our main diet. We did have eggs and a chicken most Sundays. Mother would send me to the store with a bucket of eggs to buy necessities we couldn't raise, such as toilet tissue, spices and occasionally ground beef for a tasty meatloaf. Mother made very tasty bread.

She knew her illnesses were serious enough to take her away from the family for extended periods, so she prepared us for those events by teaching us those skills we would need to perform while she would be away. We had a hand bread mixer. She taught me how to mix the bread in it with the proper amounts of flour, water, yeast, salt, and eggs, with some honey. I would let it raise until the dough pushed the lid off, then I turned it back down once. The second time it filled the mixer, I took it out and kneaded it into four loaves and let it raise again in the dripper. In the meantime I put enough coal in the stove to get the oven temperature gauge up to 350 to 375 degrees and baked the bread for an hour. I only mention this to show how thorough Mother was in her teaching. It has been some 60 years since I was baking that bread, but I still remember her instructions.

When it became apparent we were going to lose our home (The Salt Lake Pressed Brick Co., the owners went bankrupt), Dad looked for a piece of ground to build a home on. I'm sure it was very traumatic for Mother to leave her nice home and move into what Dad finally built (with our meager help) for us on 3444 So. 5th East. Mother had recently just recuperated from a very serious life-threatening operation, which involved removing several goiters from her throat. The doctor who was a member of the Church told Dad at the conclusion of the operation that he felt Mother would not make it until morning, so they administered to her and although her life hung in the balance for several days, Dad would kneel with us each night and pray for her recovery. Mother did very well after a couple of weeks and returned to her family and slowly regained the vigor she always seemed to have. The hospital bill at the LDS Hospital was so much for that time, there was no way it could be paid out of pay checks, so Mother prevailed upon the powers that be at the hospital and worked part time for several years and paid it off.

The move to 5th East was made when I was in the 7th grade. I never heard Mother complain too much about the inconveniences but they were many and the house was a far cry from the one she had to leave. It had three rooms, a modest living room, a kitchen, and one bedroom. There was no running water in the house, no bathroom, no sink, no refrigerator, (later years we had an ice box), a rug covered some of the living room floor and linoleum was on the kitchen and bedroom floors. In fact, the floors were just the bare wood for several months.

At first the two younger children slept in cribs in the bedroom with the folks, while Theron and I slept on a "foldaway" sofa in the living room. Finally we got enough used lumber to make a floor in the attic, large enough to put up a double-sized bed and that became Theron's and my bedroom. We climbed up to it on a home made ladder attached to the outside of the house. We had cut a small opening about 2 ½ x 4 feet for a door. Many times we would awaken in the mornings at winter time with ice from our breath on the bedding. I don't believe Mother worried too much about our health under those conditions, because she had probably lived under somewhat similar conditions in her childhood years. One thing she always made sure of, that we had plenty of warm clothes and bedding and plenty to eat even if it was only bread and milk.

The move to 5th East was to be her last move. I'm sure that although the house was not too modern, Mother was glad to have something that was of a more permanent nature. This time they would only build and spend money they had and not go into debt again, even for a home.

Each Monday morning I would carry enough water into the house to fill the large copper boiler on the stove, enough to fill two large round wash tubs with water for rinsing the clothes as they came out of the wringer washer. During school days and especially in the winter, the trips from the well to the kitchen with two pails of water seemed burdensome to me but I'm glad now that I made those trips, not only because it was indeed a help to Mother, but because I learned responsibility from it. I'm sure Mother was wise enough to know it was part of my education for life.

The war years added their toil to Mother's worries. With three sons and a son-in-law in the service, she and Dad felt responsible for helping out with the Grandchildren and daughters-in-law. As always, they treated them with respect and love, sharing their means and physical help with whomever was in need.

One example of her industry and skill was her knitting. She could knit sweaters so rapidly. I asked her once while I was in high school at Granite, if she would knit me a sleeveless sweater for my birthday. As the next day was my birthday, I expected to get it in a day or two or even a week. She stayed up most of the night, I suppose, because the next morning there it was all finished for my birthday. I still have that sweater plus another one of army color which she knit for me while I was away in the Army Air Corps.

Prior to World War II, Dad's income had become more stabilized. He got a part-time job with the Post Office plus driving a truck for a small contractor. This was before I was married. I used to go to with him and drive one of the trucks, then walk the five miles home. Mother began working later for Bushman Products Co., a food specialties operation. In the meantime, oh happy day, we rebuilt the house. Rebuilt I say because we just built another house over the old one, using the old rooms right along with the new ones. There was an upstairs room where the old attic was. There was a larger living room, larger kitchen, yes with running water inside with modern plumbing - bathroom, sink, and refrigerator, purchased just before such items became rationed. (We inherited that old refrigerator when Mother passed away and Dad moved to Idaho with us. We still use it as a second refrigerator to keep our produce fresh. It has been running constantly for all these 47 years except while it was being moved from place to place. Just another reminder of Dad and Mother, every time we open or close the door).

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

If there is any real success in Genealogy in our family, it is due to Mother's great desire to have it done and her great tenacity to stick with it even faced with almost impossible problems. In fact, I believe one reason she lived so long after being told she had a terminal illness, was that she felt she couldn't leave this life without accomplishing certain tasks pertaining to that genealogy she was then working so hard to accomplish. Even though searching was so primitive, even hiring genealogists at that time, she was able to do so much. She had arthritis quite badly, especially in her hands, making it fairly painful to write, but she kept right on with compiling the records, just the same. (Ray Smith)

Memories of Hazel Kunz Smith, My Mother

By

Joseph Theron Smith

From early childhood I have always considered my mother to be "angelic" in her appearance. While rummaging through an old picture file box one day, I found a picture which proved to me that she was angel in my estimation. And even though I am now in my "second childhood", nearing the age of 60, I consider Mother to be Saintly as well as angelic.

The earliest memory I have of Mother was the time we rented the Crane home in Herriman, Utah. We were like other normal children, unafraid of dangers which are usually around homes located in "country communities" far from the big city. I remember Mother's sometimes excited warnings, about the dangers of an old water cistern near the house and the cement ditch, out in front of our property. In later years I learned why Mother was so protective in trying to keep us from falling into the cistern or the ditch. Several children had been drowned in the cement ditch with water racing down from the Lark mines with unchecked speeds, that could kill a child within minutes after falling into the swift current. I can understand why Mother was also yelling at us to not play near the cistern. She would have never been able to rescue us from its depths, had we ever fallen into the "old water cistern". She had always lived on a farm and never learned how to swim. She was very afraid of water and I imagine we worried her almost to death as we played near those danger spots.

Other memories of Mother that I can remember are while we rented the Bodell home, almost across the street from Cranes. She knew how to bake bread and was always willing to make us a "peanut butter" and "jam" sandwich when we asked for it. I know baking in those days was very hard for Mother, especially on an old coal stove with no automatic controls. But she finally mastered the old oven and baked some of the most delicious bread and cookies I have ever tasted. I also remember Mother's loving embraces after experiencing before my eyes the tragic death of John Bodell. He was electrocuted on top of the light pole in front of our house as I looked out my bedroom window one stormy night. Mother's warm embraces were the nonprescribed medicine that brought me out of my shocked, body-shaking trauma which covered my whole being. And I was thankful many times in my life for this “heavenly gift” she had of caring for one of her stricken children.

After suffering several painful miscarriages, Mother’s health seemed to weaken as the months slipped by. She never slowed down that I can remember, but I realize now each daily task probably strained her small body to the limit.

Some memories I have of mother seemed to have faded away from my mind’s eye, especially while we were renting the Miller home in Herriman and the Dansie home in Riverton. I have felt a little sad because very few pictures were taken of Mother during this time of her life.

Viewing some early pictures of Mother before her marriage to my Dad, helps me understand why our house was always filled with relatives visiting with us. She was especially close to her brothers and sisters, and it seemed to me one or more would always be popping in to visit us, and Mother always had something to eat for them. She must have worked very hard, especially in the kitchen, trying to make our visitors welcome. I can never remember a time when our food supplies were low enough in our home for any of us to suffer from hunger.

My memory of Mother unfolds more clearly after we moved to 11th East & 17th South in Salt Lake City. I don’t know under what circumstances my parents decided to move on 11th East, but operating a hamburger stand seemed to fit Mother’s cooking abilities. I am sure she was probably forced into such a business because of the economy - but I know lots of people were glad the stand was there. Mother’s kind and gentle character often helped me develop close relationships with my friends while she operated this business which was located in front of our lot. I can still smell the drifting, enjoyable odors that came from the little building, morning, noon, or night.

One day I walked home with Betty Forrest. We were in the 2nd grade and had found many similar interests. I invited her in to meet Mother. I watched the gleam in Mother’s eyes when she asked Betty to take a “lucky bite”. She told Betty if it was a pink one, she would get a candy bar. Betty took the wrapper off and sure enough it was a pink “lucky bite”. I can remember to this day the happy look on Betty’s face as Mother gave her the candy bar. To this day, I believe Mother made sure Betty got a pink lucky bite. You don't have to guess what good friends Betty and I were from then on.

Mother's famous cooking became well-known around our little community. Many students from the college not far away would come to eat lunch during their noon hour. Sometimes I watched them eat and shake their heads with a smile on their face as they bit into some of Mother's hamburger or hot dog sandwiches. I could tell their hunger pains were completely satisfied.

After moving into the "brick yard" home on 10th East, I seem to have fonder and remember more intimate details about Mother's real character. I remember her as a real nurse - advisor - and happy to be with her family. On several occasions when I got the stomach flu and had to vomit a lot, she would hold my head and I felt her healing powers literally run through my sick body. After the ordeal, she would call Bishop Harline and together with Dad, they would give me a blessing. I realize now it was more her faith that healed me than mine. I remember when she had her goiter operation - and had to stay in the hospital for awhile - I got homesick living in my own home. Our cousin Ruth Dansie helped us and I enjoyed having her be our Mother - but my second sense told me - I wanted and needed my own mother.

I remember Mother being very protective of me, especially when going out on dates, whether it was with my boy or girl friends. She made it perfectly clear that after each date, I was to report to her regardless of how late it was. Making the report each time never bothered me. But each morning after Mother woke up and asked me why I didn't report to her, even after our half-hour conversations, I did have a problem of ever getting very serious about the reporting agreement. I realized later that Mother was serious about showing how much she cared about her children, and that this same love should be passed onto her grandchildren. It was easy for me to follow her example by being protective of my children while they were growing up.

Mother enjoyed our “brickyard” home very much. Several of the latest “new designs” helped mother to enjoy cooking for her brood. The “breakfast nook”, designed to feed a family of six, probably did more to bring us closer together than any other house we ever lived in. I remember Mother reading the scriptures and many children’s stories to us while we were seated in the kitchen nook. We did lots of singing together and played “Rook” on numerous occasions. Mother’s eyes would have a certain glow of satisfaction when we harmonized or played happily together.

The “monkey stove” in our basement also aided Mother to get her washing done easier in winter time and canning completed in summer time. Once in a while I would ask Mother to let me brew up some “hunter’s stew” to be enjoyed by a few of my friends who could smell the odors, drifting down our street. I remember using a variety of deliciously home-grown vegetables, and bits of meat we had stored in our freezer for such an occasion. It’s one time in my life that I ever did any cooking to speak of. Mother was always free with her approvals for us to cook whenever we felt like firing up the monkey stove.

Mother always went with Dad to the temple on Friday nights. Her health wasn’t the best but she did as much church work as she could. I remember her cooking scalloped potatoes for us on the nights she and Dad went to the temple. It helped to relieve Mother of the last-minute dinner preparations before they headed toward the Salt Lake Temple.

I remember Mother having a great sense of urgency to submit temple ordinances for her ancestors. She completed many family group sheets with her two sisters, Agnes and Lucy. I know they worked many hours at the Genealogical Library as well as writing or typing sheets for submission. She was called in the ward as the genealogy specialist and helped many members to get their ancestors through the temple ordinances. She also helped relatives get started whenever family reunions were held. It didn’t matter to her whether it was on her line or Dad’s. She always seemed enthused.

Moving to our little home on 5th East was not easy for Mother. At first, we didn’t have running water in the house. After the well was dug, water was finally brought into the house. I am sure it gave Mother a different look at family life on 5th East. It was even more evident that she was happier when the bathroom was installed in our house. Going to the bathroom outside during cold, snowy days was indeed a hard task for Mother. I remember how grateful she felt about not having to go outside to the bathroom again ever.

Mother’s life on 5th East never really was easy. I remember how tired she got walking to Church. It seemed a long way for me and I knew it was harder on Mother. In the winter snowstorms we still had to walk up to 9th East and 32nd So, I wondered what all this did to contribute to Mother’s ill health. Mother, to my memory, never complained either about her living conditions or health problems. She took each day - as one event at a time.

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

After her death, I often thought about her accomplishments. With patience and looking beyond my hard headedness and with only a mother's eye seeing my potential, she must have instilled in me a love for genealogy work. As I grew older, I attended more family reunions as the years rolled on. I remember going to a Kunz Reunion in Bern, Idaho and was elected Genealogy Representative that year. It was the beginning of a "Great Involvement" for me. (Joseph Theron Smith)

Memories of Hazel Kunz Smith, My Mother by Norma Smith Urry

My first recollection of her was listening to her warning about not going past the corner of our house near Main Street in Herriman, Utah.

I remember Mother being sick while we lived on 10th East in Salt Lake. Mother showed me how to pick up the tiny chickens without hurting them. I also remember handing shingles to Mother and Dad while they were shingling the chicken coop roof. Mother would get on the roof while Dad was at work and nail some singles on by herself.

The soil in our backyard was almost all clay and I remember it took lots of scrubbing to get it off my shoes. Mother got very tired scraping clay mud from her kitchen on numerous occasions.

I remember when Mother had to stand on a chair to kiss our tall Uncle Homer Smith, Dad's youngest brother. Mother was only 5 feet tall with her shoes on - while Uncle Homer was over 6 feet.

While in grade school, I remember being in a play and just before the performance, I got the measles. But to sooth my heavy heart, Mother had all the rest of the cast come over to visit me. She made me a costume for the event and it made me feel better when the cast came to talk with me through the window.

I remember the folks letting me stay with some people on 8th East all night. For some reason after she learned what we had for dinner, she was furious and I never got to stay with that family anymore.

Mother tried letting us learn to be independent. She let me get a job at Kresses. She told me I had a good sense for business, that I had a good head on my shoulders. I made a small wage but also got tips which helped me to buy materials to make my blouses. She let me borrow her clothes a lot when I went on dates. We talked about everything except sex. I also remember her being a second mother to Maxine Beard after her mother was killed in an auto accident one stormy night.

She was reluctant to let me work at the Arms Plant. But I signed up for a car pool and it eased her mind. When I worked at night, Dad would always drive me over to the corner of 33rd So and 5th East where I caught my ride.

Max and I ran off to Evanston, Wyoming to get married. I phoned home for Mom and Dad's consent. They gave it to me. I stayed with Mom and Dad after Max joined the Army. He was stationed at Ft. Douglas for awhile.

I remember sitting in the old Chrysler after work one day and felt Max would be shipped out soon. I stayed on working until Max called. He told me he was being assigned to Gowen Field near Boise, Idaho. Mom came up and stayed with me for ten days after I had a miscarriage and lost our first child. After I could get out of bed, I remember riding on the bus with Mother into town. She bought me a dress.

When I lost my 2nd child, my parents seemed angry over the way our Bishop handled the burial ceremony. I remember Mother showing me how to crochet. She made me laugh so hard when I used the wrong finger. I had chest pains. But she and Dad helped me through the crisis.

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

Mother always welcomed us with open arms no matter when we came to visit with her and Dad. I also remember Mother taking care of our relatives who had to go into the hospital for operations. She made several visits to the hospital to comfort them and she even nursed them in her own home until they were strong enough to travel.

Mother was with me the first time I left Max. She took care of the baby while we drove to Salt Lake from Nyssa, Oregon. I realize now how much of a strain these trips must have been on her tired body.

After moving to Emmett, I finally had Patty Ann and Mother came to help out. It was about 4 years after that when I learned she had Leukemia. She and Dad came to visit when we moved to Nyssa and stayed with us for awhile. She came back up when Dennis was born that next year. She died when Dennis was a year and a half. I gave her a permanent before she died. That was my last contribution to my Mom. (Norma Smith Urry)

Ray Smith, Hazel's oldest son, continues:

Mother had dropped an empty juice bottle on her ankle while working at Bushmans one day. It caused her ankle to swell much like a badly sprained ankle would do. She showed it to me one day as I stopped by to check on her and Dad. I asked her how long it had been like that and she said several days. She asked me what I thought she should do. I remember saying to her, "Mom at your age (which wasn't old - 56) whenever you have something that doesn't clear up right away, you'd better check with the Doctor." She made an appointment with Dr. Kimball. I took Dad and her to the appointment. The exam was routine and outside of the swollen ankle there was no concern. The doctor had us wait until the results of the laboratory test was concluded. I heard on the phone an unusual conversation with the doctor and the lab. He then took Dad and I aside to an empty room and told us the test had shown she had leukemia, the kind that moved rapidly. He said according to what they could tell, she would be dead in 3 to 6 months. I wanted to tell Mother right away, because knowing her sharp mind, it wouldn't be long before she would suspect the worst. The doctor however, determined not to tell her right then.

Six weeks later after a couple of trips to the hospital for transfusions to stop hemorrhaging in her nose, as I was leaving her at her home, she said to me, "Ray, now I know something more is the matter with me than the doctor has told me. Now I want you to promise you'll call him when you get home, and ask him to tell you the truth about what I have. I want to know if it is cancer or leukemia or something serious like that. Will you promise?" So when I got home, I called the doctor and told him she had to know. I asked if I or Dad should tell her and he said no, he would. Well, I have always felt badly about the way he did it. I have always felt Mother lost a little confidence in Dad and me because of the way he told her. The doctor said, as I remember Mother told me, "Your husband and son and I have been keeping something from you. You have leukemia of a very bad kind and you won't live much longer." Some doctors' bedside manners leave a lot to be desired.

When I talked with Mother about her illness after the doctor had told her, she said, "Ray,

Chapter 13 - Hedwig Hazel Kunz and George Stephen Smith

I just can't die yet, I have too much to do." I have always felt the reasons she lived three years longer than the doctor predicted was that her faith and prayers sustained her long enough to get done what she wanted to do. About a year after we had made our move to Idaho, Dad called and said she was fading fast, so we made what arrangements needed to be done and spent the next week with them. Mother died the next day after we got there and we stayed for the funeral and helped Dad with other matters before returning to Idaho. At her funeral, many nice things had been said about her. My thoughts completely agreed with those reiterated there that day.

I would like to add a few lines to give my impressions of her physical and spiritual stature. As I stated at the beginning, Mother was short of stature - 5 feet. Her hair was worn short all of my days that I knew her. It was blonde and graying quite substantially at her death. She was of slight build, weighing under 100 lbs at times in her life. Her health was excellent at times and at other times quite bad. She always encouraged us to sing and take music lessons. I know she loved to hear us perform and it wasn't until I was a teenager that I found out she could not "carry a tune" so to speak. Dad always promoted music and sang with different groups including quartets. To give you a little insight into Mother's integrity, she, unknown to us, had gone to McDougal's Mortuary and purchased her casket and paid the other expenses, obtaining a promise from Mr. McDougal that we couldn't veto her plans, especially changing the casket.

As a final note, as Mother was breathing her last, she seemed to rally to where she would maybe last another day. With that happening, Dad went uptown to take care of some matters and I kept going into the bedroom to check on her. After awhile, and before Dad returned, she suddenly became weaker and I could see the end was near. I could see her life leaving her body. I fervently told her how we all loved her and would miss her. I have always felt someone was with her when she passed away.

I make this record of my remembrances of Mother, praying I have portrayed events accurately and to let you know what a strong, faithful person she was. My prayer is that we will all strive to live so that she will be able to welcome us with open arms when that day comes for each of us to meet our maker. I leave you with this testimony that her spirit lives on not only in her children and grandchildren, but in that place where faithful, righteous people dwell until the morning of the resurrection. In the name of Jesus Christ, Amen. (Ray Smith)

Lloyd Hansen and Lucy Kunz Family Group Sheet - # 3

Lucy Kunz Hansen was the fifth child of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III. Lucy Kunz was not only responsible for writing about her own life and family, but she also wrote short histories of others of her family members. She was tireless in the great work of raising her family and also worked endlessly on the records of both the living and the dead. Many will raise up to call her name blessed.

Lucy Kunz Hansen (written about 1938)

I, Lucy Kunz Hansen was born on the 13th of November, 1898, at Bern, Bear Lake County, Idaho. I was the fifth child born to Bishop John Kunz III and Elizabeth Boss Kunz. My parents were early pioneers of Bear Lake Valley. My grandparents, on my father's side were called to settle Bear Lake by President Brigham Young and to start the cheese industry in that valley, as Grandfather [John] Kunz II was an expert cheese maker in Switzerland, before he came to this country. A thriving industry was established. My parents and grandparents went through many trials and hardships incident to pioneer life. Their trials strengthened their faith in the gospel and they praised God for bringing them to Zion, and were thankful that the missionaries found them in their native land of Switzerland.

My parents were enjoying life with their family when on 13 May 1900 (when I was 18 months old) my dear mother passed away leaving we five children motherless, she taking an infant daughter with her. My oldest sister Agnes Dansie, who now lives at Herriman, Utah, Julia Schmid of Georgetown, Idaho, (who passed away on 15 March, 1919, taking an infant son with her) Parley P. Kunz who is now Bishop of the Bern Ward (the same ward that my father [John Kunz III] was Bishop of for 25 years) Hazel H. Smith of Salt Lake City, Utah, and myself.

Father [John Kunz III], having several plural wives, chose Louisa Weibel Kunz as our foster mother. She has indeed been a real mother to us, as she had no family of her own. She devoted her life teaching and training us for a better life hereafter. We can never say but that she has been an ideal mother. Her greatest desire was for us to all go to the Temple to be married which we have done. After raising us she devoted her life to temple work, and she asked us to follow her example in doing work for our forefathers who died without a knowledge of the gospel. Here I would like to pass this on to anyone who may read this especially my children. So live, be honest with the Lord in your tithes so you can go to the temple and be sealed to your wives and husbands, and always work for those who have died and cannot work for themselves. Try to be ideal Latter-day Saints in every way. (Lucy Kunz Hansen)

Louisa Weibel kept close to these five children and cared for and loved them as if they were her own flesh and blood. My father, Parley Peter Kunz, has told me many times of her concern and efforts to raise these motherless children. Some excerpts in letters that Louise wrote to her daughter, Agnes Kunz Dansie, demonstrate this love and motherly advice:

May the Lord help you & bless you in your good efforts to raise an honorable good family.

We have many imperfections but one thing I always want to give the Lord his just dues the tithing & the poor.

Perhaps I can't say just why it should be but I have prayed fervently to my Heavenly Father for some time to soften the hearts of my People towards their dead.

Hope this will be my last move until they take me to the cemetery don't know how long that will be either but if I can build up my system instead of tearing down I may live a few years longer to accomplish what I would like to yet. I would not want to be a burden to any one hope the Lord will grant me that.

And now dear girl be good to yourself & you will make your family happier.

Wish I was with you or you with me for a few days so we could sit close together & have a little fire side talk to ourselves.

...our heavenly Father, he is very merciful to his children even more so than we are to one another.

Of course in all ages temptations are plentiful, but if we can just teach our boys & girls what virtue means to them & how to conquer evil they will be tried again & again for that reason they must believe in God and in praying to him for help to overcome & conquer evil where ever there is a snare laid for them. Prayer, and keeping the word of wisdom, keeping the commandments also each make a little history of their daily life will help.

My prayers are always for you all & hope in return you do the same as I would like to live a long time & do good. (Louisa Weibel Kunz)

Lucy continues with her history:

The first incident I can remember distinctly was my baptism, on 13 November 1906. My father filled up the old reservoir that had been used to store water for irrigation and he baptized me on my birthday. My brother, John Kunz Jr. was there and he carried me in a blanket to the house as it was a cold blustery day in November. My oldest brother, Wm J. Kunz, confirmed me the same day, assisted by my father. The day before my baptism was my first day at school, and rather reluctantly I stayed home the morning of my baptism, even though I wanted to be baptized on my birthday. Still, I disliked staying home as I didn't want to miss school.

My first teacher was John T. Rigby. The reason I did not start school before was that we lived about 3 miles from school [when the school was in "Lower Bern"] and there being no buses in those days my father said I could be taught at home. He bought me a Sunbonnet Babies Primer and my brother Parley was my teacher. Before I went to school I could read every word in the Primer and also could spell

every word, so you see he was a very good teacher. The second year my teacher's name was Lillian Eschler. She advanced me to the Third Grade during my first week at school. I was ill a lot that winter but passed my grade successfully even though I did not attend much of the time. The same year they moved the school house [from Lower Bern up to where the church house is now] within a few blocks of our home, which pleased me greatly.

In some of the blizzards which we had in the winter it kept us guessing where we were going as we walked through the snow drifts. Vivian Pope [who later married Alma Kunz] taught me fourth and fifth grades and she was surely an ideal teacher. I loved her dearly, shedding tears when saying goodbye at the end of school. Howard H. Broomhead (yes that is an odd name) was my sixth grade teacher, he was a fine teacher, had a wonderful character. I always admired him. He taught me many valuable lessons besides my school work. He was the kind of teacher that teaches with every word he says.

Joseph P. Patterson taught me seventh and eighth grades. He was very anxious for me to succeed and taught the many wonderful truths that have helped me over many a rough places in life. Through his teaching and my earnest efforts, I won the Bear Lake County Honors (Highest average in the eighth grade examination of the country) passing with an average of 97 and eight ninths percent.

My High School days were interrupted with sickness and lack of funds so I never graduated. I was operated for appendicitis the first year following my District School graduation and recovered successfully. My desire was to finish school but a large family and only the bare necessities I was unable to go. I did attend Fielding Academy at Paris, Idaho for one winter. I lived at the home of Pres. John U Stucki. Mother had to undergo a very serious operation so I stayed home to care for her, so my school days were ended.

All during my school years I attended Primary and Sunday School. The first Sunday after I was promoted to the Theological class (something I had looked forward to for a long time) the superintendent asked me to be a teacher in the First Intermediate Department. I was a teacher in the Sunday School from then on until my marriage. At the same time or soon after being put in the Sunday School I was asked to be Secretary in the YLMIA which position I also held until my marriage. I also acted as a Teacher in Primary during the same years and for two years was Counselor in that organization in the Bern Ward, also a teacher in Religion Class. I also acted as assistant secretary in Sunday school for a while.

All these years I learned the gospel from different standpoints. I learned a great deal more than I taught, or my listeners realized, but I was happy in my efforts and when I look back those were happy days indeed.

Just one of my thrilling experiences: At one time when I was a Sunday School teacher, William A Morton, a member of the General Board of the Sunday School, came to visit our Sunday School. My department was the Book of Mormon Class and he was making a tour through the Stakes lecturing on the Book of Mormon. He spent the entire class period in my department. When he and the Superintendent came in, my knees trembled as I had heard him tell how he had "roasted" a Sunday School teacher for not putting over her Book of Mormon lesson as it was intended. When he came in I asked him if he would take the class and instruct them. He said, "Oh, no, go right ahead with your lesson." I did with a prayer in my heart. After Sunday School he came to me and congratulated me on how well I had conducted the class. He had a little book that he had written, "Mother Stories from the Book of Mormon," he said it would help me with my lessons and wanted me to take orders for his book, "The Life of Christ for Little Children." I was able to place one in nearly every home in the ward. He seemed so thankful and was very anxious for me to be successful. I appreciated his interest in me. It was with a feeling of sadness that I read of his death a few years ago.

During my years at home as soon as I was old enough to work I went out to Williamsburg with my parents, brothers and sisters. There we were taught the value of hard work, milking cows and making cheese. We enjoyed our years at the Dairy having both sad and happy times and even miserable times in bad weather but in order to enjoy the good we had to have the bad also. Our entertainment was horseback riding, fishing, ball games, dances etc. It was there I met my husband and where most of our courting took place. [It is interesting that four of the five children met their future spouse at Williamsburg.]

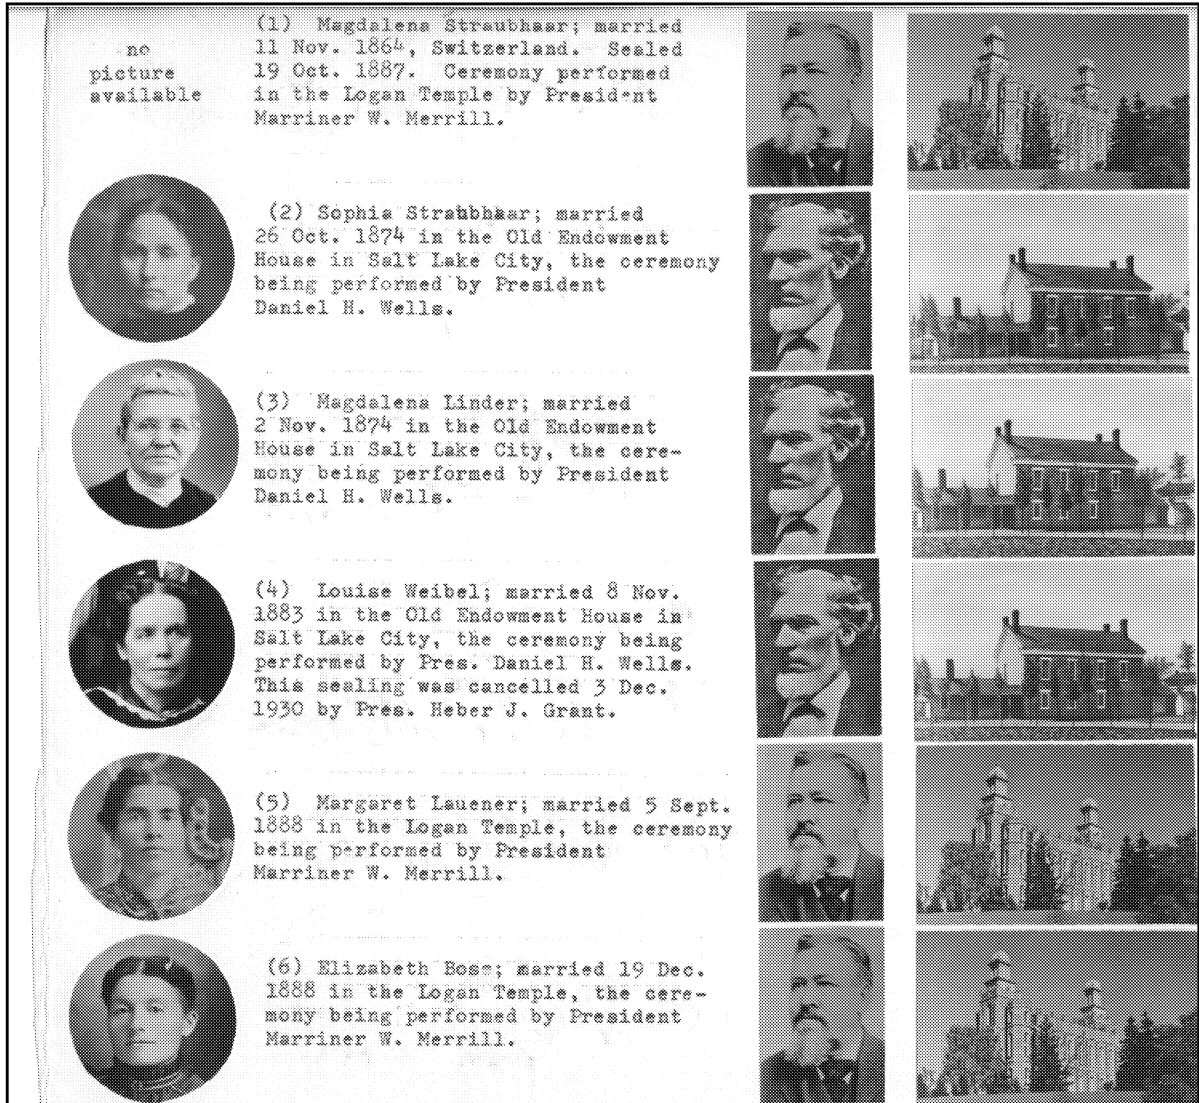

On 16 Jan 1918 dear Father passed away. We felt his loss very keenly. I was 19 years old, just needed a father's counsel and advice, but we did not wish to prolong his suffering as he had been in bed most of three years. He taught us correct principles and used to say if he knew that one of his children would marry an outsider (not one of our Faith) he would turn over in his grave. He taught us never to speak against God's authority or those placed over us. He said if we did we were on the road to apostasy. Father gave me my first lesson in tithing. Soon after I was baptized he gave me 50 cents and asked me if it all belonged to me. I said, "Yes, if you will let me have it." "No," he said, "I gave it to you but you owe the Lord 5 cents of it for Tithing." He being Bishop gave me a tithing receipt and I prized it as one of my valued possessions. This lesson has stayed with me and I have a testimony that as long as we pay our tithing the Lord will bless us with means to accomplish what we desire in righteousness. The 90 cents will go further if they pay the Lord His tenth out of every Dollar.

I have often wished since my marriage if I could just step in and ask Dear Father's advice when problems would arise but Mother [Aunt Lou] was always ready and willing to advise us, my only wish is that I may raise my family as honorably as Father did his family. I am proud of all my brothers and sisters even though they are children from four different mothers. Father taught us there were no "half" brothers and sisters.<sup>1</sup>

Father obeyed the command given by the Lord to the Prophet Joseph Smith to live the law of plural marriage. The Prophet Joseph said and I quote, "The same God that has so far dictated to me and directed me and strengthened me in this work gave me this revelation, and commandment, on Celestial and Plural Marriage and the same God commanded me to obey it. He said to me unless I accepted it and introduced it and <sup>1</sup> "Half" brothers and sisters was a negative term for most families who were in polygamy. This may also have extended to those not in polygamy. I have used the term in this book, however, to make the relation of the "two families of Johannes Boss more clear.

Six Wives of John Kunz III: The sixth was Elizabeth Boss, the mother of Lucy Kunz Hansen practiced it I together with my people would be damned and cut off from this time, henceforth and they say if I do so they will kill me. Oh, what shall I do, if I do not practice it I shall be damned with my people. If I do teach it and practice it and urge it, they say they will kill me, and I know they will, but said he "We have got to observe it, it is an Eternal Principle and was given by way of commandment and not by way of instruction" end quote. (Taken from the Contributor)

Now we all know that since that time Wilford Woodruff issued the Manifesto [1890] declaring that plural marriage should cease. That is law and any man that practices this principle should be cut off from the Church. The same God that the Prophet Joseph speaks of put a stop to this principle and we should be willing to accept it. The above quoted from the Contributor gives me a testimony that the Lord commanded our people to marry into plural marriage and I admire them for being able to live so that they kept the faith until the end. They must have had great faith to have lived this commandment. (Lucy Kunz Hansen)

On 23 May, 1919 I chose for my companion Lloyd Herbert Hansen of Spring City, Utah. [He had been working at the Howard Live Stock Co at Williamsburg when they met] Accompanied by my brother, Parley and his bride Hilda Stoor and brother Heber we went through the Salt Lake Temple and were sealed for time and all eternity after which Heber went on his mission. We honeymooned in Salt Lake City. General Conference was postponed that year until the latter part of May on account of the Flu epidemic. We stayed in the city and attended it. President Heber J. Grant was sustained as President of the Church at that conference. It was a great thrill for us and we enjoyed conference and the association of our friends and loved ones.

After conference my husband and I went to Spring City to live at his father's home. His mother having died on May 4, 1918, about a year prior to our marriage. His brother Clarence was also there, he had just returned from two years service in the Army in World War I. His sister, Idella was there too. She was 14 years old, just the age when she needed a mother's care so I stepped right into housekeeping for the family. I enjoyed it though and did my best to make their home happy. I thought a great deal of Grandpa Hansen. He seemed to confide in me and tell me so many experiences of his. He seemed to enjoy our being there and after we moved away he always enjoyed coming to our home no matter where we were. He now has passed away and I felt very sorrowful to think I could not attend his funeral on account of illness in our own family. I surely loved and admired his wonderful character. He would never have wronged anyone and was one of the most humble men I ever knew. His virtue and honesty he prized above everything in life. All the time I lived there I never heard him swear or say a vulgar word.

We moved to Lewiston, Utah then to Logan where I stayed with Mother [Louisa who was in Logan doing temple work]. I went to sessions to the temple for about six weeks. When I was not at the Temple I was making a layette for our first baby. We moved to Bern, Idaho to my old home. Mother was to be maternity nurse for Hilda and I. Hilda's baby was born first on our Wedding Day. Fern a lovely baby girl. We were not so fortunate. Our baby was born on 11 June 1920, but died at birth. We called her LaRue. She was buried in the Bern Cemetery. Bishop Schmid and Aunt Hazel made a nice little casket. It was hard. Words cannot express it. This was our first great sorrow to us, life looked rather blue. I was ill for some time. Doctor Ashley gave us no hopes for a family in the future. We tried to be happy and feel "that the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh blessed be the name of the Lord."

We moved again to Spring City to care for Grandpa Hansen. Soon I was preparing for another baby. We drove to the Manti Temple with the horse and buggy, about 20 miles south of Spring City. The Presidency of the Temple gave me a wonderful blessing and promised me a large family. I did not worry much after that.

On the 29th of June 1921 our son Eldon was born and we were so happy that the Lord was kind to us and let us keep him. While I was expecting him I taught Primary and also Bee Hive Girls which I enjoyed a lot.

On 7 May 1923 our darling Lucy Mae was born. We felt our home was complete. Eldon had now grown into a mischievous lad of two. It kept me busy. In Sept of that year we moved to Lewiston, Utah where we have since made our home. We bought a home and ever since financial affairs have kept us busy and it has been hard at times to make ends meet, but the Lord has been on our side and with his help and blessings we have been able to raise our family.

On 5 March 1925 our second son was born. We named him Jay. He was a fine husky lad. On Feb 21, 1927 our third daughter Idonna arrived. We now had two boys and two girls. We thought no one was more blessed than we. Eldon fell and broke his arm, not once, but three times during the next short while, but each time recovered satisfactorily. On April 4, 1929 another baby girl came to our house. We named her Gwendolyn. Right after we had some sad times. Lloyd's brother Clarence died, then his brother Orlando and wife and baby were all killed at a railroad crossing and soon after I gave birth to a baby boy we named him Clarence Orlando after his two uncles who had so recently died.

We were getting along fairly well physically but financially we were in bad shape when our hardest sorrow came to us that we have been called to face. Our darling Lucy Mae died very suddenly on May 10, 1931 on Mother's Day. Oh! The heartbroken family that we were. The doctors said she had spinal meningitis. It was hard for us to reconcile ourselves that " God knew best", but when we did our biggest battle was over, but oh the lonely hours. All our neighbors friends and relatives were so very good and kind we can never repay them for they helped so much.

On 26 July another baby girl came to stay with us. We named her Darlene. We again had 3 girls and 3 boys. She had many experiences early in life. She had whooping cough when 8 weeks old, chicken pox at 12 weeks and measles at nine months and fell out of the car twice, once when we were traveling 40 miles an hour. She nearly lost her life, but we had her administered to both times and the Lord spared her life.

On 15 Dec 1935 our son D. Vaughn was born, We were especially happy when he arrived as I had been in bed for 6 weeks before his arrival with high blood pressure and albumen. But all was well and he was a nice husky fellow. And Aug 2, 1937 another son Ronald was born. We were looking for a girl but when he came he was such an adorable little fellow we forgot all about a girl and enjoyed him so much and then when we had given up all hopes of any more children along came Gordon Jerry on 30 Oct, 1941. Every one was really looking for a girl this time especially the girls in the family wanted a baby sister. They soon grew so fond of him they wouldn't trade him for a dozen girls. I was very low for a while after he was born and Doctor Cragun was very much concerned, but I was administered to by Brother David O Hendricks and Milton Jorgensen. I was promised I would return to my family and be able to again care for them. That promise made me feel much better and soon I was well and strong again. Gordon was blessed on the day the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor 7 Dec 1941.

During World War II my two sons Eldon and Jay served in the Navy. Eldon was on the battleship Pennsylvania and Jay served on the admiralty Islands in New Guinea. It was hard to follow them around (in mind only) when they were on the Pacific Ocean for such a long time knowing they were in danger all of the time. A person does rely on the Lord for comfort and guidance. They both came home unharmed and we are so thankful.

Soon after my arrival in Lewiston I was asked to act as counselor to Ruby Milligan in the Sugarton Branch Relief Society. Seneth Thomson was the other counselor. I have been a visiting teacher in Lewiston for 25 years. I was counselor in the Primary two different times to Esther Nielsen President.

For two years I was guide leader in the Benson Stake Primary. For 3 years counselor to Maud Hyer in the Relief Society. Taught Bee Hive for 2 years. Taught Trail Builder boys in Primary. Taught Junior Gleaner Girls for 2 years. I was the Improvement Era Director with my husband, the position I now hold. I am also a visiting teacher in Relief Society. [29 Aug 1954]

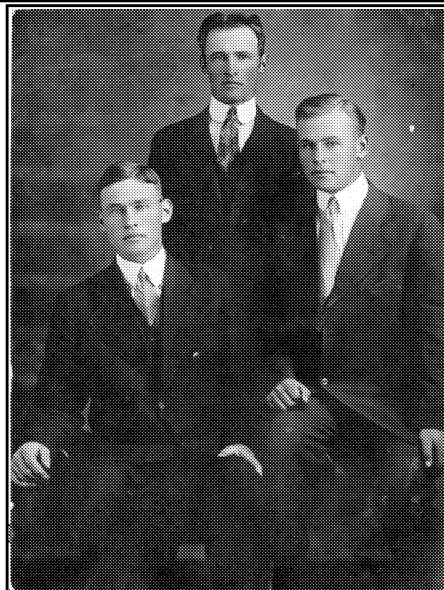

We are proud of our family and when they succeed we are so happy. During their school years, they took many honors and were all good active students and have applied themselves in their church work. I hope they will continue as their education both in church and school means so much to them in their lives. Our lives have been made richer for having such a wonderful family given us. May we prove worthy of them is my most humble prayer. (Lucy Kunz Hansen)

Chapter 15

Lydia Kunz

[Daughter of Elizabeth Boss]

Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III had six children, Agnes Ruth, Julia Esther, Parley Peter, Hedwig Hazel, Lucy Mae and Lydia. All but Lydia grew to adulthood and had wonderful families. Lydia died at birth, May 13, 1900, and was buried with her mother, Elizabeth, in the cemetery in Bern, Idaho the next day, May 14, 1900..

There are somewhat different statements reporting on the death of Elizabeth and her infant daughter, Lydia. As noted above, Agnes Kunz Dansie, her oldest child who was just short of ten years of age at the time of her mother's death writes: "... the baby Lydia died soon after birth, and was buried May 14, 1900 with Mother (who died in childbirth) in the same casket in the Bern, Idaho Cemetery." Thus, Agnes believed that the baby was born live but then died within a very short time.

On the other hand, the journal of John U. Stucki, records the events of Lydia's death differently. He was a native of Switzerland, joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, emigrated to Paris, Idaho, returned to Switzerland as Mission President two different times, and was a stake leader in the Bear Lake Stake. He eventually served as the Stake Patriarch in the same stake. He kept a very interesting journal over the years, including the following:

Monday-May 14

This morning Bro. Bienz returned from Bern he brought the sad news of the death of Lizzie [Elizabeth] Boss Kunz, wife of Bp. John Kunz, it seems she was ailing for some time & gave birth to a still born child. Worked at the Office all day.

Tuesday-May 15

My wife Margaret & I went to Bern to attend the funeral of Sister Lizzie Boss Kunz, Meeting was held at 2 P.M. Jacob Straubhaas, David Kunz [brother of John who went to Switzerland as a missionary at the same time as John, but returned a little before John], & myself being the speakers, by request I also dedicated the Grave. At the Cemetery in conversation Bp. John Kunz told me that Dr. Hoover offered to deliver wife some time ago she having been sickly for some time, however the Bp. thought it was against nature. The Dr. was present when Sister Kunz died and said, she would have stood a better chance a month ago. I replied that I thought her work was finished and it would not have made a difference. This brought to his mind a vision he had in Berlin while on his Mission in 1885. [John Kunz spent most of his mission in Switzerland, but the latter part he served in Germany – mostly in the Berlin area.] He had baptized his wife Lizzie [Elizabeth Boss] and another Sister of hers in Canton Bern and soon after he was sent to Germany. In the vision it was shown him that he would marry Lizzie, then he saw a number of very nice children around him, she being the Mother, After that he saw her running away with a new born baby in her Arms in her night clothing and after that he saw Amasa Rich pass by riding a dark colored horse. He had not thought any more about this vision until after his wife died. He thought her running away meant that she was running away because of persecution, but there she lay dead, her new born baby in her arms, and as stepped out of doors, there he saw Amasa Rich riding past on the very horse he saw in his Vision. This seemed to be a great comfort to him as he realized that it was according to the Will of God that his wife should die. (John U. Stucki)

A letter, which Agnes apparently had, but for which the whereabouts are not now known, was written in German by John Kunz III probably to Johannes Boss on September 2, 1900, in regards to Elizabeth Boss Kunz's trouble at the time of her death. Emma Schoenfeld interpreted it to Agnes and Hazel on February 11, 1954 in Orem, Utah:

She (Mother) was to have her baby in May. About February she started to hemorrhage a few days at a time, and then quit a few days. The doctor advised to take the baby then, but Mother wouldn't consent. So she kept on in this condition until labor started. Father got the best doctor he knew of. They had the baby. It came feet first and lived only about five minutes. Mother seemed to be coming along alright at first and started to whisper to them but being very weak. It appeared she might be alright but soon took a sinking spell and started to hemorrhage so badly, before the doctor could do anything. He having stepped to a neighbor for a call. She died about 2 hours later. The doctor said he had only lost 3 or 4 cases like her in all his practice of 2000 cases. Father felt they had done their best. He wrote in the letter what a wonderful wife and mother she had been to him and her children. (Interpretation of letter from John Kunz III)

Another account of the death of Elizabeth Boss Kunz is written in her journal by Sarah Alleman Boss, wife of Adolf Boss and sister-in-law of Elizabeth, who lived in what is now called "Lower Bern."

May 13 done some housework then we wanted to go to S.S. but there was none on account of Lizzie Boss Kunz being very sick. She died this day.

Chapter 15 - Lydia Kunz

May 14 I was going to wash clothes. then Ben W. Kunz come and asked me to go & help make the clothes. I then went up to John Kunz and helped in making the clothes and helped in dressing Lizzie Boss Kunz and laying her in the coffin. That is the first time I helped make funeral clothes and laying a person in the coffin. I went to Rigby's to choir practice after that Rob Smith Emma Kunz & Lena Hirschi took me home. Done some housework then went to the funeral. (Sarah Alleman Boss)

With the presentation of Elizabeth Boss and John Kunz III's six children, the book will now continue with the younger brothers and sisters of Elizabeth Boss, the rest of the children of Marianna Gertsch and Johannes Boss and the children of Johannes Boss and his second wife, Margaritha Gertsch.

Rudolf Boss was the son of Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. Rudolf Boss was a man that the Lord must have loved, as the burdens he had to bear were great. He was next to Elizabeth Boss in birth order, as her younger brother. He was born December 22, 1868 and died May 3, 1928 after experiencing the death of several children.

Sketch of the Life of Rudolph Boss

Written by His Niece, Minerva Boss Jessee

Rudolph Boss, was born 22 Dec. 1868, at Guendlishwand, Bern Switzerland, to Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. He was the 4th son and 7th child of 12 children, 6 boys and 6 girls.

His mother died when he was 16 years of age of TB of the spine. Rudolph commenced school at Guendlishwand and graduated from public school. Some time after the death of his mother, Marianna, a young lady by the name of Margaretha Gertsch, heard she might obtain work at the Johannes Boss home, which she did. Margaretha was a niece to Johannes's first wife, she was the daughter of Marianna's sister, Margaretha.

Johannes and Margaretha were married in Interlaken, Bern, Switzerland by Johanas Oehrli, on 28 April 1891. As a young man Rudolph smoked cigars. (Minerva Boss Jessee)

Rudolph was 18 years old when he joined the church. He emigrated to America June 29, 1889, when he was 21 years old. He lived in Midway for a time and then in several other places, seeking work and to make a living for his family.

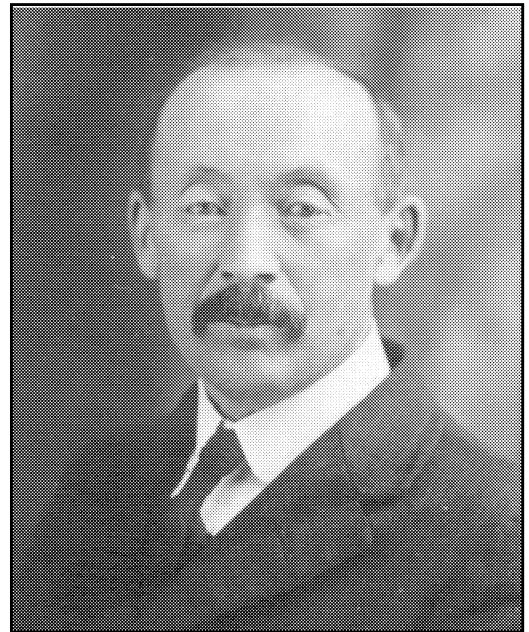

The families who had already arrived in America helped those who came later; many times they were relatives or neighbors from Switzerland. Conrad Gertsch, brother of Rudolf's step-mother reports:

The Ernichberger and Sam Mitchell family accompanied us to America in 1891. After a two month voyage we landed in New York September 19th. We took the train from New York to Park City (which took ten days) and were met by Annie Yoke, Maggie Huber's sister and my cousin, also by the Hasler girls and John Huber. We slept in the depot all night because we had no money. The next day Joe Abbeglan, Rudolph Boss and Fred Hasler came to get us in Park City with team and wagon. The first night we stayed with my sister Maggie Boss, as she had immigrated several months before us. We then moved into the Ulrich Probst home until John Boss built our home. We bought the lot from John Morton for $100. Rone Blood sawed the logs for our house. (Conrad Gertsch)

Chapter 16 - Rudolf Boss, Anna Steiger and Sarah Piedler Weber

Rudolph Boss

Minerva Boss Jessee continues the history of Rudolf:

He [Rudolph] married Anna Steiger in the Salt Lake Temple, 6 June 1894. She arrived in Utah from Germany, 24 May-1892. They lived in the 5th ward in Salt Lake City then moved to the Brighton Ward, [Brighton is not the ski resort area known today, but an area just south and east of the Salt Lake City Airport] 15 March 1898. Later the name was changed from Brighton to Buena Vista. Anna Steiger played the Zither and she and Rudolph often sang together. To this marriage was born 9 children 5 girls and 4 boys Margaret, Mary, Rudolph, Anton (Tony) Lucy, Hazel, Herman, Francis (Fritz), and Vera. Their 2nd child, Mary Eliza, died of TB in June of 1907, at the age of 10.

Rudolph's wife Anna died 17 May 1913, when her baby, Vera, was 8 months old. Margaret, the oldest child was 18 when her mother died. She helped what she could till she got married on 5th Aug. 1914 to Edward (Ted) Burns, so Rudolph had a rough time with 7 children to care for. Margaret was a very accomplished pianist and gave piano lessons for a number of years. She met a lady friend who was a Christian Scientist who influenced Margaret to join their faith, this brought great sorrow to Rudolph as she then had nothing to do with the L.D.S. Church and he feared the influence she would have on the other members of his family.

On the 30 March 1916, Rudolph's oldest son, Rudolph Steiger, died of TB at age 17. On the 26 of Oct. 1916, Rudolph married Sarah Piedler Weber. She had one child, Tillie Weber. Sarah was baptized a member of the L. D. S. Church, June 8, 1910, and was sealed to her first husband, John Weber. After she married

Chapter 16 - Rudolf Boss, Anna Steiger and Sarah Piedler Weber

Rudolph and Sarah had 4 children, 2 boys and 2 girls Oscar, Lillian, Lola and Adolph. Before Tillie died, Oscar, Fritz and Tillie, suffered with painful sores on their feet.

They sold their home at Buena Vista and bought a 20-acre farm at Lake Breeze, located at 260 Orange Street, which was West on 200 South. Rudolph used horses to operate the machinery on the farm and they had chickens, turkeys, rabbits, pigs and several cows.

In 1919 Rudolph was called to fill an 18 month mission to the Northern States Mission. He labored in Wisconsin. He left Salt Lake, 24th June 1919, and returned, 24th Dec. 1920. Their second child, Lillian was born, 21 August 1919, while he was gone. Tony, Herman and Fritz ran the farm, and Sarah, his wife, worked as a janitor at the Oregon Short Line Rail Road depot to help support Rudolph. Soon after he returned from his mission they lost the Lake Breeze farm and moved to 1541 South West Temple in Salt Lake City. Rudolph did carpenter work, he helped build the Andrew Ward meeting house, he also did remodeling and cabinet-work.

Lola Sarah was born 14 Dec. 1921, but only lived 13 days. She died of premature birth. Adolph Weber was born 25 Feb. 1923, but lived not quite 8 months. He died, 18 Oct. 1923 of a skin disease. Then 11 days later his daughter Hazel, from the first marriage died of TB at age 18.

Chapter 16 - Rudolf Boss, Anna Steiger and Sarah Piedler Weber

Rudolph and Sarah Fielder Weber were divorced. Rudolph took Fritz and Vera and moved to 7th East and 17th South in Salt Lake City. Later [they moved] to 631 East 6th South and then to 674 Wall Street in Salt Lake City.

Before Hazel died she and Lucy were living in a boarding house in Salt Lake. Lucy worked at the Walker Bank and Hazel worked at the Fountain Cafe. Once while she was working there a man broke in and tried to rape her.

In February 1926, Rudolph's son Herman also died of TB at age 19. Rudolph really had a sad life. He was a faithful member of the Church. He advanced in the Priesthood from a Deacon to a High Priest. He was Ward clerk in the Brighton Ward from 1 Feb. 1908 to 10 Aug 1919. He was 2nd Assistant in the YMMIA in 1908. He was 1st Assistant in YMMIA in 1909 and held that position until 1914. (Minerva Boss Jessee)

The following was taken from the life sketch of his daughter, Vera::

Father was very religious. We went to church every Sunday, and on Tuesday evening. I can't remember when we didn't have money problems. We were poor but some how we never starved. Father always seemed to keep us well fed and we had shoes to wear, so we really never had much to complain about.

I remember that Dad was very strict with our chores at home. I often wish he could be here now so I could thank him for making me work.

Father never left us any material wealth, but he left us a greater heritage - the gift of life and the willingness to work.

Father died when I was 15 years old and I was sorry that I never had the chance to tell him what a wonderful father he was.

He was very strict with us, teaching us the art of working which has been with me the rest of my life. He tried to teach us many things; right from wrong, - to love of God, and respect for everyone including every race, color and creed.

Father had a very difficult time - having to raise the children after mother died - leaving the farm as he loved being a farmer. I remember that father was always trying to make a good person with teachings of self-reliance, hard work, with thoughts to help the other person, both physically and mentally. Those teachings have helped me throughout my entire life. (Vera Boss)

Funeral Services Held for Rudolph Boss

Funeral services for Rudolph Boss for 40 years a resident of Salt Lake City, were held Sunday afternoon in the 24th ward chapel. Bishop Alan presided and was one of the speakers. Others who spoke were Bishop Your of Brighten Ward where Mr. Boss formerly resided, and Elder Edward H. Eardley. All praised the deceased for his sterling qualities and his convictions. The opening prayer was offered by Alexander Buchanan the benediction by Elder John J. Gerstner. Musical numbers were rendered by a mixed quartet which sang, "Abide with Me," and "I know that My Redeemer Lives." There was also a solo, "Spirit of God," by Mrs. Hinckley Duncan. The grave in the city cemetery, banked with a wealth of floral offerings was dedicated by Bishop John Balfour.

The following is a letter written to Rudolph Boss on the eighth of March 1928, from his brother Johannes Boss II, the oldest son of Johannes Boss, and who was one of three brothers who stayed in Switzerland.

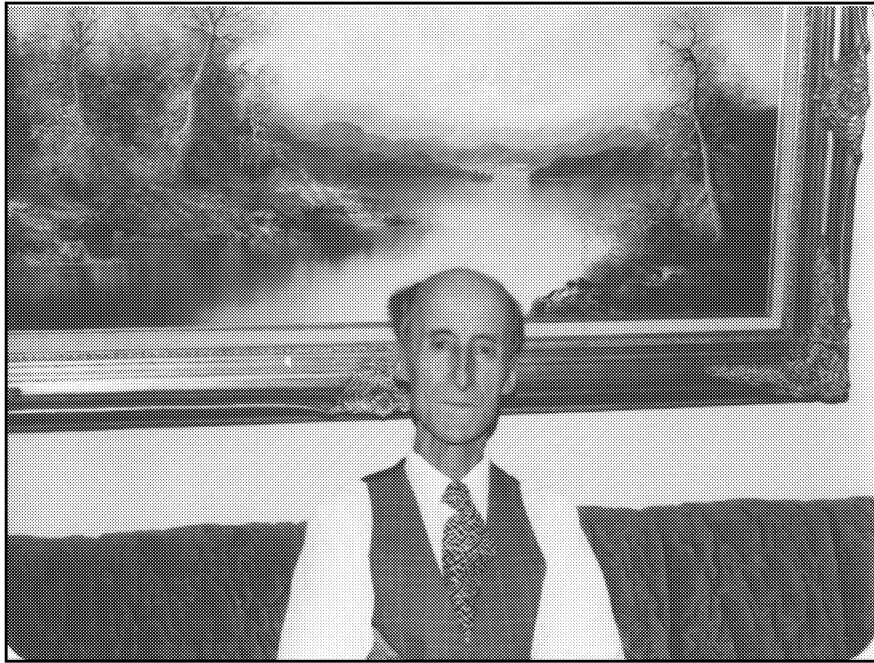

Dear brother and family:

In December 1920 I sent you the last letter and since then I have received no answer. I asked you now for a card or letter since I must assume that you are ill. For an entire year I have awaited news from you but in vain. I am very anxious to hear how you are on whether you still receive the paper. The editor has asked me whether he should continue to send them, please let me know. We are all healthy, only Bertie, unfortunately has been sick in bed since the beginning of January. At present she is feeling somewhat better as she can get up for short time each day. I have been unable to work all summer because of my chronic lung catarrh. At present I am feeling somewhat better.

At present we don't have any work. Last year we had something more to do. Hans [Johannes Boss son] still has a few plans for work but whether it lasts through the spring is uncertain.

Last fall sister Mary Ann wrote saying that as far as she knew the brothers and sisters there are in good health. I believe she would like to visit us and if all is well I would also like to see my dear sister and speak with her again. That will unfortunately remain only a fond wish, however I must close now and hope that you will soon, as I have mentioned above, promptly answer. It would be very nice if you can also write to sister Emma or Mattie. Peter has already promised to write for some time, but as yet has unfortunately not complied. The hardest greetings to you the family and all my brothers and sisters. your brother, Johann. (Johannes Boss II)

Rudolph had a life filled with illness and heartbreaks, but he was true to his testimony of the gospel of Jesus Christ to the end of his life. His grave in the Salt Lake City Cemetery without a headstone to mark its place seems to be unfit for a man so true to his testimony of Jesus Christ.

Emma's home in Guendlishwand, Switzerland

Emma Boss was born August 12, 1870 to Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch in Guendlishwand, Switzerland. She is the next younger sister of Elizabeth Boss. She emigrated to Utah in 1888 and married Joseph Frederick Schoenfeld. They had a large family together and she died December 12, 1954. She has written her own history:

I am a daughter of Johannes Boss and Marianne Gertsch. There were twelve children in the family. I was the eighth child, born in Guendlishwand County of Bern, Switzerland August 12, 1870.

The home where I was born was a two-story frame building, situated in a narrow valley surrounded by high rugged mountains capped with snow the year around, and a beautiful river flowing through the middle of the valley. The schoolhouse was situated in the center of the little alpine village. I spent five years in the Elementary School, and five years in the Junior High from which I graduated. All through these ten years of schooling, we had three projects that were considered very important for the girls. These were sewing, knitting, and music, with all the other studies which the school course called for as we advanced from grade to grade.

My mother died when I was fifteen years of age. An older sister [Elizabeth] was with me for about two years after mother's death, after which she emigrated to Utah. After that, at the age of seventeen years, I assumed the entire responsibility of taking charge of the home. There were Father, two older brothers [Rudolph and Friedrich], one younger sister [Magdalena] and two younger brothers [Adolf and Peter], making a total of seven persons in the family including myself to care for. As Father was an architect and contractor, the older boys were always with him at work but were generally home at nights so I had to care for the preparing of meals, the general care of the home, and the younger sister and brothers.

It was during this period of about 1885 that we first became acquainted with the Latter-day Saint missionaries and began to investigate the Gospel preached by them. Finally, some of the family were converted and joined the Church, including myself, excepting three brothers who did not join the Church. I was baptized in Switzerland, April 18, 1886 by Elder John Kunz. and confirmed the same day by the same elder. (Emma Boss)

18. Widerswyl, Palmsunday. Hotel Bear. Went and after some Breakfast milk and Bread, I started out by beautiful Weather. Met Sister Lauener and E. Boss from Guendlischwand and in the Company of them went to Wengi in Lauterbrunnen and went into a house there and preached to them the Gospel for about 2 Hours or more, and all was paying good attention to me. Then we left again and how beautiful was the Scenery, the grand Glaciers and the Staubbach are things never to be forgotten by me. When we came down to the main Road we where met Emma and Magdalena Boss and on the Way back I Baptized Emma in Lauterbrunnen Luetschine and confirmed her right there in broad Daylight in a off Place from the Road where we also held a Prayer secluded from the Travel on the Road. After giving them some good Teachings we walked to Zweilutschinen and separated and I again Slept in Bear in Wilderswyl. (John Kunz III missionary journal)

Emma continues her history:

During this time of investigation and joining the Church, Bishop Fredrick William Schoenfeld was President of the Swiss and German Mission and we became quite well acquainted with him during, his four years' service as President of the Mission. From that time on, changes in my life came fast and many. Members of the family, who were converted one by one, emigrated to Utah as the opportunity afforded them and it was also my privilege to have that opportunity, I bade farewell to my beloved Fatherland about the 10 September, 1888, and started my journey to Utah to unite myself with the Saints of Zion.

In regards to my trip, I will say that I enjoyed the journey by train from home to Liverpool, England, It was very pleasant with the exception of one night, crossing the North Sea from Antwerp, Holland to Hull, England when I was very seasick, and had to "feed the fish". From Hull to Liverpool by train was more pleasant. At Liverpool, the German and English emigrants boarded the big steamship "Wisconsin" for New York. The first night on board the ship all went well. The emigrants, both German and English, mingled together in dancing and singing on the deck, of the ship and had a very enjoyable time. The next day we were out of sight of land and our troubles began. Some of the emigrants and also some of the returning missionaries had to take to their beds from sea sickness. For all that, the voyage overseas was not so bad, although we had a few days storm, which, at sea is not so very mild. Our greatest trouble, however, was that we were not very good sailors. These conditions went on for six or seven days when at last we sighted land and all our seasickness disappeared and we were overjoyed to again see land and to know that we could soon put our feet on it. We landed in New York about September 28, 1888.

From New York by train to Salt Lake City was very interesting and I enjoyed the trip very much, although there was not much of any important happenings while making the trip. I arrived in Salt Lake City, Utah, October 2, 1888 and was taken into the home of Bishop Frederick W. Schoenfeld of Brighton Ward. [The Brighton Ward was in the Western part of the Salt Lake Valley - southeast of the current Salt Lake Airport and not in the East mountains where Brighton is today in 2003] I identified myself with the ward and became interested in the various organizations such as the ward choir, Sunday School, Young Ladies MIA and the Relief Society.

Although I was handicapped for some time on account of having to learn the English language, I was determined to succeed and I did. During this period a love affair sprang up between myself and Bishop Schoenfeld's son, Joseph F. Schoenfeld which resulted in marriage in the Logan Temple on the 13 June, 1889. Two years after our married life, my husband was called to the Swiss and German mission so I was left alone with a three month old baby boy on my hands for two years.

During this period I had one of the greatest thrills of my life. It was at the time when the capstone had been laid and just prior to the dedication of the Salt Lake Temple. Every person by recommend and who wished to avail themselves of the opportunity could go to the top of the temple and touch the feet of the angel Moroni. It certainly was a thrill and a wonderful sight to look over the entire Salt Lake Valley from the top of that wonderful building. I also attended the dedication services which were the most outstanding of all services I ever had an opportunity to attend. I, also had the opportunity to do, which I did, a great deal of temple ordinance work for my ancestors at various times in the Salt Lake Temple.

Joseph Frederick Schoenfeld and Emma Boss at their Marriage - 1889

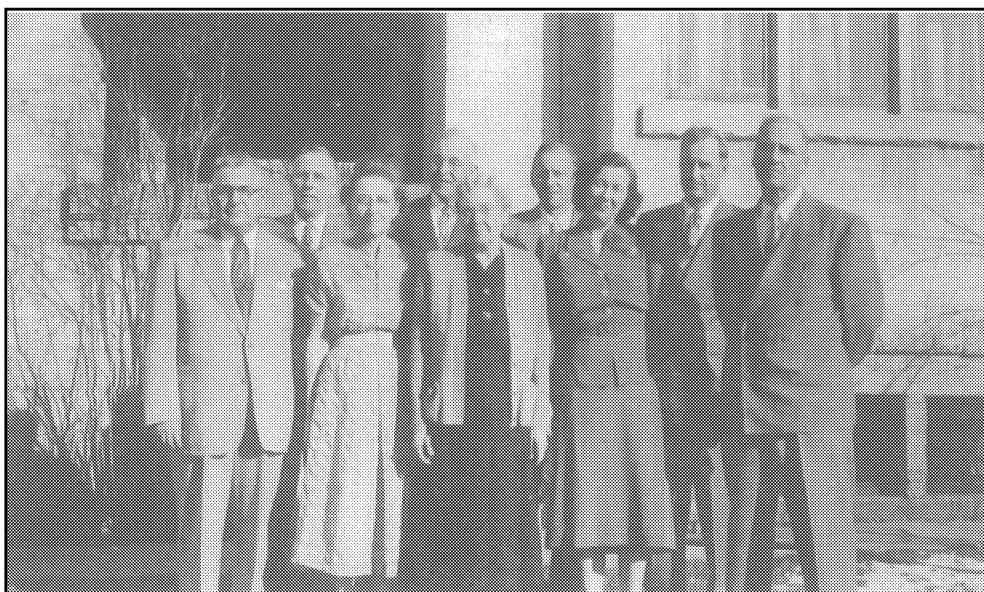

After the return of my husband from his mission, things ran on in the natural routine of life. Our family increased from time to time until we had a family of six boys and three girls, who all grew up to full maturity of man and womanhood for which I am very proud and thankful to my Heavenly Father for the blessings he bestowed upon me. My family is still all alive and healthy at this writing of 1942 with the exception of my two youngest who have no children of their own yet. We have at this date of writing 23 grandchildren, 14 boys and 9 girls, and 2 great-grand-children, 1 boy and 1 girl.

On the 13 June, 1939 we celebrated our Golden Wedding Anniversary by vacationing in Oakland, California for three weeks with our son Joseph William Schoenfeld.

In conclusion, I will say we both have been active in church activities through all our lives and intend to do so until the end. We have a firm and abiding testimony of the trustfulness of the gospel and hope that we may always maintain the same.

Emma Boss Schoenfeld died Sunday evening at 7:25 p.m., on 12th December, 1954 at the home of her daughter, Grace Lee, in Orem, Utah.

Emma Boss Schoenfeld wrote a letter to her children which is a good indication of her sense of history and of the significance of encouraging children to be steadfast in the gospel.

R.F.D. # 1
Payson, Utah
March 12th 1931.

To My Children, Grand-Children and Great
Grand-Children,

I am writing you a short History of myself which will be locked into a box on the 17th day of March 1931 by the Relief Society of the 3rd Ward of Payson, Nebo Stake. This box is to be opened in 50 years from said date and to be forwarded to you.

My maiden name was Emma Boss, born on the 12th day of August 1870 in Gundlishwand by Interlaken, Ct Bern, Switzerland. I left my native land about the 10th day of September 1888 and arrived in Salt Lake City, Utah Oct. 2nd 1888. I left my native land for the sake of the Gospel of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which I embraced and when opportunity arrived I emigrated to Zion, as it is called in the old world. I united myself with the people of God to partake of the blessing which is promised unto the faithful.

I was married to Joseph F. Schoenfeld on the 13th day of June 1889 in the Logan Temple. I have always identified myself in churchworks, laboring in Relief Society, Ward Choirs and other church activities. Have raised a family of 9 children, 6 boys and 3 girls, who are all alive and grown to man and womanhood at this date for which I am most thankful for to my heavenly father, which I consider one of the great blessings I have received for embracing the Gospel and coming to Zion.

I have also enjoyed the opportunity of going to the Temple, the house of the Lord to work for my dead ancestors, which I consider an other great blessing.

Now dear Children I leave my testimony of the truthfulness of this work for your consideration and ask you to study the Gospel and prepare yourselves for this work, because it will fall upon your shoulders to carry it on. The Lord has restored it again in these last days in its fullness, thru the instrumentality of the Prophet Joseph Smith and blessings are of such great importance we can not let them slip by.

Now I will close soon praying for the blessings of the Lord to attend you always. May we meet each other in the great hereafter where suffering, pain and death have no power over us. This is the prayer and affectionate love of your dear Mother.

Emma Boss. Schoenfeld

The closing testimony of Emma Boss Schoenfeld and her hope for the meeting in the great hereafter is a testimony and a hope that all of us, as her relatives, would do well to share.

May we meet each other in the great hereafter where suffering, pain and death have no power over us. This is the prayer and affectionate love of your dear Mother.

Magdalena Boss is the younger sister of Elizabeth Boss. She was born July 14, 1872. She married Emil Edgar Schoenfeld. She died March 20, 1969. I met Olive Schoenfeld Balfour, a daughter of Magdalena. Olive is a wonderful, sweet ninety-three year old woman in 2003. As I visited with her I thought she must be very much like her dear mother. Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld's daughter, Florence wrote her history:

Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld was born in Guendlishwand, Switzerland on July 14, 1872.

Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld

Her parents were Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch. Switzerland is a very beautiful country of lakes and green valleys and high snow capped mountains. Many tourists go there every year. A train takes them up to the highest mountain which is called the Jungfrau. Guendlishwand is a very small town not very far from Interlaken, which is a beautiful town, situated between two lakes namely Brienz and Thun, in the Canton or county of Bern. Guendlishwand is a summer resort and is noted for the beautiful surroundings. Florence Schoenfeld Hanson, daughter of Magdalena, said that "There was always a hint of pride in her voice when Mother spoke of her native land."

The main industries of Switzerland are farming and the raising of livestock and dairying, butter, condensed milk, and especially cheeses. Their manufacturing enterprises produced machine tools, textiles, clothing, chemicals, refined metals, jewelry, watches, foodstuffs, wood products and paper. The Swiss are also noted for their arts and crafts; music boxes, embroideries, laces and carved objects of wood. They also do a lot of building, many of these wood buildings are seen during the rides up to the top of the Alps. These houses are called chalets because they have balconies running round the house on the second level. These were the type of houses Magdalena's father [Johannes Boss] built. He was a contractor by trade and some of his sons [Johannes, Christian and Friedrich] were in the business with him. They would go up in the mountains for a week at a time to build these houses. Her father was also on the board of directors for the School board.

Mother [Marianna Gertsch] went to school in a little one-room school house, which was heated with a coal stove. She started school when she was six years of age and they taught them to read and write, music and arithmetic, also sewing which she learned to do exceptionally well. This school had six grades in the one room. At Christmas time they always had a large Christmas tree, which they went and cut out in the mountains, all the students helped to trim it with hand made decorations, it was lighted with tallow candles. They also had a big program, which was a combined affair with the school and the church participating. She belonged to the Lutheran Church at that time. One of her school teachers, that she remembered for being so very strict, was Mr. Mulimann.

Switzerland has three different languages, it depends on where you live and country that is the nearest which one you speak. There is French, Italian, and German. The Bosses were in the area that spoke German, the largest part of Switzerland speak the German language.

Mother was one of twelve children whose names were as follows, from the oldest down - Johannes [II], Marianna, Margaritha, Christian, Friedrich, Elizabeth, Rudolf, Emma, Magdalena, Rosette, Adolf and Peter. They had a large house which was built by her father, Johannes, it was three stories high. On the main floor was the kitchen, living room and two bedrooms. On the second floor were two more bedrooms, also two rooms where her Grandmother lived, this was her father Johannes' mother - her name Margaritha Boss. On this second level of the house there were balconies which went around [the house]. The third floor was the attic which was used for storing space. This was a very large household and there was work for everyone. Rosetta became sick with brain fever when she was six years of age and, passed away on Dec. 31, 1880.

Her father, Johannes, and the two eldest sons, Johannes [II] and Christian went to build these houses that were tourist attractions. They were located up on the mountains; this kept them away from home a lot of the time. Friedrich and the younger members of the family took care of the cows and did the work around the house and the garden. They would take the cows up in the mountains in the summer. This was where they made their cheese and large amounts of butter. Her oldest brother Johannes also made caskets at his home, Mother [Magdalena] and her sister Emma would have to take milk to a lady that lived up stairs in his home, this was always at night and they had to pass through this place where the caskets were on display, she said that they couldn't get through there quick enough because they were very much frightened at the sight of the caskets.

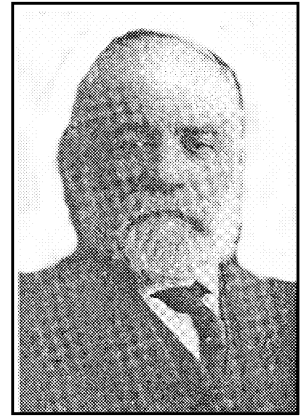

Johannes Boss assisted by his three oldest sons contracted and built many homes and hotels in the surrounding area. They also maintained a small dairy business from which they obtained their dairy products. It was interesting to hear Mother tell how her father and older brothers would take turns and along with some of the younger ones take their cattle into what was called the high mountain pastures where thousands of cows, sheep, and goats would graze during the summer months. It was customary for all those owning flocks and herds to do this. There were cabins for the herdsmen and there was usually two who went. They would stay for a week. Then they would return and two others would take their place. Those who remained at home continued with their activities. That is, the father and the older boys who were not herding in the mountains would continue on in the contracting and building business while the younger boys had other responsibilities. One such responsibility was to deliver supplies to those serving their time in the mountains. Since the cabin was within waking distance they hiked to it. Sometimes however, when the boys had other work to do the task fell to Mother [Magdalena] and her older sister, Emma, which they enjoyed and looked forward to, for they liked to go hiking too. A point of interest associated with the trip into the mountains was the alpine horn, which was used by the herdsman to call back the cattle from the high mountains. It was a thrill to hear the sustained echoes from the mountains. It was also a great attraction for tourists.

Mother's mother, Marianna Gertsch Boss, was a small woman with a dark complexion, she worked very hard, she didn't have the conveniences that we have today. There were no ovens in their stoves so they had to buy their bread. They would have the baker make their pies and cakes for Christmas. In September they would begin to make preparations for Christmas, they always had a tree, which they decorated with things that they made at home. They also made all their presents, which they gave to each other and they were very few. Their Christmas celebration lasted for a whole week.

Not long after the last child, Peter, was born, his mother [Marianna] became very ill. It wasn't long before she was confined to a wheelchair. During her illness the Mormon Missionaries came to Guendlischwand and the father [Johannes Boss] asked them to come and administer to her. One of these missionaries was Frederick W. Schoenfeld. [The other one was John Kunz III] She didn't seem to get much better and finally passed away on Aug. 22, 1885. Mother [Magdalena] was not present at the time of her mother's death because she was sent to get her oldest brother, Johannes, and they didn't get back in time.

The greatest joy came to the Boss family when LDS missionaries called at their home bringing to them glad tidings of great joy. They welcomed the missionaries and invited them to explain the gospel to them. But this presented a problem, insomuch that they had to use great wisdom because of the prejudice that existed in respect to Mormonism. Persecution could result if anyone was found investigating the gospel. Mother [Magdalena] told how they used to meet in secret at the home of an old man by the name of Weissmiller, who was a convert to the church. And there in the home they had the gospel explained to them by the missionaries. As they continued to receive these teachings one by one the members of the family began to see the light and were converted and were baptized, the father [Johannes Boss] being the first to join. [He had joined a number of years prior to this – 1875]

Frederick Theurer

Magdalena's grandmother, Margaritha Gertsch Boss, who lived on the second floor of their house used to ask her to come and comb her hair for her, also run errands like going to the store for her, getting in the coal and wood for her fire, then her grandmother would get the meal ready and ask her to eat, this made mother very happy because she loved her grandmother very much. Her grandmother [Margaritha] finally had a stroke and she passed away at the age of 83 on February 10, 1888.

Mother had to help with the house-work after her mother Marianna died and the older sisters got married and left home. She and her sister Emma were the only girls left at home. The Mormon missionaries continued to come to the home and the girls became very interested in this new religion, also their father, but the older boys were very bitter toward it. They attended secret meetings to learn more about the church. Mother and her sisters went to the meetings held at the home of a Mr. Weissmuller, there the elders taught them the Gospel. Not long after this most of the family decided to join the Church and be baptized. Mother [Magdalena] was baptized on Oct. 24, 1886 [24 October 1886 in baptism records of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints - Thun Branch #78] in a little creek at a place called Lutzshental; it was done at night with Elder Frederick Theurer officiating. Her sisters Emma and Elizabeth, and her brother Rudolph were planning to emigrate to America, this left mother as the only daughter now helping her father with all the house work. Johannes Boss, her father, decided to marry again, this time it was a cousin [of Margaretha Boss Schoenfeld and the niece of Marianna Gertsch Boss], Margaretha Gertsch who was the same age as my mother. They were married in 1891.

After this, Mother decided to come to America also and meet her brothers and sisters who had come before. Her Father gave her the money for the trip to America. On Sept. 30, 1890 she set sail on an American ship. Being only eighteen years of age, she decided to come with a Swiss Family. They were on the ocean for 11 days. The weather was good and there were no storms but nevertheless she became very seasick which lasted about four days. After that she could eat, but this being on an American ship and she couldn't speak or understand English. She had a very hard time to order her food. She came second class, but the family she came with were third class and they rode below her. She had a sleeping room with six beds in it. While she was so sick the cook brought her meals to her bed. After that she went to the diner and they were served real good meals. There was dancing on the deck in the afternoons, but one day a storm came up and every one was ordered downstairs.

She arrived in New York in Oct. 1890 and was very happy to be on land once again. From New York City she came to Salt Lake City, by train, where she joined the rest of her family. Her sister Emma asked her to come and stay with her for a while but then she obtained a job, doing house work for a family by the name of George Q. Cannon [who was then an Apostle in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints]. Her wages were her board and room plus $5.00 per week. She also worked in some other homes.

Mother's father, Johannes, his new young bride [Margaritha Gertsch] and sons Adolf and Peter, came to America shortly after she did. They settled in the little town of Midway Utah, in the Wasatch Valley, which is a lot like the mountains of Switzerland. He also built a house there for his second family to live in. There were nine children born to this union, their names from the eldest down: John, William, Arnold, Ida, Conrad, Rosetta, Clara, Ulrich Henry, and Stella. The two youngest children died very young, but the others all married and had families. Her father, Johannes Boss, died on Mar. 15, 1912 in Midway, Utah and was buried there.

Mother [Magdalena Boss Schoenfeld] liked to sing and she had a good alto voice so she joined the Brighton [in west Salt Lake, not the current Brighton in the east mountains above Salt Lake] Ward Choir, George Jones was the chorister. We had a fine choir. Their practices were in Lake Breeze, which was about two miles away. They went to these practices in a buggy and horse. Mother used to sing in special numbers and for funerals.

President Frederick William Schoenfeld, who was one of the elders who helped to administer to her mother [Marianna] when she was sick, came from Salt Lake City, so Mother met him again. In fact her sister Emma was already married to his eldest son Joseph. Mother met another son, Emil. He also sang in the choir and they went to the dances in the Brighton Ward. In those days dancing was their main entertainment. People came from all over to attend them. These dances at the Brighton Ward had a small three-piece orchestra. Mother was in America about five years before she got married. In the meantime she learned to read and write in English and cook American food. On Aug. 28, 1895 she married Emil Edgar Schoenfeld, in the Salt Lake Temple. They made their home in Brighton, just North of the Buena Vista railroad station. Her husband, being American she learned the American ways very rapidly. (Florence Schoenfeld Hanson)

Magdalena Boss and Emil Edgar Schoenfeld Family Group Sheet - # 2

Brighton Ward Church

Their first child was born Oct. 24 1896. He was a beautiful child, his name Clarence Emil Schoenfeld. When he was two years of age he had trudged away pulling a little wagon behind him and wandered onto the railroad track. A train was coming and while in those early days they didn't travel at a terrific rate of speed. But, the engineer was unable to stop the train and avoid the accident and the precious life was crushed from his tiny body. The train was the Garfield train at Buena Vista. This happened on Sept. 2, 1898. It was a great tragedy in my parents' lives and on Oct. 13, 1898 another son was born, but due to the shock of Clarence this baby was born dead. His name - Hopeful. After this, my parents decided to build on to the old home of my Grandfather's which was on the south side of the railroad tracks. Three rooms were built on and a porch. In this house my mother raised her other six children namely--Florence Magdalena Allen Clyde, Lester Theodore, Irene Elizabeth, Elmer John, and Olive Rosetta.

Magdalena Boss and Emil E. Schoenfeld

Mother was a hard worker, she didn't have all the conveniences we have today but she always kept her house clean and she was a very good cook. Father was in the sheep business. During the first years of their married life she was alone with her children much of the time. We had a cow and she used to have to milk it until the boys became old enough to do it. There were always a lot of flowers in our yard and a vegetable garden which mother took care of with the help of the children. I remember the Christmas's at our house, we didn't have a lot of presents but mother cooked and baked for weeks before. She made the best home made pies and fruit cake. She made some German cakes that we thought were very delicious. We would have all this food at Christmas and every night for a whole week or two. We would feast on all these delicious things and we sang Christmas Carols, it was a real family entertainment.

In those days there use to be a number of tramps come and beg for something to eat. I can't recall a time when Mother ever turned one away hungry, even though many times she trembled with fear all the while she prepared sandwiches because most of these fellows were mean and ugly looking. Mother would lock the door, then we'd hold our breath when she'd unlock it to hand out the sandwiches, and we'd give a sigh of relief when the beggar was on his way.

Mother [Magdalena] and her brother Rudolph Boss were real close, especially after his wife passed away. She helped him a lot in the rearing of his family and helped him with a lot of his house work. He was a very good carpenter, so he would come over and build cupboards and closets for her to make things more convenient for her. There were a lot of sad experiences in Rudolph's family, four of his children died of tuberculosis, which usually happened at night. I remember some one of their family would come to mother's bedroom window and ask her if she would come over to help them. She was never too tired to go and, help some one who was in need. She always cooked a real good dinner on Sunday and invited Rudolph and Mr. Engelbretsen over to eat with us. I think they enjoyed it very much. When Rudolph began to fail in his health he asked my mother if she, his sister, would see to it that his burial clothes were washed and ironed, because he knew that if she did them for him they would be very nice. He died on May 3, 1928 of tuberculosis of the lungs. His burial clothes were washed and ironed for him by his sister Magdalena.

She didn't hear from her brothers, Johannes, Christian and Fredrich (who stayed in Switzerland) very often, but I remember one day she received a letter edged in black from Switzerland, it told of her brother Frederic's death, it read thus, Frederic Boss died June 19, 1918 age 53. Buried June 22nd. Surviving are his children, Lisely, Fritz, Emma and Berta. Mother felt very sad about this news.

About this time my Father sold his sheep and bought cows. He did some farming and raised cattle for dairy purposes. Mother didn't have much money but she was very thrifty and knew how to manage what she did have and they always were able to obtain the things which they needed.

Besides singing in the Choir, mother was treasurer of the Relief Society when Elizabeth Quick was President. She also worked in the Primary, a visiting teacher for the Relief Society for many years. She went to the temple and did work for over 400 people, this was endowment work.

After most of her family was married, she and my father and Lester, my brother, decided to build a new house, which was farther west by the main road. This was accomplished in 1938 and 39. It was much more convenient and they enjoyed it very much. Father died on Jan. 3, 1952 in the L.D.S. Hospital, of Leukemia. Mother felt very sad and it made her very lonely, but she adjusted very well. She continued to do temple work, she had her house to keep up and the Relief Society brought quilts each month for her to finish the sides. This was hand work which she enjoyed very much. She crocheted pillow cases, hemmed dishtowels and other hand work that was available. On her ninetieth birthday we had a family get together at Liberty Park, she was interviewed by a newspaper man. He took her picture, which was printed in the Deseret News. She was still active at ninety-five and her eyesight was good: She is the last living member of her family of twelve brothers and sisters.

Wrote Florence: "Mother's faith in God has been strengthened by her life of self-sacrifice. She has learned to lean on Him for strength when all else failed her. She has given me some of her faith in God, but not a blind faith, but the faith that He understands us all, even more fully than a mother understands her children."

She became very ill at Christmas time in 1968, she went to the hospital she was there a few days but wasn't well enough to come home, she was admitted to a nursing home but was still very ill. She contacted pneumonia and was taken back to the University Hospital where she died on March 20, 1969. Her daughter Florence had died a year before in Dec. 1967. She felt really sad about this. # Rosette Boss

[Sister of Elizabeth Boss]

Rosette Boss was Elizabeth Boss' younger sister. She was born August 9, 1874 in Guendlishwand, Switzerland to loving parents Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch Boss. She was also loved by her brothers and sisters, Johannes [II], Marianna, Margaritha, Christian, Friedrich, Elizabeth, Rudolf, Emma, Magdalena, Adolf and Peter. For many infants and children life does not last very long. This was the case with Rosette. She died December 31, 1880, when she was just six years old. Undoubtedly, her parents and family members were saddened by her death. The scriptures teach that these children will be saved in the kingdom of God.

Behold I say unto you that this thing shall ye teach—repentance and baptism unto those who are accountable and capable of committing sin; yea, teach parents that they must repent and be baptized, and humble themselves as their little children, and they shall all be saved with their little children. Moroni 8:10

For behold that all little children are alive in Christ, and also all they that are without the law. For the power of redemption cometh on all them that have no law; wherefore, he that is not condemned. or he that is under no condemnation, cannot repent; and unto such baptism availeth nothing—
Moroni 8:22

Chapter 20

Adolf Boss
Sarah Elizabeth Alleman

[Brother of Elizabeth Boss]

Anna Elizabeth Boss                      -                      John William Hart

Adolf Boss was close to his sister, Elizabeth Boss, both in Switzerland and in Idaho, where he worked, lived and eventually died. He is buried in the Bern, Idaho Cemetery. His only child was Anna Boss, who was very desirous to write his history. Anna loved her Swiss heritage and wanted others to know of her family. We went to church together in Provo, Utah with Anna. She was respected for her kindness, teaching ability and dedication to education.

Adolf Boss

(taken from Anna Boss Hart history of her father)

My father, Adolf Boss, was born in Guendlishwand, Bern, Switzerland, October 16, 1876. He was the son of Johannes Boss, an architect, and his wife, Marianna Gertsch. His father was born in Guendlishwand and his mother was born Apr 10, 1836 in Lauterbrunnen, Switzerland. Adolf Boss was baptized by Elder Frederick Theurer, a missionary for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, December 13, 1886 and also confirmed by Elder Theurer.

Adolf Boss

On May 5, 1891, at the age of 14, Adolf, together with his brother Peter, then twelve years of age, and his father, Johannes, and stepmother, Margaritha Boss, left their home in Guendlishwand for America. His brother, Peter Boss wrote concerning their journey, many years later, "Father, made a great sacrifice in disposing of all his belongings. It was especially hard for us boys to leave as our older brothers coaxed and coaxed us to remain with them. They nearly got us to stay, but through some power that we then did not know about at that time, we left with father for the USA. It was really a sad parting. I might say here that one of our sisters [Margaritha Boss Sterchi] was also going with us. They had disposed of all of their belongings and home, had their trunks packed and sent them some two weeks ahead to the water front, but I remember her husband came the night before we left, and talked with Father, backed out of going, sent for his trunks, bought his home back and stayed for seven more years before coming to Utah. This was another blow for us.

In Adolf's patriarchal blessing he is told, "...been true to thy trust, and when the Gospel reached thee thou didst yield obedience there unto and forsook with kindred and friends for the sake of Salvation,...preserved thee from the evils of the world and brought thee out from Babylon...." The introduction of the gospel was a great blessing to the family, but was not received without some costs as well. Nevertheless, the gospel is the purpose of life and brings eternal joy and happiness. (Anna Boss Hart)

Peter Boss, Adolf's younger brother said:

We had a very tiresome journey, especially crossing the ocean. Our stepmother was sick all the way, as she was seven months pregnant. It took us twelve days to cross the ocean. We really had no severe weather, but the sea was very rough. We were all seasick. Father and Stepmother never raised their heads from the pillows. The cabin steward used to pinch my brother, Adolf, and me to get us out on deck. The first few days we were afraid we would surely die. Then the rest of the time, we were afraid we wouldn't. When we got to New York our legs and feet were swollen, we could hardly walk. In this condition we had to walk from the pier to our Railroad Station.

On May 31, 1891 we arrived in Park City with 75 cents to our name. There was someone in a wagon and took us to Midway, about sixteen miles from Park City. An elder by the name of Conrad Abegglen, who had charge of our company of saints from Switzerland also live in Midway, so this was our beginning in Zion. It was only a few days on arriving, that my brother, Adolf, and I had to find places to stay. (Peter Boss)

Anna Boss Hart always expressed to my wife Joyce and me that her parents [Adolf and Sarah Alleman Boss] had a difficult life. We lived in the same area in Provo, Utah with Anna, where we all attended the Manavu Ward. She continues:

Uncle Peter Boss further states that my father, Adolf, was taken in by a family by the name of Muri. Uncle Peter was taken by the family Hasler, for his board and some clothes.

Father and his new wife found a little shack to live in and started house keeping. Our belongings were very meager indeed.

After some two or three years of living in these quarters, Father found a widow by the name of Maria Abegglen, who wanted someone to take care of her farm, so we moved in half of her home, which was only two rooms. I stayed with Father. We stayed until we could afford to build a house of our own, which we finally did, as Father was a builder and architect. He built his own home, and built for others also. I worked out a lot when I was in my teens for 50 cents a day. (I assume that my father, Adolf, did the same.) We had to buy us horses and a wagon in order to farm...

Adolf and Sarah Alleman Boss of Agnes Kunz Dansie, however, father worked on the Fox ranch on the Blackfoot River, Bannock County, Idaho, about 20 miles northeast of Soda Springs, before he went to Malad, Idaho.

As an adult man, my father was a good, strong healthy Latter-day Saint man. Henry Zenger also said that father was a fine looking man - stouter than Uncle Peter, his brother, but not as strong. In the family record which my mother, Sarah Allemann Boss, wrote, she described him in this way: "Adolf Boss, as an adult man was five feet and Henry Zenger, husband of Lena Zenger, from Midway couldn't recall just when he met my father for the first time. He did meet him during the first days of my father's arrival, however.

According to Henry Zenger, my father had no horse outfit for a time. He worked at farming for Lundins and Schneitters, during those early years in Midway, Utah.

Henry Zenger also remembered when they all went to the Temple in Salt Lake to be sealed 17 May 1899. Members of the first and second families went in wagons. One of the wagons was Emil Kohler's hide and fur wagon, which had two seats.

According to information from Hale Dansie, husband seven inches tall, weighted one hundred sixty pounds, chest size forty inches. His eyes were dark gray in color and the color of his hair was brown.” This is probably how he appeared when mother met him.

Father went to Bern to work for his sister, Lizzie [Elizabeth Boss Kunz]. According to my mother it was while he was working at his sister Lizzie’s in Bern, Idaho that mother met him.

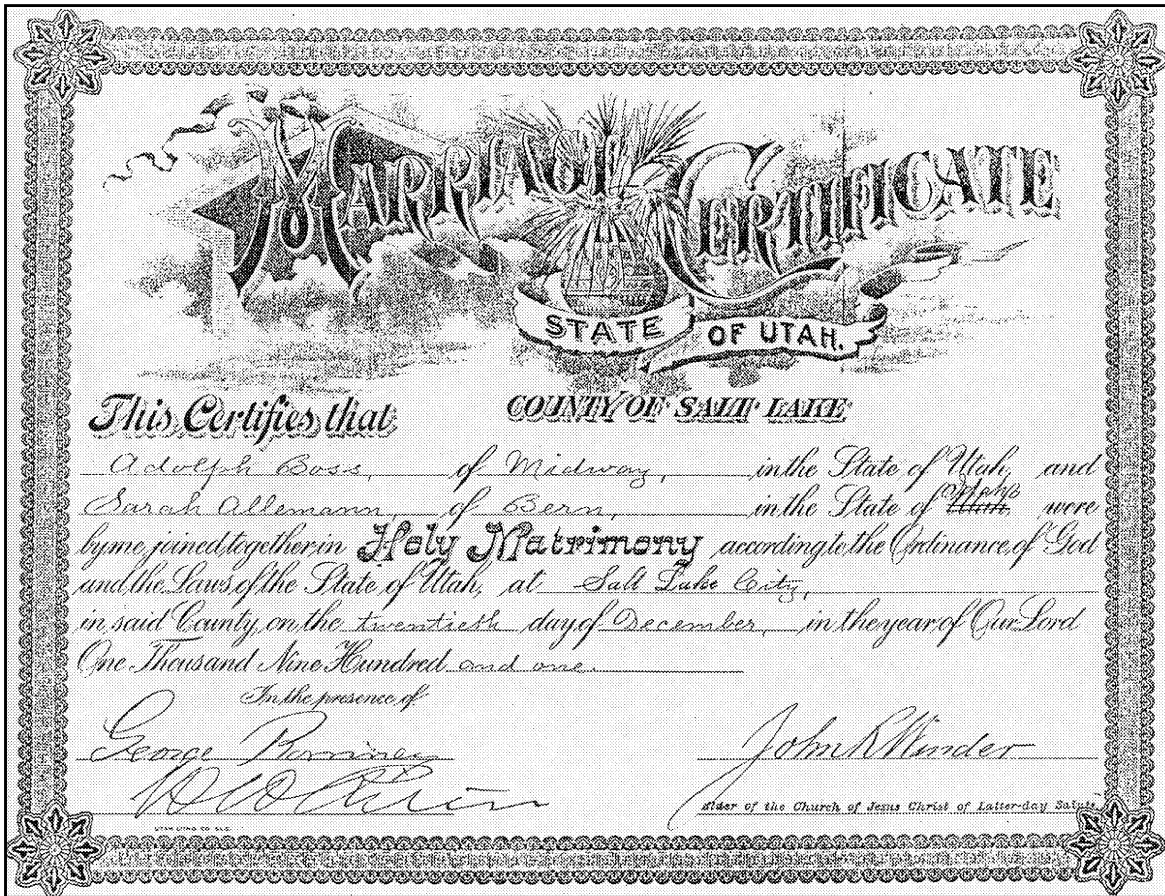

Sarah and Adolf were married Dec 20, 1901 in the Salt Lake temple. “Elder John R. Winder performed the ceremony. President Joseph F. Smith spoke in the meeting that morning. He spoke about the Prophet Joseph Smith and the tears rolled down his cheeks. A brother sang, “The Seer, Joseph the Seer,” wrote Sarah. “I have never heard it sung so impressively before, or since. We had our wedding dinner at Rudolph Boss’ [brother of my husband] in Buena Vista. We then went to Midway, Utah to spend our honeymoon.”

They then spent some time in Bern, Idaho and then went to Malad, Idaho. In the spring, my husband went to work for Jesse Dredge [Jesse Dredge married a daughter (Rosina Kunz) of John Kunz II] in Malad, Idaho. I stayed up at the Ranch, Crow Creek, that summer. ...

Mother Sarah further writes: Adolf bought a piece of land from Jesse R. Dredge in Malad, Idaho, and built us a little two roomed house.

He was the father of the other Jesse Dredge and grandfather to William D Thomas. We had very little furniture - a homemade cupboard, etc. On Oct 25, 1902 my father (George Alleman Sr.,) moved us to Malad, Idaho, by wagon. We were very happy in our humble little home. We had very little furniture to start out with. A month after we arrived in Malad, Idaho Nov 27, 1902, our little daughter, Anna Elizabeth was born, which made us happier than ever. (I was named after my two aunts, Mother’s sister Anna and Father’s sister, Elizabeth.) I quote further: (Note: this was from mothers record of the Allemann Family history: “On Nov 27, 1902, Mother’s first grandchild was born to Sarah. She was named Anna Elizabeth Boss.”

....According to Nellie Kunz Dredge, who interviewed Bishop D. Dredge Thomas of Malad, Idaho, she writes to Ida Kunz Boss (Wife of Peter Boss,) ...In reference to the information concerning Adolf Boss,....Bishop D. Dredge Thomas said Adolf worked for his father, David S. Thomas for one or two years at the Sawmill north of Malad, Idaho. (Summit Saw Mill). He was the most dependable man, in the group. Was as honest and dependable as any man could be, and a most accommodating neighbor, always ready and anxious to go the second mile, and help out people. Bishop Dredge Thomas said, he could not think of any particular incident that happened, only that they all liked Adolf, and got along fine working with him. He never spoke of his home-life in Switzerland. Of course, David Thomas said he was just a young boy then, and Brother Boss was a matured man. So he never really heard him speak of his youth, or when he lived in Switzerland. He was faithful in his church work and he and Sarah attended church regularly on Sundays and they were good respected neighbors. That’s about all he knew, but as I said before, he, Bishop Thomas was just a young boy, and Rudolph did not in his hearing ever speak of his early life, etc.

Adolf and Sarah Allemann Boss Marriage Certificate

From the Malad, Idaho experiences, according to William Dredge Thomas, (Note: my neighbor in the Manavu Ward in Provo, Utah [and who lived just across the street from Joyce and Phillip Kunz when first married]) my father, Adolf Boss, had friends, such as David Sperry Thomas, for whom he worked in the Summit Sawmill, and his brother, George, Alice Thomas, wife of David Sperry Thomas, who was so good to mother, especially when I was born. He knew their children: David, Jesse, William, and Alice. He knew George Thomas, the brother of David Sperry Thomas, and his first wife, Hannah, and their children: Walter, Mary and, Horatio, Hugh and Nora, and Sarah and Griffiths, second wife, and their children, William G. and Bessie, and probably Vernal who was a baby. He also knew Shep, the dog.

Walt Thomas worked with my father in the timber. (His wife was Mary Jones Thomas, whom father also knew very well.) My father worked with George Thomas, the brother of David Sperry Thomas, more than he did with his brother. Mary Ann Stuart, George's daughter, wrote to me from Malad, Idaho on Aug 1, 1961: "I was quite a young girl when your father lived in Malad and I can't recall only his working for my father at the Summit Saw Mill and was a very nice man. He hauled the timber from the canyon and helped in the saw mill with him pulling the logs through the large saws..."

I am again quoting from mother's personal history, written Aug 5, 1955: "In the fall of 1904, He took a bad cold and got pneumonia, which turned into tuberculosis." (Excerpt from Allemann Family History, which my mother wrote: "He (Adolf) was sickly for two and one half year.")

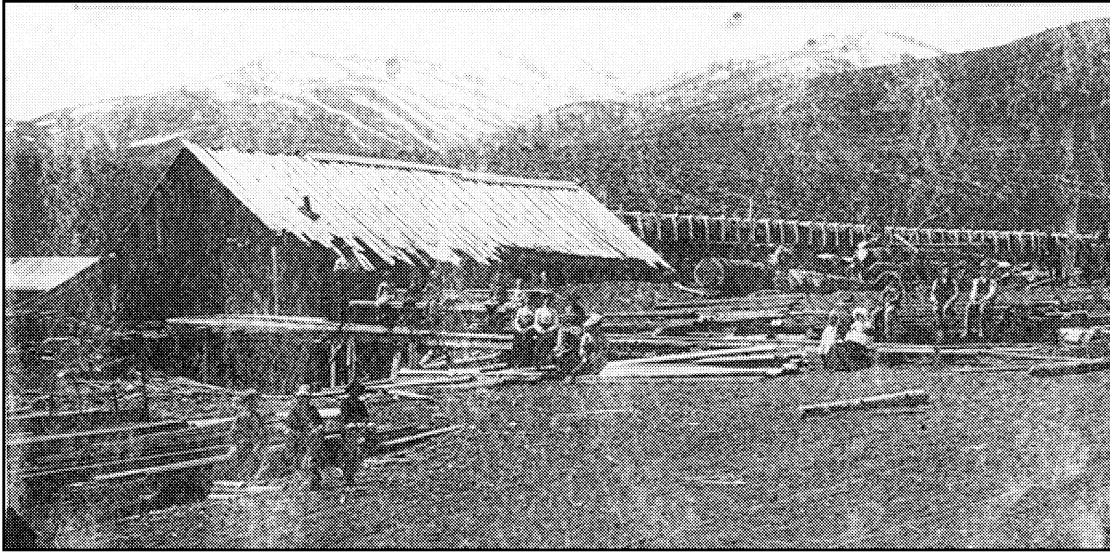

I quote further from mother's personal history:

From then on he was sick, and kept getting worse. May 25, 1906 we moved back to [my Mother's folks] in Bern, Idaho. (Adolf, my father) died on June 13, 1906 in Bern Idaho and as buried in the Bern Cemetery. I [Anna] was about three and one half year of age at the time. Anna and I stayed with my parents at the family home. We went up to the ranch (Crow Creek) again for the summer. In the fall I went back to Malad again to get our things, and to sell our home. We then stayed with my parents in Bern. I helped mother take care of Auntie and at Crow Creek part of the time in the summer. (Auntie was father's sister, Anna Barbara Allemann. She was sick with arthritis and entirely helpless.) (Sarah Allemann Boss)

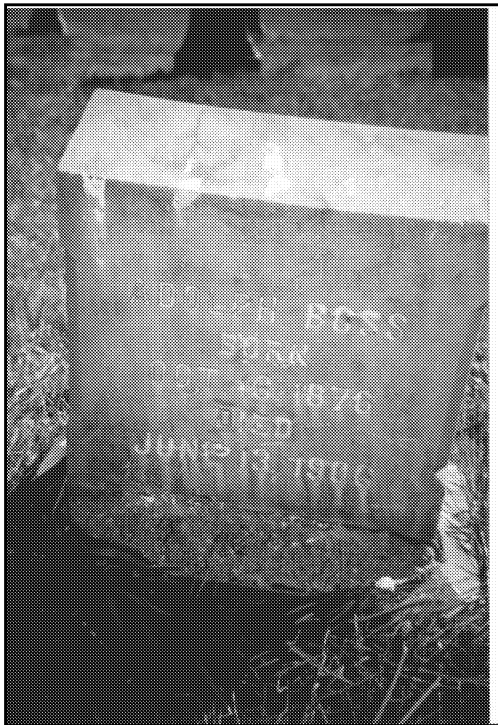

From an excerpt from the Allemann Family History, written by mother (Sarah Allemann Boss)
" ..In about 1909 we received a large record of names from Switzerland, so I decided to move down to Logan, Utah to do temple work. We moved there October 13, 1910."

Other Impressions Concerning My Father, Adolf Boss

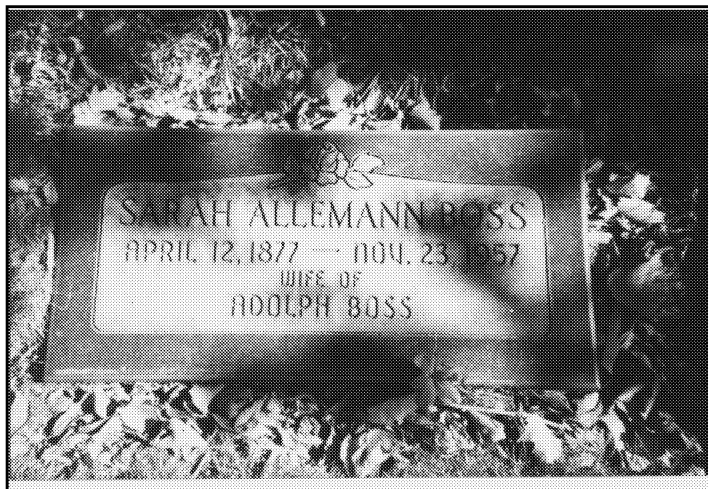

Emeline Allemann Crookston, Mother's sister, June 8, 1961, said: She remembered my father and that he liked to tease. When she was sixteen years of age, Adolf kissed her and said: "Sweet sixteen and never been kissed." She remembered that when my father lived in Crow Creek (Mother was still in Malad) he would take walks every day for his health. He thought the air and water helped.

Boss Family Reunion

David Dredge Thomas told William Dredge Thomas that he remembered that when my father would get through eating he would roll and roll on the floor or ground, and say it was such a good meal.

My own recollections: [Anna Boss Hart]

I do not remember much about my father, as I was only three and one half years of age at the time he died. I do remember, or have two faint impressions of Malad and of my father. I remember a boardwalk back of our little home in Malad.

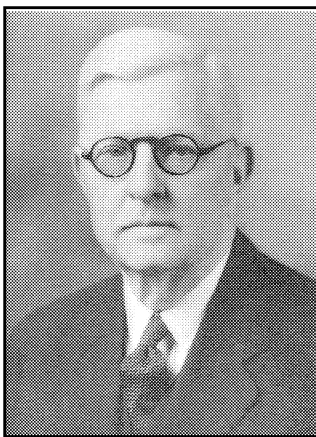

I also remember that my mother was crying and took me into the small back bedroom in the family home in Bern, Idaho and uncovered the face of my father with the handkerchief, and showed me my dead father's face. (Anna Boss Hart)

Adolf's wife, Sarah Alleman Boss, was a widow for 51 years. Those were not easy years for her. She too, showed the strong Swiss Spirit in her character and hard work. At her funeral Lynn B. Crookston said:

We must mention the short duration of her happy marriage to Adolf Boss which terminated in 5 short years. Shortly after her husband died, her parents received a large genealogical record from Switzerland of over 5,000 names. She then took her young daughter, Anna, and moved to Logan where she dedicated her life to Temple work, kept the records and helped her father's and mother's family complete the ten lines of records. She did over 3,000 endowments and many other temple ordinances....For many years she washed the Temple clothes and carried them back and forth in suitcases eleven blocks away in order that her daughter, Anna, could receive her education. (Lynn B. Crookston at the funeral for Sarah Alleman Boss)

Anna Boss Hart, Adolf and Sarah's only child married John William Hart, of Rigby, Idaho on June 4, 1935 in the Salt Lake Temple. They were blessed with one son, John A. Hart, who was the pride and joy of Anna's life. Anna's husband, John W. Hart, died April 5, 1936 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

During Anna's years [44 years] as a widow she served on the General Board of the Relief Society of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, served as a Missionary in the Central States Mission and a Temple Mission to the Swiss Temple, taught High School and College and at Brigham Young University for many years. She loved her son and grandchildren.

Peter Boss and Ida Kunz Family Group Sheet - # 3

Peter Boss, brother of Elizabeth Boss Kunz, is the only sibling of my Grandmother's that I knew. He and Aunt Ida would often visit in our home in Bern and we always looked forward to their visits. He dictated his own history:

Peter Boss

Dictated to his daughter Minerva B. Jesse

..I was the youngest child of Johannes Boss and Marianna Gertsch, born January 6, 1879 in Guendlischwand, Kanton Bern, Switzerland in a two-story, ten-room frame house. There were five rooms to a petition -- -- half of which were rented out.

Chapter 21 - Peter Boss and Ida Kunz

I had six sisters and five brothers. The same roof that covered our house covered all our outbuildings. However they were divided into separate compartments. The beds in our house were built high so a trundle bed could easily be pushed under. I slept in the trundle bed. Mother warmed my featherbed on the sand oven to cover me.

I remember making snowmen in our yard and playing other games with my playmates. Our main sport was sleigh riding and coasting.

We lived in the heart of town. My father was an architect and mason and he made a good living. We were quite well to do. He also was a member of the school board. Father had a lot of farmland, different places in the neighborhood, also in the Alps. We had lots of fruit trees -- pears, plums, apples and cherries, also raspberries and huckleberries. We raised grain, hay and flax from which we made our own clothes. We also raised our own garden. We had 10 or 12 cows and many times I would call each cow by name as it came through the gate and I would put a dab of salt on its tongue.

No place on earth was Christmas made more of a festive season than was made in Switzerland. To us children, Santa Claus was the outstanding character. He always brought us a good supply of goodies, especially animal crackers of all kinds and candy animals mostly made of chocolate. We always had a neighborhood Santa Claus. I remember one time on Christmas Eve I heard the ring of his sleigh bells as he came to the door. I ran and crawled under the bed to the furthest corner. He came and asked mother where I was. She told him and he took a willow and gave me a few switches around the legs until I came out. Then he had me sit on a chair singing several songs before he gave me anything.

Chapter 21 - Peter Boss and Ida Kunz

One day when I was six years old I was working in the field with some of my brothers and sisters when word came to us that my mother was dead. I can't remember much only that mother's health had been poor for some time before her death, which was caused by tuberculosis of the spine. I remember walking in the funeral procession to the cemetery and after the coffin was lowered I shall never forget the feeling of horror that came over me as they rolled a heavy stone on to the coffin as they covered the grave.

Mother was always very kind to me. She was quite stout and had dark hair brown eyes.

We had strict discipline in our home. After mother's death my sisters [Elizabeth and Emma] took care of me and kept up a home. We were all taught to keep busy. I took my place with my brothers in the duties on the farm. It was our custom to carry everything on our backs, such as milk, water, hay and more. We often hitched up a cow to a cart and conveyed some of these things from place to place.

When seven years of age, I started school in what was known as the Primer grades. The first three years were joy. I managed to find favor with my teachers and they made my schooldays happy, but the last two years were not so happy. I received much persecution because I was baptized into the Mormon Church. This was my last year with my first year in junior high school. My teacher, Mr. Rott was very strict in his discipline. One morning I was late for school along with other pupils. He lined us up and took a long stick and beat us each on the hands in turn. I was last in line and I jerked my hand away just as he aimed and he struck his knee instead. He was angry and he grabbed my hands and viciously beat them. The stick had a rusty nail which dug into my flesh with every strike. As a result my fingers were all broken and I had a severe case of blood poison, which almost took my life. It wasn't long before that school teacher lost his job because of this act.

Our examinations came once a year during our school term in the spring. At Easter time it was a festive occasion. Our school rooms were decorated in pine branches. Many beautifully colored eggs were distributed among the boys and girls.

My father was a convert to the church and had been a member four years before I was born. The missionaries often came to our home and stayed for days this time. I have faint recollection of attending cottage meetings with father and my brothers and sisters.

I was baptized in a river in Guendlishwand, Switzerland, when I was 10 years old. That was on the 16th in December, 1890 in the Black River where the ice was broken. My cousin, Conrad Gertsch and I were baptized at the same time. The ordinance was performed at midnight because there was so much prejudice among the people. It was so cold our hair froze before we left the creek. (Peter Boss)

Conrad Gertsch Jr. accounts for the event in much the same manner:

I was born February 16, 1877 at Wengen, Ct. Bern, Switzerland. I spent my childhood days helping father make cheese up on the Alps (Kleine Scheidegg) and herding cattle and goats. One day while herding goats a stranger approached me and asked if I knew where Conrad Gertsch lived. I showed him the path. In the evening when I returned the stranger, Conrad Abeggan was still there. This visitor changed our lives for he was a Mormon missionary. Our family studied this strange religion for one year before my father and mother joined. We children were baptized later. I was baptized on the 16th of December 1890 by Conrad Abeggan, as was Peter Boss. We had to break the ice to perform the ordinance. When we came out of the water our hair froze stiff going from the river to our home. About one year from the time we were baptized father made arrangements to immigrate to America. The prejudices were great against the Mormons. My daughter, Lucy, heard one of our neighbors testify to this when she and I visited Switzerland in 1948. Mrs Von Allmen came running when she saw me and my daughter, threw up her hands and cried, "Got in Himmel: Das 1st der Gheser Coonie!" - (God in Heaven, that is Coonie that herded the goats). She hadn't heard a word from anyone for forty-four years and had supposed the Mormons had destroyed us. Then she told Lucy how well she remembered when our family left Stuzwedli. She said four ministers had come and begged my father to change his plans. She told how they warned Father that the Mormons would slay them, etc. Father refused to listen. She said she could still see our family as they left the valley, my father yodeling and my mother sobbing as if her heart would break. (Conrad Gertsch Jr.)

Peter Boss continues:

Soon after my baptism father started to make preparations to emigrate to Utah. He disposed of his property and turned the management of his carpentry business over to his two oldest son's John and Christian.

The order of the emigration of the members of my family is as follows: Rudolph came first. He emigrated 29 June 1889 with the missionaries. Then Lizzie [Elizabeth] emigrated in May, 1888 with Elder John Kunz who was a missionary in Switzerland.<sup>1</sup> She later married him. Then Emma came, 10 September 1888 with Joseph Schoenfeld who was also a missionary there and later she married his son, Joseph Schoenfeld Jr. Mattie came in October of 1890 with Jacob Probst, a missionary and stayed at Brighton Ward with her sister Emma and later married her brother-in-law Emil Schoenfeld. Then came Marianne with her husband Henry Zenger Sr., 10 June 1897. My father married his second wife Margaret Gertsch at Gschuzwyler and on the second of May, 1891 father, my stepmother, my older brother Adolph and I set sail for the United States. I was 12 years old. We arrived in Park City, Utah 31 May 1891 with only 75 cents. We went to Midway and stayed at the home of some saints until father found a small place where he and my stepmother lived in. Adolph and I were hired out by different families for our board and clothes. About three years later father ran a place for someone and I stayed home and helped him farm until I was 17.

During the time we endured some harrowing experiences known only to new emigrants. My brother Adolph gave me a couple of young colts to use on the farm and I had the experience of breaking them. And I went to Salt Lake where my brother Rudolph lived and with my team I worked for the City hauling cinders etc. during the summer. In the fall I went out to Salt Lake Desert and herded sheep for three in half years for my brothers-in-law – the Schoenfeld's.

During the last winter my brother Adolph came and tended camp for me and in the spring we quit the sheep and went to Salt Lake and bought us each a horse and rode to Bern, Idaho, to see our sister Lizzie. [Elizabeth Boss Kunz] We each got a job. I worked for my brother-in-law, John Kunz [III] and later on I worked for a Mr. Fox.

One day I stopped at the dairy with Jack Kunz on my way to Lane's Creek. We talked to Jack's brother, Chris. He invited me into the cheese house, while he helped his sister, Ida, take out the cheese. As I leaned against the wall, I broke her thermometer that she used to test the milk. Little did I think that someday she would be my wife.

Adolph got me a job in Garland working on a farm for Oliver Wilcox. I worked there for a year, then went to Park City and worked in the silver mines for two years drilling holes, blasting, laying tracks and loading the ore. I went back to Idaho [for short periods] while working to Park City and got better acquainted with Ida Kunz. I played an accordion for several dances while there. I went back to Garland and worked for Oliver Wilcox for another year. During that time I worked one campaign at the sugar factory and earned enough money to buy a nineteen-acre farm from Sam Cline. I went back to Soda Springs where Ida Kunz was working at the Idan-Ho-Hotel. After several dates, I asked her to be my wife. We were married in the Logan Temple on the 22nd of December, 1904. (Peter Boss)

Ida Kunz Boss relates an interesting event in her family:

The following is a bear story in the early days in Bear Lake Valley. My father, Christian [Kunz], and his brother, John [III] were wintering four or five hundred sheep on the Charles Coulson Rich ranch. They had noticed from time to time that a sheep had been killed during the night and the sheep were very much disturbed. Father and John were determined to find out what it was.

He and his brothers, John, David, Jacob and a neighbor, Gottlieb Dubach, all watched on the shed. The corral was south of the yard and fenced on three sides and on the south was a creek two feet wide and eighteen inches deep which serves as an enclosure as the sheep would not cross the creek.

There was a moon that night and it went down at ten o'clock. Just as it went down a bear appeared on the south side and slowly crossed the creek and made a quick grab at the sheep. This frightened the sheep so that they rushed and broke down two panels of fence and the sheep escaped.

It was agreed that no one would shoot until the intruder was inside the corral. When he got across the creek the men began to shoot. After several shots were fired everything was quite. Father then volunteered to go to the house after a lantern. Just as he got down off the shed the bear made an awful peculiar growl and Father thought the bear was at his heels so he left no time getting back on the shed. After everything was perfectly quiet for some time he went to the house and got the lantern.

Aunt Elizabeth was very anxious to know the outcome of the shooting. He assured her that the bear was dead.

Early in the morning the men were up and one of them got the oxen and yoked them and loaded the bear on some poles on the running gear so they could take the trophy and show it to Grandfather Kunz [John Kunz II] who lived up by the Bern Hills. They were proud of their killing and the sheep were no longer molested.

That same day Father [Christian Kunz] went to Paris, Idaho and got 25 cans of lye to make soap from the bear grease. They cooked it in a huge copper kettle that held a thousand pounds of milk. It made splendid soap. Besides that they saved two gallons of bear oil. They used it to grease shoes and harnesses. The hide was sold for seven dollars. It was a grizzly bear that weighed about four hundred pounds. (Ida Kunz Boss)

Johannes Boss and Margaritha Gertsch Boss Family Group Sheet - # 2

Following the death of his first wife, Marianna Gertsch, on August 22, 1885, Elizabeth Boss' father, Johannes was left with several children to care for. His oldest son, Johannes, and two daughters, Marianna and Margaritha were already married and the next oldest son, Christian, was twenty-two years of age. The oldest daughter, Elizabeth, whose name is the title of this book, was 18 years of age.

Margaritha Gertsch, who became the second wife of Johannes, was born on the April 20, 1873 in Wengen, Bern, Switzerland, the daughter of Conrad Gertsch and Margaritha Gertsch. She married Johannes Boss April 28, 1891. They emigrated to Midway, Utah where they had nine children together, five boys and four girls, all of whom lived to maturity except Henry, who died at age eight and Stella, who died when she was less than two years of age.

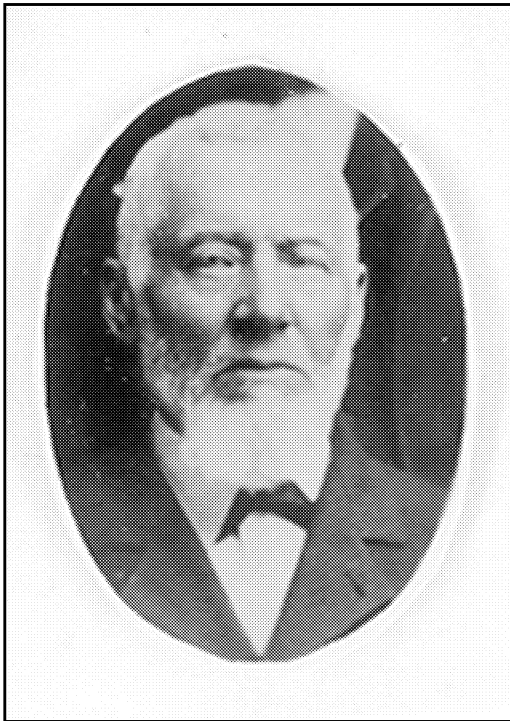

Johannes died March 15, 1912 at age 82, when Margaritha was thirty-nine years of age. Margaritha lived on for almost another fifty years as a widow, passing away March 27, 1960.

Margaritha's Gertsch Boss History. Margaritha presented her history for her family as follows:

I was born in Wengen, Switzerland April 20, 1873. I graduated from the district school of Wengen. My father was Conrad Gertsch and my mother was Margaritha Gertsch. Both were born in Switzerland and lived there until they came to Utah. They were the parents of four children, Margaritha, Susanna, Conrad and Elizabeth. My father made his living during the summer time herding cattle in the Alps, his own and those of other people. He made a lot of butter and cheese. My only brother, Conrad, went with father in the fall time of each year, they always returned to our home with a lot of good things to eat. In the winters my father always made a lot of shingles for the people. Father was a very good yodeler. When the people held parties, they always called upon him to yodel for them. He was a small man about five feet tall, and always had rosy cheeks. He was well liked by the people.

Before emigrating to Utah my dear mother was afflicted with rheumatism. This was terrible as we had to feed and clothe her like a baby for a long time. Mother was a wonderful lace maker. She taught her three daughters how to make it when we were six or seven years old. We had very little time to play. We sold the lace we made to tourists. With the money we bought groceries. Being the oldest girl in the family I was sent to the grocery store, there we sold lace too, and in the little basket I carried on my back I brought bread home. My mother also had a little store. We sold bread, groceries, tobacco and coffee to all the neighbors. In the summer especially I sold a lot of lace to the tourists who came through. They came from all over the world. We had no trouble selling it.

In 1890 we had the Mormon missionaries come to visit us. They were Elder Conrad Abegglen of Midway, Utah and Elder Christian Snyder from Logan, Utah. We sat up half nights while they explained the gospel to us all. We all sat around our table and listened. Brother Abegglen told me I was the first one to accept the truth. After they were in our house a while a happy feeling came over me. My mother sent me to a store to get something good for the missionaries and I felt like I had wings on my back. I felt so happy

Margaritha Gertsch Boss

I never forgot that good feeling to this day. One time when brother Abegglen came through he took sick - he was very sick. For weeks I nursed him until he got better again. He blessed me and never forgot what I did for him.

We had our own house in Switzerland. Every time the missionaries left us our neighbors came and told us what terrible people them Mormons were and not to listen to them. We all had an awful fight, but dear Conrad Abegglen he came often and made visits to us. He had to climb a big mountain before he could see us. He was so tired when he came he was an old man about 60 or 62 years of age.

I was the first one in our family to accept the gospel. Oh I was happy. My dear father had a strong testimony in his heart. He said, "If there was 99 people that would tell him it was all a lie and only one that said it was the truth he would believe the one. "Brother Abegglen worked so hard with all of us and we all were baptized. I was the first and all my folks was a few weeks after. Conrad Abegglen converted us. He was a very happy missionary to think he got all our family to the Lord who heard our prayers and helped us. They all immigrate to this country in the year 1891. I came in May, my father, mother, brother and sisters came in the fall. People were very good to us all. Mother got a lot better with her rheumatism when she came to Zion and was baptized. We all were sealed in the Salt Lake Temple. It was very hard for my mother to see the truth about polygamy. We children all got married to good husbands and we all raised big families.

My father's first wife Margaritha Van Almen, born Jan 24, 1835 died 19 March 1871. My own mother, Margaritha Gertsch, went by the same surname as did her husband. So far as we know there was no blood relationship between them. We do not have the date of their marriage, nor do we exactly know where they were married or by whom.

When we emigrated to Utah, my father, mother, brother and two sisters located at Midway, Utah where we did. As each member of the family married they also settled down and built their homes at Midway. We have been in each other's company during all of our married life, and it has been like we just grew up together, and raised our families together. In Midway we all live within a few doors walk from each other's home. My father died when he was 81 years of age on the day of 27 Apr 1909, at Midway, Utah. My mother died when she was 84 years old. She also died at Midway. Both are buried in the town cemetery. (Margaritha Gertsch Boss)

The following was written by Johannes Boss and Margaritha Gertsch's sixth child. Rosetta Boss Olson:

Her eyes were brown her hair black. She had a cheerful, sunny disposition. She was a short person about 4 ft 8 inches. There were four children in the family - Margaret, Susanna, Conrad and Elisabeth. They lived in humble circumstances. Each summer her father would herd goats upon the mountains and make cheese. Margaret, being the oldest, would carry supplies up to him - including tobacco which he had to have - and a brand that which she carried on her back. We all thought that might be the reason she was so short.

They raised a little garden. Grandma Gertsch taught the girls how to make lace with bobbins on a cushion stand. Many different patterns were made. The lace was sold to the tourists,... Mother was taught to knit, they made their own stockings. At school they were taught music.

My mother said it was hard for her to learn to tell notes. If she failed her teacher would ask mom to hold out her hand and then she would whack them with a ruler. My Mom had a very nice singing voice. She said she often went on errands delivering lace to women who had ordered it. Sometimes they paid her and gave her a slice of fresh bread. Mother often walked to the bakers to buy bread for her mother. They were raised on vegetables, milk, cheese, some meat, postum which they made, sauerkraut, bratziles, nine milers etc.

She married Johannes Boss at Interlaken April 28, 1891. They migrated from Switzerland to America May 30, 1891. Johannes was a widower and had twelve children in their family.

They made their home in Midway, Utah, a scenic place - mountains reminding them of their beloved Switzerland.

They had both joined the LDS church previously. Father was almost an outcast for this. He told me how he had to sneak the LDS missionaries into his home to give them food or a night lodging. His three oldest sons, Hans, Fritz and Christian were bitter against the Mormons and never joined the church.

He had been a famous carpenter, a mayor and was active in public. When he came to America he wanted no public life. He was a great home man, a devoted father. They had nine children. He never learned to speak the English language although he understood it.

He died March 15, 1912 leaving my mother a 39 year old young widow with eight children to raise. Their baby, Stella died October 24, 1909. She was born April 9, 1908 and was 18 months old.

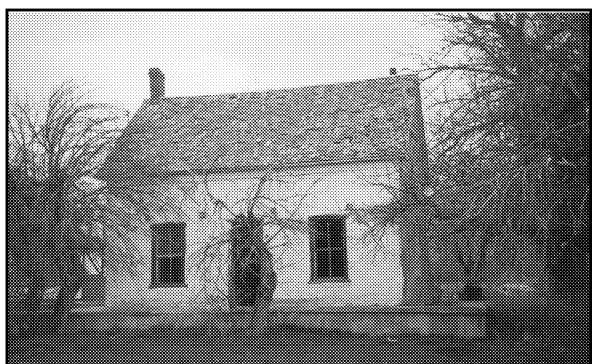

Mother told me she often asked father what could she do if he died first. He tried to comfort her by telling her the little boys would grow up and help support the family, which they did.

Mother became a midwife and helped with many maternity cases. We girls also found work and each child helped support himself.

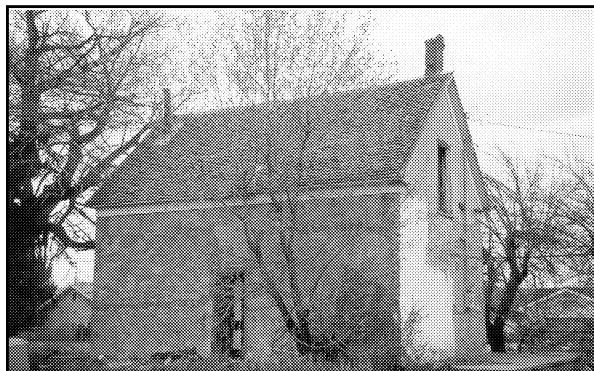

Fourteen months after father died a great tragedy happened to our home. Mother was in Salt Lake when Ida, my older sister was taking care of us. Henry, 8 years old, had carved many horse sticks he was a great little singer. He love to gallop around on his favorite horse sticks. Ida decided to do the family wash and surprise mother. She was taking a kettle of hot boiling starch out on the back porch when Henry came galloping in on his horse. They collided in the door way and hot starch was splashed on him. Two days later he developed spinal meningitis and he died. It was a great shock. We were quarantined. The funeral was held on our front yard. The sealed casket was on the porch.

Mother became the cookie lady on the block. Children loved to come to her home and they were always given a cookie.

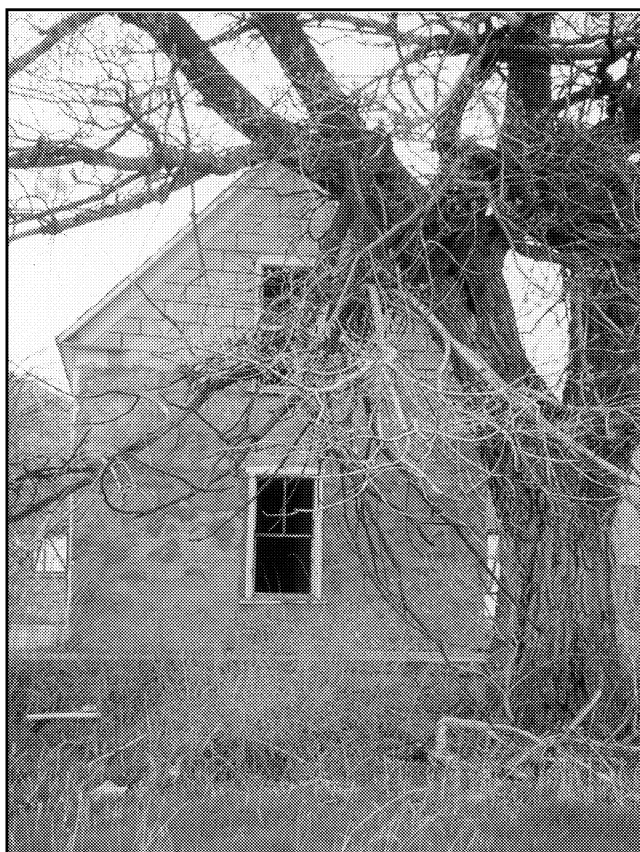

In 1917 Conrad was one of the first volunteers in the county to enlist and go overseas in World War I. Then in April 1918 Arnold joined the Army. This was a great worry in the life of my mother. Con's troops were on their way to Metz, France when the armistice was signed. So he escaped. Arnold, however, was wounded and shell shocked in France. Both returned.

Bill, Arnold, Ida, Con and myself were married. John was home, he was janitor at the 2nd ward church house for several years and helped support mother. Clara was teaching school and also helped financially.

One summer I visited mother. We went to Kamas to visit Ida. Ervin took the three of us over to visit Alvin Pace and his wife Mae, who he had married after the death of Clara. They lived in a lovely new home and had a family of four daughters. The visit was lovely and the home beautiful.

As we were ready to leave Mother thought she'd go to the bathroom. She took the wrong door and fell down the steep basement steps. She broke her hip and we took her to the LDS hospital. This accident really slowed her down. She used to be so active - now she used a cane. She stayed at Arnold's a good deal. She visited with me in Emery and at Ida's. Ida was so good to always do her laundry etc. Con was good to come often and bring fish and cook their breakfast. She was a favorite here in Emery. Everyone loved her. Her Swiss brogue was so unique and her cute personality charmed people.

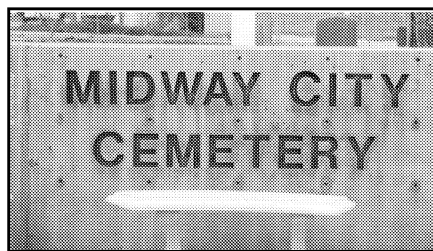

The government offered to help widows with a monthly pension if they would turn the homes over. My dear mother felt like she could never do that after all the sacrifice and work of her husband. Arnold came to her rescue and said that he would pay her $430 per month and at the death the home could be his. For ten years Arnold faithfully paid the monthly sum. I know it was a struggle for him and too it was a meager allowance for her to live on. Up to April 1, 1958 he paid $3,600.

Mother died March 27, 1960 in Arnold's home. She had old age and diabetes. Arnold and his sweet daughters, Lillian and Thelma, took care of her for days at Arnold's home. They gave her love, kept her so clean and took care of her needs.

Olphin Mortuary at Heber City did the last rites. She looked more like a little doll in the delicate pink casket, clothed in her temple robes. Many came to the viewing, impressive funeral services were held in Midway 2nd ward - a large crowd in attendance. She was buried beside her husband in the Midway Cemetery.(Rose Boss Olsen)

She was 86 years old when she died and was a widow for 48 years.

No. 42. Patriarchal blessing given at Midway [Utah] Nov. 20, 1899 by John M. Murdock Patriarch on the head of John Boss son of Conrad and Margareth Boss born in Switzerland Nov. 1831.

My dear brother according to your request I lay my hands upon your head in order to give unto you a patriarchal blessing Inasmuch as you have left your native land your friends your home and suffered many privations by land and by sea, in order that you might gather up with the people of God and forsake the pleasures of the world for a season. Therefore you shall be blessed with all the blessings that are promised in the gospel to the faithful followers of the Lord Jesus Christ. Thou art a descendent of Joseph the son of Jacob through the lineage of Ephraim. Therefore entitled to all the blessings of the new and everlasting covenant to which you are a legal heir. You shall be greatly blessed of the Lord and doubly rewarded for all your troubles and trials that you have been called to pass through for the gospel sake. Dear brother I bless you in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ that you may have health and vitality in your declining years that you may never be racked with pain and sickness but that you may enjoy life and that when you become fully ripe that you may go down to your grave in peace and that your end may be calm and sweet as it is with all who die in the Lord. I bless you that you may never want for the necessaries of life and that you will always have friends to comfort and minister to you in the time of need. By authority of the holy priesthood committed unto me, I seal you up into eternal life to come forth in the morning of the first resurrection and be crowned with honor and glory and be doubly rewarded for all that you have suffered for the gospel sake. In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, Amen. Isabella C Murdock, clerk.

Clara Alford and John Boss Jr.

John Boss Jr. was the oldest half-brother of Elizabeth Boss Kunz. He was the first child of Johannes Boss and his second wife, Margaretha Gertsch. He was born in Midway, Utah on June 19, 1891. My wife, Joyce and I remember John and Clara Boss very well. He lived in Provo, Utah in his later years.. We attended the funeral for both John and his wife, Clara.

History of John Boss Jr. by himself
Provo, Utah Feb 10, 1961

Born Midway Utah June 19, 1891. Father John Boss, Mother Margaret Gertsch Boss; brothers: William, Arnold, Conrad and sisters Ida, [and] Rosetta living, three passed away. Don't remember about childhood. All had the sickness of younger folks

Played marbles, ball and all school games. Took part in Sunday School, Primary, Religion Class etc. Economic conditions were bad, little money, little work. School days spent in Midway, Mr. Millar the principal. Studied just the grammar grades. Did the work on our garden, and lot, then worked as janitor at the church. I was reared in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and was impressed with the gospel, and the early days of the church.

My wife Clara Jane Alford and I courted nearly a year before we were married which was June 8, 1938. We have lived happily together and enjoyed the different amusements together, especially dancing. Have had no important part in politics, was interested in the town elections. Have taken part in church and war activities. My favorite recreation is visiting, dancing and gardening.

We have moved three times in different parts of the city since coming to Provo. The only traveling I have done is just on short trips in this state. We have no family.

I do janitor work for the Church, am a High Priest and enjoy church activities. Enjoy helping my fellow man and my neighbors. We make two trips a month to the temple, don't have any records of our own as yet.

My conditions have improved over the past and I look forward to happiness in the future. I enjoy my Patriarchal Blessing and use it for a guide from day to day. It has helped me considerable. Thus far have accomplished two hundred endowments and nine sealings.
(John Boss, Jr.)

The following is a copy of a letter given to Minerva B. Jessee by Rosetta Olsen, John Boss' sister. The letter was written by Margaritha Gertsch Boss, or Margaret Boss, as she came to be known. She was the second wife of Johannes Boss.

Midway, Utah
13 Feb. 1944

On Sunday the 13th Joe Huber moved John and Clara to Provo. They had a little trunk full of everything. John had Jonie Sulser to stop the water off in their home. I helped them all I could to get ready to go and John has a good job in Provo and he didn't like to get up every morning at 4:00 in this cold winter. They had a lot of trouble with their Bus going back and forth.

I felt so bad all day, and cried a lot. I don't like to be left alone in my old years; I'm one of them lonesome women. They left at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, it was so hard for me and John to say goodbye. John's head was in my neck a long time and I had my arms around him, we cried and said goodbye; we couldn't hardly let go of one another. He had his arms around me, Clara said, "O hurry up and don't be so funny, we are coming back again."

O, it is so terrible lonesome to see that little white house alone and nobody there, it breaks my heart. I love John a lot. They had me to their house for a good chicken supper and I had them in for a good supper too. We all had a good time together. Clara used to give me some good fresh bread. She made the best brown gravy I ever ate. She had a lot of good and a lot of bad in her like I have. I kissed Clara goodbye.

John gave me his plants to keep here. I'm taking good care of them 'till he comes and wants them.

It's a lovely afternoon. Joe Gertsch and his sweet little woman came over and said goodbye to John and Clara; they told me to cheer up and visit the neighbors a lot. They came from Salt Lake.

William Boss and Annie Bischoff Family Group Sheet

William Boss, the half-brother of Elizabeth Boss, was born July 24, 1892 in Midway, Utah. He worked at many different jobs in various places. As a young boy, I remember after church services in Bern, Idaho he would reward the young people, who helped pick up the hymn books and place them in the closet, with peppermint candy. During that same period of time "Aunt Annie," as we politely called her, as an older woman, was my teacher in Junior Sunday School. It was interesting that older women were called "Aunt," but older men were generally not called "Uncle." Aunt Annie was the writer of her husband, William's history.

Life History of William Boss written by his wife Annie Bischoff, April 9, 1961

William Boss was born on the 24 July 1892 in the home of Henry Zenger Sr., Midway, Utah. He was the son of Johannes Boss and Margaret Gertsch. He was only able to get as far as the sixth grade in school. Because of his father's advanced age and ill health he left school then upon the request of his father who was a carpenter, helping him in his work. Later, after the death of his father, Johannes, he went out to work for wages helping his widowed mother in her financial needs.

Some of these labors were herding sheep, working on ranches, later going to Salt Lake City, he ran an elevator for some time in the Hotel Utah. Still later he accepted a position on a ranch in Bear Lake Valley in the little town of Geneva, Idaho, working for a Mr. Boehme and later Mr. Tuescher.

The latter had a lovely daughter with whom he developed a courtship; their plans were to marry in June of 1919. This however was not realized. It was during the epidemic of Spanish Influenza, which followed World War I that she contracted it and died in the Montpelier Idaho Hospital.

During his last visit to her in the hospital he felt led to say to her upon leaving that he would not see her again. Perhaps he said this jokingly, as was his wont, and perhaps she accepted it in the same way. But nevertheless this is the way it happened. He also came down with the influenza shortly after this visit, and was seriously ill in the same hospital. During his stay there his sweetheart Elizabeth Tuescher died and was buried.

After his leave from the hospital in a very weak condition he stayed at the home of Seth N. Kunz in Montpelier, Idaho. And his good wife Emma took care of him until he was stronger, then he accepted a job on the ranch of Henry Kunz of Bern, Idaho, whose home was next door to that of William Bischoff, whose daughter Annie he later met and married on the 8 January 1920 in the Logan LDS Temple. He met me mixing bread in our kitchen in the evening in the spring of 1919.

Billy, as I always called him, had a happy home life with his parents, brothers and sisters. Yes he remembered his father. He said he never remembered him in any other way than with silver hair. He told me he was kind to them but punished them if they did things he did not approve of, which of course is right within reason.

The family loved to have friends and neighbors come in the evenings and he told me how they loved to get together and sing songs and enjoy good music. His parents were very hospitable and kind to everyone.

He enjoyed doing carpenter work with his father. I think this was one of his talents. There is still a lovely little table in Grandma Bosses home, which he made as a boy. Billy had the gift of making friends and had many in his lifetime.

I can't tell you anything about his schooldays as a child, or who his teachers were as I can't remember. When your letter came he was too ill to help me with it.

I think the holidays he liked best were Thanksgiving and Christmas. I remember how much he enjoyed the family gatherings at that time. [He enjoyed] the good meals - also the “bratzlies” and “dune kuchlie” special delicacies that they made in Switzerland. Then he loved a certain homemade candy, which his mother always made. He also liked the 4th and 24 July and the celebrations they had on those days. He also liked to go to the Hot Pots, and he loved to fish.

I can remember one prank because he loved to tell it. It seemed like his Uncle Conrad Gertsch always put his cream in a can or bucket with a lid on it into the top part of an apple tree each night to keep it cool. Billie and his cousin Clarence, one Sunday evening decided to raid this can and have their fill of cream. But when they were just ready to drink some they saw Uncle Conrad coming and in their haste to get away spilled most of it. He chased them, Clarence got away, but Billie had on a white shirt and as it was getting dusk Uncle Conrad kept an eye on this white shirt. Billie finally took it off and crawled through a fence and because he had on red flannel undies Uncle Conrad lost track of him.

William Boss

He climbed up a ladder to the open upstairs window. His father had been fixing something there and left the ladder. Billie crept to bed with his brother and told him to act as if he was asleep. Uncle Conrad came and asked Mother where “Willie” was. She said he was upstairs in bed. He didn’t believe this, so went up, but the little boys looked so innocent and asleep so he went back down. Later on he told his uncle, after we were married and he said, “dog gone you, I always thought that you was the one.”

I think his most interesting trip was when they took the family to the temple to be sealed to their parents. I can’t name his religious teachers as a child but do know whenever we went to Midway he enjoyed going to Grace Sondereggers class very much.

He hurt his back as a child, or young boy when he was working on a farm and was in the LDS Hospital in Salt Lake for some time. Later they took him to the temple to be baptized for his health, when they used to do that. And he always said after that he had no more trouble ever with his back and I know that to be true. I remember too when we went to be married he had a bad cold but when he came out of the temple it was gone. That too was a testimony to both of us. Billie had a great deal of faith and was true to the gospel of Jesus Christ to the end of his life. I am so thankful for that. In 1945 we had the privilege of going on a short-term mission to the Northern California Mission. We were stationed in Watsonville, Calif. We left for the mission home in Salt Lake on Jan 4, 1954 and arrived in the Mission home in San Francisco on the 13 Jan 1954 and left the mission field on 16 Oct 1954. He rejoiced greatly over this mission, and went at a time in his life when his health was not too good and his age was advanced. He was 62 years old. This was hard for him because of his years and lack of schooling, also lack of opportunity for study, but he never regretted it. He also had high blood pressure and a heart condition at that time.

He was a high Priest at the time of his death, was a Seventy when we were called on our mission. He was a ward teacher for many years they released him when his health failed. He worked in the MIA as Second Assistant, and in the Sunday School, as Second Assistant, he also taught a Priesthood class for a time. He took charge of the Green River, Wyoming Branch when the President moved from there until it was organized as a Ward with Bishop Albert Manwaring as Bishop.

After our marriage he went to Green River, Wyoming with the ice harvest crew [Ice was harvested in cold months and stored in sawdust to be used for the warm months] and then had a chance for a good job on the P.F.E. [Pacific Fruit Express] railroad there and so we spent a little over thirteen years there. Then we went to Bern, Idaho for six years working on a cattle ranch, also in Nounan Idaho on a cattle ranch. We spent one winter in Nounan and then back to Bern, from there he went to the Utah Agriculture College for the summer taking carpentry. He had a chance from there to go across the ocean in World War II and work in an airplane factory but I discouraged it. [I] didn't want him to go so far away. From there he went and worked on the Bushnell Hospital project as a saw filer. After that he worked a while in a bakery in Salt Lake signing up again for the Union Pacific Railroad Company. He worked there for eight and a half years, then, the last day of 1950 he came home retiring from the railroad because of ill health.

After that he worked around home making a garden, tending lawns, looking after fuel needs and painting the front fence. He loved to travel and he loved to work in the church and loved people and children.

We left Bern on Sep 30th 1944 having bought a home in Paris, Idaho and this has been our home ever since. His health became worse about the last of April, 1960; shortly after his mother passed away. He spent 24 days in July in the hospital, seemed to come very near death and then came back slowly, and for a while seemed some better. But after the first of the year his condition gradually became worse and he passed away about 8 pm in the evening of the 28 February 1961 at our home in Paris.

He was a dear, kind faithful husband. I surely do miss him. The question if his life was hard, happy or sad. I think he had some of each. One source of sadness was the fact that no children came to bless our union; this has been hard for both of us. He had his share of trouble and hard experiences, but he was never one to complain. He loved life and was happy most of the time in the face of all these things. (Annie Bischoff Boss)

Annie Bischoff Boss, William's wife wrote of their experience on the "Rich Place" on the river bottoms of the Bear River near Bern, Idaho, a ranch owned by Wilford Rich. This experience speaks of his feeding cattle on the Rich Place.

My Memories of the Bear Lake River Bottoms by Annie [Bischoff] Boss

"On the Meadow Floor Stands a Cabin, and a Creature Dwells Within it Like a Mouse"

As we rounded the bend in the willows there it stood, just a little gray weather beaten, one-roomed log cabin with another room beside it, which housed the machinery.

It was during the depression that my husband accepted the position of feeding the cattle for Mr. Rich. There was not much in material gain in it for us but it would provide the necessities of life, which during that time of stress was all important.

As I stood looking at the cabins' interior I thought, "I never dreamed I'd come to this." But after the ravages of the little wild creatures had been removed, clean building paper tacked to the ceiling, the walls freshly calcimined, the bare wooded floor well scrubbed, and the furniture, "which consisted of the bare necessities," as attractively placed as was possible, new flowered oil cloth on the table, the windows cleaned curtained, it really took on an air of hominess which I didn't dream possible.

I fell in love with it one night when a great round full moon crept up over the fringe of willows in the horseshoe bend. Lighting up the meadow with a glory of enchanting light, filling the cabin with its soft essence.

Annie Bischoff Boss

Looking back now I realize that I was rich indeed with all the real and worthwhile things so truly mine. In a way feel a sense of pity for those who have not had the opportunity of spending at least one year in the Bear Lake river bottoms. Large bends on the banks of the river with beautiful meadowlands surrounded and fringed by willows. These meadows produce great quantities of wild hay. This is irrigated in the spring by the water which comes from the mountains above and to the west of the meadows, from the melting snows. This water is stored in dams and there it lays and waters the land until early or late June according to the volume of water which was received, which in turn depends on the amount of the previous winter snowfall.

We moved to Mr. Rich's ranch in late October. The meadows were all golden, bathed in late warm autumn sunshine, dotted with red and white-faced cattle grazing contentedly. What a glory of freedom and beauty, and peace! I shall never forget.

One late afternoon not too long after our arrival there, my husband wanted me to walk up the meadow with him. The sun was sinking and there was a chill in the atmosphere. There was a little premature calf up above the stockyard, he explained, which would freeze if it stayed out all night. Together we walked up above the stack yard where it lay crying almost constantly. My husband picked it up gently and carried it back to the cabin where he laid it near the stove on some old canvas. We hoped we could save it with careful feeding and care, but our ministrations in its behalf were to no avail, as it died about two hours after.

One afternoon I was startled from my work by a strange thundering sound. I hurried to the door of the cabin and looking in the direction from which it came was soon rewarded by a band of beautiful horses coming around the bend and down the meadow.

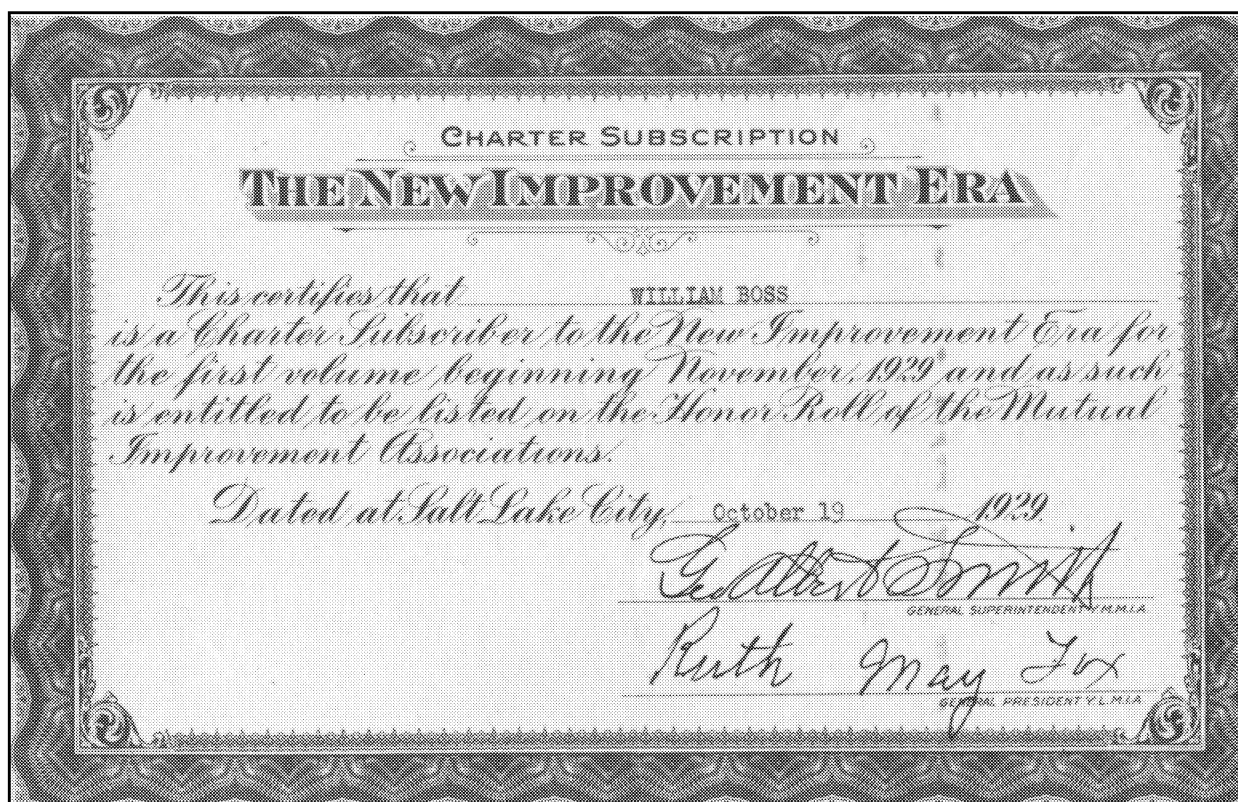

Bill, my husband, brought loads of cottonwoods and willows home, which would be our fuel for the winter. Once in a while I would go with him. What fun it was riding by his side through the lively meadows behind the big red and white team. The white horses name was Chub, and the red one was Hal; two more faithful creatures I'm sure could not have existed. I loved them. He must also watch the fences and keep out all stray animals.

After the snow came the cattle were taken down to the feed ground and then his work was to give them two loads of hay each day and keep the water holes on the outlet open. This was the cattle's only means of getting water.

Then there was our little dog Skeezi, which my brother gave us. She was part German shepherd and was a fine faithful creature. At first she always stayed with me. But one day I went with Bill to feed the horses which had their own special feed ground up in the south bend. I coaxed her to come up on the sleigh with us. She seemed extremely frightened. But after this she couldn't resist the temptation of going with Bill and from then on she was his constant companion. Most of the time she was riding with him on the load of hay or the empty rack.

This was a very light winter, not much snow and consequently there was no water for the hay the following spring. Instead of rain and watching dams, Bill and Mr. R.[Rich] repaired all the fences. After the cattle were branded and taken on the summer range our work there was finished. But the following fall Mr. Rich wanted us again and so once more we moved. This second winter was a very severe winter. We had deep snow and plenty of wind. Sometimes the drifts were so deep my husband could not get through them with a full load of hay. But would have to take several small loads on the riding sleigh until the road though the drifts was opened sufficiently for the horses to pull a full load through. He also had to keep dry sticks along the way to mark the road when future snow and wind cold come. One afternoon they killed an old cow and left her carcass lying below the calves feed lot about a block and one half below and north of the house for the dog to feed on. One day Bill said there were coyote tracks leading to and from it, and he decided to drag it far enough away so the dog would not bother it, and set some traps around it, which he did. That night we were startled from our sleep by the wild cry of a wolf not far away. I was sure it was caught in those traps and dreamed of an unusually large wolf in the traps, which we were unable to get close enough to kill. But in the morning nothing had molested the traps and strange to say nothing went near them and finally it was snowed under.

Our drinking water was hauled from my father's ranch about three miles distance across the outlet. One evening just at sunset we were coming along the feed ground [where the cattle were fed] with the water. The cattle had all bedded down for the night and Skeezix was riding in the sleigh. Suddenly just a ways in front of us there was, "what appeared to be a large German shepherd," running leisurely along. I looked back and there were two more not far behind us. I was delighted. I said to Bill, "Oh look at all those nice police dogs following us. Police dogs, he laughed those are coyotes."

The hay had to be hauled from a long distance as there had been none raised on the ranch the previous summer.

The calves had to be fed every day at noon. Bill did not get back until late so it was my job to go out to the corral each day at noon and feed them. I enjoyed doing this. We had a cat, which the neighbors had given us. I called it Pussyfoot. It would climb upon my shoulder and together we would go over other corrals and feed the calves. It took me an hour to fill the long mangers with hay. The sun shone warm and I liked to hear the calves munch the hay. Once in a while when Bill would come with his load he would bring a bunch of interesting magazines Mr. Rich had given him. What a thrill I use to get out of those.

Every morning there would be a heavy fog, which would disappear about ten o'clock and then what a fairyland was ours. In the evening about sunset it would come slowly down from the mountains until we were completely enveloped in its gray white mist. This gives a peculiar sense of being all alone and far away. One night when the lamp was lit a wolf howled from out of that strange still mist, not far from the cabin.

In February invariably came a warm wet spell. How I loved it, with the snow coming down all day in feathery stillness. The willows but a penciled gray outline through the heavy snow. The woodpeckers came and hammered away at the old logs of the cabin. Getting flies and worms from out the crevices with their long bills.

On warm and sunny days the blackbirds sang beautifully each morning in the willows by the barn. And there was the big gray wolf coming through the meadow one morning. I stepped out doors and it stopped and looked at me. I shall never forget the picture it made. Its tall gray form, long upstanding ears, great green eyes, and a bush of a tail hung to the ground. The dogs barked and ran towards it and then it turned and disappeared into the willows.

Suddenly it was spring. One day Bill said the water was coming. The work on the dams started, all around us almost up to the door of the cabin was water. We had to wear rubber boots whenever we went a few feet from the house. One warm afternoon as I was sewing the snipes [birds] began to sing. I'd heard two or three but never a group. I've never heard anything which thrilled me more. The geese, the seagulls, and great white pelicans floated about on the lake in front and below the house.

When the wind blew the lake became a dark steel gray, with miniature waves washing upon on the banks of the dam. On sunny blue days it was beautifully clear and blue. If a mild wind blew it rippled gently. It was ever moving, ever changing. On still moonlight nights there was a trail of silver all down its surface. Why need we travel with such beauty and loveliness lying at our feet?

When the water slowly receded and the hay grew thick and long the skypoke would wander about in it and if they happened to see you they would hide very quickly. Later would come the kingfishers with their black and silver wings, and bodies. They would flutter above the tall hay then swiftly drop down and as swiftly return with their catch. The ducks and geese hatched their young and brought them up on the dams to feed, and to teach them to swim. I don't know what can bring greater sense of peace at evening than a few ducks winging their way into the sunset. There were the egrets, the avocet - many different varieties of birds. I cannot mention them all. When the evenings became hot and sultry then came our trial, the mosquitoes. A while before sunset you must hurry into the house, stop up every crack and crevice, and remain there until morning or you could not bare the torture of them. When the hay was cut they disappeared as quickly as they came.

We were there six years and the last two we remained on through the summer.

The floor of the cabin was warped from dampness and wide cracks between the boards in a few places. One morning I turned and there was a large water snake half way in the room. I looked at it and said, "Get back down there," and as if it understood it obeyed instantly. Sometimes when I came in from outdoors a snake would meet me going out.

There's the tussle I had with a great golden brown bumblebee, which had found its way into the window. I could not find courage to kill it on such a beautiful summer day so I struggled about fifteen or twenty minutes getting it into a fruit jar. Then putting a piece of cardboard over the top of the bottle I carried it carefully outdoors and was rewarded for my trouble by watching it soar joyously away into the blue.

In late summer the deer would feed peacefully on the meadow. One morning there was a large buck in the corral. He leaped the four-foot fence with ease and fled with our dog, wolf at his heels.

One cold November morning when the river was freezing up Bill came in from the barn and told me there was a large white cat in the barn. It had made itself a nest on the floor in the corner of Chubs' stall. He mentioned it several times but I was too busy to go in search of it.

On Thanksgiving day after dinner Bill called me to come and see the cat. I called to it, and it stopped and looked at me. I rushed into the house after a choice bit of chicken from our dinner and coaxed it to come to me. After it had eaten the chicken it became our true friend. I loved that cat very much. I named her Taberlane. With the exception of a few spots on its head it was snowy white, but for its three-colored tail, which was very beautiful when she ruffled it up which she often did when the dogs were around. It loved to play and each morning when I went over to the water hold, it would come to meet me and together we would go down the path. Soon she would run ahead of me and then come back as if she meant to attack me. Coming with her tail all ruffled up and walking sideways stiff legged. When she was very near she would become all limp and loving and kittenish. She loved to skate on the ice. I'd throw small piece of it across the smooth surface of the frozen river and she would chase after them joyously coasting the rest of the way. She was never satisfied until she had enjoyed this for at least five minutes each morning. One beautiful spring morning she disappeared and I grieved over the loss of my Taberlane, or Queenie as I often called her.

Taberlane, the cat

Then there was the sunset. It was beautiful at any time of the year. I watched it each evening from the window. In the autumn it was exceptionally beautiful. The meadows were all golden, the willows barren of their dress in their rich brown, the deep blue of the mountains in the distance, glorious colors of rose shading to pink and gold in the sky, what joy to the soul, words cannot express it. Arnold Boss and Annie Cooper Family Group Sheet

Arnold Boss was the son of Johannes Boss and Margaritha Gertsch Boss. He was born November 12, 1894 in Midway, Utah. He was the half-brother of Elizabeth Boss. I do not remember him, but I do remember his two daughters and son. They were always very pleasant to be with. Arnold wrote something of his own history at the instigation of Minerva Boss Jessee.

Facts Pertaining to my History, by Arnold Boss

My father, John Boss, was a native of Switzerland. He was born 2 Nov 1831 at Guendlishwand, Switzerland. My father's father was a carpenter and a farmer. My father, also became a builder of homes, and developed into a designer, and contractor and he built some beautiful hotels. These, of course, are standing today.

He married his first wife, Marianna Gertsch, in the year 1857. The place was in Guendlishwand. She was born April 10, 1836. She died August 22, 1885.

My father and his father's people were Lutherans in faith. The restored gospel was introduced in Switzerland in the year 1850. My father was 19 years of age at that time. Years later, when he was at the height of his building profession, Mormon elders visited the country where he resided and presented the gospel to him. He accepted it and was baptized in the year 1875. He was then in his 54th year. [44th year] From his first marriage there were 12 children born.

Chapter 25 Arnold Boss and Annie Cooper Holiday

After my father's first wife died, he married a second lady. Her name was Margaret Gertsch. This marriage took place early in the year 1891. Exact date is not available. [April 28, 1891] My father's first wife would not receive the gospel. [It is problematic whether she was too ill at this time to be baptized or whether she was opposed to it] Father's three oldest sons, also refused to have anything to do with Mormonism. His home was a broken home. Religious differences broke it up.

Cloward and Arnold Nathan Boss

My father emigrated to the United States in the Spring of 1891. He brought with him, at that time, my mother and two small sons. [from the first marriage, Adolf was 15 years old and Peter was 12 years old] After arriving in America he came direct to Utah. From Salt Lake City, he went to Midway, Utah.

From his second marriage I, Arnold Boss, was born. I was the third child born of this marriage. I was reared in Midway, Utah. I attended the common district schools in this little wonderful town, and spent much of my boyhood years here. When I was eleven years of age, I went to Garland, Utah. A son of father's first wife by the name of Peter Boss, had also emigrated to Utah and went to that place to live. He was a farmer. I stayed with him for a period of eight years. One of those eight years I missed going up there. I would leave my home, the family residence, at Midway, early in the spring and stay there until late fall. Then I would return to my parents and attend school through the winter months. I spent one year through the winter at Garland. Through that winter, I attended the district school there. I graduated from the district school. For graduating exercises we went to Brigham City. There we received our diplomas.

During the winter of 1913-14 with a boy friend of mine, George King, I attended the Brigham Young College over at Logan, Utah. Together we batched. We secured a one room unit, it was quite large, and in it was our bed, our table, our stove, etc. This was a lovely experience.

In the spring of 1914, I came to Salt Lake City. I have been living here ever since. It is now, April 27, 1961. I became engaged at various types of work. One reason why I left my father's home early was that there was no work to be obtained in Midway or Wasatch County. From my father's second marriage nine children were born. I was the third child. My birth took place January 12, 1894. Mother was born at Wengen, Switzerland April 20, 1873.

When I was living here in Salt Lake World War I broke upon the world. In time the United States became involved. I enlisted April 22, 1918. I was sent overseas with the expeditionary forces. I saw action on the battlefield. I was disabled, was sent to the hospital and while there, the war ended. I was in the Muse-Argonne offensive, also the St. Mihiel. I was unmarried at the time. I was discharged in the United States at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming the 1st day of May 1919.

While working at the credit department at the Salt Lake Glass and Paint Company I had the privilege to enter school at the University of Utah. I attended this university for three successive years. I graduated from this institution in June 1924. I obtained a B.S. degree.

After I was discharged from the army and found suitable work I married Annie Cooper of Holladay. The marriage took place here in Salt Lake City, October 7, 1919. We rented a house to begin with. April 26, 1921 we purchased a home at 2752 McClelland Street in Salt Lake City. We paid for this home that same year. In June 1926 we moved from the home at McClelland Street to 360 Harrison Ave into a much larger home. The new home cost us $4200. We have lived here ever since.

I have spent many years traveling. I have been engaged in sales work. I have traveled in this type of work in the states of Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada. I found it very educational. I learned much about human nature. It is a great education to find out how people live, what they do, how they believe and what they aim for.

I have been criticized for not adopting the teaching profession, but my field was another field. I have never regretted the training I have received while mixing with the general public. My work has brought me in contact with tens of thousands of people - people of nearly every profession in life. When I was away on weekends, I never sat in hotels. On Sundays I visited the churches of every Christian denomination when available. I visited many of our own wards. This was a tremendous education in itself to me. I wanted to find out how far the understanding of true religion was accepted.

In this very brief narrative I am passing by many of the most essential interwoven in my life. My experience has taught me from experience many people are not honest. Nor do they, nor will they, hold sacred things when told them sacredly. Things the most valuable in my life I do not record here I will say, I have been in the Patriarchal order of marriage.<sup>1</sup> One of the most bold laws God ever revealed in this dispensation, to his servant Joseph Smith.

My wives were sealed to me by a legal administrator. There are no people on earth today, I have found, who have tried to degrade and hold up to contempt this principle, as has our own Mormon people. I spent thirty-one months in Utah's penal institution for having obeyed this law. It has never ceased being lived since it was introduced by the Prophet,

Joseph Smith at Nauvoo, Ill. It will never stop being lived until the Son of Man comes in the clouds to take over the temporal government of this earth. Not only then, but it will continue being lived through the Millennium and through the eternities.

When the civil authorities appeared with a summons for my arrest, the warrant, which I still retain, bore the names of two Mormon Church authorities as my accusers; it also contained information, the Church historian's office was involved. Just as Joseph Smith was betrayed by his own counselor in the First Presidency of the church in the early 1840's and other of his brethren for his living the patriarchal order of marriage [polygamy], which hastened his innocent death, so the historical fact remains, that in these valleys of the mountains, the Latter-day Saint Church leaders stood in the vanguard to bring persecution, prosecution, and confinement for living this law in Utah's Penitentiary. This is a chapter of history that will never die with time or eternity.

My own children know many of the essentials entering into my life's history. For them I will write a complete record with many details. I have been asked by my brother's daughter, Minerva Jessee, of Springville, Utah, for a recital of experiences while living with her father and mother. I will refer to some of these.

When I went to live with my [half] brother, Peter Boss, at Garland, Utah he had been married to Ida Kunz, some months before. She came from Bern, Idaho. There were no children in the family at the time I went to live with them. There was a time, they feared there might not be any children. My brother informed me of this. Children finally came to bless their home.

Those were pioneer days up there. My [half] brother [Peter Boss] had purchased twenty acres of land. He was heavily in debt for the same. There was no house on the property when it was purchased. My brother purchased a two-room frame building and had it transferred to this land he had purchased. It had no sheeting on the outside. One could see the studding arising on all four sides. There was no foundation under the house for a good while after I arrived there. The wind blew fiercely at times. (We, as inmates, got the benefit of the surge.) Sometimes dust came in clouds through the air. It left its imprint in the home. But they never felt discouraged. The chicken used to lay eggs under the house. I would locate the nests, and bring the eggs for table use. My brother had an acre of his land, just north and northwest of the house that was saturated with alkali. He used some of this unproductive soil to make dobies of. These dobies were used to fill in and outside portion of the home between the studdings to help keep the cold winter winds out. I was asked to take my shoes and stockings off, and help knead the mud with bare feet. We made enough dobies to encase the house. Later a foundation was placed under the house.

We never missed going to Sabbath School, nor to sacrament meetings. That was the life of the family. I remember after Sabbath school was over, in place of eating at the table, dinner was taken to the haystack. We sat in the shade and ate our dinner. It was while on this farm that I got my first introduction to eating canned tomatoes. It was a struggle to eat them. It was food I had never been introduced to before. Sometimes there wasn't a choice in food selection, but I got hungry enough to eat tomatoes, and I learned to relish them.

My brother's wife, [Ida Kunz Boss] was an expert on cooking brown beans. They were plentiful and raised on the farm. We had them very often and they were made tasty and palatable. She made milk gravy, thick gravy. I loved it very much. I wish I had some now. They had cows and made their own butter; there was always plenty of good milk. My brother's wife, Ida, had little money to spend. Money was scarce. She used to make butter, which was delightful to the taste. Many and many a time I was asked to drive down to the old mercantile store and exchange it for other things needed. They did not get cash for it, but a barter system existed, and exchanges were made for needed things. Many were the pounds of butter she took or sent down to that store and all she obtained in money value was .15 cents for a lb. And they were glad to get it. They always had a lovely patch of strawberries. They were wonderful in their season. My brother used to sell them to the swanky families, as we called them down sugar factory road. In those days there were 15 deep cups to the case. The cups holding twice as many berries as the crates sell for today, which contain only 12 cups. We would pick them, buy and pay for the crates, select only the best for sale, and deliver them to the people, who after learning my brother and wife had them for sale for the price of .75 cents a case. Then, sometimes, he did not get the cash at the time. In those days, from 1907 to 1912, farmers thought that was a fair price.

Sugar beets were at that time a yearly crop. The price at times was around $5.00 per ton. When it went beyond that, the farmers' eyebrows raised. My brother always tried to keep good horses. He had some fine animals. They were not the balky kind. They always were faithful and dependable. If he learned he had a balky animal, it was disposed of. The farmer's life is an exacting one. If you wished results, you worked for it. Day in and day out we were up with the rising sun; we worked until the setting of the sun. In the fall of the year, when beet harvest time was on, we were always up before daybreak and would work in the late evenings until it was dark, then quit, go home and do chores. I used to be thankful for the Sabbath when it rolled around. I knew it was a day of rest.

The family had a struggle to pay their interest on the annual payments on farm indebtedness. At times they did not know where or how to obtain even the interest for payment on the principal. I remember one time when it was due and they did not have it to pay. My brother had a black horse. It was a beautiful animal. They prayed over the matter and decided they had better sell the animal to meet the obligation, but then they needed it for fall plowing. They were terribly disturbed over being unable to keep their work. I do not remember exactly how or what bridged the gap, but I retain a faint recollection an arrangement was made to carry the interest on and apply it to the principal. I could be mistaken in this; anyhow they were greatly relieved to think they could retain their horse.

I will relate another incident, which my brother told me of. While the crops were in growing, if there was any kind of work that could be found paying anything, it was taken advantage of. I was told by my brother, Peter, that he took an assignment to take wheat to the mill. He was driving south on the main highway from his home with a load. Those were dirt roads in those days. After winter was over and thawing time set in, one would always see wagon traces, large indentures, and irregularities that tossed the wagons and buggies up and down. He came to a place which, when he struck it, dislodged his wheat in front on which he sat upon, and down it went taking him with it. He told me the wagon wheel just shaved his head as it passed by. It was so remarkable for an experience, he said, it bothered his mind thinking how close he was to have his head mashed with the

He told the circumstances to his wife, whereupon she related the following: That morning, shortly after he passed the home with his load, while alone and silently meditating, she said a voice spoke to her saying, "Go and pray for your husband." When he told her what had nearly happened, he and she saw the answer for the strange instruction given to his wife.

I use to be a baby sitter, while they would drive to some special meeting. Sometimes there were one child, later two and three. I not only watched over the children, but my assignment was also to handle diapers when necessary. These assignments I never relished.

I had learned to blow the trumpet somewhat in my teenage days. I remember buying a new one from the Consolidated Music Company at Salt Lake City and obligating myself to pay $65 for it. I used to play for dances, which were held at Garland and Fielding. We use to play for all the troop shows that would pass through in the summer months. We were never paid for them, [their performances] we only had to play two or three selections before the performances commenced, at intermission of acts, and at the end. We watched the shows, that was our pay.

While I was up there, there were no public entertainments. We used to make our own. We would rotate from house to house. There was a group of us young people, and parties were held, sometime, as often as once a week. We would play games. We never played them among ourselves. The homes at which they were held, the parents participated in the fun as much almost as the young. We had plenty of good things to eat, punch etc. and everything was such that would delight one's remembrance.

Now, I am ending this little brief. It is only a brief of my early life, with a few narratives associated with it. The full record I will present to my children. It belongs in our home, and too, there are many things in my life that I do not wish the public to have to mock at. Some things are very sacred, and sacred things should be treated sacredly. I hope there will be no offence in connection with what I have written, or what I have not written. (Arnold Boss, April 28, 1961)

Minerva indicated that Arnold Boss was excommunicated from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for being affiliated with the Eastmanite sect.

Minerva Boss Jessee wrote the following after receiving Arnold's history:

Arnold tried to influence his father, Johannes Boss, and mother [Margaritha Gertsch] and Aunt Mary Ann Zenger to accept the Eastmanite belief, in fact, he stated in some of his writings that they believed and accepted these teachings. They, no doubt, listened to what he had to say, especially his parents, but all three of them died in good standing in The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. (Minerva Boss Jessee)

Ervin James Peterson and Ida Margaret Boss Family Group Sheet - # 2

Ida Margaret Boss was born September 20, 1895 and was a half-sister to Elizabeth Boss. She presents her own history as follows:

I was the fourth child of Johannes Boss and Margaret Gertsch Boss. My brothers John, William and Arnold were the three older than I. Conrad, Rosetta, Clara, Henry and Stella were younger. Henry died at the age of eight and a half years. Stella was eighteen months old when she died. She was a sickly baby. Clara died in Hoytsville, Utah. She had poor health for years after her marriage to Alvin Pace. She was broken hearted over the fact that she couldn't have children. She taught school for several years in Hoytsville and Midway. William died in Paris, Idaho in March 1961 [February 28, 1961] of heart disease. He and his wife had no children.

I was born in Midway, Utah on September 20, 1895 in the home occupied by Henry and Marianna Zenger, my half-sister, across the road from the district schoolhouse (which was built later.)

When I was a small girl I started to help my mother with the housework and tending the babies. As I grew older I started to sew. I made clothes for my doll. I made clothes for all of the girls in our family. I kept on getting better at sewing and the generous neighbors let me sew for them. I always loved to sew. I have always liked to make quilts, afhagans, and all kinds of handiwork. I have helped with the sewing and welfare work in Marion Ward for years.

My father milked several cows. The boys would help him. We made butter and cheese and stored it in our large cool cellar. I can still remember the cellar in the fall, with the bins full of potatoes and carrots, shelves full of ripe red apples. Row after row of bottles of home canned fruit. Home cured and smoked hams, sausages and bacons hung from the ceiling beams. The cellar was a real store house. We gathered serviceberries up the Snake Creek and dried them for the winter. They were so good to eat when we came home from school.

I can remember so well, the hours spent working in our vegetable garden. All the children helped plant and weed it. It was often my job to get the vegetables from the garden for our meals. How crisp and sweet were the peas, carrots and turnips.

Mother used to fix lettuce with fried home cured bacon crumbled and crisp, she called it "wilted lettuce," and it tasted so good. The fresh bread and smoked sausage my mother cooked still stand out in my memory as the best food I have ever eaten. The cheese had to be cured until it was ripe. My grandfather, Conrad Gertsch, made his cheese in a cheese house. He had a big kettle which hung on a frame. A low fire burned under it. He wore a black cap and whistled as he worked. All of the children watched him and he always gave us a hand full of the fresh curd to eat.

My father was a carpenter, a bricklayer and a mason. He was always a hard-working man. He was a very proud man, carried himself very erect. He was kind and good to us children. He was seldom angry. On his deathbed he prayed that my mother would not have such a sad time after he died. He said the children would help and we all did the best we could. We all worked and found jobs and brought the money home to help out.

My mother was a widow for a good many years. She was lonely and sad when we all got married and left home. When she was sick all of us children were good to her. We took her into our homes to care for her and sometimes we went to her home and stayed with her. She was so happy and thankful for her children. She loved us all and all of her grandchildren. She was very generous, always helping people and visiting the sick and lonely. When Thanksgiving came, we children were sent with gifts of fresh bread, cookies and jelly to some of the older folks who were unable to do for themselves.

Mother went out nursing for several years. During the Influenza epidemic of 1918 she worked with many families. Mother was always busy working. She could knit a pair of long stockings in two evenings for the girls. They were warm and itchy. Every child had homemade stockings when I was a girl.

One day mother was going to Relief Society and wanted me to tend the younger children. She hadn't been gone long until some Indians came begging for food. There was the old buck, his squaw and four young children all dressed in bright blankets. I told them Mother was away and I had no food except some fresh vegetables from our garden. They wanted meat and bread and went away mumbling. We were all frightened and stayed in the house until Mother returned.

We children use to have fun coasting down the hill and going to friends homes to play. One time the school children went to Schneiter's Hot Pots, now called the "Homestead" I nearly drowned in the pool as I didn't know how to swim.

When I was a girl going to school there was a small store on the Southwest corner of the public square, old Caddy Murdock was the owner and I can recall the big sack of hard tack she'd use to give us for an egg.

Our home life was very happy. We did not have all of the things some of the other people had, but we all felt secure and if we were poor there were many others in the same boat.

My childhood friends were neighbor girls. Ruby Watkins was my best friend. We were inseparable for years. We use to go down to the creek and eat lunch, fish, read books and maybe just lay on the soft green grass under a shady tree and study our lessons.

My schooling was in Midway, Utah in the grades and at Wasatch High School in Heber, Utah. I graduated from High School in June 1916. I liked school except algebra. I loved sewing classes and cooking. My sewing teacher was Louise Schulte from Wisconsin. She was so pretty and good to us all. Miss Margaret Crook, a spinster, was another sewing teacher. She was always kind of cross to all of the students.

Dermont Hufacker was my favorite teacher in the grades. He was so handsome and good to us all. He had a wonderful sense of humor and lots of patience. Mr. Miller was our English teacher. Mr. Whitaker was our music teacher and was a good teacher but had a violent temper.

When I went to High School in Heber, I rode in a buggy with Grace Watkins and her sister Ruby. The school board paid us mileage. I gave Grace my check for the rides. Otto Luke drove a pair of horses in a white top rig. Sometimes we had races coming from Heber with other school people. One time during a race, our two white tops had a collision on the old river bridge. The wheels were locked and the horses ran wild and some of the students were hurt. We were all frightened. The ones that got their clothes torn and bloody, really felt hurt, as the clothes were hard to get with the money being so scarce.

The holidays I liked best when I was a girl were Christmas and the fourth of July. Santa Claus always came in person to our house with a bag of toys for all of us. True, they were not elaborate and costly but they pleased us no end. My father was a real good singer. He and Mother and all of the children would sing songs on Christmas Eve. Mother would cook a real good Christmas Eve supper with smoked ham, fresh bread, red-currant wine and Bratzlin, (the Swiss cakes made on a Bratzlin iron brought from Switzerland.)

On the fourth and twenty-fourth of July, there would always be the celebration in the town hall, and the program in the forenoon. The committee in charge used to borrow the new tin tubs from Bonner's store and make ice cold lemonade in them and serve it to the thirsty crowd. The games and races were fun, with prizes to the ones who could eat the most soda crackers. Sack races were run, greased pigs were chased and finally caught, ball games and there was always a big dance at night in the dance hall.

My best religious teachers were Ruth O'Neil in Primary, Mary Probst in Mutual and Orson Matthews in Sunday School. I use to feel bad when I couldn't go to Choir Practice. It seemed like all the young folks were in the Choir. Simon Epperson and his wife were the leaders. Emery and Lawrence Amos and their mother were all good singers. Mrs. Epperson was a wonderful whistler. They were always on all the programs. Bishop Jacob Probst was the Bishop in the Second Ward in Midway for thirty five years. He was really good to us all. I remember Jonie Forti and his wife as being good friends to us through the years.

I met my husband, Ervin J. Peterson, from Kamas, at a school dance in Heber. We were married two years later in the Court House in Heber by Doctor Ray Hatch, 29 November 1916. We have had five children, four boys and one girl. My married life has been happy and some sadness. Our first son died of appendicitis when he was thirteen years old. We went through the hard years of World War II sending our children into the service, worrying over them, and praying for their safe return.

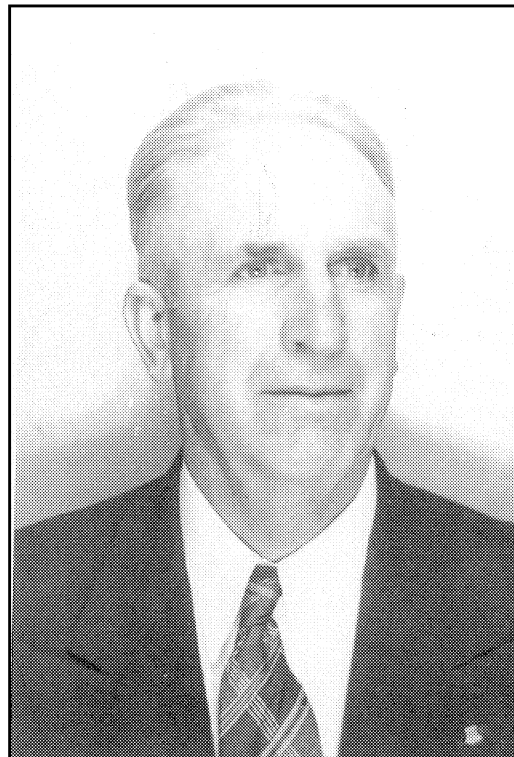

We have lived on a farm, where my husband worked so hard over the years. He has been an excellent husband, father and provider. He has been a community leader in our valley, always taking an active part in all phases so community life, politics, schools and utilities. He was President of the water company for many years. We have lived in two homes since our marriage, both in Kamas.

Our children went to school in Marion to the grades, to the high school in Kamas and Weber College in Ogden and L.D.S. College in Salt Lake City, City College of San Francisco and Technical Schools.

Our children are Keith, born October 1, 1917 in Marion, Summit County, died at age thirteen of appendicitis; Darrell R. born April 25, 1919 in Marion. He lives in Sacramento California. Works as the Valley Representative for the Sacramento Builder's Exchange. Graduate of Weber college in Ogden; Fay H. was born January 3, 1921 in Marion and now lives in Salt Lake City. He is a carpenter foreman at the Hercules Powder Company working on missiles; Marjorie was born January 4, 1925 in Midway and now lives in San Francisco, Calif. Attended L.D.S. Business College in Salt Lake City. She married Wallace E. Pitt of Kamas, who is a graduate of Brigham Young University; Barry E. born February 27, 1927 in Coalville, Utah; Marion and now lives in Hayward, California; and Lee R. born February 27, 1927 in Marion, Utah now lives in Hayward, California. Conrad Boss and Ruby Abeglin Family Group Sheet

Conrad Boss is the half-brother of Elizabeth Boss. I do not remember him, but I do remember his wife, Ruby and his daughter June. They are a wonderful family who are well respected in Midway, Utah. Conrad wrote his history as follows:

History of Conrad Boss Written May 26, 1961 by himself

I, Conrad Boss, was born in Midway, Utah December 27, 1897. I was born in a three-room rock house on the west side of Midway, Utah. There was no doctor, just a midwife, Cordelia Wilson, known to everyone as "Aunt Delie. My father's name is Johannes Boss Sr. and he was born in Guendlishwand, Switzerland 2 December 1831. My mothers name is Margaret Gertsch Boss and she was born April 20, 1873, in Wengen, Bern, Switzerland. My father was a carpenter by trade, and he built many hotels and homes in Switzerland. He died when I was only fifteen years old and left my mother with a family of seven children, so we learned to work hard when very young.

We lived close to a creek called "Snake Creek" where we spent a lot of our childhood days in the summer time, fishing and etc. In the winter we would go sleigh riding on the Creek hill about a block from our house. We lived about four blocks from a store and I can never remember my father or mother going to the store, that they did not bring us children a sack of candy or nuts or some surprise. There was a small grocery store one and one half blocks away from our home, where we as boys would gather. The store was owned by Gottliebe Probst. It was a gathering place for the neighborhood boys in the evenings and we would sing old time songs and play games. The neighborhood boys were Francis Probst, Trace Blood, Bernard Kuhni, Lamont Epperson, Nate Springer, Karl Probst, Very Probst, Alma Huber, Joe Probst and many others. One evening my sister ____ and her girl friend came to the store, and asked the grocery clerk if they could buy 25 cents worth of "nigger nuts", meaning Brazil nuts. We boys thought that was a real good joke.

Now to the days of the flies. To get rid of them I remember the city giving us a prize for the one who brought in the biggest lot of dead flies. If they would get too thick in the house they would open the door and two or three people would get a dishtowel and start at the other end of the room and start switching them until they got to the door. You would be surprised how many you could drive out.

I attended the grade schools, graduated from the eighth grade, which in those days was equal to four years of High School. I went to two years of High School and was a great basketball player. I was also in all of the school's operettas and I loved to sing. I had a lovely tenor voice. My favorite teacher was William Bond - the principal of the Wasatch High School. He wanted me play basketball with the Wasatch High School team and he would help me through school - for my mother didn't have the money. But my brother Bill coaxed me to go to Idaho with him to help him manage a 150-acre farm. There was a lot of excitement for us boys when the old threshing machine pulled into town, we would watch them fasten the old horse power down and hitch six teams of horses on and around and around they would go. The straw would start to come out of one end of the pipe and grain would come out of the grain spout. Altogether it would take ten or twelve men to do the job, and the housewife would cook the meals. She would cook chicken or beef with all the trimmings. The farmer would sack enough wheat and take it to the gristmill to make flour to last for the coming year.

In April 1917 the United States entered World War I. I and six other boys volunteered to go in the army. We were the first volunteers in Wasatch County. They gave us a big celebration, parades, banquets and a dance at night. I took Ruby Abegglen home from the dance that night. We thought from the first time we went out together that we were meant for each other. In those days if a boy wanted to show a girl a good time, he would go to the livery stable and hire a horse and buggy and take her for a buggy ride.

I will never forget the first time we went for a buggy ride. When we arrived home she thanked me for the good time we had. From then on I knew she was the girl for me. We had to make our own amusement and we really had some good times together. The day we left everybody in Wasatch County came to the Denver and Rio Grand railroad station at Heber to see us off and wish us good luck. We were sent to Fort Winfile Scott and Fort Baker, California. I was stationed there for 17 months. In August 1918 we sailed from New York for Brest, France on the ship "Mr. Vernon." We were eight days on the water (Pacific Ocean.) Our company was sent to Bordeaux and there I went to school in Napoleon's barns, and graduated as a Motorcycle man. Our company was on its way to Metz - the main battlefront when the armistice was signed. Our company set sail for home - the good old U.S.A. - at Marlsiea on the ship America, We sailed through the Mediterranean Sea. We saw the north coast of Africa, stopped for coal (fuel) at the Rock of Gibraltar and landed at Long Island, New York. From there we were sent to Fort Russell, Wyoming. I was given an honorable discharge March 27, 1919.

I came back to my home in Midway and found my old sweetheart waiting for me. I got a job down at the Jordan Narrows watching the Murdock Canal for one year. The next year, October 18, 1921 we were married in the Salt Lake Temple by George F. Richards and we have paddled the canoe together ever since. What makes every woman the angel that she is, with the flower of forgiveness in her heart. I think my wife leads them all. Ruby's father was in poor health so he wanted me to help him take care of his eighty-acre farm so I did. We lived with her parents for three years and while there a lovely baby girl was born to us, which was our pride and joy. We named her June Utahna Boss.

In the year 1923 we went to Evanston, Wyoming as I had a job with the Union Pacific Railroad as a machinist. We lived there for __ years. When the machine shop closed down I was transferred to Park City to take care of the Union Pacific round house in the year 1927. We lived there four years and in the year 1928 a baby boy was born to us at the Park City Hospital and he was really a bundle of joy. We named him Jay Conrad Boss.

In the year 1931 we moved back to our hometown of dear old Midway and bought Ruby's grandfather's (Andreas Burgener) home, where we are living now. My wife Ruby had a good education. She graduated from the eighth grade and high school and was in all the plays and operettas. I think she is one of the best readers I have ever heard, and a very good speller. We used to have "spelling matches" to see who could stay up the longest, and she was always the last one down. She is a wonderful cook and always said, "I love my own family the best, why shouldn't I give them the best?"

My hobby is fishing and can Ruby ever cook the fish! There has been many a meal with platters of fish and many invited guests to enjoy eating them. We also have made many widows and friends happy by giving them a platter of fish. Ruby's hobby is flower gardening. She dearly loves the outdoors. She and June have won several trophies in flowers and flower arrangements at the Utah State Fair and Midway Swiss Days. In the year 1950 she was president of the Midway Garden Club and won the "Fred Augburger" trophy and orchid for doing the most beautification for our town of Midway. The award was for planting shrubs, trees and flowers.

I worked for the Bureau of Reclamation for ten years and I am now working for the Metropolitan Water District of Salt Lake City and like it fine. In the year 1958 I had a sympathetic operation on one of my main arteries in my leg. I was in the hospital for three months, but through faith and prayers and help of my family I am back to good health once again.

Our children are married now. June married Richard Tatton and has a fine son named Ricky. Jay married Arlene Moss and has a daughter named Debra. June and Jay both graduated from high school with high honors. They both went to college -June at the BYU in Provo and Jay to the AC [Agricultural College, now called Utah State University] in Logan. June went out in music and is an accomplished pianist and gives lessons. Jay went out in agronomy and is now working for Cal Pack Company as their division Agriculture Research Director. He and his family are being transferred to Verona, Italy.

In our church activities we have all worked together. I was baptized 1 July 1906 by Fred Hasler and confirmed a member of the church by Jacob Probst in Midway. I was ordained an Elder 16 October, 1921 by Bishop Jacob Probst. Ruby has worked for 40 years in the Primary organization as counselor, teacher and organist. She is now theology teacher in Relief Society and is also on the Stake Sunday School board as a chorister. June has been a teacher and organist and secretary in several organizations. Jay [served] as the secretary in MIA and [served] in scout work. I have worked as a ward teacher and advisor and on several finance committees for our building fund projects. We are building a new church - Midway First Ward - and it will be completed next year. We are looking forward to the day when we can dedicate it as living our religion gives us much joy and contentment.

Ruby has been an outstanding wife and helpmate and June and Jay are so wonderful to us. I thank my Father in Heaven for my lovely family and all the wonderful things that He has given me. (Conrad Boss)

tion to be held Sept. 2, 3 and 4 in Midway. Costumes which the women are wearing are genuine Swiss attire from Bern.

Real Swiss Cooking Part of Celebration

MIDWAY — The Swiss Market Place on Midway's Town Square will be the center of activities for the annual Swiss Days celebration to be held Sept. 2 and 3.

This year the booths will be circled around a new gazebo made by the Boosters Club and given to the city's their 1977 civic project.

Approximately 36 booths will sell a variety of Swiss foods and delicacies, arts and crafts. The Swiss foods have been one of the real successful features of the annual celebration.

June Tatton and her mother, Ruby Boss, Swiss descendents, display the typical spirit of the occasion with extensive preparations. They work for at least three months in advance in order to have enough of the Swiss pastries to see them through the annual event.

The Bosses have had a booth since the beginning of the celebration and bring to it real Swiss cooking at its best. They specialize in bratzles and dinahithlenes, more commonly known as Swiss Nine Milers or Knee Patches.

The Bosses also serve a Swiss style lunch that consists of sauerkraut, sausages and hot buttered Swiss bread.

The preparations of the bratzles has been simplified with the electric iron that bakes four cookies at a time. A few years ago a long handled iron was used and held directly over the coals in a wood burning stove.

It was baked on one side and then turned. The iron could bake two bratzle cookies at a time.

Swiss cooking has been taken up by LDS Ward Relief Societies and individuals in order to offer the public a wide selection of foods and to help make the celebration a success.

The market opens Friday afternoon, Sept. 2, and continues all day Saturday.

Gerald Olsen and Rosetta Boss Family Group Sheet - # 2

Rose Boss Olsen is a half-sister of Elizabeth Boss. She was a wonderful, cheerful woman who had a strong interest in her Swiss heritage.

The Story of My Life, by Rosetta Lena Boss Olsen, Emery, Utah 1961 - Age 60

I was born on a Sunday Feb. 27, 1900 to Margaret Gertsch and Johannes Boss Sr. in Midway, Wasatch Co. Utah, at their family residence. I was the sixth child. My mother said I had a sunny, sweet disposition, because I was the first baby born under the new and everlasting covenant. Nine months previous May 17, 1899, my parents made a trip in an old fashioned white top buggy with five children to Salt Lake City, Utah and had their marriage solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. There was no doctor at my mother's bedside. Deliah Eilson lovingly known as "Aunt Deelie," assisted my entrance into a beautiful world of love and security.

My childhood was a happy one. There were nine children in the family: John, William, Arnold, Ida, Conrad, Rosetta (myself), Clara, Henry, and Stella. Father had built our home of pot rock with a smooth finish of plaster outside. It was fashioned after the Swiss style of homes. It had two bedrooms downstairs. [There was] a full-length cellar underneath the house, and a shanty, or summer kitchen, on the north. A luxurious porch went all around the house except where the shanty was. The shutters at the windows were painted green; banisters all around the porch and fancy architectural carvings here

Although our home lacked luxuries, my parents were good providers. I can remember our cellar, how it bulged with foods stored for winter, shelves of Swiss round cheeses, (my father always made the cheese,) a bin of potatoes, a bin of carrots, apples on shelves. [We had] bottles of fruit on the shelves, always a big barrel of sauerkraut, jars of chow-chow. A smokehouse north of the house where hams, shoulders, spare ribs, link sausages were smoked to perfection. Fifty-pound bags of flour were stored in a dry place. Large cans of rice and white navy beans were kept full.

Father always kept a good milk cow, which furnished our milk, cream, butter and cheese. There was always a nice pig to be fattened. I recall what an important event it was when the pig was ready to kill. Henry Zenger and his father were the butchers; they were very efficient. I remember how they came on a special night to make the sausage. It was such fun to watch them push the well-seasoned sausage into the links. We always fried some right then and had samples of its delicious taste and aroma. I also remember how the whole family helped render the lard. We were each given a clean shingle and sat around the big kitchen table. Father cut the white cold fat in narrow strips and we cut them in little cubes. Mother rendered it in a big black heavy kettle on the stove. They raised all their own shortening from one year to the next.

I have fond memories of the golden delicious nine milers (dinnie heahlinee) they were made at Xmas time or for special occasions. They also made those famous Swiss “bratzlies.” They were a special cookie dough shaped into small balls and pressed between hot black irons which baked golden, their cookies of fantastic design and so delicious. Mother also kept a large can of postum, which she made from bran (flour) and corn syrup. She baked it slowly in the oven. How it did send its fumes through the house. Mother also made lovely “sipfa” braided bread for Xmas.

Father had built a good barn, warm stable, and a pigpen and corals. On a cold winter evening we liked to watch him milk the cow. The stable was very clean and homey. He hung a lantern on a rafter. He had a large deep spoon and sometimes he’d give us kids fresh bubbly foam (schume).

My sister Clara and I used to sit on his knees. He’d sing and yodel Swiss songs to us and keep time with his feet, Clara on one knee and me on the other. He always spoke to us in Swiss. He never learned to speak English although he understood it. I always knew him as a white haired man with a white beard. Later, he kept his beard shaved off.

Father was an expert carpenter. He helped build homes and building in Midway. Carpentry was his profession in Switzerland. Three large hotels are still in use in Switzerland that he built.

He was a tall man with kindly blue eyes. He was very good in Mathematics. He had a large Swiss Bible that he often read from. He cared little for public life. He loved to be home and watch over the small children and the place.

Mother was young and energetic. She scrubbed clothes on the washboard. Water was drawn from a well on the west side of the porch. She knit all the stockings and sewed clothes by hand. The clothes were ironed with black irons heated on the coal stove. I recall how my sister Ida helped with those household tasks.

Electric lights, a washing machine, electric iron, replaced the coal oil lamps later.

Mother’s complete family, Grandma and Grandpa Gertsch, Uncle Conrad Gertsch, Aunt Susie Probst, and Aunt Elizabeth Gertsch all immigrated from Switzerland and settled with their families in our neighborhood. It was the gospel of Jesus Christ that brought my parents and our relatives to America.

We had a wholesome happy neighborhood. The families were large and we cousins grew up together. We went to the same school, church and auxiliaries. We had a rich heritage and some fine men and women were produced in that neighborhood.

My elementary school days were happy carefree days. In winter we’d walk through paths with snow high on each side. We enjoyed many sleigh riding parties on the Creek Hill west of our home. I liked school and studied hard. I don’t remember of ever being unprepared. Alice Probst and I were school pals and friendly rivals. We each tried to outdo the other in high marks. This made us both good scholars.

Our school presented the operetta “Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.” Alice was Snow

White and I was the wicked queen who tried to kill her. We staged it in the town amusement hall, which was packed.

The first death came in our family 24 Oct 1909 when our eighteen months-old baby Stella died. She was fair and delicate in health. Her eyes were blue, and she had auburn, wavy hair. The funeral was held at our home. I was nine years of age.

My father's death was the second one. He was eighty-one years of age and suffered a kidney infection and causes incident to old age. It was four o'clock, early morning March 15, 1912, the roosters were crowing. Some one came up the stair steps and told us girls Ida, Clara, and I that father had just passed away. They also told the boys in their room.

It was very sad. My little mother was so young, just thirty-nine years of age with eight children to bring up. She had $1 cash in the house. She told us how she used to cry, when she and father were alone, and say to him, "What ever shall I do when you leave me to raise this big family alone?" He comforted her and said, "These little boys are growing up now, they will all help you."

I remember the funeral in our second ward chapel. The speakers praised my father for his ambition, honesty, good tithe payer, a quiet man who bothered no one with his troubles, a wonderful husband and father. The choir sang "O My Father, and "Tho Deepening Trials,"

I was twelve years of age. The third death came May 25, 1913 when my eight year-old brother Henry, died of spinal meningitis. He was a sweet happy boy, very ambitious. He could sing beautifully. He loved pets. He carved dozens of horse sticks in fantastic designs of his own. He had blue eyes and brown hair. He was only sick about two days. He died in convulsions. His death was a great shock to the family. We were placed under quarantine. The funeral was held in our front yard. People assembled. The casket was sealed and stood on our front porch. His memory is still very precious.

I liked to attend Sunday school and Primary. I often sat by my mother in sacrament meeting. She had a very nice singing voice. I learned to sing many of the church hymns by her side. Very often she stood up and bore her testimony, which was beautiful and humble in her broken English spiced with her Swiss brogue.

I became a Primary teacher, Sunday school teacher, A Bee-Keeper in my early teens. Bishop Jacob Probst was the Bishop all the while I lived in Midway. He was a fine man, pleasing personality with a keen sense of humor.

My brother, John, was custodian of the church house for many years. Some of my teachers in the ward who had an influence for good on my life were Grace Sondregger, Leah Mathews, August Kohler, Ruth O'Neal who was Primary President. Lena Zenger taught me at an early age to sing alto.

I was baptized 28 June, 1908 by Gottlieb Buehler at his warm swimming pool. He also confirmed me. I was very happy, I was told all my sins were forgiven me. I had a great desire to live a good life, worthy of my blessings and opportunities.

All we children found jobs to help ourselves and finance the home. The boys all worked for other men. Ida got work at Heber City at Maude's Café. I worked tending children at the homes of August and Fred Kohler. The money I earned in summer bought material for dresses that my dear sweet sister Ida made for me. I was proud to wear them.

My mother went out nursing as a midwife. She helped deliver babies in "confinement" cases. I began my freshman high school days at Wasatch High School in Heber City. We rode a new bus pulled by horses. It took one hour each way to travel the three miles.

One winter I stayed in Heber city at the Isaac Jacobs home and worked for my board and room. I saved my transportation money and got all my teeth fixed at Dr. Witt's dentist office. I also helped the Jacobs family one summer and took a vacation with them up to Strawberry. When I was sixteen I worked for my brother, Peter Boss and family in Garland, Utah. I traveled alone on the train and was very frightened. Peter and Ida had a family of small children. Minerva was the oldest girl. She had lots of vim, a little chatter box, her front teeth were crooked. She had an interesting personality and was a dandy little worker. The boys were Chester, Victor, Russel and Kenneth. Edna was between Chester and Victor. I remember Saturday nights how I'd bathe all those little boys in a tin tub.

Ida's health was frail. There was lots of work. I remember the good strawberries they raised. I also remember the butter we churned and how I accidentally spilled a whole churn of butter on the back screen porch.

I made friends with the King family. I enjoyed church at the North Garland Ward. I remember one boy friend I went with, Emery Welling. We rode in white topped buggies. Peter and Ida were real parents to me and their kind counsel influenced me to make some wise teenage decisions.

Edna King asked me to go to school with her at Brigham City that winter of 1917 and 1918. Our sophomore year at Box Elder High School was wonderful. We studied hard. We rented one room at Eliza Madison's (adobe) home. We enjoyed batching. Peter and Ida helped me with food supplies and I had help from my folks in Midway.

I took a class in speech that I enjoyed. I learned dialect readings etc. I won out in the spring speech contest and almost got to go to the Salt Lake State tryouts. They gave it to a senior girl because she was older and more experienced and with more finance. One judge told me afterwards that my reading was rated the highest. She promised if I'd come back next year I'd be sent to the state tryouts without fail.

Edna and I were in the operetta "Princess Ida." Mr. Mann was our teacher in chorus. We had lots of fun. I came back to Midway. I was eighteen years old. I got a job as clerk at the Midway Coop store that summer. Jacob Probst was manager.

The young people in our neighborhood had many good times. Most of us cousins had very good singing voices. We'd get together in crowds and blend our voices in beautiful harmony. We often sang on our porch or on sleigh riding parties. Alice Probst, my school chum, and my cousin Eva Huber sang many duets together for public programs especially while we were of elementary school age.

We girls all took turns clerking for Gottlieb Probst in his corner grocery and candy store.

He was a cripple and sat all day in his wheel chair. We young people gathered there very often and spent pleasant hours. He loved young people, gave us wise counsel. My brother John took care of his personal needs for many years.

The first marriage in our family was my sister Ida. I admired her swell boy friend, Ervin J. Peterson from Kamas. I saw him give her the beautiful diamond ring. They were married in Heber City by R. R. Hatch Nov 29, 1916. They made their home in Kamas. I often visited them and admired their cute family.

When the United States entered World War I in 1917 my brother Conrad and six other Midway boys enlisted. They were the first from Wasatch Co. I remember how we all cried when the train at Heber City pulled out, Apr 21, 1917. He was classified as a motorcycle man, trained at several camps in the U.S. shipped over seas to France. They were on their way to Metz when the Armistice was signed. He was discharged at Fort Russell, Wyoming Mar 21, 1919. He married Ruby Abegglen of Midway October 19, 1921 in the Salt Lake Temple.

Mr. brother Arnold joined the U.S. Army April 23, 1918. He served nine months over seas. He was wounded and shell shocked. He was discharged May 1, 1919. He married Annie Cooper Halliday Oct 7, 1919 in Salt Lake City. He graduated from the University of Utah with a B.S. Degree majored in business and economics.

I graduated from Wasatch High School in 1920 with high honors. I won the highest scholarship "W" pin I was chosen valedictorian I worked hard on my speech. My brothers helped finance my clothes. Ida made me a precious dress of white taffeta, and georgette crepe. I embroidered a design in salmon colored floss. Nina Clyde, my girl friend in Heber did my long auburn hair up beautifully. I had a cute boy friend graduation night, Vincent Giles of Heber City. I think it was the happiest night of my life up to that time. We danced as if in the clouds.

Alice Probst and I attended twelve weeks of summer school at the BYU in Provo. I borrowed money from Fred Kohler. We batched in President ____ Moyle's basement. I climbed Timpanogos that summer. Mr. Ipson from Idaho, a student at BYU asked me to make the climb. It is an experience I still cherish.

Supt. Washburn of Emery County signed Alice Probst and I up as schoolteachers for Emery School there at summer school. We had offers to teach in Midway or Wasatch Co. but we were seeking "greener pastures," and new adventure. In the fall of 1920 we rode the train to Price then took the Emery County Bus to Emery. Eudean Olsen opened up her home and gave us board and room for $30 a month. Her husband Raymond P. Olsen was on an LDS mission. We spent a glorious school year in Emery. Boys were very plentiful. I taught third grade and loved my pupils and schoolwork. We taught a Beehive class and always went to church on Sunday. We had plenty of dates and enjoyed dances, parties, etc. Emery people were very friendly and welcomed us.

The next summer we attended school at the University of Utah and went back to Emery to teach the second year. We had a wonderful year again, full of fun and romance and very pleasant school teaching.

I dated several boys and fell in love with one fine romantic fellow, the cream of Emery -

Gerald L. Olsen. His parents were dead. Gerald drove a cute little red “bug” car and how we enjoyed our dates.

He was supporting a stepmother Lizzie Bell Olsen and four small children and operating a big ranch on “Quitichunpah,” south of town. He was redeeming the ranch from a heavy debt due to his father’s death. He was the son of George Theodore Olsen and Catherine M. Edwards - early Emery pioneers. They were wealthy people at one time owned and operated a fine hotel in Emery, had large herds of cattle, sheep and horses and employed several hired men.

Gerald asked me to go horseback riding with him one weekend in March, 1922. We went down on the desert. On our way home my horse ran away and threw me off. I suffered a concussion and was unable to finish my teaching. We became engaged and set our wedding date for the second of August. I worked feverishly all summer in Midway on my trousseau. We made quilts, luncheon sets, scarfs, pillowcase and sheet sets. My sister Ida and Clara helped. In August when Gerald came for me, Mother and Clara who financed them gave us two lovely showers. One night the young people were invited.. The next night adults came. We got many beautiful gifts. Cantaloupe Ice Cream and Fruitcake was served. It made me very happy. Louise Halverson of Salt Lake City was by my side to assist me as we went thru the Salt Lake Temple. Aug 23, 1922 and were married for time and eternity. We had reservations at the Grand Hotel. We sent our beautiful wedding announcement out from there. We bought some very beautiful furniture at Modern Furniture Co. A bedroom set, dining room set, and a kitchen stove.

We rented two rooms and a big hall from Eleanor Peacock in Emery and were the happiest couple in the whole world. Our furniture was new. We had all of our lovely wedding presents - our trunks of hope chest etc. As we uncrated, unpacked and found a place for everything I thought I was too happy too live very long.

The first Sunday after we were married Bishop B. J. Peacock called Gerald in as his second Counselor. That gave us the religious start we needed. We’ve never been out of the harness since. He served as First Counselor to Bishop Arthur Anderson, then in 1928 he was chosen Bishop of the ward. He served for sixteen years. Twenty-two years in all. He was the youngest Bishop in the church at that time.

My mother came down and stayed six weeks with us, she taught me many things in caring for a new baby when our first baby Margaret was born Sep. 30, 1923. We thought we’d never be any happier. Marilyn arrived Apr 23, 1925. We had moved up to Henrick Jorgensen’s and rented a three room cottage. Rene’ was born in the same home Sep 19, 1926. We had three darling little girls and I took great pride making their little dresses and clothes. My husband longed for a son, although he loved the girls dearly. Sep 14, 1930 his dream came true when a big bouncing baby boy (nine pounds) arrived. He had a mop of black hair, big wide shoulders, large hands and feet and heavy lungs. We named him Gerald Boyd. He was a contrast to our three dainty girls.

We bought a home of our very own on the outskirts of town. We took delight in painting, papering, putting in a bath etc. We loved that home. We used one room as the Bishop’s office and living room. We had a large dining room, kitchen, pantry, store room and two bedrooms. Our lawn and flowers were beautiful.

LaNore was born there Mar 26, 1936 at six a.m. The following night Rene' died Mar 27 1936. She had suffered with rheumatic fever for nine months. She got the flu and died in five days. It was a great shock. I was in bed with the new baby and couldn't attend the funeral. All the school children came out to view the last remains. Relatives came from far and near. Aunt Luella Burr of Selina and Aunt Ella Edwards of Bountiful stayed with me during the services. We missed dear little Rene'. She was such a good, sweet obedient unusual child. Everyone loved her. We felt she was too good to live. We took comfort in the new baby LaNore. Grandma Boss [Margaritha Gertsch Boss] stayed with us for several days and brought solace with her sweet understanding personality.

Burton K. our last baby was born May 23, 1939. He was born at Mary A. Maxfield's maternity home in Emery. He was very small and delicate baby until we put him on the bottle and formulas. I had nursed all the other five children. He grew to be a darling child, so cute and winsome.

Those were happy days out south. Gerald was so busy with his farm work, stock raising, selling automobiles for Burr Motor Co in Salina, Bishop of the ward, earning a livelihood for the family. As for me, there were the precious children to care for. I did all the sewing, large washing and irons each week. The children had many sick spells, flu, measles, mumps, chicken pox, impetigo, toothaches, sprained ankles etc. I couldn't run to the doctor for shots of penicillin as lucky mothers do now.

We had many birthday parties. Christmas times were delightful. I served many nice Sunday dinners for the Stake Presidency and church officials. There are many duties for a Bishop's wife. I wrote the tithing receipts when Gerald was away, which was a great deal.

Margaret and Marilyn were in high school and began dating. There were prom and graduating dresses to buy. In 1937 Gerald and I took a trip back east with seven other people. We toured New York, Chicago, Niagara Falls, etc. We brought back four new Chevrolet touring cars. My sister June took care of the family.

We sold our home out south in 1939 and built a lovely new home in town. It joined Aunt Lizzie Olsen's plot of ground. We lived in her home and watched the house develop from the foundation to roof. We papered, painted, put new floor coverings in, got a new kitchen table and chairs. We lived there for four very happy years. Margaret was in her first year of college at Weber in Ogden, she was a teletypist at the Arsenal. Marilyn was in high school at South Emery. The first marriage in our family was Marilyn. She was employed in Ogden at Hill Air Force Base. She married Jack C. Bailey of Ferron Mar 15, 1943. They were married in our new home by Bishop Gerald L. Olsen, her father. We gave them a lovely big wedding dance in the school auditorium. They first lived in Ogden. The second marriage was Margaret. She married Marion Kent Killpack of Ferron, Utah Sep 17, 1944 in Bountiful, Utah. She was employed at Maykoffs in Salt Lake. They lived there in Salt Lake. They were married at Aunt Lyle's lovely home and were given a beautiful wedding breakfast.

Our son Boyd was employed in Salt Lake at Salt Lake Hardware. He was inducted into the armed services. He graduated from the University of Utah with a major in business management. He was called on an LDS Mission to the Central States Mission for two years. About two months after Boyd was released he married Marva Pederson of Holladay, Utah Dec 26, 1952 in the Salt Lake Temple. Her parents gave them a beautiful reception in the ward chapel. They made their home in Salt Lake. We were very proud to have Boyd go on a mission. The Lord blessed us while he was gone. It was the humble LDS missionaries who brought the gospel to my parents in Switzerland and was very pleased to have a son bringing the gospel message to the honest in heart. Boyd brought the first gospel message to Jerold A. Hilton of Stillwater, Oklahoma who was only seventeen years of age then. Later Jerold came to BYU in Provo and he filled an LDS mission in California. He met our daughter LaNore there at BYU. They fell in love and were married in the Manti Temple June 9, 1958. We had a beautiful wedding reception in our ward recreation hall. They both graduated from BYU. Her major is speech - her minor - English. His major is history with a minor in English. LaNore is at present teaching speech and English in American Fork Senior High School. Its her third year of teaching. She is an excellent speech teacher. We sold our beautiful home up west by Aunt Lizzie's and built a nice red brick house on main street in 1944. Gerald went into the Hardware and building supply business and built a store next to the house. We have been very happy there the past seventeen years. My husband trucks livestock to the Salt Lake market and brings back supplies. In 1958 he suffered major surgery in the LDS Hospital in Salt Lake. At present he is fighting a heart ailment. He is very ambitious and keeps on the go.

Our son Burton K. has been a joy to us. He graduated from South Emery High School and was valedictorian. He attended two years at BYU and plans to major in industrial arts. He is a very good carpenter, must take after his gifted Grandfather [Johannes] Boss. He has made several pieces of furniture. He taught dance classes at BYU.

In Sept 14, 1959 he left for an LDS Mission in the Central States. He has had several advancements. Now he is second councilor to the mission president. He will be released in September 1961.

Margaret and Kent and family of four live in Ferron, Utah, fifteen miles north of us. They own their lovely home there, and have farms and livestock. Kent is an engineer. We see and visit them often and do appreciate having them near us. Margaret is a wonderful mother. They loved their children and have a happy home.

Marilyn and Jack just built a new home in Madisonville, Kentucky. Jack is employed with Goodman and Company of Chicago and installs and repairs mine machinery. He installs the continuous miner. They have been east for ten years. They have a fine family of four, two teenage girls who have dates for their first Junior Prom. Marlyn is also a lovely mother and housekeeper. They love their family.

Boyd and Doris and three children life in Holladay, Utah and own their lovely home. Boyd has had several jobs in the business world. At present he's Stake Sunday school Supt and Doris is President of the ward primary. They also have a happy home.

The Lord has been very good to me. My companion is one of the finest. We are proud of our children and grandchildren and their accomplishments. We have given our children a good LDS home environment and tried to live exemplary lives for them to follow.

My brother John was so good to Mother and us all. He took care of mother and helped provide for her for fifty years. He married Clara Jane Alford June 8, 1938. They were married by Bishop Gerald L. Olsen in Midway. The marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake temple. They live in a little white cottage behind Mother's home. They moved to Provo, Mother cried and cried when John left. Mother was a widow for forty-eight long years. She was grateful for her children and their help. Con enjoyed many a nice breakfast with her, he'd bring over the ham and eggs. Mother did enjoy this close companionship. He'd bring her fresh trout, sauerkraut, meats and many nice things to eat.

Ida was an angel of mercy. She came many times when Mother was ill and in need of care. She'd take her washing and ironing home and bring them back fresh and clean. Ida cared for her for periods of time in her Kamas home.

Bill and Annie left their home two winters and stayed in Midway caring for her. Mother spent months at their home in Paris, Idaho. Arnold and his whole family gave loving care and security to Mother. She lived in Arnold's home, a member of his family for many months. She was very content and [felt] secure the last several months of her life. Arnold's daughters Lillian and Thelma came daily and took care of her needs while in her chair and later when confined to her bed until she died.

Mother spent a few winters with us in our home in Emery. People here loved her and she had many visitors. I was glad I could be with her periodically the three months before she died.

Our daughter LaNore has made us very proud of her accomplishments. Three weeks ago American Fork High School won the Regional Speech Trophy. They took it away from BYU High School who had it the past six years. That was at the State meet at BYU in 1961. American Fork won the sweepstakes and was awarded the huge trophy for the B high schools. LaNore is the speech teacher at BYU. [RosetteOlson]

Clara Boss, the half-sister of Elizabeth Boss was born August 23, 1902, two years after the death of Elizabeth. Clara's history was written by her next oldest sister, Rosetta Boss Olson.

History of Clara Matilda Boss Pace by her Sister Rosetta Boss Olson

Clara Matilda Boss was born Aug 23, 1902 to Johannes and Margaret Gertsch Boss at Midway Utah. She had curly auburn hair and blue eyes. She was the 7th of 9 children. She was baptized by Ernest Probst July 23, 1911 and confirmed by George H. Huntington the same day. She was given a patriarchal blessing by Patriarch Robert Stone Duke of Heber City Oct 15, 1919.

She graduated from Midway Elementary School and Wasatch High School. She was one year Normal Graduate at B.Y.U. She was an excellent schoolteacher. She taught the 6th grade in Midway and Coalville for 4 - 6 years. She took a correspondence course of study, which gave her a $100 raise on her school contract.

Clara was a cheerful and happy person. She loved rainy days and always tried to be extra happy and brought much sunshine and joy in the home on a rainy day.

She was active in church duties being a Sunday school teacher, Gleaner teacher, President of the ward and stake mutual. She sang in duets, has a lovely soprano voice and sang in glee Clubs. She was active in producing and prompting plays and entertainments. She taught classes and music in M.I.A. and singing in schools. [She] headed many entertainments both civic and church. She was active in athletics and her 5th and 6th grades won ball games beating the 8th grade girls.

Clara took good care of our widowed mother [Margaritha Gertsch Boss] For a few years she and mother lived alone together. She had culinary water piped into the house and installed a sink. They quit using well water. She fixed up the home - repainting, new floor covers etc., and took over the financial burdens of the home. After her death, Arnold discovered that she had made mother the recipient of her life insurance policy and this money was a source of comfort and help after Clara's death.

While teaching school in Coalville, she met Alvin C. Pace of Hoytsville. He was a handsome returned missionary. They were married Sep 14, 1927 in the Salt Lake Temple by George F. Richards.

Clara loved children all her life and her dream was to become a mother, but this was never her privilege. She had several miscarriages and finally she died of pregnancy of the fallopian tube, August 30, 1933, in the Dee Hospital in Ogden, Utah. Her sudden death was a great shock and brought sorrow to her young bereaved husband, her widowed mother and all her loved ones.

Her funeral was beautiful with many beautiful floral offerings. Many shed tears - small and old - she had touched the lives of many children and been so good and helpful to the older people of that community. The speakers praised her for her great church activities in both ward and stake, her faith, testimony and example of right living. The church house was packed. She was buried in the Hoytsville Cemetery.

How she loved my three little daughters, all about one and one half years apart. I also had a big bouncing baby boy at that time, Boyd. She envied my sweet family and begged Gerald and I to let her have Rene. I'll never forget the look on Gerald's face when she made this plea. But, of course no one can give a child away no matter how many you have.

Finally we consented to let Rene spend a month with her. How she loved that little girl. She made her cute dresses and they had great times together. She taught Rene many things. It was always a picnic when they were together.

Clara died in 1933. Rene died 3 years later in 1936. I always felt that she and Aunt Clara were together and enjoying companionship in the great beyond.

The first summer after Gerald and I were married - 1923, Clara came to Emery to spend a month's vacation. She was weary of school teaching and needed a change. How she loved that summer. Gerald spent most of the time out to Quitchunpah where he had cattle ranch and farming. We would return on weekends to our town apartment to take care of church and bishop's duties.

Clara had a great time with the young people, George Anderson and Clinton Olsen were among two of the young fellows. They went on a camping trip and so on. After she had been there about a month she wrote and told mother she wanted to stay one more week for some special plans they had made. Mother wrote and told her to go ahead and be sure to go visit the President of the Stake. (Mom was very homesick.) This changed Clara's plans. She dropped everything and rushed right home to her mother.

On Quitchunpah

(Clara composed this song)

Way out on Quitchunpah,
There's the cutest little ranch
The trees are full of sparrows
The ground is full of ants.

The pigs grunt all the day
And the horses eat green hay.
Two calves are in a pen,
Ten biddies with a hen

There Rose and Jay are happy
As happy as can be,
They love no body else
No body else they see.

The ground's white as snow (alkali)
And I think I better go
Good bye old Quitchunpah
I'm going home to my Ma.

One time when we were teenagers, Clara and I had dates on a Sunday afternoon with two boys from Heber City. We each had navy capes alike. We resembled twins. (Some of our boy friends got us mixed up) but her hair was always more of a deep auburn than mine.

These boys had a little Ford car. We went down Provo canyon and on to the Jordan Narrows where our brother Conrad was working. He lived in a tent. He cooked us the best supper of ham and eggs etc. He was always a great cook. He played his guitar and we sang and sang in that tent. He gave us a check of $10 to take home to mother. We stayed until close to midnight then started for home. It was a beautiful moonlight night.

Up Provo Canyon we had one flat tire after another. The boys would fix the flats - our capes were not very warm - the nights in the canyon were cold. Gee, it was getting towards morning. Finally the boys stuffed the tires with sagebrush and we rode home, it was just 6 a.m. We hated to face Mother. We knew she would be panicked. Sure enough she was pacing the floor.

After we showed her Conrad's check she believed us and tried to forgive us for all the anguish we had caused her. [Rose Boss Olson]

Rose Olson had a card in her possession from Belgium, Dec. 14, 1918.

Dear Clara:

Just a token with love and unceasing for-get-me-nots and best wishes for the coming year that it will bring you memories of the most pleasant.

Your brother,

Henry Ulrich Boss

[Half-brother of Elizabeth Boss]

Henry Ulrich Boss was the half-brother of Elizabeth Boss. He was born to Johannes Boss and Margaritha Gertsch. He did not live very long but brought a great amount of joy to his family. Henry Ulrich Boss was born March 29, 1905 in Midway, Utah. He lived just a few days past his eighth birthday, passing away on May 25, 1913. This reminds me of a poem by Eugene Field of a little boy who died too soon and left his little toys, which his parents left on the shelf as he had placed them. I committed the poem to memory while on my mission in the Southern States from 1956 to 1958 and have used it many times since.

Little Boy Blue

by Eugene Field

The little toy dog is covered with dust,
But sturdy and staunch he stands;
and the little toy soldier is red with rust,
and his musket molds in his hands.
Time was when the little toy dog was new
And the soldier passing fair,
And that was when our little boy blue
Kissed them and put them there.

Now don't you go till I come he said,
And don't make any noise!
So toddling off to his trundle-bed
He dreamt of his pretty toys.
And as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our little boy blue, –
Oh, the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true!

Ay, faithful to little boy blue they stand,
Each in the same old place,
Awaiting the touch of a little hand
The smile of a little face.
And they wonder, as waiting these long years through,
In the dust of that little chair,
What has become of our little boy blue
Since he kissed them and put them there?

Chapter 31

Stella Boss

[Half-sister of Elizabeth Boss]

Stella Boss was born April 9, 1908 in Midway, Utah to Johannes Boss and Margaritha Gertsch. She was the half-sister of Elizabeth Boss. She died October 24, 1909, just past her first birthday, without knowing about her wonderful extended family in this life.

Death is not always welcome and the death of a child is especially difficult to endure. Comfort comes from the teaching of the Lord through the Prophet, Joseph Smith:

Stella Boss headstone in Midway, Utah Cemetery

Thus came the voice of the Lord unto me, saying:
all who have died without a knowledge of this gospel, who would have received it if they had been permitted to tarry, shall be heirs of the celestial kingdom of God;
Also all that die henceforth without a knowledge of it, who would have received it with all their hearts, shall be heirs of that kingdom;
For I, the Lord, will judge all men according to their works according to the desire of their hearts.
And I also beheld that all children who die before they arrive at the years of accountability are saved in the celestial kingdom of heaven.

Appendix A - The Cheese Makers of Bern and Their Lane's Creek Dairys

Many pioneer families of the 1870s made cheese and butter in their homes as a means to keep excess milk from going to waste. At the time there was no local market for the milk. The cheese and butter could be sold or traded at stores for needed goods. The cheese makers of Bern went much further in the making of cheese. They made a business of it.

In 1871, a cheese making family emigrated from Switzerland to Salt Lake City and on the Ovid area of Bear Lake County, Idaho. They had been cheese makers in their native country for generations and would carry on the tradition here.

Borrowing a large cast iron kettle that had been used to make soap, Swiss cheese making was started, using milk from their own cows and some cows that had been loaned to them.

In 1875, it was decided to move the operation a few miles north to where there was more pasture. This settlement was named Bern after their home city in Switzerland. Using two huge copper kettles that had been brought from the old country by a family member that emigrated later, a cheddar cheese factory was set up. Water was piped from springs to the dairy through pipes that had holes bored through them lengthwise with augers. there were several brothers milking cows by this time and a conveyor system was set up to bring the milk to the dairy in a wooden vat on a track made of wood.

By 1885, the family was running a large herd of milk cows and also beef cattle on shares. So much so that they had to start looking for more pasture. Someone had told them about a beautiful valley with an abundance of meadows and grazing land, with plenty of springs and streams in it, that was about 55 or 60 miles north and east of Bern.

There was a sheep ranch operating in the northwest corner of the valley on what was called Chippy Creek. It was called Williamsburg for the Williams family that owned it. This ranch was located about 4 miles west of what is known as Williams burg today. There was a small store at the ranch.

The cheese makers liked what they saw in the valley, so they took squatter rights on the land, then later, homesteaded along the creek called Lane's Creek, which flows from the north to the south where it empties into the head of the Blackfoot River. The creek is named for an emigrant who was a member of a wagon train that was passing through the area. He became ill and died. His grave is marked, the headstone reading "J. W. Lane, died 1859; 50 yrs. 2 mo." Two other unmarked graves are in the same fenced plot.

The Lander Trail, (so called by local residents, but officially it is a segment of the Fort Kearney, South Pass, Honey Lake Wagon Road) was financed and constructed using Government funds. The road was engineered and built by F. W. Lander in 1858, under auspices of the Interior Department. This road crosses the Lane's Creek Valley from east to west, and there is a road from Tin Cup Creek at the north end of the valley, south to the Blackfoot River. These two roads intersect at the site of the Middle Dairy, which is centrally located in the valley.

Several dairies were set up a few miles from each other at suitable locations near springs and pasture areas. The buildings and corrals were made of lodgepole pines from trees that grew nearby on the hills surrounding this high mountain valley. Here again, water was piped from springs to the dairies through the auger-bored wooden pipes.

What was known as the Lower Dairy was established on the west of Lane's Creek about seven miles north of the Blackfoot River, with the Middle Dairy located about three miles north and east of there. The Upper Dairy site is approximately a mile and half northeast of the Middle Dairy, around the point of a small ridge that is the location of Lane's Grave. The Upper Dairy was also known as Williamsburg after the sheep ranch on Chippy Creek suspended operation.

Each spring in early May, the cheese makers would gather milk cows and calves, and dry stock from farmers along the west side of Bear Lake to take out to Lanes Creek for the summer. This would be from those farmers who didn't have enough pasture for their cattle or those who wanted the cheese produced from the milk of their cows. The cheese makers would allow the owners of the milk cows about half of the cheese that was produced from the milk of their cows. For the pasturing of the dry or beef cattle, $3.00 a head was charged. This was later raised to $5.00 per head per summer.

Some cows came with calves at their side, while others did not have calves with them. These cows without calves with them were called "strippers" as they would have to be milked while on the drive to the dairies, and also, they would have to be milked completely dry, or "stripped," at milking time whereas the cows with calves were milked nearly dry, then their calves were turned in with them to finish sucking them dry.

The corrals were made of poles to hold the cows while they were milked and the calves were kept separate until each cow was milked, then that cow's calf was turned with her to get his share of the milk, then was put back into the calf pasture until the next milking. There was a small corral with a high, strong fence around it that the cows could not jump over. This was called the "office" where the wild, recalcitrant cows were milked until they gentled down. Some of these had to be tied by their heads and legs to the logs of the fence while being milked.

There was a drying house for the storage of the cheese after it was made, and often, a cooler house was built over the spring where the milk, cream and butter was kept for the families' use. A log home was close by for them to live in. Other sheds and buildings were about for storage. The homes and buildings had dirt roofs at first. One account tells that when it rained for a long period of time, the water would seep through the roof and about the only dry place they could find was under the long dining table with its oil-cloth cover on it. Later, the roofs were shingled.

"Mamie's" (Amy recipe for making cheddar cheese (with her spelling) is as follows —
"Warm milk to 84 degrees, add 1 small tablespoon color to 100 lbs. milk. Add 1 1/2 or 2 tablespoons of rennet to 100 lbs. milk. Stir well about 3 minutes, let set about 30 or 40 minutes, until when you put your finger in & lift a clear, clean breake comes.

"Now cut with curd knives which makes 1/2 inch chunks. Handle carefully. Now make a slowr fire of heat under it. Stuir carefully & slow from the bottom up. We did this with our hands and arms. Warm slowly and heat to 100 or 102 degrees. Sturing and watching all the time stuir slowly and carefull. Now this curd & when must ripen. No definite time is known, when it's ripe it gets firmer, and a good cheese maker can tell by the smell and feel. We also heated an iron rod, this rod was about 1/2 inch thick & 2 fee long. We took a small hand full of curd. Made a solid long ball & ran this up the hot iron and carefully pulled it away, it would stick & burn on. If the cheese was ripe when you pulled it away there would be lots of fine, very fine threads, if it wasn't ripe it would be coarse threads.

"Then you separete the curds from whey by putting it into a large strainer clouth. When seperated and drained & kept from lump you add the salt & stuir it in well. Then you have your curd ready to put into the press. We had clouths, round clouth like a pillow case. Regular tough cheese clouth. We had two kinds one for the small 10 lb. cheese. This came in three sections, selvege—double selvege—& selvege three in one. We cut & sewed pleats in one end. The large cheese, which weighed from 20 to 28 lbs. the bandage was like a pillow case as I said. Then you press & bandage & cure. When we were cheese hungry, father would cut a 10 lb. cheese in a few days.

"When the curds were 'ripe' or ready to be removed, they were dipped out of the vat and into a wooden sink (about 3 ft. wide by 6 ft. long and 8 inches deep). A large curd cloth, placed in the sink let the whey drain from the curd. Salt was added and the curd stirred to cure. Then it was placed in large hoops and pressed to form the cheese. We made two diffrent sizes of cheese. Young Americans (sometimes called 'Y A's') which weightd about 10 lbs. each and the large cartwheels weighed from 23 to 25 lbs. each, these were called 'twins.'"

A similar recipe from Wisconsin, that was of Swiss origin, has these additional instructions—after pouring off whey and adding salt to curd, line press with muslin that has been wrung out in very hot water. Place a “bandage” of cheese cloth around the side of the press. Put curd into lined press and top with another round of muslin; weight down. After 29 or 30 minutes, remove and straighten bandage and smooth out all wrinkles in the muslin. Replace and continue pressing for 36 to 48 hours. Removed from press and store in a cool, well-ventilated room. After 3 days, dip cheese round in hot paraffin. The cheese should be turned end over end daily for 10 days or longer if moisture shows on the board where the cheese is kept.

The drive, to take the cattle and wagons to the Dairies, would go through Georgetown and up the Left Fork of Georgetown Canyon and “bed down” for the first night just past the big spring. One of the young men would have to watch the stock throughout the night to see that they didn't try to go back to their home range. Normally they would take about 500 head of “dry stock” and 100 to 125 head of milking cows to the dairies each year.

The second night out was usually spent on Slug Creek at the Schmid Ranch. Crossing the Blackfoot River was always feared and dreaded. The water was deep and flowing at a fast rate. The calves and smaller stock would have to be watched by riders on the downstream side to see that they were not washed away. There were wagon loads of supplies, chickens, pigs and everything that was needed to start operations each spring in the caravan with the cattle. Often these wagons and buggies were driven by the women and girls.

One year, as they were driving the wagons out to the valley in the spring, the Blackfoot River was high and running swiftly. As one of the wagons, loaded with pigs, was crossing and in the middle of the river, one of the horses pulling the wagon, threw itself down in the water and would not get up. The driver leaped into the wild water and tried to hold the horse's head up out of the water to keep him from drowning, but finally he had to let him go and the horse drowned. The driver and riders got into the water, unhooked the horses, and drug the dead horse out. They got a fresh team of horses hooked to the wagon, then unloaded the pigs. Some of the pigs swam out and were saved, others swam to the bank, but were unable to climb out of the swift water and were drowned. After getting the wagon out, the men rounded up the pigs that were still alive and loaded them back into the wagon after it was pulled onto dry land.

Before getting to the Lower Dairy, the herd was stopped and the dry cattle were separated from the milk cows. These “drys” were taken to pasturage near there while the “milkers” proceeded on to the dairy.

Upon arrival, the wagons had to be unloaded, supplies stored, the house cleaned, the dairy buildings put in order, water pipes connected, corrals repaired, calves separated and kept apart from their mothers, cows milked and cheese made. It was a busy time for the family and those hired to assist them for the summer. The large families and relatives furnished most of the help for the operation, but sometimes young girls were hired to help with the milking and young men were hired as wranglers. At times, arrangements were made with the parents of the girls that they received cheese for pay, but some were paid with money, whichever worked out best. It was a busy time for all. The boys and men had to ride range to care for the livestock, also helping in every way they could.

Everyone was expected to do what ever task they were asked to do, even if they were very young. One young boy eight years of age was to take a message to Bern. He was put on his Father's favorite horse, and told not to dismount until he got to the Schmid Ranch, as he would be unable to get onto his steed again. When he got to the ranch, they would help him off, feed him and care for the horse; then put him back on the horse for the rest of the 55 mile ride to Bern. He accomplished this as expected of him. This same boy was to herd a bunch of sheep on the trail back to Bern until the cowboys with the cattle could catch up to help him. They expected the cattle to travel much faster than the sheep, but it was cool and the sheep traveled right along and the cattle didn't catch up to them. When the boy got them to Slug Creek, the sheep would not cross, so he pushed them up the creek until he found a place that they would cross. It was getting to be evening and still the cowboys had not caught up with him. He found an old cabin, drove the sheep up around it to "bed down," took the saddle off his horse and carried it into the cabin. Using the saddle blanket for a bed, he went to sleep. When the cowboys got to the ranch house, they asked, "What time did the boy get in with the sheep?" They were told that he did not arrive there at all. Lanterns were lit and a frenzied search got underway. They found the boy in the cabin safe and sound, took him to the ranch where he was given food and allowed to sleep the rest of the night.

The hospitality of the folks at the dairies was legendary. There were always people passing through Williamsburg, such as residents of Star Valley traveling through, or sheepmen and cattlemen going to or coming from the nearby ranges. When anyone would arrive, they were asked to alight and come into the house. Their horses were tended and food was prepared for the travelers. There was usually mutton and beef hanging in the dairy where it was cool. Steaks were cut off and prepared, then served with potatoes and plenty of cheese. Good meals were provided for all, and no payment would be accepted. The altitude was so high that garden vegetables would not grow because of frost, but turnips and a few other hardy vegetables were grown at times. There were mountain trout in the nearby streams, and many sage chickens that were hunted to add to the larder.

At times, one of the boys would take a pack horse and go to the higher peaks nearby and get bags of snow and bring them down, then the folks would make ice cream by putting the cream and other ingredients into a small tin bucket which was twirled in a larger bucket with snow and salt to make this delicious treat.

If travelers wanted to stay the night, beds were prepared for them and they were made welcome. The visitors were invited to join the family in the evening, singing around the organ and having fun. After they had finished singing, all who were there, whether they were rough sheepmen, cattlemen, booted and spurred cowboys or gentle folk, were invited to join in evening prayer. Never did anyone refuse to join.

There were many herds of sheep that ranged in the hills surrounding Lane's Creek Valley and the sheep herders would leave their camp wagons around the dairies while they went into the mountains with pack horses to carry their summer camp tent outfits. Often the herders would come down to the dairies to get together with the dairy people and have dances, and other entertainment. Many of the sheepmen could play various musical instruments such as a fiddle, banjo, guitar, mandolin or harmonica and would bring them down when there was a dance to be held. Often the dairy girls would make cookies, that were served with cream for refreshments. Baseball was played at many of the celebrations, pitting the sheepherders against the dairy riders.

Usually there were two men with each herd of sheep, the herder and a camp mover. The herder's job was to tend the sheep to see that they were on fresh feed, had water, and that they did not stray away. The campmover or camptender's job was to do the cooking, care for the horses, move the camp when necessary, see that they had supplies, and salt for the sheep.

One young camptender, aged 14, told this of his experience when he first came to the valley. "We passed the dairy at 5:30 in the morning, and there were about fifteen people out there milking cows. I wondered what they did with the milk, but didn't bother to find out at that time, so went on our way. We would be spending the summer near here. My father, who was the herder, asked if I would go to the dairy to see if I could get some milk and cheese. They had just gotten through with the milking and one of the girls was doing the cheese making. I wasn't too interested in girls, although they were attractive.

"My father and I put our wagon there for the summer. I spent much of the time that summer, helping to milk cows, and going to dances. I was away from Father and the sheep much of the time, but I don't think he regretted my having a good time, as he knew that I was in good company. The girls became more and more attractive to me, and I fell pray to twisting that all girls are noted for, especially around their finger (details of which, I shall not go into). By this time, it was September 6th, and we were going off the summer range and the dairy owners were ready to leave their summer quarters.

"I kept in touch with the girl I left behind me for most of the winter, and was delighted to know that Father was going to be herding sheep in the same area the next summer. And that I could be his camp tender again that next summer.

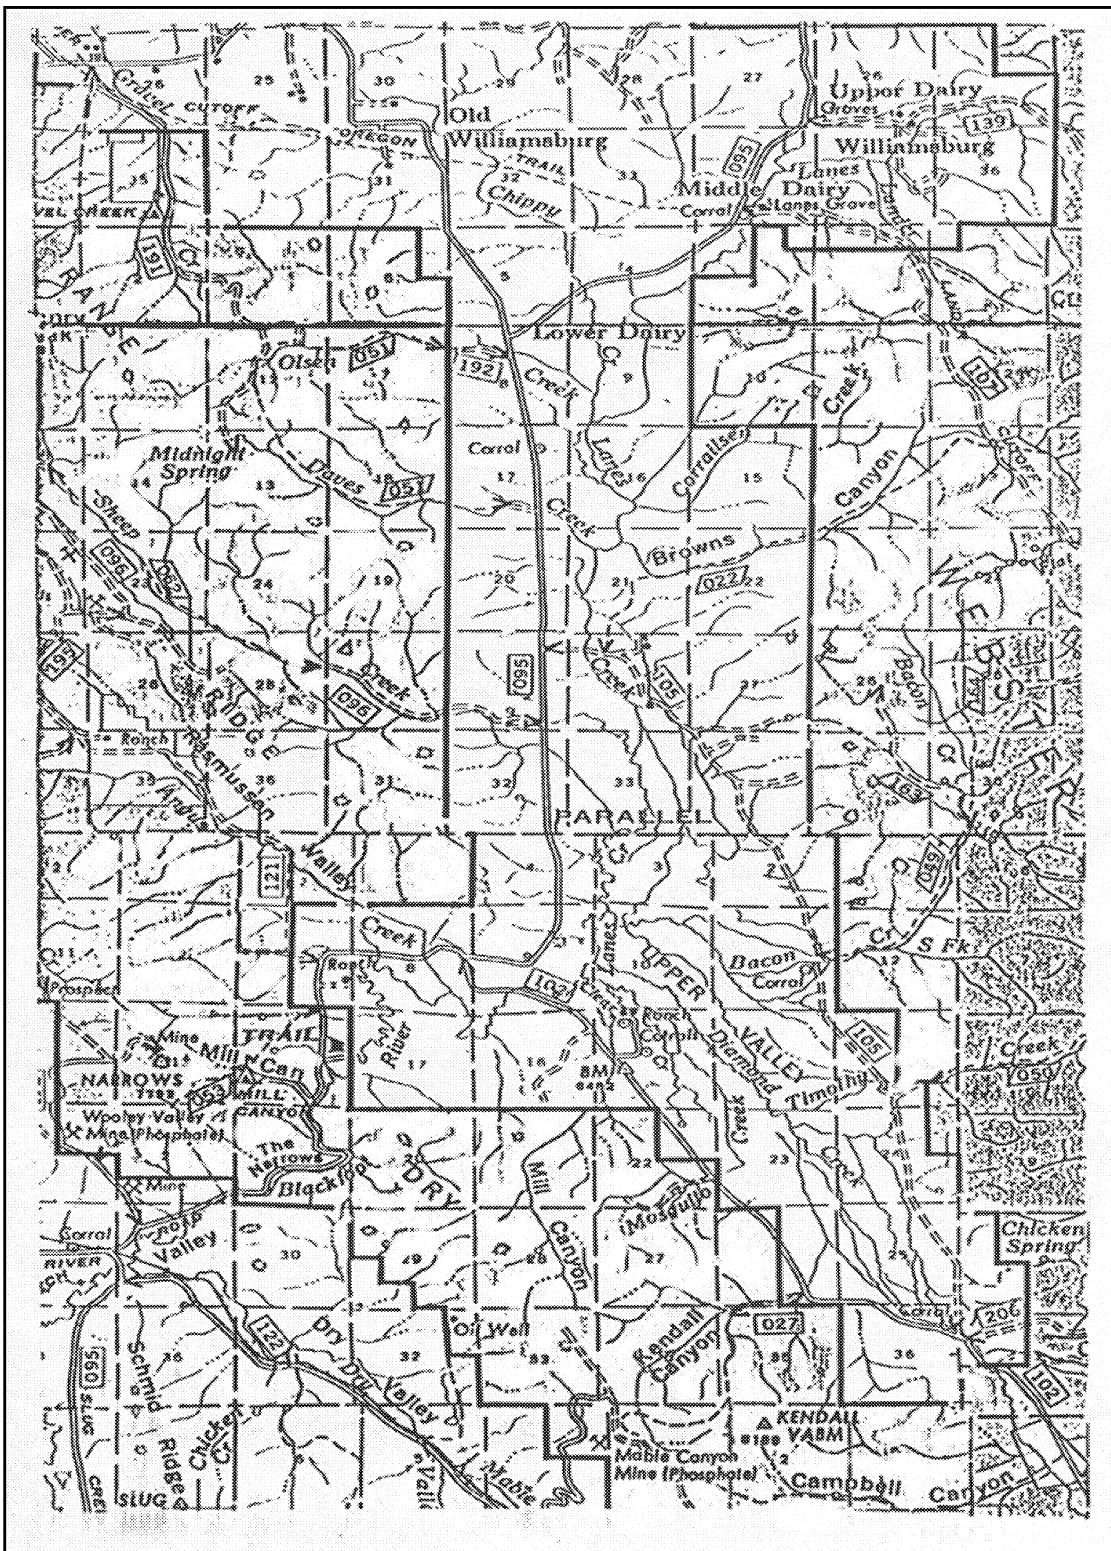

"When I rode into the dairy, I received a rather cool reception because it had been some time since I had written to the girl. I was able to dance with her a few times at the dances, and finally asked if I could escort her to a dance being held at a neighbors, to my surprise she accepted. That night, she told me that she thought how bashful I was not to have asked her for a date before. She had boasted to her sisters that she had "set her cap" for me. As summer went on, I grew more fond of her, and often went horse back riding with her. Of course, someone always went with us. One glorious day, I got to go riding alone with this beautiful, beautiful girl. Her parents finally had that much trust in me to allow us to be together without a chaperone."

"Soon, it was time to leave the summer range again, and I wondered if we would see each other again. I very formally told her 'good-bye,' but as I turned to go, she said that I hadn't really 'said good-bye,' so we embraced and I received my first kiss from a girl, other than my mother or sister."

This young couple eventually married and had a wonderful life together.

(Author's note—I have neglected to use the names of the people involved in this paper, but this is one of the most honorable, devoted families that I have ever known. The many generations of these people have been staunch, family-oriented sons and daughters of these pioneer cheesemakers. This information has been taken from the biographies of the cheesemakers of Bern.)

A YOUNG AMERICAN: THE ART OF MAKING FULL CREAM CHEESE AS I REMEMBER IN 1939

Appendix B - The Art of Full Cream Cheese As I Remember in 1939

Dad [Reed Kunz] was taught the art [of cheese making] by Ella and Leonard Wilde who moved the cheese making business to Bern, Idaho from the dairies at Slug Cheek and Lane's Creek on the Blackfoot River. The plant consisted of two small buildings approximately 12' X 24' made of logs with 18" dirt roofs. One building was called the dry room where cheese was aged and stored. This room had a door and one small window at the side of the door. The floor was wooden with shelves built against the wall and down the center. A small wood stove was located in the center of the floor area. The dirt roof was made necessary by the need to maintain the temperature within the building at between 68 degrees to 75 degrees to ripen and properly age the cheese.

The plant buildings had no electricity or running water. A well had been dug by hand. A picture pump had been installed in the rear of the building where the cheese was actually made. This building required a concrete floor with a floor drain which ran outside and along the building.

The cheese processing building contained a boiler 6' wide, 12' long, by 3' deep made of copper which sat inside of what was referred to as a vat, which was also made of copper giving it a double boiler effect. The vat had 1' long legs and had a 12" rectangular fire box running the full length of 12 feet front to rear where the excess heat rose up a chimney through a controlled and regulated damper. The vat had a place to add water as well as a place to drain the water as it was changed on a monthly basis.

There was also what was referred to as a dry bed. It was approximately 4' wide X 10' long X 18" deep with a wooden grating that could be lifted out. At the lower end of the dry bed was a drain with a barrel valve which served to allow the whey (watery part) to drain leaving the coagulated part called the curd.

Also in this building were the presses that were used to form and press the curds into cheese. The size of the cheese ranged from what was called the brick weighing five to eight pounds and YA [Young American] which was the 10 pounder. It was the most famous of all. The cartwheel ranged from 18 to 25 pounds. The presses were crude and made from rope thread bolts with hand made wheels and had to be tied off so they could not unwind. There were many things that had to be done and in place before the cheese was processed.

Dry aspen was the only wood used for firewood because it burned very quickly and at a very high heat while producing low amounts of ash. These features were both necessary due to the small size of the fire box and the need to heat the water in the double boiler to the proper temperature. We would travel to Red Pine Canyon north of Bern to get the needed dry aspen in horse-drawn wagons specifically built to withstand the rough canyon paths. The dry aspen was cut in 18" to 20" pieces and stacked outside under a tin roof lean-to. We had to make sure the stack would make it through the winter as they were severe. In an emergency, if the supply ran out we would have to use a horse-drawn sleigh to make the trip up and down the canyon.

Every afternoon we would wash down the cheese processing building with lye, an extremely caustic cleaning product.

The farmers would milk their cows every night and every morning by hand. The night milk would be cooled in the watering troughs in ten gallon cans. The morning milk was delivered by each farmer to the dairy no later than 7:30 a.m. every morning except Sunday. Sunday's milk was kept to separate the milk into butter and cream for their own use.

Almost everyone owned a cream separator manufactured by D. E. Laval in Chicago. The separator was made of cast iron. It stood four feet high, was very heavy and had to be bolted to the floor. A stainless steel tub which held about three gallons of milk rested upon the top. The tub had a spout that would release the milk when opened into a spinning cone which would spin at a high rate of speed. The cone was 8 inches in diameter around the mouth and consisted of approximately 50 cone-shaped screens stacked one upon the other. This cone sat on a spindle in the bowl. The bowl had a long spout and a short spout. The separator had as gear train that was cranked by a hand crank on the outside of the body. It was made so the spindle could wheel free by turning the outside crank by hand. The spindle with the cone in place would spin at a very large number of revolutions. The spout was then opened on the bowl allowing the milk to enter the spinning cone that would cause the sweet cream to come out one spout with the bland milk exiting out the other spout. The bland milk was fed to the animals and the sweet cream put in five gallon cans.

One quart of sweet cream was put in an open crock and let set until the liquid formed, then drained off leaving the sour cream.

One gallon of sweet cream for making ice cream was put in a steel bucket with a lid and taken down to the spring and submerged, this sweet cream was also used for cereal and for baking. All that was remaining was put in a churn for making butter.

The churn was a round cylinder on legs with paddles inside that could be tuned with an outside handle. A few drops of coloring was added to the sweet cream in the churn as the outside handle was cranked by hand till the butter formed. The butter was removed and salted and placed in butter dishes also made into bricks upon the availability of wooded boxes.

The buttermilk remaining in the churn was drained and put in bottles to drink or to be used for baking and the making of hot cakes. Sometimes we made butter by filling a two quart bottle 3/4 full and shaking it on your knees until the butter formed. A small pillow sometimes helped to protect the knees.

In those days we used pure whole milk direct from the cows with no additives or preservatives. No such cheese, butter, cream, or buttermilk is made like this today.

Now the process of hand-making full cream cheese:

The last known batch of this type cheese was made in the late fall of 1944 when we closed the plant.

Appendix B - The Art of Full Cream Cheese As I Remember in 1939

At 6:00 a.m. we [Reed Lynn and his mother, Edith P. Kunz] would start the fire in the fire-box. The milk would arrive at about 7:00 a.m. We would roll the ten gallon cans in and put them on the scales. Each one was weighed and recorded under the farmer's name. It was then emptied into the vat. We usually had about one ton when it was all delivered and emptied into the vat. We would put a white muslin cloth over the vat and continue to add the dry aspen wood till the milk reached a temperature of 86 degrees. We used a hand thermometer to check the temperature. At this point the fire was removed and rennet (the contents of the stomach of an unweaned calf) and the coloring were added. The milk was stirred with a wooden rake with a six foot handle until the milk, rennet, and coloring were well blended. This was left to set or solidify. We would test it by bending a finger and touch-testing the texture. If it didn't stick to your finger it was ready to be cut. This was done by inserting a piano wire knife about 8" wide and 3' high with vertical wires down into the cheese at the end of the vat and going the full length of the vat. Therefore, you would slide it over and return to the other end until finished length wise, then you would take the piano knife with horizontal wire and cut across. This would leave the cheese in about 1/4" squares.

Now the fire was restarted and heated up to between 108 to 112 degrees. As the temperature reached 95 degrees the whey would start to form. We would get on each side and slowly start to move the curds with our hands. They were very soft and had to be carefully moved to keep off the bottom of the vat. As the temperature went up, the curds would start to get tougher and start to turn yellow. When it was all moving and getting tougher, we would take the wooden rakes and slowly turn and stir until the curds reached the desired temperature and the whey would separate.

This process usually took a couple of hours. At this point, the vat was covered and left to ripen. The way we could tell when it was ripened was to heat a round iron about 1' in diameter and take a few of the curds pressed together and touch them to the hot iron. Next we pulled the curd away from the iron counting the elasticity of the curd. About 10 hairs of elasticity was considered done. At this point we would siphon off the whey and put it in ten gallon cans which was taken outside for the farmers to pick up.

The whey was fed to the calves and pigs. After the whey was removed, we scooped and transferred the cheese and remaining whey to the drain vat which had a large muslin cloth covering its bed. After the whey was drained off, we would sprinkle the salt in and shake it by pulling up and down on the muslin cloth. Then we would scoop out a bucket of cheese and start to fill the presses. Each press was lined with a cheese cloth called a bandage. We pushed the curds in the press until full, placed a cap on top, then set under the press. We slowly tightened the caps down squeezing out the whey. Later that night the press was given its final adjustment. The next morning the cheese was taken from the press and put on shelves in the dry room. Each one was stamped with a rubber stamp with the year and date. They were left for about two weeks and turned over every day. At this time, we would heat a boiler of paraffin and dip the cheese in leaving a coat of wax and again placed on the shelf to continue ageing.

We had 1/2 moon shaped scalpel that we would insert into the cheese and give a full turn to get a small sample. Taste was the best way to tell if it was ripe enough, about two months was considered the ageing time.

The 10 pound YA (Young American) was the favorite cheese for the farmers. They could cut the top and use it for a lid to keep it fresh. Every home had a 10 pound YA on the kitchen table where it remained until it was gone.

We used to get about 8 pounds of cheese from 100 pounds of milk. In those days each farmer would use cheese to barter for groceries and clothes.
